RE: Office of Inspector General’s Summary Reports of Investigation re: Laquan McDonald

Dear Requester:

In response to your request for Office of Inspector General’s Summary Reports of Investigation regarding Laquan McDonald, the Department of Law discloses the following reports, pursuant to Section 2-56-110 of the Municipal Code:

In your review of these reports, please be advised of the following:

- The Corporation Counsel does not conduct the investigations that are the subject of the SRIs, conduct the analysis reflected by and in the SRIs, draft or approve issuance of the SRIs, or opine on the accuracy of the SRIs.
- The SRIs are not the work product of the Corporation Counsel. If an SRI is disclosed in whole or in part, it is disclosed solely as the work product of the OIG, and the Corporation Counsel makes no representations as to the SRIs' content.
- The Corporation Counsel is unaware of anything that may have occurred during the OIG’s investigation that created or may have created, as to any person or entity who provided information in connection with an investigation or was a target or subject of same, any actual or arguable rights or expectation of privacy or confidentiality.
- The Corporation Counsel is also unaware of any other concerns that persons or entities who provided information in connection with an investigation (or were a target or subject of same) may have, or may have shared with the OIG, relating to safety, potential retaliation, or other possible adverse consequences that might result from public disclosure of an SRI.

Thank you for your interest in this matter.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

Mark A. Pfleger
Corporation Counsel

This report consists of a summary of the evidence set out in the attached investigative materials and the Office of Inspector General’s (OIG’s) analysis of that evidence. An index of the investigative materials is attached.

I. INTRODUCTION

An OIG investigation has established that Arturo Becerra, a police officer for the Chicago Police Department (CPD) who was at the scene when Officer Jason Van Dyke shot Laquan McDonald on October 20, 2014, failed to follow CPD Rules regarding the operation of CPD’s in-car video systems. More specifically, and as detailed below, Becerra failed to ensure that his vehicle’s in-car video system was capturing audio or video on October 20, 2014, and failed to notify his supervisor that the system was not operating properly. Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD impose discipline upon Becerra commensurate with the seriousness of his misconduct, his discipline history, and department standards.

II. APPLICABLE RULES, REGULATIONS, AND LAW

A. CPD Rules and Regulations

CPD’s Rules and Regulations set out the standards of conduct and duties of sworn members. Article V of the CPD Rules and Regulations, entitled CPD Rules of Conduct (the CPD Rules), sets forth specifically prohibited acts. In pertinent part, the CPD Rules include the following prohibitions:

Rule 6
Disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral.

Rule 11
Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.

B. CPD Special Order S03-05 (effective February 23, 2012 through February 24, 2016)

CPD Special Orders are directives that establish protocols and procedures concerning specific CPD functions, operations, programs, or processes. Special Order S03-05, which was in effect at the time of the shooting, outlines the protocols CPD members are to follow regarding in-car video systems. In-car video systems are also referred to as dash cameras or dashcams in this report.

Section VI of the Special Order provides that at the beginning of their tour of duty, Department members assigned to a CPD vehicle equipped with an in-car video system are to:

1. visually inspect the in-car video system equipment for damage;
obtain the remote transmitter/audio recorder and ensure it is securely attached to the member’s person; and follow the start-up procedures for the in-car video system as trained and ensure the system is working properly.

The Special Order notes that members are to “immediately notify a supervisor if, at any time, the in-car video system is inoperable, damaged, the equipped vehicle becomes inoperable, or the remote transmitter/audio recorder is missing.” During their tour, members are to “audibly and visually record events in accordance with this directive.” At the conclusion of a tour of duty, members are to “verify the in-car video system is working properly.”

III. ARTURO BECERRA EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

Becerra has worked as a CPD Police Officer since 2010. Becerra is a member of Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) Lodge 7.

IV. SUMMARY OF INVESTIGATION

A. Procedural History of OIG’s Investigation

By letter, dated December 8, 2015, Independent Police Review Authority (IPRA) Acting Chief Administrator Sharon Fairley requested that OIG conduct an administrative investigation “to determine whether certain police officers/witnesses made false statements on official reports prepared in connection with [Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald] and/or during the investigation of the incident.” IPRA further requested that OIG investigate “whether any of the involved Chicago Police officers committed any other violation(s) of Chicago Police Department rules, policies or procedures in their involvement with the incident, including, but not limited to, whether any officers’ conduct may have interfered with or obstructed the appropriate investigation and handling of this matter.”

Then, by letter, dated January 13, 2016, CPD Interim Superintendent John J. Escalante requested that OIG conduct an “administrative investigation into any and all allegations of police officer misconduct” arising out of the October 20, 2014 shooting death of McDonald. The Superintendent’s request asked OIG to investigate the following allegations: “whether any officer(s) made false statements on official reports submitted in connection with the shooting of Laquan McDonald on October 20, 2014; whether any officer(s) obstructed or interfered with the investigation of this incident, either individually or in collusion with others; and whether any officer(s) committed any violation of Chicago Police Department rules, policies, or orders in connection with their response and/or handling of this matter.” Escalante attached to the letter request a copy of Sergeant Sandra Soria’s Initiation Report, which raises allegations of misconduct related to the in-car video systems of the vehicles that were present during the McDonald shooting, and identified that Report as a basis for OIG’s administrative investigation.

On March 10, 2016, Kevin Kilmer, Financial Secretary for the FOP, filed a grievance with CPD on behalf of all affected members stating that OIG’s attempts to conduct CPD officer interviews violated Article 6 of CPD’s Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) with the FOP. On March 16, 2016, FOP on behalf of all impacted CPD officers filed a “Complaint for Injunction in Aid of Arbitration” in the Circuit Court of Cook County, asking the court to enjoin OIG from conducting interviews until the grievance was decided in arbitration. The court dismissed the complaint and denied the injunction on March 22, 2016.

OIG’s administrative investigation of other CPD employees’ actions related to CPD’s handling of the McDonald investigation is ongoing. During the course of its investigation, OIG has gathered documents from CPD and IPRA, among other sources, and conducted numerous interviews, including interviews of several CPD personnel who were at or responded to the scene of the shooting and civilian witnesses to the shooting. To date in its ongoing investigation, OIG has recommended disciplinary action against multiple CPD personnel.

B. The Events of October 20, 2014

The following sections detail the shooting of McDonald, as well as the relevant events that occurred directly before and after the shooting.

1. and Rudy Barillas’s Encounter with McDonald

 and Rudy Barillas, were parking a truck in a lot at 41st Street and Kildare Avenue when saw a black male, whom she subsequently identified as McDonald, attempting to steal property from certain vehicles parked in the lot. Barillas told McDonald to leave the lot. McDonald responded by making growling noises. After Barillas again told McDonald to leave the lot, McDonald pulled out a knife and swung it at Barillas. Barillas, who

3 Section 6.1, Paragraph I of the CBA states, “If the allegation under investigation indicates a recommendation for separation is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the statutory administrative proceeding rights, or if the allegation indicates criminal prosecution is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the constitutional rights concerning self-incrimination prior to the commencement of interrogation.” CPD General Order GO8-01-01, Paragraph K contains similar language.

4 Fraternal Order of Police, Chicago Lodge 7 v. City of Chicago, No. 2016 CH 03726 (Cir. Ct. of Cook County, Ill., Mar. 16, 2016).

5 On April 22, 2016, OIG obtained maps of the locations that are relevant to the shooting from Google Maps and included those maps in Appendix A. Those maps generally reflect the street layout and location of relevant businesses as they were on the night of October 20, 2014.

6 The following account of and Barillas’s encounter with McDonald is taken from the March 16, 2015 case supplementary report (CSR) submitted by CPD Detective David March, which includes the statements that and Barillas provided to CPD on October 21, 2014, and October 22, 2014, respectively. OIG 15-0564 003077.
had already called 911, then threw his cell phone at McDonald. Officer McDonald ran from the lot, first northbound on Kildare and then eastbound on 40th Street.

2. Officers Thomas Gaffney and Joseph McElligott’s Encounter with McDonald

Officer Thomas Gaffney and his partner Officer Joseph McElligott received a call over the radio that someone had broken into a truck at 4100 South Kildare and were dispatched to the scene. Gaffney was driving, and McElligott was in the passenger seat of their assigned vehicle, 815R. When they arrived at 4100 South Kildare, they saw a Hispanic male and female standing by the gate to the truck yard. The two said that a black male wearing a black shirt, later determined to be McDonald, had been trying to steal the radio out of a semi-truck, and had subsequently headed north toward 40th Street.

Gaffney and McElligott drove north on Kildare, turned right onto 40th Street, and saw McDonald walking east on the south side of 40th Street. McElligott exited the vehicle and commanded McDonald to stop and turn around. Gaffney stayed in the vehicle in case McDonald attempted to flee. McElligott ordered McDonald to take his hands out of his pockets. McDonald, who had been facing McElligott, turned and walked away with one hand still in his pocket. McDonald then turned again and took both of his hands out of his pockets. He had a knife in his right hand. McElligott drew his weapon and told McDonald to drop the knife. McDonald started walking east again, going from the sidewalk to the street and back. McElligott

Note:

7 OEMC recordings reflect that Barillas called 911 at 9:45 p.m. stating that he was holding “a guy right hear [sic] that stolen [sic] the radios” from trucks in a truck yard located at “41st and Kildare.” OIG 15-0564 003227.

8 The following account of Gaffney and McElligott’s encounter with McDonald is taken from (1) the audio-recorded statements Gaffney and McElligott provided to IPRA on October 21, 2014, OIG 15-0564 000482-98, 000610-30; and (2) the March 16, 2015 CSR submitted by Detective David March, which includes the statements that Gaffney and McElligott provided to March on the night of the McDonald shooting. OIG 15-0564 003067–69.

9 OEMC records reflect that Gaffney and McElligott received the call at 9:47 p.m. OIG 15-0564 003691.

followed McDonald on foot, shining his flashlight on him, while Gaffney followed in 815R, parallel to McDonald.

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Keeler, Gaffney reported to dispatch that McDonald was walking away with a knife in his hand. Gaffney and McElligott continued to follow McDonald as he headed east, with McElligott giving McDonald orders to drop his knife and stop. McDonald kept turning around and giving the officers a “weird glaze[d] look.”

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Karlov, Gaffney turned his car toward McDonald to direct him down Karlov. Gaffney wanted to keep McDonald away from Pulaski, which was a more populated area. McDonald then swung his arm and popped 815R’s right front tire with his knife. McElligott was toward the back of 815R when McDonald popped its tire. After McDonald took a step back from the vehicle, Gaffney pulled up further in front of him to stop him from proceeding to Pulaski. McDonald then hit the right side of 815R’s windshield once with the knife in his right hand. The windshield did not break but, according to Gaffney, McDonald hit it as hard as he could. McDonald walked around the front of 815R and continued eastward on 40th Street. After McDonald had walked 10 to 15 feet, another squad car turned off of Pulaski onto 40th Street with its lights on, and McDonald began to sprint. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, and Gaffney followed McDonald in 815R. McDonald ran eastbound through a parking lot of a Burger King located at 40th and Pulaski and then headed southbound on Pulaski. Video footage from several cameras captured McDonald’s movements as he reached Pulaski.

3. Summary of the Relevant Video Footage

The below table contains a summary of the relevant video footage of the McDonald shooting, which includes the dashcam videos from 813R, 823R, and 845R, video from the “WNE fire exit” security camera from the Greater Chicago Food Depository, which is bordered by 40th Street to the north, Karlov Avenue to the east, and Keeler Avenue to the west, and the security camera video from the Dunkin’ Donuts, located at 4113 South Pulaski Road (the DD Camera).

4. CCSPD Officer Accounts of the October 20, 2014 McDonald Shooting19

While on patrol on October 20, 2014, CCSPD Officers Adam Murphy and Jeff Pasqua observed several CPD police vehicles pass by them. Both officers decided to follow the CPD vehicles. When they arrived at the scene, several CPD vehicles were already present—Pasqua estimated it was five or six. McDonald was lying on the pavement “gasping for his last breath of air.”

16 OEMC records show that dispatch received notice to send an ambulance to the scene at 9:57:51. OIG 15-0564 003691.

17 The last time stamp visible on the 813R dashcam video is 9:58:55.

18 OIG identified the CCSPD officer as Officer Adam Murphy.

19 The following CCSPD Officer accounts are taken from OIG’s June 23, 2016 interview of Jeff Pasqua and its June 24, 2015 interview of Adam Murphy. Pasqua and Murphy are currently CCSPD investigators.
Pasqua OIG Tr. 11:22-23. Meanwhile, the CPD officers were “standing around” and talking to each other. Murphy OIG Tr. 11:1. Murphy noted the CPD officers did not respond to him when he asked if they needed assistance. Murphy stated:

I see there’s blood all over the pavement. [McDonald] was kind of gurgling when he was sitting there. I remember his mouth was going open and closed like he was trying to gasp for air. And I looked for everybody else, and they were kind of standing there. I just started taking my gloves—my rubber gloves out to check for a pulse and to see if I could render aid.

Murphy OIG Tr. 12:18-13:2. He heard someone say an ambulance was en route. Both Officers Murphy and Pasqua recalled then watching McDonald take his final breaths. It was “[m]aybe less than a minute before [McDonald] expired.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:15-16. At no time did any CPD officers attempt to provide aid or comfort McDonald—Murphy stated, “That’s why I felt that I needed to go up to him.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:11-12.

After McDonald passed away, Murphy got up from beside him and noticed the shooting officer, who he now knows to be Van Dyke, “pacing back and forth in front of his car.” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:7-8. Murphy approached him and told him to sit down and drink water. As he was speaking with Van Dyke, Murphy “heard several officers telling [Van Dyke] to call your union rep, call your union rep.” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:16-17.

Murphy and Pasqua departed after approximately ten minutes on the scene when a CPD sergeant told them CPD did not need their assistance. At the time they left, there was “[a] sea of CPD” on scene. Murphy OIG Tr. 38:3; Pasqua OIG Tr. 25:7-8.

C. Becerra’s October 20, 2014 Statement Regarding the McDonald Shooting

On March 15, 2015, Detective David March submitted a case supplementary report (CSR) with the R.D. Number HX475653 that contains a summary of CPD’s investigation. Lieutenant
Anthony Wojcik approved the CSR on March 16, 2015. Included in that CSR is a summary of the statement that March purported to have obtained from Becerra at the scene of the shooting, which states in relevant part:

[Becerra] stated he was a Chicago Police Officer assigned to the 008th District. He was on duty, in uniform, working on Beat 822. Bacerra [sic] was working with Police Officer Leticia Velez. The two officers were assigned to a marked vehicle. Bacerra [sic] was driving the vehicle and Velez was the passenger.

Officer Bacerra [sic] and his partner responded to the request for assistance made by Beat 815R, regarding a subject who was armed with a knife. Bacerra [sic] was driving northbound on Pulaski Road from 47th Street. As he approached the scene of this incident, at 4112 South Pulaski, he observed a black male subject, now known as Laquan McDonald, in the middle of the street, flailing his arms. As he got closer, Bacerra [sic] observed McDonald to be holding a knife in his right hand. Bacerra [sic] drove past McDonald, with McDonald on the left side of the police vehicle, as Beat 845R drove past Bacerra [sic], on the right side of his vehicle, travelling southbound. As Bacerra [sic] began to make a U-turn, he heard multiple gunshots. He then saw McDonald lying on the ground. Bacerra [sic] did not see who fired the shots.24

D. Records and Interviews Concerning 822’s In-Car Video System

1. October 20, 2014 Supervisor’s Management Log

Sergeant Sean Tully completed and signed a “Supervisor’s Management Log,” dated October 20, 2014, for the third watch officers under his supervision, which included Becerra and Velez. Under “Personnel and Assignments,” the log lists Becerra and Velez’s names, as well as their beat (822) and vehicle number (8765). Tully noted that the 822 vehicle had an in-car camera and that the camera was “Operable and Logged On” as of 16:30.25

2. Sergeant Becvar’s Reports and Interview

On October 21, 2014, CPD Sergeant Lance Becvar submitted a supplementary report for R.D. No. HX475653 concerning his retrieval of video from the in-car video systems of the five CPD vehicles that were on scene when Van Dyke shot McDonald.26 With respect to the beat 822 vehicle (also referred to as Vehicle 8765), the vehicle Becerra was driving on October 20, 2014, Becvar noted “Not engaged—Officer reported power issue.” Becvar also completed a 24 Detective March completed a General Progress Report (GPR) relating to his interview of Becerra that contains March’s handwritten notes of the interview. OIG 15-0564 003250. March’s handwritten notes of the interview do not differ in any significant way from the summary of Becerra’s statement in the CSR.

25 With respect to the beat 825 and 849 vehicles, Tully noted that the vehicles’ in-car cameras were inoperable and listed a corresponding help desk ticket number for each vehicle’s camera.

corresponding “In Car Camera Video Retrieval Worksheet” regarding his October 20, 2014 video retrieval, in which he made the following notation with respect to 822: “Mics in charging cradles, not sync’d to system.”

On July 17, 2015, Becvar sent an email summarizing his findings regarding his October 20, 2014 video retrieval from 822 and the other four CPD vehicles that were on scene when Van Dyke shot McDonald. With respect to 822, Becvar wrote: “System not engaged, officer related no power. There was no open H[elp] D[esk] T[icket] called in on vehicle. MICs not sync’d to system even though they were in the charging cradles.”

In a January 27, 2016 OIG interview, Sergeant Becvar stated that when he checked 822’s in-car video system on October 20, 2014, it was not engaged and there was no video. In addition, 822’s mics were not synced to the system. Becvar had a conversation with Velez that evening, and she related that 822’s in-car video system had not been working correctly. Velez told Becvar that the system’s power had been going on and off. When asked what could cause the system to have no power, Becvar responded: “Is it an interface problem with the car, is it the CPU has a loose board or power supply, a damaged cable, some tampering, I wish I could answer that.” Becvar OIG Tr. 65:13-16. According to Becvar, if 822’s in-car video system was not powering up at the beginning of Becerra and Velez’s shift, “they should have notified their sergeant,” and obtained a help desk ticket. Becvar OIG Tr. 70:16-17. When Becvar returned to the Detective Division from the scene of the shooting, he checked to see if 822 had an open help desk ticket and determined that it did not.

E. OIG Interview of Becerra

On September 14, 2016, pursuant to Section 6.1 of the CBA between CPD and FOP, OIG, through CPD’s Bureau of Internal Affairs, served Becerra with a Notification of Interview, Notification of Allegations, and copies of his prior statements, including (1) his October 20, 2014 statement to Detective March, contained in the March 16, 2015 CSR, and (2) Detective March’s GPR containing his handwritten notes of his interview of Becerra. In addition, OIG provided Becerra with the dashcam footage from 813R and 845R and the security camera footage from Dunkin’ Donuts.

On September 23, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed Becerra under oath after informing him of his administrative advisements orally and in writing. Becerra provided oral and written acknowledgement of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Becerra was accompanied by his attorney. In summary, Becerra stated as follows.

1. October 20, 2014

As of October 20, 2014, Becerra was assigned to the third watch in the 8th District. The third watch shift begins at 3:30 p.m. and ends at 12:30 a.m.

   a) Scene of McDonald Shooting

Becerra was present when Van Dyke shot McDonald. Becerra was driving the 822 vehicle at the time of the shooting, and Velez was in the passenger seat. Velez was Becerra’s regular partner and had been so for one or two years.

Prior to the shooting, Becerra and Velez were sitting in 822 at 53rd and St. Louis having lunch when they heard an officer “screaming” over the radio for a taser. Becerra OIG Tr. 16:18. Becerra decided to assist the officer and started driving toward 41st and Pulaski, the location Becerra heard over the radio. Becerra and Velez did not have a taser with them.

Becerra traveled northbound on Pulaski with his lights and sirens on. As Becerra got closer to the scene, he saw McDonald “in the middle of the street.” Becerra OIG Tr. 17:16. McDonald was walking “with sort of like a skip.” Becerra OIG Tr. 19:6-7. Becerra saw a knife in McDonald’s hand and was shocked “that he was actually walking towards” 822. Becerra OIG Tr. 17:22-23. Becerra did not feel “safe and comfortable with the distance” between McDonald and 822. Becerra OIG Tr. 17:24-18:1. Becerra noticed McDonald “started walking away from [822].” Becerra OIG Tr. 18:1-2. Becerra then “proceeded to drive past [McDonald] to make a U-turn.” Becerra OIG Tr. 18:2-3. As Becerra was in the middle of making the U-turn, he heard shots being fired.

Becerra stopped 822, exited the vehicle and “saw the officer shooting the—the subject.” Becerra OIG Tr. 18:5-6. After the shooting stopped, Becerra stated, he “felt like the situation was under control. Felt better.” Becerra OIG Tr. 18:7-8. McDonald was already on the ground when Becerra exited 822. Officers Van Dyke and Walsh were “right in front of [Becerra].” Becerra OIG Tr. 50:10.

Becerra subsequently went to check on Velez and make sure she was okay. Becerra and Velez then got back into 822 and moved the vehicle to make way for other officers. Becerra and Velez then waited for direction from their supervisors. Other than Velez, Becerra did not speak to any of the other officers who were present during the shooting. He did not hear any of the officers describe the shooting.

Becerra initially stated that he did not see any video of the shooting at the scene. He then clarified that while he was on scene, a sergeant, whose name he did not know, called Becerra over to another CPD vehicle, most likely 813R, pointed to its camera, and asked him whether it was Becerra’s vehicle that was pictured on screen. Becerra said yes, and the sergeant said:
“Okay, they want to talk to you at Area.” Becerra OIG Tr. 32:5-6. The portion of the video Becerra watched did not include the shooting.

b) Area Central

Becerra believed he was at the scene of the shooting for approximately 30 to 60 minutes before heading to Area Central. He and Velez drove to Area Central in the 822 vehicle. Once Becerra and Velez arrived, they sat at a table and waited for instructions. Becerra saw Van Dyke, Walsh, and Mondragon at Area Central, but did not talk to them.

Becerra recalled that, at some point that evening, a detective asked Becerra what he saw, and Becerra gave a statement. Becerra did not know the name of that detective. Becerra initially could not recall whether that conversation took place at the scene or at Area Central, but then clarified that that exchange occurred at one of the tables in Area Central’s main area. When asked whether he talked to one detective or multiple detectives, Becerra responded: “[T]here was maybe multiple detectives asking me different types of questions, so I don’t know. It wasn’t—it wasn’t like we were sitting down one on one. I don’t know. It was more like a group of plainclothes officers.” Becerra OIG Tr. 40:16-21. Velez was in Becerra’s “general area” while he was giving his statement. Becerra OIG Tr. 41:11.

c) HX475653 CSR

According to Becerra, the statement attributed to him in the HX475653 CSR was generally accurate. However, Becerra did not recall using the word “flailing,” in reference to McDonald’s movement of his arms. In addition, with respect to the line “He then saw McDonald lying on the ground,” Becerra said that he told the detective: “As I exited my vehicle, then I saw the officer shooting McDonald.” Becerra OIG Tr. 49:11-12. Becerra said that portion of his statement was not recorded accurately: “[M]aybe I was rushed or maybe he didn’t kind of finish the paragraph, I don’t know.” Becerra OIG Tr. 49:19-20.

2. Vehicle 822’s In-Car Video System

As of October 20, 2014, Becerra was aware of the protocols set forth in S03-05 and had a general understanding of those protocols. Becerra said he usually followed the start-up procedures set forth in S03-05 at the beginning of his tour of duty. When asked whether it was his regular practice to notify his supervisor when his vehicle’s in-car video system was not working, Becerra responded: “Yes. But—what usually happens is that the supervisor, he would ask us—there would be sometime during the tour he would check—he checks—check up on us, how are you doing, how are you doing, how is the camera working. And then usually if there was a problem, we would tell him at that particular time.” Becerra OIG Tr. 56:22-57:5. According to Becerra, the squad car dashcams were “very temperamental”—“they will work one minute, a few minutes later they won’t work.” Becerra OIG Tr. 53:19-21.

Becerra was generally assigned to 822 (also known as the 8765 vehicle) around the time of the McDonald shooting. Becerra claimed that the vehicle’s camera malfunctioned “every day”—“[i]t would like freeze. The system would freeze for some time.” Becerra OIG Tr. 59:9-12.
Becerra claimed that he would tell the sergeant about the system freezes and the sergeant would obtain a ticket number. Becerra generally reported issues “through the computer.” Becerra OIG Tr. 66:16.

On October 20, 2014, Velez unsuccessfully attempted to log on to 822’s in-car video system at the beginning of Becerra and Velez’s tour. They attempted to restart the camera, but it did not reboot. Becerra kept his microphone in its charging dock because the camera was acting up.

Becerra said that he and Velez “didn’t really get a chance to report those issues” to their sergeant. Becerra OIG Tr. 61:1-2. Becerra added that “the opportunity didn’t arise to like, oh, let’s meet up with the sergeant and tell him.” Becerra OIG Tr. 61:11-13. Becerra and Velez did not file a help desk ticket on October 20, 2014, with respect to 822’s in-car video system.

While Becerra and Velez were at the scene following the shooting, a plainclothes officer came to check on 822’s camera. The officer had a keyboard and was trying to log on to 822’s camera. Becerra did not recall having a conversation with the officer.

When asked to respond to the allegation that Becerra “failed to ensure the in-car video system for CPD vehicle 8765 was working properly at the beginning of [his] tour of duty” on October 20, 2014, Becerra stated: “Yeah, that’s accurate.” Becerra OIG Tr. 68:4-10. When asked to respond to the allegation that Becerra “failed to immediately notify a supervisor that the in-car video system for CPD vehicle 8765 was inoperable or damaged” on October 20, 2014, Becerra stated: “Yeah, again, probably accurate.” Becerra OIG Tr. 68:12-17. When asked to respond to the allegation that Becerra “failed to audibly record events with CPD vehicle 8765’s in-car video system during [his] tour of duty” on October 20, 2014, Becerra stated: “Yeah, accurate.” Becerra OIG Tr. 68:19-24.

V. ANALYSIS

OIG’s investigation established that Officer Arturo Becerra violated CPD Rule 6 (disobedience of an order, namely S03-05) and Rule 11 (incompetency in the performance of a duty) by failing to visually and audibly record events with his in-car video system and failing to notify his supervisor about the system’s inoperability. CPD records establish that 822’s in-car video system did not capture video or audio during Becerra’s October 20, 2014 tour. Sergeant Lance Becvar, who attempted to recover video from 822’s in-car video system, found that the system was not engaged. Becerra said that he and Velez unsuccessfully attempted to log in to 822’s in-car video system at the beginning of his October 20, 2014 tour. Sergeant Tully’s October 20, 2014 Supervisor’s Management Log contradicts Becerra’s statement as it reflects that 822’s system was “operable and logged on” one hour after Becerra’s tour started. A lack of evidence regarding the actual mechanical state of the 822 dashcam during Becerra’s October 20, 2014 tour, including the absence of October 20, 2014 PDT messages for 822, preclude any finding as to whether Tully’s log was true and accurate.

31 OIG requested from OEMC the portable data terminal (PDT) messages sent from the 822 vehicle on October 20, 2014. However, OEMC notified OIG that it only maintained those records for seven days and thus was no longer in possession of the records at the time of OIG’s request.

32 Sergeant Tully’s October 20, 2014 Supervisor’s Management Log contradicts Becerra’s statement as it reflects that 822’s system was “operable and logged on” one hour after Becerra’s tour started. A lack of evidence regarding the actual mechanical state of the 822 dashcam during Becerra’s October 20, 2014 tour, including the absence of October 20, 2014 PDT messages for 822, preclude any finding as to whether Tully’s log was true and accurate.
“opportunity” to report the malfunction during his October 20, 2014 tour, but acknowledged that he had the ability to make such a report through his computer and did not need to have that conversation with his sergeant in person. In addition, McDonald’s shooting occurred more than six hours after Becerra’s shift began, meaning Becerra had ample time to report 822’s inoperative in-car video system.

Becerra’s failure to follow CPD’s in-car video system protocols prevented CPD from collecting potentially important, objective, technology-based evidence of the McDonald shooting. As a result, investigators are now forced to rely on Becerra’s subjective unrecorded oral account of the shooting. Becerra’s violation of CPD rules also served to harm the relationship between CPD and the residents it serves. A functioning in-car video system is critical to CPD’s efforts to maintain accountability for its officers. That accountability, in turn, fosters the public’s trust in CPD. When accountability mechanisms fail, as they did in the present case, where only one of the five CPD vehicles present at the shooting captured video of the actual shooting and none of those vehicles captured audio, the public can lose faith in CPD’s commitment to accountability. Thus, as CPD works to rebuild the relationship between its officers and the greater Chicago community, it must ensure that its personnel understand the importance of keeping all aspects of CPD’s accountability framework, including in-car video systems, functional.

VI. Recommendation

OIG recommends that CPD impose discipline upon Becerra commensurate with the seriousness of his misconduct, his discipline history, and department standards.

VII. CPD Rule Violations

Rule 6  Disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral.

Rule 11  Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.

33 Becerra further claimed that 822’s camera malfunctioned “every day.” Becerra OIG Tr. 59:12. However, CPD records reflect that there were no help desk tickets opened for 822’s camera in the thirty days prior to or following the shooting. Thus, the evidence suggests that Becerra repeatedly violated S03-05 by failing to alert his supervisor to what Becerra himself described as his vehicle’s constantly malfunctioning camera.
Appendix A
This report consists of a summary of the evidence set out in the attached investigative materials and the Office of Inspector General’s (OIG’s) analysis of that evidence. An index of the investigative materials is attached.

I. INTRODUCTION

An OIG investigation has established that Dora Fontaine, a police officer for the Chicago Police Department (CPD) who was present when Officer Jason Van Dyke shot Laquan McDonald on October 20, 2014, violated CPD Rules and Regulations during the subsequent CPD investigation.1 Fontaine was assigned to Beat 841R on October 20, 2014, and arrived at the scene with her partner, Officer Ricardo Viramontes, as Van Dyke was shooting McDonald. As detailed further below, Fontaine made false statements during her subsequent interview with CPD, which served to materially mischaracterize the events leading up to the McDonald shooting, and to thereby bolster a false narrative which might offer justification for the shooting. Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD discharge Fontaine and refer her for placement on the ineligible for rehire list maintained by the Department of Human Resources.

II. APPLICABLE RULES, REGULATIONS, AND LAW

A. CPD Rules and Regulations

The “Rules and Regulations of the Chicago Police Department” set out the standards of conduct and duties of sworn members, as well as CPD goals. The Rules and Regulations state that sworn members must “conduct themselves at all times in such a manner as will reflect credit upon the Department with emphasis on personal integrity and professional devotion to law enforcement.”

Article V of the CPD Rules and Regulations, entitled CPD Rules of Conduct (the CPD Rules), sets forth specifically prohibited acts. In pertinent part, the CPD Rules include the following prohibitions:

Rule 2 Any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department.

1 CPD’s investigation in the aftermath of the McDonald shooting was reported under record number HX-475653, and most reports were classified as an investigation into an aggravated assault in which McDonald was the offender. In a few reports, the case was classified as an investigation into a justifiable homicide of which McDonald was the victim. An additional record number was also created and classified as a justifiable homicide, apparently for recordkeeping purposes. In CPD’s investigative reports classified under the aggravated assault, CPD personnel drew conclusions about the propriety and lawfulness of Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald. This raises questions about CPD’s role in investigating a police-involved shooting in light of IPRA’s jurisdiction over the matter.
Rule 3  Any failure to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy or accomplish its goals.

Rule 14  Making a false report, written or oral.

III. OFFICER FONTAINE’S EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

Fontaine has worked as a CPD Police Officer since October 29, 2001. She is a member of Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) Lodge 7.

IV. SUMMARY OF INVESTIGATION

A. Procedural History of OIG’s Investigation

By letter, dated December 8, 2015, Independent Police Review Authority (IPRA) Acting Chief Administrator Sharon Fairley requested that OIG conduct an administrative investigation “to determine whether certain police officers/witnesses made false statements on official reports prepared in connection with [Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald] and/or during the investigation of the incident.” On November 24, 2015, the Cook County State’s Attorney charged Van Dyke with a single count of first degree murder in the shooting of McDonald. On December 15, 2015, it subsequently charged him with six counts of murder. OIG has not been involved with any criminal investigation related to the shooting and makes no findings regarding Van Dyke’s use of force.

Then, by letter, dated January 13, 2016, CPD Interim Superintendent John J. Escalante requested that OIG conduct an “administrative investigation into any and all allegations of police officer misconduct” arising out of the October 20, 2014 shooting death of McDonald. The Superintendent’s request asked OIG to investigate the following allegations: “whether any officer(s) made false statements on official reports submitted in connection with the shooting of Laquan McDonald on October 20, 2014; whether any officer(s) obstructed or interfered with the investigation of this incident, either individually or in collusion with others; and whether any officer(s) committed any violation of Chicago Police Department rules, policies, or orders in connection with their response and/or handling of this matter.” Escalante attached to the letter request a copy of Sergeant Sandra Soria’s Initiation Report, which raises allegations of misconduct related to the in-car video systems of the vehicles that were present during the McDonald shooting, and identified that Report as a basis for OIG’s administrative investigation.

On March 10, 2016, Kevin Kilmer, Financial Secretary for the FOP, on behalf of all affected members, filed a grievance with CPD stating that OIG’s attempts to conduct CPD officer interviews violated Article 6 of CPD’s Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) with the FOP.\(^3\) On March 16, 2016, FOP on behalf of all impacted CPD officers filed a “Complaint for Injunction in Aid of Arbitration” in the Circuit Court of Cook County, asking the court to enjoin OIG from conducting interviews until the grievance was decided in arbitration.\(^4\) The court dismissed the complaint and denied the injunction on March 22, 2016.

OIG’s administrative investigation of other CPD employees’ actions related to the McDonald shooting is ongoing. During the course of its investigation, OIG has gathered documents from CPD and IPRA, among other sources, and conducted numerous interviews, including interviews of thirteen CPD personnel who were at or responded to the scene of the shooting and seven civilian witnesses to the shooting. To date in its ongoing investigation, OIG has recommended disciplinary action against multiple CPD personnel, sustaining allegations that they each put forth false a narrative regarding the shooting.

B. The Events of October 20, 2014

The following sections detail the shooting of McDonald, as well as the relevant events that occurred directly before and after the shooting.\(^5\)

1. Rudy Barillas’s Encounter with McDonald\(^6\)

Rudy Barillas, were parking a truck in a lot at 41st Street and Kildare Avenue when saw a black male, whom she subsequently identified as McDonald, attempting to steal property from certain vehicles parked in the lot. Barillas told McDonald to leave the lot. McDonald responded by making growling noises. After Barillas again told McDonald to leave the lot, McDonald pulled out a knife and swung it at Barillas. Barillas, who had already called 911, then threw his cell phone at McDonald.\(^7\) McDonald ran from the lot, first northbound on Kildare and then eastbound on 40th Street.

3 Section 6.1, Paragraph I of the CBA states, “If the allegation under investigation indicates a recommendation for separation is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the statutory administrative proceeding rights, or if the allegation indicates criminal prosecution is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the constitutional rights concerning self-incrimination prior to the commencement of interrogation.” CPD General Order GO8-01-01, Paragraph K contains similar language.

4 Fraternal Order of Police, Chicago Lodge 7 v. City of Chicago, No. 2016 CH 03726 (Cir. Ct. of Cook County, Ill., Mar. 16, 2016).

5 On April 22, 2016, OIG obtained maps of the locations that are relevant to the shooting from Google Maps and included those maps in Appendix A. Those maps generally reflect the street layout and location of relevant businesses as they were on the night of October 20, 2014.

6 The following account of and Barillas’s encounter with McDonald is taken from the March 16, 2015 case supplementary report (CSR) submitted by CPD Detective David March, which includes the statements that and Barillas provided to CPD on October 21, 2014, and October 22, 2014, respectively. OIG 15-0564 003077.

7 OEMC recordings reflect that Barillas called 911 at 9:45 p.m. stating that he was holding “a guy right hear [sic] that stolen [sic] the radios” from trucks in a truck yard located at “41st and Kildare.” OIG 15-0564 003227.
2. Officers Thomas Gaffney and Joseph McElligott’s Encounter with McDonald

Officer Thomas Gaffney and his partner Officer Joseph McElligott received a call over the radio that someone had broken into a truck at 4100 South Kildare and were dispatched to the scene. Gaffney was driving, and McElligott was in the passenger seat of their assigned vehicle, 815R. When they arrived at 4100 South Kildare, they saw a Hispanic male and female standing by the gate to the truck yard. The two said that a black male wearing a black shirt, later determined to be McDonald, had been trying to steal the radio out of a semi-truck, and had subsequently headed north toward 40th Street.

Gaffney and McElligott drove north on Kildare, turned right onto 40th Street, and saw McDonald walking east on the south side of 40th Street. McElligott exited the vehicle and commanded McDonald to stop and turn around. Gaffney stayed in the vehicle in case McDonald attempted to flee. McElligott ordered McDonald to take his hands out of his pockets. McDonald, who had been facing McElligott, turned and walked away with one hand still in his pocket. McDonald then turned again and took both of his hands out of his pockets. He had a knife in his right hand. McElligott drew his weapon and told McDonald to drop the knife. McDonald started walking east again, going from the sidewalk to the street and back. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, shining his flashlight on him, while Gaffney followed in 815R, parallel to McDonald.

8 The following account of Gaffney and McElligott’s encounter with McDonald is taken from (1) the audio-recorded statements Gaffney and McElligott provided to IPRA on October 21, 2014; and (2) the March 16, 2015 CSR submitted by Detective David March, which includes the statements that Gaffney and McElligott provided to March on the night of the McDonald shooting. OIG 15-0564 000482-98, 000610-30, 003067–69.

9 OEMC records reflect that Gaffney and McElligott received the call at 9:47 p.m. OIG 15-0564 003691.

10 Below is a chart identifying the beat numbers and vehicle numbers of the CPD vehicles that were present when McDonald was shot, along with the names of the officers who were assigned to those vehicles. This SRI refers to the below-referenced vehicles by beat number, unless otherwise specified.

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Karlov, Gaffney turned his car toward McDonald to direct him down Karlov. Gaffney wanted to keep McDonald away from Pulaski, which was a more populated area. McDonald then swung his arm and popped 815R’s right front tire with his knife. McElligott was toward the back of 815R when McDonald popped its tire. After McDonald took a step back from the vehicle, Gaffney pulled up further in front of him to stop him from proceeding to Pulaski. McDonald then hit the right side of 815R’s windshield once with the knife in his right hand. The windshield did not break but, according to Gaffney, McDonald hit it as hard as he could. McDonald walked around the front of 815R and continued eastward on 40th Street. After McDonald had walked 10 to 15 feet, another squad car turned off of Pulaski onto 40th Street with its lights on, and McDonald began to sprint. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, and Gaffney followed McDonald in 815R. McDonald ran eastbound through a parking lot of a Burger King located at 40th and Pulaski and then headed southbound on Pulaski. Video footage from several cameras captured McDonald’s movements as he reached Pulaski.

3. Summary of the Relevant Video Footage

The below table contains a summary of the relevant video footage of the McDonald shooting, which includes the dashcam videos from 813R, 823R, and 845R, video from the “WNE fire exit” security camera from the Greater Chicago Food Depository, which is bordered by 40th Street to the north, Karlov Avenue to the east, and Keeler Avenue to the west, and the security camera video from the Dunkin’ Donuts, located at 4113 South Pulaski Road (the DD Camera).

11 OEMC recordings reflect that, at 9:53 p.m., 815R reported: “We’re at 40th and Keeler. ### 4. CCSPD Officer Accounts of the October 20, 2014 McDonald Shooting\(^{19}\)

While on patrol on October 20, 2014, CCSPD Officers Adam Murphy and Jeff Pasqua observed several CPD police vehicles pass by them. Both officers decided to follow the CPD vehicles. When they arrived at the scene, several CPD vehicles were already present—Pasqua estimated it was five or six. McDonald was lying on the pavement “gasp[ing] for his last breath of air.” Pasqua OIG Tr. 11:22-23. Meanwhile, the CPD officers were “standing around” and talking to each other. Murphy OIG Tr. 11:1. Murphy noted the CPD officers did not respond to him when he asked if they needed assistance. Murphy stated:

> I see there’s blood all over the pavement. [McDonald] was kind of gurgling when he was sitting there. I remember his mouth was going open and closed like he was trying to gasp for air. And I looked for everybody else, and they were kind of standing there. I just started taking my gloves—my rubber gloves out to check for a pulse and to see if I could render aid.

After McDonald passed away, Murphy got up from beside him and noticed the shooting officer, who he now knows to be Van Dyke, “pacing back and forth in front of his car.” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:7-8. Murphy approached him and told him to sit down and drink water. As he was speaking with Van Dyke, Murphy “heard several officers telling [Van Dyke] to ‘call your union rep, call your union rep.’” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:16-17.

Murphy and Pasqua departed after approximately ten minutes on the scene when a CPD sergeant told them CPD did not need their assistance. At the time they left, there was “[a] sea of CPD” on scene. Murphy OIG Tr. 38:3; Pasqua OIG Tr. 25:7-8.

C. Officer Fontaine’s October 20, 2014 Statement to Detective David March

On March 15, 2015, Detective David March submitted a case supplementary report (CSR) with the R.D. Number HX475653 that contains a summary of CPD’s investigation in the aftermath of the McDonald shooting. Lieutenant Anthony Wojcik approved the CSR on March 16, 2015. Included in that CSR is March’s summary of the statement he obtained from Fontaine at the scene of the shooting. The CSR summarizes Fontaine’s October 20, 2014 statement in relevant part as follows:

Fontaine was working with Police Officer Ricardo Viramontes. The two officers were assigned to a marked vehicle. Viramontes was driving the vehicle and Fontaine was the passenger.

The two officers responded to the request for assistance made by Beat 815R, regarding a man with a knife at 41st Street and Pulaski Road. Officer Viramontes drove northbound on Pulaski. When they arrived at the scene of this incident, in front of the Dunkin’ Donuts restaurant, Officer Fontaine saw a black male subject, now known as Laquan McDonald, walking southbound in the street, with a knife in his right hand. McDonald was walking sideways, with his body facing east, toward Officers Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh. These two officers were standing in the middle of the street, on the right side of their police vehicle, which was facing southbound. Fontaine heard the officers repeatedly order McDonald to “Drop the knife!” McDonald ignored the verbal direction and instead, raised his right arm toward Officer Van Dyke, as if attacking Van Dyke. At this time Van Dyke fired multiple shots from his handgun, until McDonald fell to the ground and stopped moving his right arm and hand, which still grasped the knife. The gunshots were rapid fire, without pause. Officer Walsh then kicked the knife out of McDonald’s hand.

D. OIG’s Interviews of Officer Fontaine

1. March 16, 2016 Interview

On February 22, 2016, pursuant to Section 6.1 of the CBA between CPD and FOP, OIG, through CPD’s Bureau of Internal Affairs, served Fontaine with a Notification of Interview, Notification of Allegations, and copies of her prior statements, including: (1) her October 20, 2014 statement to March, contained in the March 16, 2015 CSR; and (2) March’s GPR containing his handwritten notes of his interview of Fontaine. In addition, OIG provided Fontaine with the dashcam footage from 813R and 845R and the security camera footage from Dunkin’ Donuts.

22 March completed a General Progress Report (GPR) relating to his interview of Fontaine that contains March’s handwritten notes of the interview. OIG 15-0564 003252. March’s handwritten notes of the interview do not differ in any significant way from his summary of Fontaine’s statement in the CSR.
On March 16, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed Fontaine under oath after informing her of her administrative rights orally and in writing. She provided oral and written acknowledgement of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Fontaine’s attorney, Jennifer Russell, was also present for the interview. In summary, Fontaine stated as follows.

As of October 20, 2014, Fontaine was assigned to CPD’s 8th District and was working the first watch on Beat 841R. She was under the command of Sergeant Franko, and was partnered with Officer Viramontes. She and Viramontes had been partners for about five years.

a) The Scene of the Shooting

Fontaine and Viramontes were present on October 20, 2014, when Van Dyke shot McDonald. After the shooting, Sergeant Franko directed Fontaine and Viramontes to engage in traffic control. They proceeded southbound on Pulaski to block traffic coming from the north. Franko then assigned Fontaine and Viramontes to write the initial report for the incident. Sergeant Spreyne subsequently ordered Fontaine and Viramontes to accompany McDonald’s body to the hospital, but shortly after they left the scene, Spreyne ordered them back to the scene, and they proceeded to complete the report. That report did not contain any substantive narrative of the incident. Fontaine explained, “[M]y role when filling out the case report is you put the date, the time, the beat numbers, and just ‘see detective sup.’” Fontaine 3/16/16 OIG Tr. 86:22-87:1.

In preparing the report, Fontaine and Viramontes asked officers on the scene for their names and star numbers. Viramontes walked around the scene, while Fontaine spoke to anyone who was near the 841R vehicle.

Fontaine spoke to Detective March at the scene of the shooting. March approached Fontaine while she was in her vehicle working on the case report. She exited the car and spoke with him. March asked her for the RD number of the investigation and which beat cars were on the scene. March also asked where Fontaine and Viramontes had been during the shooting and if she had seen anything. Fontaine told him that she had and provided details regarding the shooting. March had a pen and pad, but Fontaine did not recall him writing anything down. Her conversation with March lasted less than 15 minutes. Fontaine believed that March talked to Viramontes after his conversation with her, but was not sure.

b) Area Central

After completing the case report, Fontaine and Viramontes went to Area Central in 841R, with Viramontes driving. When they arrived at Area Central, they were told to wait in the main room.

23 The Original Case Incident Report Fontaine authored classifies the incident as an “Assault – Aggravated PO: Knife/Cut Instr.” Fontaine submitted the Report at 4:32 a.m. on October 21, 2014; Franko approved it at 5:18 a.m. on October 21, 2014. The report lists Gaffney, Van Dyke, and Walsh as victims, and McDonald as the sole offender. In the field titled “Injuries,” Fontaine listed Van Dyke and designated him as “Injured by offender.” Van Dyke’s Officer’s Battery Report and Tactical Response Report stated that Van Dyke was not injured. In addition, March’s CSR did not report that Van Dyke was injured.
on the second floor for FOP to speak with them. Most of the officers who had been on the scene of the shooting were already there, but, according to Fontaine, Van Dyke was not present. An FOP representative then walked the officers through what would happen at the station that night.

Later, March asked Fontaine to go into a small Area Central office and then showed her video of the McDonald shooting on a computer monitor. There was another person in the room who ran the video, but Fontaine did not know the identity of that person. Fontaine recalled, “[March] was showing me the video and he says, when [McDonald] was walking – he says, ‘It looks as if he’s turning here.’ And I was like, ‘Oh, it does.’” Fontaine 3/16/16 OIG Tr. 72:21-24. Fontaine further recalled that March asked, “Oh, is this where he’s walking?” Fontaine 3/16/16 OIG Tr. 73:16. Fontaine said that it was, and March asked, “‘You see he kind of turns around?’” Fontaine 3/16/16 OIG Tr. 73:17-18. Fontaine agreed that it did look as though McDonald “kind of turns.” Fontaine 3/16/16 OIG Tr. 73:20. Fontaine did not recall March taking notes during their interaction. March did not ask her any other questions after showing her the video, and she returned to the main room. In her OIG interview, Fontaine viewed video from 813R’s in-car video system and was asked to identify the specific moment at which McDonald “turns,” as pointed out by March. She was unable to do so after watching the video several times. However, she agreed that 813R’s video was likely the video that March showed her at Area Central.

After she and March watched the video, Fontaine continued to wait at Area Central. She thought that she and Viramontes would be called to give statements to IPRA, but they were not asked to do so. At some point after 6 a.m., Franko released them, they drove back to the 8th District, and went home.

c) Fontaine’s Statement to Detective March

Fontaine was asked to review the statements attributed to her in March’s CSR and identify any statements she did not make to March. She pointed out the sentence in the CSR which reads, “McDonald ignored the verbal direction, instead raised his right arm toward Officer Van Dyke as if attacking Van Dyke,” and said “I don’t recall telling [March] that.” Fontaine 3/16/16 OIG Tr. 115:19-20. Fontaine said that she did not see McDonald raise his right arm toward Van Dyke. Fontaine did maintain that, when she first saw McDonald, “[H]e was walking southbound swaying the knife and Van Dyke and Walsh were – how should I put it? They were outside their vehicle . . . [a]nd from where I was looking at it on an angle, it looked like he was walking almost toward them.” Fontaine 3/16/16 OIG Tr. 118:9-16. When asked whether McDonald had turned toward Van Dyke and Walsh, Fontaine answered, “If you slow it down slow enough, it looks as if he’s turning towards them . . . . But I’m not sure. But that’s – but I’m not sure if that’s because he was shot at that point . . . .” Fontaine 3/16/16 OIG Tr. 121:21-122:7.

With respect to the statement in March’s CSR which reads, “McDonald was walking sideways with his body facing east towards Jason Van Dyke and Officer Walsh,” Fontaine said she did not know whether she had made that statement to March. Fontaine 3/16/16 OIG Tr. 122:15-22. Fontaine acknowledged making the rest of the statements attributed to her in the CSR during her conversation with March at the scene of the shooting.
Fontaine was asked whether the statements attributed to her in March’s CSR were factually accurate. She answered that the statement that McDonald raised his arm as if attacking Van Dyke was not accurate. She believed all other statements in the CSR were accurate, including the statement that McDonald was walking sideways with his body facing east. When asked whether she had related any facts to March which were not included in the CSR, she said she believed she told March that McDonald was “swaying” the knife. Fontaine 3/16/16 OIG Tr. 128:13.

When asked why she did not tell March that Walsh and Van Dyke moved toward McDonald prior to the shooting, Fontaine answered that she had not seen that, because Walsh and Van Dyke were blocked from her view by their vehicle. When asked why she had not told March that McDonald changed the direction in which he was walking prior to being shot, Fontaine answered, “I didn’t see that. I didn’t see him changing direction.” Fontaine 3/16/16 OIG Tr. 133:20-21.

Fontaine declined to stand by the statement attributed to her in the CSR that McDonald raised his right arm toward Van Dyke as if attacking Van Dyke, reiterating, “I never made that statement.” Fontaine 3/16/16 OIG Tr. 134:7. Fontaine did stand by her statement to March that the gunshots which Van Dyke fired at McDonald were rapid fire and without pause.

When asked when she first saw March’s write-up of her statement, Fontaine said that she saw it “[i]n the newspaper.” Fontaine 3/16/16 OIG Tr. 94:10. She did not recall when she saw it.

d) Fontaine’s Grand Jury Testimony

Fontaine testified before a grand jury regarding the McDonald shooting, but did not remember specific details about what questions she was asked. When asked what she told the grand jury about the shooting, Fontaine answered, “At this time, watching the video and everything else that’s coming about it, it’s – honestly, I – it’s all mixed up because of the fact that once they showed me the video, certain parts were different than what I stated.” Fontaine 3/16/16 OIG Tr. 33:19-23. When asked whether she had related a different version of events to the grand jury than she had to March, Fontaine answered: “The grand jury, I told them what I saw at that point in time, what was – what I remember of the situation. That’s what I explained to them at that point in time. At that time, I had – I remember telling March what I saw. And, again, after reviewing everything, it – it kind of differs.” Fontaine 3/16/16 OIG Tr. 34:13-19. Asked in what way those versions of events differed, Fontaine answered, “It differs because, by looking at [March’s] notes, there’s – where he puts that I said he raised his arm as if attacking Van Dyke, I never stated that or I don’t recall stating that to him.” Fontaine 3/16/16 OIG Tr. 34:21-35:1. Fontaine did not discuss her grand jury testimony with any of the other CPD officers who were on the scene of the McDonald shooting; she “didn’t want to talk about it.” Fontaine OIG 3/16/16 Tr. 37:15.

24 March’s write up of Fontaine’s statement, identifying Fontaine by name, is published in the press as early as December 5, 2015. See Tribune Staff, Laquan McDonald Police Reports Differ Dramatically From Video, CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Dec. 5, 2015.
1. June 17, 2016 Interview

On June 17, 2016, OIG re-interviewed Fontaine after informing her of her administrative advisements orally and in writing. She provided oral and written acknowledgement of the reading of those advisements. Fontaine refused to be placed under oath. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Fontaine’s attorney, Jennifer Russell, was also present for the interview. In summary, Fontaine stated as follows.

Fontaine reviewed the statements attributed to her in the March 16, 2015 CSR and provided the following responses.

E. OIG’s Interview of Officer Viramontes

On March 18, 2016, OIG interviewed Fontaine’s partner, Viramontes. In relevant part, OIG questioned Viramontes about when, in the sequence of events leading up to the shooting, he and Fontaine arrived at the scene. Viramontes was shown portions of 813R and 845R’s dashcam videos and the Dunkin’ Donuts security camera. Thereafter, Viramontes was asked whether he arrived to the scene in time to hear Van Dyke repeatedly say “drop the knife.” Viramontes stated that he heard Van Dyke give the directive after he, Viramontes, opened his vehicle door. Viramontes claimed that Van Dyke was saying “drop the knife” as he was shooting McDonald. When Viramontes was asked whether he heard Van Dyke say “drop the knife” before he started shooting, Viramontes answered, “I couldn’t have, because I was still traveling.” Viramontes OIG Tr. 152:8-11.

V. ANALYSIS

OIG’s investigation established that Fontaine made false statements in her interview with CPD regarding the McDonald shooting. Fontaine’s false statements each served a similar purpose: to materially mischaracterize the events leading up to the McDonald shooting, and to thereby bolster a false narrative which might offer justification for the shooting.26

Fontaine’s actions, individually and collectively, constitute violations of CPD Rules. Each of Fontaine’s false statements constitutes a violation of Rule 14 (making a false report, written or oral). Her false statements also constitute violations of Rule 2 (engaging in any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department), and Rule 3 (failing to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy and accomplish its goals). An officer who has made false statements in an official investigation has irrevocably tainted not only her credibility, but also the credibility of CPD—and also fails to promote CPD’s goal of employing officers with personal integrity and professional devotion to law enforcement. Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD discharge Fontaine.

Fontaine made two false statements to Detective March on October 20, 2014, regarding the McDonald shooting. Both are clearly contradicted by 813R and 845R’s dashcam video, the most objective and reliable evidence of the events that night, and by the testimony of her partner, Viramontes. By making these false statements, Fontaine provided a false narrative concerning the shooting. Specifically:

26 OIG also examined the issue of Fontaine’s compliance with CPD Rules and orders regarding the use of her in-car video system on October 20, 2014. OIG has determined that there is not a sufficient basis to conclude that Fontaine violated those rules or orders.
• Fontaine stated that she heard Van Dyke and Walsh repeatedly order McDonald to “drop the knife.”

• Fontaine stated that McDonald ignored Van Dyke’s verbal direction to drop the knife before Van Dyke opened fire.

As evidenced by Viramontes’s testimony and the video evidence, Fontaine could not have heard Van Dyke order McDonald to “drop the knife” before he began shooting McDonald, and therefore could not have seen McDonald “ignore” the verbal direction. The 813R dashcam establishes that Fontaine was opening the passenger side door of the 841R vehicle as Van Dyke began shooting McDonald.

When interviewed by OIG, Fontaine’s partner, Viramontes, admitted he did not hear Van Dyke give the “drop the knife” directive until after he opened his door. Viramontes further admitted that he “couldn’t have” heard Van Dyke say “drop the knife” before Van Dyke started firing because Viramontes “was still traveling.” Tr. 152:8-11. Viramontes was riding in the same car as Fontaine, and 845R’s video shows that Viramontes and Fontaine exited their car at the same time; if Viramontes could not have heard Van Dyke order McDonald to drop the knife before the shooting, then Fontaine could not have either. Viramontes admitted that he could not possibly have heard the officers order McDonald to drop the knife before the shooting. This admission was against his own interest—it required him to acknowledge that he provided false information to March. Viramontes’s statement against his own interest is more credible than Fontaine’s self-serving and uncorroborated claims that, in spite of the video footage, she did hear the order.

As Fontaine could not have heard Van Dyke order McDonald to “drop the knife” before shooting him, she therefore could not have witnessed McDonald ignore the order before Van Dyke shot him. Thus, by ratifying her statements to March, in spite of video footage undermining them, Fontaine stood by a sequence of events which served to justify Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald, and which Fontaine cannot possibly have witnessed.

In her OIG interview, Fontaine was firm in her position that she did not recall telling March that McDonald raised his arm as if attacking Van Dyke, and that that statement, attributed to her in March’s CSR, is not accurate. There is no evidence, however, that Fontaine took any measure, at any time, to correct CPD’s investigatory record to reflect this; this is despite the fact that she, by her own admission, saw March’s report of her statement in the newspaper.

Fontaine’s false statements served to materially mischaracterize the events leading up to the McDonald shooting. In this context, Fontaine’s statements can be seen as a deliberate attempt to establish the false narrative that Van Dyke shot an oncoming McDonald in response to McDonald’s potentially deadly knife attack. Fontaine was given the opportunity to correct, clarify, or explain her false statements. She was shown video of the shooting which objectively contradicts her statements, and still she stood by them.
VI. RECOMMENDATION

Fontaine’s false statements raise significant concerns regarding her credibility and ability to perform her duties as a sworn officer. As a sworn officer, Fontaine’s reports are relied upon in criminal legal proceedings and her credibility is therefore critical to her position. An officer who has made false statements in an official investigation has irrevocably tainted her credibility and has wholly disqualified herself from effectively executing core police functions. Based on this conduct she may be the subject of cross-examination in any contested proceedings in which she may appear as a witness, see Fed. R. Evid. 608(b) (“Specific instances of conduct”), and her conduct and the findings resulting from this investigation would further qualify as impeachment material that should, in principle, be disclosed in any contested proceeding involving the official records or testimony Fontaine generates. See Giglio v. United States, 405 U.S. 150 (1972) (requiring disclosure in criminal case of information impeaching of government witness’s credibility). Illinois courts have repeatedly noted that “as the guardians of our laws, police officers are expected to act with integrity, honesty, and trustworthiness” and have found intentional false or misleading statements by police officers to be sufficient cause for termination. Rodriguez v. Weis, 408 Ill. App. 3d 663, 671 (1st Dist. 2011) (quoting Sindermann v. Civil Service Comm’n, 275 Ill. App. 3d 917, 928 (2nd Dist. 1995)). OIG therefore recommends that CPD discharge Fontaine and refer her for placement on the ineligible for rehire list maintained by the Department of Human Resources.

VII. CPD RULE VIOLATIONS

Rule 2 Any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department.

Rule 3 Any failure to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy or accomplish its goals.

Rule 14 Making a false report, written or oral.
Appendix A
This report consists of a summary of the evidence set out in the attached investigative materials and the Office of Inspector General’s (OIG’s) analysis of that evidence. An index of the investigative materials is attached.

I. INTRODUCTION

An OIG investigation established that Stephen Franko, a Chicago Police Department (CPD) Sergeant who supervised officers involved in the events that culminated in Officer Jason Van Dyke’s October 20, 2014 shooting of Laquan McDonald, violated CPD Rules and Regulations and CPD Directives when he reviewed and approved false Tactical Response Reports (TRRs) and false Officer’s Battery Reports (OBRs) submitted by Officers Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh following the shooting. In addition, Franko approved an Original Case Incident Report that inaccurately stated Van Dyke was injured by McDonald. Finally, Franko failed to take appropriate action when he became aware that the officers under his supervision did not capture audio in their vehicles’ in-car video systems. Franko, as a CPD supervisory member, was accountable for the actions of his subordinates, and his failure to correct crucial reports submitted in response to a police-involved shooting and to take appropriate action when deficiencies in the in-car video system were observed brought discredit to the Department. Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD discharge Franko and refer him for placement on the ineligible for rehire list maintained by the Department of Human Resources.

II. APPLICABLE RULES, REGULATIONS, AND LAW

A. CPD Rules and Regulations

The “Rules and Regulations of the Chicago Police Department” set out the standards of conduct and duties of sworn members, including supervisory members, as well as CPD goals. The Rules and Regulations state that sworn members must “conduct themselves at all times in such a manner as will reflect credit upon the Department with emphasis on personal integrity and professional devotion to law enforcement.” Supervisory members “have the responsibility for the performance of all subordinates placed under them” and they “[r]emain accountable for the failure, misconduct or omission by their subordinates.”

Article V of the CPD Rules and Regulations, entitled CPD Rules of Conduct (the CPD Rules), sets forth specifically prohibited acts. In pertinent part, the CPD Rules include the following prohibitions:

Rule 2 Any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department.
Rule 3 Any failure to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy or accomplish its goals.

Rule 6 Disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral.

Rule 11 Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.

Rule 14 Making a false report, written or oral.

B. CPD General Order G03-02-05 (effective October 1, 2002 through October 29, 2014)

CPD General Orders “are directives that establish critical policies directly related to the core values and functions of the Department or the broad organizational policies and key practices relating to those core values.” General Order G03-02-05 “identifies incidents which will require the completion of a Tactical Response Report.”1 It states that a TRR is used to document, among other things, all incidents “involving the discharge . . . of a firearm,” or “which involve a subject fitting the definition of an assailant whose actions are directed against a Department member.” Section III.B. states that supervisors who have been notified of the incident will “review the member’s TRR for legibility and completeness and indicate approval of such by signing the appropriate box.” It also notes: “The TRR will not substitute for an Officer’s Battery Report. Whenever a member is the victim of a murder or any type of a battery or an assault, whether such charges are placed against an offender or not, the supervisor will complete an Officer’s Battery Report.”

C. CPD Special Order S03-02-01 (effective October 1, 2002 through October 29, 2014)

CPD Special Orders are directives that establish protocols and procedures concerning specific CPD functions, operations, programs, or processes. Special Order S03-02-01 outlines CPD “investigative and reporting procedures in firearm discharge incidents.”2 Section V listing the “Assigned Sergeant’s Responsibilities” states that the assigned sergeant must ensure that “an officer other than the involved member has been assigned to conduct the preliminary investigation, prepare the original case incident report, and relay additional information to investigating units.” The assigned sergeant must also prepare an OBR and complete the supervisor’s section of the TRR.

D. CPD Special Order S03-03-06 (effective January 5, 2014)

Special Order S03-03-06 outlines the responsibilities and duties of field sergeants assigned to district law enforcement. Section II of the Special Order provides that district law enforcement field sergeants are responsible for “guiding and directing their subordinates, ensuring the achievement of basic and directed patrol on matters affecting their duties and responsibilities” and for “monitoring behavior and performance of subordinates and their adherence to Department policies and procedures and taking appropriate action when deficiencies in performance, uniform, and/or equipment are observed.” Section III provides that one of the district field sergeant’s basic duties is to “monitor subordinates to ensure the in-car video system is used properly, including . . . verifying that the in-car video systems, including microphones, are operational and subordinates are logged into the system . . . [and] initiating an investigation when notified of damaged, missing, or lost equipment.” Another basic duty is to “review and, if appropriate, approve all case reports generated by members under their supervision before the conclusion of their tour of duty.” Finally, Section IV provides that one of the district field sergeant’s situational duties is to “direct and supervise the investigation” for “events requiring the completion and approval of Tactical Response Reports (TRRs).” It states that field sergeants “will ensure TRRs are properly completed and forwarded for approval . . . .”

E. CPD Special Order S03-05 (effective February 23, 2012 through February 24, 2016)

Special Order S03-05 outlines the protocols CPD members are to follow regarding in-car video systems. Section VI of the Special Order provides that “[t]he sergeant assigned to supervise Department members using Department vehicles equipped with an in-car video system” is to:

1. monitor subordinates to ensure the in-car video system is used and that digitally recorded data is properly downloaded.

2. ensure that the Help Desk is contacted and a ticket number is obtained whenever any member is unable to use the in-car video system or download digitally recorded data due to technical problems.

3. initiate an investigation when notified of a missing or lost remote transmitter/audio recorder.

4. document on the Supervisor’s Management Log . . . whether each vehicle has an in-car video system and if it is functioning.

5. obtain a complaint register number and order an evidence technician to process the equipment if any damage or malfunction is suspected to have been caused by deliberate (tampering) means.

3 OIG 15-0564 003934-42. The in-car video systems are also referred to as dash cameras or dashcams in this report.
III. SERGEANT FRANKO’S EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

Franko has been a CPD member since January 18, 1994. Franko was a detective before he became a Sergeant on March 16, 2006. Franko is a member of the Policeman’s Benevolent & Protective Association of Illinois, Unit 156-Sergeants (Unit 156-Sergeants).

IV. SUMMARY OF INVESTIGATION

A. Procedural History of OIG’s Investigation

By letter, dated December 8, 2015, IPRA Acting Chief Administrator Sharon Fairley requested that OIG conduct an administrative investigation “to determine whether certain police officers/witnesses made false statements on official reports prepared in connection with [Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald] and/or during the investigation of the incident.”

IPRA further requested that OIG investigate “whether any of the involved Chicago Police officers committed any other violation(s) of Chicago Police Department rules, policies or procedures in their involvement with the incident, including, but not limited to, whether any officers’ conduct may have interfered with or obstructed the appropriate investigation and handling of this matter.”

Escalante attached to the letter request a copy of Sergeant Sandra Soria’s Initiation Report, which raises allegations of misconduct related to the in-car video systems of the vehicles that were present during the McDonald shooting, and identified that Report as a basis for OIG’s administrative investigation.

On March 10, 2016, Kevin Kilmer (Star # 7518), Financial Secretary for the FOP, filed a grievance with CPD on behalf of all affected members stating that OIG’s attempts to conduct CPD officer interviews violated Article 6 of CPD’s Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) with the FOP.

On March 16, 2016, FOP on behalf of all impacted CPD officers filed a grievance with CPD on behalf of all affected members stating that OIG’s attempts to conduct CPD officer interviews violated Article 6 of CPD’s Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) with the FOP.

4 On November 24, 2015, the Cook County State’s Attorney charged Van Dyke with a single count of first degree murder in the shooting of McDonald. On December 15, 2015, it subsequently charged him with six counts of murder. OIG has not been involved with any criminal investigation related to the shooting and makes no findings regarding Van Dyke’s use of force.

5 Section 6.1, Paragraph I of the CBA states, “If the allegation under investigation indicates a recommendation for separation is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the statutory administrative proceeding rights, or if the allegation indicates criminal prosecution is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the constitutional rights concerning self-incrimination prior to the commencement of interrogation.” CPD General Order GO8-01-01, Paragraph K contains similar language.
“Complaint for Injunction in Aid of Arbitration” in the Circuit Court of Cook County asking the court to enjoin OIG from conducting interviews until the grievance was decided in arbitration. The court dismissed the complaint and denied the injunction on March 22, 2016.

OIG’s administrative investigation of other CPD employees’ actions related to CPD’s handling of the McDonald shooting is ongoing. During the course of its investigation, OIG has gathered documents from CPD and IPRA, among other sources, and conducted numerous interviews, including interviews of CPD personnel who were at or responded to the scene of the shooting and civilian witnesses to the shooting. To date in its ongoing investigation, OIG has recommended disciplinary action against multiple CPD personnel.

B. The Events of October 20, 2014

The following sections detail Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald, as well as the relevant events that occurred directly before and after the shooting.

1. [REDACTED] and Rudy Barillas’s Encounter with McDonald

[REDACTED] and [REDACTED] Rudy Barillas, were parking a truck in a lot at 41st Street and Kildare Avenue when [REDACTED] saw a black male, whom she subsequently identified as McDonald, attempting to steal property from certain vehicles parked in the lot. Barillas told McDonald to leave the lot. McDonald responded by making growling noises. After Barillas again told McDonald to leave the lot, McDonald pulled out a knife and swung it at Barillas. Barillas, who had already called 911, then threw his cell phone at McDonald. McDonald ran from the lot, first northbound on Kildare and then eastbound on 40th Street.

7 On April 22, 2016, OIG obtained maps of the locations that are relevant to the shooting from Google Maps and included those maps in Appendix A. Those maps generally reflect the street layout and location of relevant businesses as they were on the night of October 20, 2014.

8 The following account of [REDACTED] and Barillas’s encounter with McDonald is taken from the March 16, 2015 case supplementary report (CSR) submitted by CPD Detective David March, which includes the statements that [REDACTED] and Barillas provided to CPD on October 21, 2014, and October 22, 2014, respectively. OIG 15-0564 003077.

9 OEMC recordings reflect that Barillas called 911 at 9:45 p.m. stating that he was holding “a guy right hear [sic] that stolen [sic] the radios” from trucks in a truck yard located at “41st and Kildare.” OIG 15-0564 003227.
2. Officers Thomas Gaffney and Joseph McElligott’s Encounter with McDonald

Officer Thomas Gaffney and his partner Officer Joseph McElligott received a call over the radio that someone had broken into a truck at 4100 South Kildare and were dispatched to the scene. Gaffney was driving and McElligott was in the passenger seat of their assigned vehicle, 815R. When they arrived at 4100 South Kildare, they saw a Hispanic male and female standing by the gate to the truck yard. The two said that a black male wearing a black shirt, later determined to be McDonald, had been trying to steal the radio out of a semi-truck, and had subsequently headed north toward 40th Street.

Gaffney and McElligott drove north on Kildare, turned right onto 40th Street, and saw McDonald walking east on the south side of 40th Street. McElligott exited the vehicle and commanded McDonald to stop and turn around. Gaffney stayed in the vehicle in case McDonald attempted to flee. McElligott ordered McDonald to take his hands out of his pockets. McDonald, who had been facing McElligott, turned and walked away with one hand still in his pocket. McDonald then turned again and took both of his hands out of his pockets. He had a knife in his right hand. McElligott drew his weapon and told McDonald to drop the knife. McDonald started walking east again, going from the sidewalk to the street and back. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, shining his flashlight on him, while Gaffney followed in 815R, parallel to McDonald.

10 The following account of Gaffney and McElligott’s encounter with McDonald is taken from (1) the audio-recorded statements Gaffney and McElligott provided to IPRA on October 21, 2014; and (2) the March 16, 2015 CSR submitted by Detective David March, which includes the statements that Gaffney and McElligott provided to March on the night of the McDonald shooting. OIG 15-0564 000482-98, 000610-30, 003067–69.

11 OEMC records reflect that Gaffney and McElligott received the call at 9:47 p.m. OIG 15-0564 003691.

Gaffney IPRA Tr. 11:20.

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Karlov, Gaffney turned his car toward McDonald to direct him down Karlov. Gaffney wanted to keep McDonald away from Pulaski, which was a more populated area. McDonald then swung his arm and popped 815R’s right front tire with his knife. McElligott was toward the back of 815R when McDonald popped its tire. After McDonald took a step back from the vehicle, Gaffney pulled up further in front of him to stop him from proceeding to Pulaski. McDonald then hit the right side of 815R’s windshield once with the knife in his right hand. The windshield did not break but, according to Gaffney, McDonald hit it as hard as he could. McDonald walked around the front of 815R and continued eastward on 40th Street. After McDonald had walked 10 to 15 feet, another squad car turned off of Pulaski onto 40th Street with its lights on, and McDonald began to sprint. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, and Gaffney followed McDonald in 815R. McDonald ran eastbound through a parking lot of a Burger King located at 40th and Pulaski and then headed southbound on Pulaski. Video footage from several cameras captured McDonald’s movements as he reached Pulaski.

3. Summary of the Relevant Video Footage

The below table contains a summary of the relevant video footage of the McDonald shooting, which includes the dashcam videos from 813R, 823R, and 845R, video from the “WNE fire exit” security camera from the Greater Chicago Food Depository, which is bordered by 40th Street to the north, Karlov Avenue to the east, and Keeler Avenue to the west, and the security camera video from the Dunkin’ Donuts, located at 4113 South Pulaski Road (the DD Camera).

4. CCSPD Officer Accounts of the October 20, 2014 McDonald Shooting

While on patrol on October 20, 2014, CCSPD Officers Adam Murphy and Jeff Pasqua observed several CPD police vehicles pass by them. Both officers decided to follow the CPD vehicles. When they arrived at the scene, several CPD vehicles were already present—Pasqua estimated it was five or six. McDonald was lying on the pavement “gasping for his last breath of air.” Pasqua OIG Tr. 11:22-23. Meanwhile, the CPD officers were “standing around” and talking to each other. Murphy OIG Tr. 11:1. Murphy noted the CPD officers did not respond to him when he asked if they needed assistance. Murphy stated:

> I see there’s blood all over the pavement. [McDonald] was kind of gurgling when he was sitting there. I remember his mouth was going open and closed like he was trying to gasp for air. And I looked for everybody else, and they were kind of standing there. I just started taking my gloves—my rubber gloves out to check for a pulse and to see if I could render aid.

Murphy OIG Tr. 12:18-13:2. He heard someone say an ambulance was en route. Both Officers Murphy and Pasqua recalled then watching McDonald take his final breaths. It was “[m]aybe less than a minute before [McDonald] expired.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:15-16. At no time did any CPD officers attempt to provide aid or comfort McDonald—Murphy stated, “That’s why I felt that I needed to go up to him.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:11-12.

After McDonald passed away, Murphy got up from beside him and noticed the shooting officer, who he now knows to be Van Dyke, “pacing back and forth in front of his car.” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:7-8. Murphy approached him and told him to sit down and drink water. As he was speaking with Van Dyke, Murphy “heard several officers telling [Van Dyke] call your union rep, call your union rep.” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:16-17.

Murphy and Pasqua departed after approximately ten minutes on the scene when a CPD sergeant told them CPD did not need their assistance. At the time they left, there was “[a] sea of CPD” on scene. Murphy OIG Tr. 38:3; Pasqua OIG Tr. 25:7-8.

21 The following CCSPD Officer accounts are taken from OIG’s June 23, 2016 interview of Jeff Pasqua and its June 24, 2015 interview of Adam Murphy. Pasqua and Murphy are currently CCSPD investigators.

22 In a January 22, 2016 OIG interview, CPD Area North Commander Kevin Duffin stated CPD police officers have a duty to render aid to injured civilians per general orders. Police officers render aid by calling dispatch and requesting that an ambulance be dispatched to the scene. According to Duffin, police officers are not required or expected to provide any more assistance than this. On March 30, 2016, CPD issued General Order G03-06 which requires that the involved member(s) “request medical attention for the injured, and also offer immediate medical aid commensurate with their training, experience, and available equipment.”

23 The Medical Examiner’s Case Report states McDonald was pronounced dead “on view” at Mount Sinai Medical Center on October 20, 2014, at 10:42 p.m. OIG 15-0564 015029.
C. Reports Concerning the McDonald Shooting

1. Tactical Response Reports (TRRs)

On October 21, 2014, at 4:41 a.m. and 5:04 a.m., respectively, Van Dyke and Walsh submitted TRRs with the R.D. Number HX475653 and an Event Number of 1429315878, regarding their October 20, 2014 encounter with McDonald. Under the heading titled “Assailant: Assault,” each officer marked the box labeled “Imminent Threat of Battery.” Under the heading titled “Assailant: Battery,” each officer marked the box labeled “Attack with Weapon.” Under the heading titled “Assailant: Deadly Force,” each officer marked the boxes labeled “Uses Force Likely to Cause Death or Great Bodily Harm” and “Weapon.” Van Dyke specified in the TRR that the “offender’s weapon was a knife in his hand.” Walsh specified in the TRR that McDonald was “armed with [a] knife.”

Franko electronically signed Van Dyke and Walsh’s TRRs as the “reviewing supervisor” on October 21, 2014, at 4:44 a.m. and 5:07 a.m., respectively.

2. Officer’s Battery Reports (OBR)

The OBR form states that it is to be completed when “a sworn member is the victim of a murder, aggravated battery, battery, aggravated assault, or assault while performing a police function either on-duty or off-duty.” Van Dyke and Walsh each completed and submitted an OBR with

COMP. STAT. 5/12-1.

26 See also Special Order S04-13-01, issued on December 28, 2012, which outlines the procedures to be followed for the preparation of an OBR. Franko told OIG investigators that his electronic signature on the TRR indicates that he the R.D. Number HX475653 regarding their respective October 20, 2014 encounters with McDonald. Their OBRs are nearly identical. They all state three officers were battered. Under the heading titled “Manner of Attack,” each officer marked the box labeled “Stabbed/Cut (Including Actual Attempt).” Under the heading titled “Type of Weapon/Threat,” Van Dyke marked the boxes labeled “Knife/Other Cutting Instrument” and “Other/Specify.” Walsh only marked “Other/Specify.” Both officers specified the type of weapon/threat as a “Swinging Knife.”

3. Original Case Incident Report

On October 21, 2014, at 4:32 a.m., Fontaine submitted an Original Case Incident Report with the R.D. Number HX475653 and an Event Number of 1429315878. The report lists Gaffney, Van Dyke, and Walsh as the “Victims,” McDonald as the “Suspect,” and classifies the incident as “Assault – Aggravated Po: Knife/Cut Instr.” In the section titled “Injuries,” Fontaine states that Van Dyke was “Injured by offender.” Franko approved the report on October 21, 2014, at 5:18 a.m.

reviewed the accompanying OBR as well. Franko explained that OBRs are additional reports that are tied to the TRRs. See infra Page 18.

27 OIG 15-0564 003311–12, 15–16. Gaffney also completed an OBR regarding his encounter with McDonald that is substantially similar to Van Dyke and Walsh’s OBRs. See OIG 15-0564 003319–20.

D. OIG Interview of Officer Joseph Walsh

On March 8, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed Walsh under oath after informing him of his administrative rights orally and in writing. He provided oral and written acknowledgement of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Walsh’s attorney, Colleen Daly, was also present for the interview. In summary, Walsh stated as follows concerning his interactions with Franko on the night of October 20, 2014, and the morning of October 21, 2014.

Franko was the sergeant “on the street” the night of October 20, 2014. Walsh OIG Tr. 24:15. When Franko first arrived to the scene, he asked Walsh if he discharged his weapon. Franko later transported Walsh and Van Dyke to Area Central. Walsh believed he consulted with Franko when completing his TRR “for the purposes of RD numbers” and “time of occurrence, things like that.” Walsh OIG Tr. 89:21-24. He did not recall consulting with Franko regarding any of the other information he inputted into his TRR and OBR. Walsh informed Franko in person when he completed the forms. Walsh explained that Franko told him “when [Walsh] was done, to inform him because he was going to review [the forms].” Walsh OIG Tr. 98:17-18.

E. OIG Interview of Officer Dora Fontaine

On March 16, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed Fontaine under oath after informing her of her administrative rights orally and in writing. She provided oral and written acknowledgement of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Fontaine’s attorney, Jennifer Russell, was also present for the interview. In summary, Fontaine stated as follows concerning her interactions with Franko on the night of October 20, 2014, and the morning of October 21, 2014.

Franko was Fontaine’s sergeant on the night of October 20, 2014. When Franko first arrived to the scene, he asked Fontaine and Viramontes to block traffic coming north on Pulaski and assigned them to complete the paperwork for the shooting. The paperwork included a case report that listed the basic details of the incident and the CPD personnel on scene. Fontaine informed Franko once they completed the report.

F. OIG Interview of Officer Joseph McElligott

On May 9, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed McElligott under oath after informing him of his administrative rights orally and in writing. He provided oral and written acknowledgement of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. McElligott’s attorney, Jennifer Russell, was present for the interview. In summary, McElligott stated as follows concerning his interactions with Franko on the night of October 20, 2014, and the morning of October 21, 2014.

Franko was McElligott’s sergeant on the night of October 20, 2014. McElligott saw Franko speaking with Van Dyke “within minutes” after the shooting. McElligott OIG Tr. 43:5. McElligott did not hear their conversation. Franko was “kind of around” when the detectives spoke with McElligott and Gaffney on the scene. McElligott OIG Tr. 46:6. At Area Central, Franko, along with certain detectives who McElligott could not identify, told McElligott he did not need to fill out a TRR and OBR and explained: “‘Since you were outside and [McDonald] attacked the vehicle while [Gaffney] was in it, not you, you’re not a victim. You don’t have to fill this out.’” McElligott OIG Tr. 75:23-76:1. He believed Franko instructed Van Dyke, Walsh, and Gaffney to fill out TRRs and OBRs.

G. OIG Interview of Officer Thomas Gaffney

On May 13, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed Gaffney under oath after informing him of his administrative rights orally and in writing. He provided oral and written acknowledgement of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Gaffney’s attorney, William Fahy, was present for the interview. In summary, Gaffney stated as follows concerning his interactions with Franko on the night of October 20, 2014, and the morning of October 21, 2014.

Franko was Gaffney’s sergeant on the night of October 20, 2014. Gaffney recalled speaking to Franko on the scene about 15 to 20 minutes after the shooting occurred. He described that conversation as “[j]ust pretty much the basic telling what happened or what our timeline was from what happened to—from the time we got the job to where we ended up.” Gaffney OIG Tr. 27:3-6. At Area Central, Franko directed Gaffney to fill out a TRR and an OBR. When asked to describe that conversation, Gaffney said: “I don’t remember it in detail, but just like that we had—I had to fill it out, just like minor things that I might have asked what to put type of thing. Got temperature and stuff like that . . . .” Gaffney OIG Tr. 61:6-9. When asked why he stated in the OBR that three officers were battered, Gaffney responded that “they” informed him to “just put three because that’s how many reports were being done . . . .” Gaffney OIG Tr. 65:18-19. Gaffney then clarified that it was “probably” Franko who told him to state that three officers were battered. Gaffney OIG Tr. 65:23. Gaffney told Franko when he finished completing the forms. Gaffney added, “[M]y sergeant was still right around me when it was done.” Gaffney OIG Tr. 75:3-4.

H. OIG Interview of Deputy Chief David McNaughton

On May 25, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed McNaughton under oath after informing him of his administrative rights orally and in writing. He provided oral and written acknowledgement of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. McNaughton’s attorney, Thomas Pleines, was present for the interview. In summary, McNaughton stated as follows concerning his interactions with Franko on the night of October 20, 2014, and the morning of October 21, 2014.

When asked if he was present when Van Dyke, Walsh, or Gaffney filled out their TRRs, McNaughton stated: “I believe they were more the opposite end of the room working with their union reps and their sergeant, and I think it was, yeah, it must have been Sergeant Franko in completing it. You know, one thing we want to make sure we are consistent on the times, the locations and some of those things.” McNaughton OIG Tr. 114:2-9. Following a break in the interview, McNaughton stated: “I really don’t know who was sitting next to who and what was happening, you know. If I made a characterization that they—those reps were standing next to them and their sergeant was conversing with them, I am just thinking that that’s possibly how this could have played out.” McNaughton OIG Tr. 116:18-24.

I. OIG’s Interviews of Sergeant Stephen Franko

1. June 13, 2016 Interview

On May 13, 2016, pursuant to Section 6.1 of the CBA between CPD and Unit 156-Sergeants, OIG, through CPD’s Bureau of Internal Affairs, served Franko with a Notification of Interview, Notification of Allegations, and copies of TRRs and OBRs. In addition, OIG provided Franko with the dashcam footage from 813R and 845R and the security camera footage from Dunkin’ Donuts.

On June 13, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed Franko under oath after informing him of his administrative advisements orally and in writing. He provided oral and written acknowledgement of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Franko’s attorney, Thomas Pleines, was also present for the interview. In summary, Franko stated as follows.

Franko was a Sergeant in the 8th District on October 20, 2014, and was assigned as a street supervisor. Franko explained that a street supervisor is responsible for a set number of vehicles—he provides “guidance” and ensures that officers “are doing their duties correctly on the street.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 21:24, 22:4-5.

a) Scene of the Shooting

On October 20, 2014, Franko was supervising beats 813R, 815R, and 841R, as well as several other beats. That evening, Franko heard a call over the radio stating 815R was requesting a Taser. As Franko proceeded to the scene, he heard over the radio that shots were fired. When Franko arrived to the scene, he noticed that McDonald was “in the street,” and Van Dyke and Walsh were standing next to the passenger side of their vehicle. Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 30:16. Franko approached the officers and asked them if they were ok and what happened. They both responded yes, and Van Dyke stated, “He wouldn’t drop the knife.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 31:5-6. Franko said he ensured medical attention was ordered for McDonald and then went to “secure the scene.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 31:17. Securing the scene included taping off the area with crime scene tape, marking the shell casings on the ground, and instructing arriving officers to protect the scene. Franko also ensured “somebody was recording all of the units that were coming into the crime scene . . . .” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 32:5-7. Franko said he then inquired once again that an ambulance had been ordered to ensure that, you know, Laquan McDonald received proper medical care.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 32:13-16.

Franko stated this was the first police-involved shooting where “it was my scene and I was in charge of the area.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 45:1-2. Franko relinquished control of the scene once a superior officer responded, which was about fifteen minutes after he arrived. He did not remember which superior officer came first, but he remembered seeing Captain Dennis Walsh early at the scene and then Deputy Chief David McNaughton.

Franko spoke with Detective March on the scene—Franko provided March car numbers and officers’ names, but they did not get into the “specifics of the actual events that unfolded.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 46:19. Franko also spoke with McNaughton on the scene. McNaughton told Franko to “stand by in case they needed anything.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 49:12-13. Franko did not view any video at the scene and no one mentioned seeing video. He recalled that the “in-car camera personnel came to the scene to retrieve video” and that people were surrounding the car that recorded the shooting. Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 50:10-11. Franko assumed they were viewing the video.

When asked if anyone provided him with a narrative of what occurred while he was at the scene, Franko said: “Nobody that was officially part of the investigation or scene. After I was relieved, I took a step back and waited for any instruction or anything from any of the supervisors. The detectives were there. They had the scene, Deputy Chief McNaughton was handling his end of it and other supervisors were there, so I stepped back.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 54:14-22. Franko was able to “piece together a narrative as to what transpired” from the “information that was out there.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 55:10-12.

Franko had a discussion at the scene with Captain Walsh, McNaughton, and some detectives, about whether McElligott and Gaffney should fill out TRRs and OBRs. It was decided that Gaffney should fill out the forms because he was driving the vehicle McDonald attacked with a knife, and McElligott did not need to fill out the forms because he was outside of the car. Franko did not know who ultimately made the decision, and said he was just asked for input. Franko was not part of any discussion regarding whether Van Dyke or Walsh should fill out TRRs and OBRs. He did not direct the officers to complete TRRs or OBRs at the scene. When asked how the officers were told to complete the forms, Franko said “[t]hey were given direction to do so by superiors, not me.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 57:12-13. He later elaborated:

The discussion mainly was trying to figure out whether or not it was—it was a unique situation because the assault that occurred on the vehicle, did it also place Officer Gaffney in danger of receiving a battery. That was what the discussion was about. Nobody could really remember something like this happening where we could say this is how we should handle it. So the discussion was taking place just kind of figuring out if anyone had any idea which way we should go, any prior instances that we could use, and when I left the discussion, there was still no decision made as far as I knew, and generally that would be something that would be finalized at the area when everybody sat down and, you know, talked, the investigators and the bosses about how this was going to be put to paper.”

Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 59:16-60:11.
b) Area Central

At some point after midnight, a supervisor told Franko to go to Area Central. Franko believed he transported Van Dyke to the area. He did not discuss the shooting with Van Dyke—he tried to keep “everything light” and keep Van Dyke “at ease.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 71:11-12. When they arrived at Area Central, Van Dyke went into a separate office. Franko remained in the Detective Division main area “basically just waiting for someone to ask me to do something.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 73:11-12.

While at Area Central, Franko saw “parts of” the video showing the McDonald shooting. Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 75:21. Franko said, “It was being played in an area where everybody could kind of see it if you wanted to, and I saw parts of the video.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 76:4-6. Franko acknowledged that he saw the shooting itself on the video. Franko could not recall who else watched the video.

At some point, McNaughton asked Franko to approve a “General Offense Case Report.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 73:21-22. According to Franko, the report contained a narrative that simply said, “See Detective Division Supplemental Report”—Franko explained: “Every incident that takes place gets assigned an RD number, so there needed to be an original case report so that Detective Division could then get assigned the case and do follow-up reports based on—supplemental reports based on the original RD number.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 73:22-23, 74:5-10.

McNaughton also asked Franko to review the TRRs that were in the system. Franko said the OBRs are additional reports that are “tied to” the TRRs and explained: “The OBR is a sub-form of the TRR. So you can’t get out of the TRR without going through the OBR, so everything is accepted, and then when you review it and you are complete, it comes out as one report.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 82:7, 90:13-17. When asked if his electronic signature on the TRR indicates that he reviewed the accompanying OBR as well, Franko said, “Correct.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 90:18-21. Regarding his review, Franko said:

My responsibility is to review the document, make sure that the information on the top is accurate as far as the scene and that type of thing. All I do then is I look and see what the officer’s actions were as I go through the whole document and review it for legibility and completeness, I would then review it and accept it, and then it goes to a supervisor higher than me for approval.

Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 80:5-14. Franko said that, if he had “obvious knowledge that something was not correct” in the forms, he would address the issue. Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 81:18-19. Franko asserted that he was not part of any discussion at Area Central regarding which officers should fill out the TRRs and OBRs, and only learned who filled them out when he went into the system.

Franko denied assisting or consulting with Walsh regarding his TRRs and OBRs. He did not recall “specifically” providing Walsh with RD numbers or the time of the shooting, and said, “That would be general information that almost anybody out there could have given at that point.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 88:4-6. When asked if he knew who instructed Walsh on which boxes to check in the TRR, Franko said: “I don’t know who did. He had legal representation and FOP representation with him at all times.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 85:18-20. When asked if he recalled being within 5 to 10 feet of Walsh as he completed his OBR and TRR, Franko said, “At certain points I might have been within that time frame as I am in the room or walking past, but specifically standing over him assisting him, no.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 88:10-13. Franko said he saw the video of the shooting before he reviewed Walsh’s report, at 5:07 a.m. With respect to his signature on Walsh’s TRR, Franko stated: “Those boxes were checked. I reviewed it and did not approve the document.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 105:24-106:1. Franko believed, at the time he reviewed them, and at the time of his OIG interview, that Walsh’s TRR and OBR were accurate.

Franko denied being present when Van Dyke filled out his TRR and OBR, stating, “No, he was at all points surrounded by his FOP representation, so there was no consulting with me on any of this.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 94:11-13. Franko also denied instructing Van Dyke on how to fill out the forms. Franko said he reviewed and approved Van Dyke’s TRR and OBR—he reiterated that he was only reviewing for “legibility and completeness” and it was not his “responsibility to investigate Officer Van Dyke’s actions at that moment.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 96:23-24, 98:11-13. With respect to his signature on Van Dyke’s TRR, Franko stated: “I only reviewed. I did not approve anything that night.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 104:20-21. He said his signature at the bottom of the report did not indicate he approved it, just that he reviewed the document. Franko believed, at the time he reviewed them, and at the time of his OIG interview, that Van Dyke’s TRR and OBR were accurate.

Franko denied assisting Gaffney with his TRR and OBR. When asked if he supplied any information that Gaffney subsequently entered into the TRR and OBR, Franko said: “To the best of my knowledge, I did not. If he had asked for any general information that was available to everybody at the time, then I would have supplied that to him.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 107:4-8.

2. August 2, 2016 Interview

On July 23, 2016, pursuant to Section 6.1 of the CBA between CPD and Unit 156-Sergeants, OIG, through CPD’s Bureau of Internal Affairs, served Franko with a Notification of Interview, Notification of Allegations, and a copy of the Original Case Incident Report.

On August 2, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed Franko under oath after informing him of his administrative advisements orally and in writing. He provided oral and written acknowledgement of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Franko’s attorney, Thomas Pleines, was also present for the interview. In summary, Franko stated as follows.
a) Original Case Incident Report

Franko explained that an Original Case Incident Report documents “any incident that occurs on the street” and the first responding unit or assigned unit is usually responsible for preparing it. Franko 8/2/16 OIG Tr. 13:12-13. The sergeant assigned to the responding unit approves the report in most cases. Franko could not recall how Fontaine received the assignment to draft the report. Franko said: “I probably spoke to [Fontaine] early on about some preliminary information; but as the night was going on, I had nothing to do with the investigation, so the next time I would have seen it was when I was ordered to approve the case report.” Franko 8/2/16 OIG Tr. 17:23-18:4. Franko acknowledged that he reviewed and approved this report, and that likely occurred at the time the report says he approved it, at 5:18 a.m. When asked if he reviewed and approved the statement that Van Dyke was “injured by offender,” Franko stated:

To be honest with you, I overlooked this. When it was brought to my attention, that was the first time that I saw the box in there.

Not being part of the investigation, if I would have seen it, I don’t even know if I would have said anything because I don’t know if he was or was not injured, and there was nothing at that point for me to question anything to whether or not he was.

I did not know [whether or not Van Dyke was injured]. I had a very brief conversation with him when it first occurred; and after that, I really had nothing to do with the investigation. So, you know, if he had turned his ankle, anything else would have happened that would have caused injury to him I was not aware of that night.

Franko 8/2/16 OIG Tr. 22:16-23:10. Franko acknowledged that Van Dyke did not indicate he was injured, and he did not receive any indication from anyone else that Van Dyke was injured. He did not direct Fontaine to include that information in the report and did not know why she included that statement. When asked if he stood by that statement, Franko said, “I can’t stand by it because I wasn’t part of the investigation.” Franko 8/2/16 OIG Tr. 25:8-9. Franko did not notice the language until he was served with the July 23, 2016 Notification of Allegations.

b) Review of 813R Dash-Cam Video

OIG investigators presented Franko with Van Dyke’s TRR and OBR and played the dashcam video from 813R. When asked to point out in the video where McDonald attacked Van Dyke with a weapon, Franko stated:
The night of, I had very limited information because I wasn’t part of the investigation. The video I did see was just from bits and pieces walking around in the office. I didn’t see enough of it to have a strong opinion one way or another, and I relied on the investigators that night to make their determination.

The night of, I was provided with the same information everyone else was that Lequan [sic] McDonald was attacking, attempting to stab the officers with the knife. So based on everything that was given to me and that was provided to me through the investigators, that was my impression was that he had a knife, he was attacking—or approaching the officers in a threatening way, which would still be an attack, and Officer Van Dyke fired until, you know, the threat was no more.

However, Franko acknowledged seeing the portion of the video where McDonald “was walking and then when the shooting occurred.” Franko 8/2/16 OIG Tr. 24:24-25:1.

Franko 8/2/16 OIG Tr. 34:5-12, 35:17-36:3. Franko stated that his opinion at the time of his OIG interview was that the video does show an “Attack with Weapon.” He said the video shows that, at one point, McDonald was approximately one lane away from Van Dyke and continued to move in a way such that Franko considered McDonald to be an “assailant”—specifically, he stated:

[T]he distance between Van Dyke and the officers, from what I could tell, is probably six feet or less, even though he’s walking sideways.

He’s got a knife in his right hand, and you have Van Dyke with his weapon, looks like it’s extended out. It’s hard to see with the light, but he’s got his weapon in his hand.

The way [McDonald is] walking where he’s bouncing up and down, not our normal gait. It’s the bouncing up and down as he’s walking. At that point is he going to bounce left, is he going to bounce right? He’s extremely close. Yeah, he’s got the weapon out. He’s an assailant. He’s close enough where if he takes two steps to the left he could be on Van Dyke before Van Dyke even has a chance to do anything about it.

Franko 8/2/16 OIG Tr. 38:14-16, 39:4-8, 39:18-40:3. Franko mentioned that he was taught the “21 foot rule” in the academy, which he described: “[I]f there was an armed offender within 21 feet of us and we did not have our weapon out that there was no way that you could pull that weapon out, aim it, and fire it in time to stop that offender from attacking us with the knife.”

Franko 8/2/16 OIG Tr. 41:3-8.

G. Records and Interviews Concerning CPD’s In-Car Video Systems

On October 21, 2014, CPD Sergeant Lance Becvar submitted a supplementary report for R.D. Number HX475653 concerning his retrieval of video from the in-car video systems of the five CPD vehicles that were on scene when Van Dyke shot McDonald. In OIG’s June 13, 2016 interview with Franko, he confirmed that three of those vehicles—813R, 815R, and 841R—were under his supervision on October 20, 2014. With respect to 813R, the report stated “video recovered”; with respect to 815R it stated “Operational but due to disc error no video recorded”; as to 841R, the report stated “Not examined – Officer reported application error.”

Becvar also completed a corresponding “In Car Camera Video Retrieval Worksheet” regarding his October 20, 2014 video retrieval. As to 813R, Becvar stated, “Mics in glove box, batteries inserted upside down, fully op.” As to 815R, Becvar stated, “Processing video: extremely large video file.” As to 841R, Becvar stated, “HDT No Open HDT.”

On July 17, 2015, Becvar sent an email summarizing his findings regarding his October 20, 2014 video retrieval. With respect to the vehicles under Franko’s supervision, Becvar stated as follows:

- 813R: “Video Recovered . . . No MICs because they were in the Glove Compartment with the batteries inserted upside down – Disabling them.”

- 815R: “System not engaged because a very long video (like hours long) was made previous to this event/incident and the system was processing that video and unable to start another video.”

On April 29, 2016, OIG spoke with CPD Deputy Chief Director of Training Keith Calloway. Calloway is familiar with the so-called 21-foot rule, but he stated that it has never been a part of CPD’s training process. Calloway characterized the 21-foot rule as junk science as the theory behind it has never been scientifically proven. See OIG Investigative Report of Call with Keith Calloway.

This issue served as the basis for initiating C.R. # 1076186 on July 17, 2015. In the memorandum, Sergeant Soria lists the allegations as “inattention to duty – Violation of Special Order S03-05,” “Possible tampering with In-Car Camera Mics,” and “Improper Use of Equipment.” The summary states, in part: “On 17 July 15, Deputy Chief Lewin was informed via Sgt. Lance Becvar’s email that on 20 Oct 2014, Veh 8779, ‘Video Recovered . . . no mics because they were in the Glove Compartment with the batteries inserted upside down.’” See supra Page 4.
841R: “System not engaged, officer reported that there was an application error – Mobile Recorder Start-Up corrupted. No Help Desk Ticket Open for this vehicle.”

Franko completed and signed a “Supervisor’s Management Log,” dated October 20, 2014, that corresponded to the shift that began on the evening of October 19, 2014, the day before the shooting. Under “Personnel and Assignments,” the log lists the names of Mondragon, Sebastian, Gaffney, McElligott, Fontaine, and Viramontes, as well as their corresponding beat and vehicle numbers. For each of those vehicles, the log has “yes” and “no” boxes to check under “In-Car Camera.” The log also has two additional boxes next to the words “In-Car Camera” that state “Operable & Logged On” and “Inoperable (If Inoperable, give Help Desk Ticket #).” With respect to 813R, 815R, and 841R, Franko did not check either the operable or inoperable boxes.

On October 20, 2014 at 9:38 p.m., 815R sent Franko a PDT message stating, “8489 cam working.” Franko then messaged 813R and 841R stating “car & camera” at 9:46 p.m. Both cars responded seconds later—813R messaged “8779 working . . . TGIF :)” and 841R messaged “8948 ticket#10668611.”

In OIG’s January 27, 2016 interview with Becvar, he stated that placing microphone batteries upside down was “a known way to get around . . . the microphones.” Becvar OIG Tr. 52:18-19. According to Becvar, it is not proper for officers to keep microphones in their vehicle’s glove compartment. Rather, “[t]hey should be with the batteries inserted properly in the charger and . . . [on] the officer once they started their tour.” Becvar OIG Tr. 56:2-4. Becvar added, with respect to in-car video systems, “It’s up to the district to watch for disciplinary issues.” Becvar OIG Tr. 53:3-4.

In their respective OIG interviews, Mondragon and Sebastian, who were assigned to 813R on October 20, 2014, each acknowledged that they did not check the audio function of 813R’s in-car video system at the start of their October 20, 2014 tour. Mondragon and Sebastian further acknowledged that at that time, it was not their practice to ever check the audio function of their vehicle’s in-car video system at the beginning of their tour. Mondragon OIG Tr. 158:11-159:10; Sebastian OIG Tr. 158:7-24, 166:20-24, 170:23-171:12. Similarly, McElligott and Gaffney, who were assigned to 815R on October 20, 2014, each said that it was not their regular practice at that time to check the audio function of their vehicle’s in-car video system.

34 OIG 15-0564 000151–52. OIG attempted to obtain Franko’s October 21, 2014 supervisor’s log before his interview, but CPD informed OIG that the log had been destroyed prior to the commencement of OIG’s investigation.

35 See OEMC PDT Messages. OIG 15-0564 000171.

36 According to records obtained from CPD, the ticket number corresponds to Help Desk Ticket #INCGB0010668611, which was submitted by a Sgt. Jerome Hoffman on October 12, 2014. The ticket was recorded as relating to Vehicle 8984, and having to do with an in-car video issue. The description of the problem states “no power.” On November 7, 2014, the Help Desk Ticket was closed. The resolution notes read “no such car number in 8.” Accordingly, OIG finds that there is an insufficient basis to conclude that the 841R officers violated CPD Special Order S03-05 by failing to ensure that their in-car video system was working properly on October 20, 2014.
time to check the audio function of their vehicle’s in-car video system at the beginning of their tour. McElligott OIG Tr. 125:13-127:11; Gaffney OIG Tr. 92:12-95:6.

In his June 13, 2016 OIG interview, Franko said his responsibility was to “make sure that the cameras were functioning in each of the cars that were assigned to me that evening.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 119:24-120:2. Franko did this by checking in with his officers—he “would manually be able to observe whether or not the camera was functioning.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 120:20-21. He also could receive messages from his subordinates if the video was not functioning. When asked how he ensured audio was functioning, Franko said: “[T]here was no way for us to check. The officers if they didn’t make a stop the entire tour, I would not know whether or not audio was working correctly on the system.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 132:17-20. When asked who was ultimately responsible for ensuring that the in-car video systems were properly capturing audio and video, Franko responded, “The officers.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 148:5. Franko added:

I can only report on what I know. I do what I need to and check, and if I don’t have the information from the officers, then I can’t fix things that we don’t know about, and then from there, you know, it goes up the system, you know, up the ladder as far as getting things fixed, whether it is through the help desk and the in-car camera people, or I don’t know if there is somebody in each district that it is their job to come back and check on the data and the audio.

That wasn’t something that I did, but I don’t think it just stopped at me. You know, I checked on what I was able to check on by, you know making contact with the officers.

With respect to the unchecked operable/inoperable boxes on the October 20, 2014 Supervisor’s Management Log, Franko admitted: “I just failed to check the box.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 126:23-24. When asked whether he generally checked those boxes, Franko said: “Generally, I do. There is a lot of times where I miss something, you know, working midnight and not always checking everything. You know, you kind of assume that if there is something missing, one of the three signatures after you is going to catch it and kick it back.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 155:1-7. Franko acknowledged that he should have checked at least one of the boxes relating to the in-car video system’s operability.

Franko was not able to explain why there was no audio in any of the vehicles present at the McDonald shooting. He said: “I don’t know for that particular evening what had occurred. I was not notified of anything as far as these particular vehicles, and it was still early in the night, so I don’t know if I made contact with the officers or not.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 136:9-13. When asked what he did when he found out that 815R and 841R did not capture audio or video on October 20, 2014, and 813R did not capture audio, Franko responded: “Well, at this point with the retrieval worksheet done, and common knowledge to my supervisors, it was left in their hands to follow-up on it from there. It was already reported.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 154:8-12.

V. ANALYSIS

The OIG investigation established that Franko violated CPD Rules and Regulations and CPD Directives when he reviewed and approved false TRRs and false OBRs submitted by Van Dyke and Walsh regarding the events that culminated in Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald. Franko’s endorsement of those false statements served to establish the false narrative that McDonald initiated an attack on Van Dyke and Walsh. In addition, Franko approved an Original Case Incident Report submitted by Fontaine that inaccurately stated Van Dyke was injured by McDonald. Finally, Franko failed to take appropriate action when he became aware that the officers under his supervision did not capture audio in their vehicles’ in-car video systems. Throughout Franko’s OIG interview, he attempted to deny or minimize his role on the scene and at Area Central. His denial is not credible in light of multiple witnesses stating they believed Franko was involved in the creation of the TRRs and OBRs.

Franko’s actions, individually and collectively, constitute violations of CPD Rules and Directives. His review and approval of TRRs and OBRs containing false statements made by Van Dyke and Walsh constitute violations of Rule 14 (making a false report, written or oral). As a CPD supervisory member, Franko is responsible for the performance of those officers, and is ultimately accountable for their “failure, misconduct or omission.” See Rules and Regulations of the Chicago Police Department, Section IV.B.8. Franko’s actions, including his approval of the inaccurate Original Case Incident Report and his failure to take action regarding the in-car camera system audio, also constitute violations of Rule 2 (engaging in any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department), Rule 3 (failing to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy and accomplish its goals), and Rule 6 (disobedience of an order, namely S03-03-06 and S03-05). A supervisory member who has made, reviewed, or approved false statements in an official investigation has irrevocably tainted not only his credibility, but also the credibility of CPD—and also fails to promote CPD’s goal of employing officers with personal integrity and professional devotion to law enforcement. Finally, Franko violated S03-03-06, which specifically lists his responsibilities as a sergeant, when he failed to (1) monitor the behavior and performance of his subordinates, (2) take appropriate action when deficiencies in performance, uniform, and/or equipment were observed, and (3) ensure TRRs were properly completed. By violating these Rules and Directives, Franko further violated Rule 11 (incompetency in the performance of a duty). Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD discharge Franko and refer him for placement on the ineligible for rehire list maintained by the Department of Human Resources.

1. Franko’s Review and Approval of TRRs and OBRs

Van Dyke and Walsh both asserted false narratives of the McDonald shooting in the official CPD reports they submitted regarding their encounter with McDonald. In their TRRs, Van Dyke and Walsh falsely claimed that McDonald (1) used force likely to cause death or great bodily harm, (2) attacked them with a weapon, and (3) created an imminent threat of battery. In their OBRs, Van Dyke and Walsh falsely claimed that the manner of attack was a stab or a cut (including actual attempt).

As detailed in the Summary of Relevant Video Footage, Section IV.B.3., at no time while Van Dyke and Walsh were out of their vehicle and proximate to McDonald did McDonald attack or swing his knife to cause death or great bodily harm. By the time Van Dyke and Walsh exited their vehicle, McDonald was walking in a southwest direction away from Van Dyke and Walsh, who at all times prior to the shooting were east of McDonald. Thus, at no time during the encounter between McDonald and Walsh and Van Dyke did McDonald advance toward the two officers. Rather, it was the officers who moved northward or west/southwestward, toward McDonald, as he continued to walk in a southwest direction. Further, seconds prior to the shooting, McDonald moved the knife from his right hip to the right side of his lower back, but this modest movement of the knife was not in the direction of Walsh and Van Dyke—Walsh and Van Dyke were in front of McDonald and to his left, and McDonald moved his knife behind his back, not in front of his body.

Franko acknowledged that he saw the relevant portions of the video before reviewing and approving the TRRs and OBRs containing false statements. Thus, he was aware that the statements he was reviewing in the TRRs and OBRs were false. His review and approval of false statements materially served to exaggerate the threat McDonald posed.

Throughout Franko’s OIG interview, he attempted to minimize and deny his involvement in the creation of TRRs and OBRs. He denied assisting or consulting with Van Dyke and Walsh regarding their TRRs and OBRs, stressed that he only reviewed the documents for “legibility and completeness,” and insisted his role was not to approve the forms, despite his signature on the documents. Franko’s attempts to minimize his role is countered by CPD Special Order S03-03-06 requiring that he “direct and supervise the investigation” for “events requiring the completion and approval of Tactical Response Reports,” and that he “ensure TRRs are properly completed and forwarded for approval.” Regardless of what importance Franko might ascribe to his role, CPD created a provision in its Special Orders specifically describing his responsibilities otherwise. Franko’s denials are also contradicted by witness statements describing Franko’s role—Walsh and Gaffney both believed they consulted with Franko regarding their forms, McElligott recalled Franko telling him not to fill out a TRR and OBR, and McNaughton believed Franko assisted the officers in completing the forms.

2. Franko’s Review and Approval of the Original Case Incident Report

Franko also violated CPD Rule 11 (incompetency in the performance of a duty) when he negligently approved the Original Case Incident Report, which incorrectly states Van Dyke was “Injured by offender.” Franko stated that he overlooked this language. He attempted to offer an excuse that Van Dyke may have been injured, providing the example that Van Dyke could have turned his ankle. However, at no time during Franko’s conversation with Van Dyke on the scene and on their drive to Area Central did Van Dyke indicate he was injured, and no other individual told Franko that Van Dyke was injured. As a supervisor, it was Franko’s responsibility to ensure the accuracy of this report. His endorsement of a material, inaccurate statement in a CPD report furthered the false narrative that McDonald initiated an attack on Van Dyke and Walsh.
Franko’s failure to scrutinize this report before approving it demonstrates incompetency in his duties as a sergeant.

3. Franko’s Failure to Ensure Working Audio

Finally, Franko violated CPD Rule 6 (disobedience of an order) and CPD Rule 11 (incompetency in the performance of a duty) by failing to take appropriate action when he became aware that the officers under his supervision did not capture audio in their vehicles’ in-car video systems.
Specifically, Franko failed to (1) monitor his subordinates to ensure they maintained a practice of using audio, (2) initiate an investigation when notified of a missing or lost remote transmitter/audio recorder, and (3) maintain an accurate Supervisor’s Management Log, as required by CPD Special Order S03-05.

The 813R and 815R officers, who were under Franko’s supervision on October 20, 2014, all stated that it was not their practice to check the audio function of their in-car camera system prior to the start of their tour, despite it being a requirement in CPD Special Order S03-05. They also acknowledged that the audio component of their vehicle’s in-car video systems was not working on October 20, 2014. While Franko acknowledged it was his responsibility to ensure the video systems were working, he once again denied and minimized his role as a supervising sergeant, stating that there was “no way” for him to check audio in the vehicles he supervised. However, the CPD Special Orders put the front-line responsibility for monitoring subordinates to ensure they maintained a regular practice of using audio on the supervising sergeant. Indeed, Franko’s subordinates’ acknowledgement of a more general practice of not checking the audio function of their in-car camera systems as required by Special Order S03-05 highlights precisely why the responsibility for “monitoring behavior and performance of subordinates and their adherence to Department policies and procedures and taking appropriate action when deficiencies in performance, uniform, and/or equipment are observed” is most critically and expressly placed on field sergeants—CPD’s first line supervisors—pursuant to Special Order S03-03-06. The passage of individual instances of noncompliance into routine practice is facilitated by the failure of line supervisors to inhabit their expressly assigned responsibilities, as is suggested by Franko’s inaction and attitude toward his duties here.

Further, the CPD Special Orders specifically state it is the sergeant’s responsibility to initiate an investigation when notified of missing or lost remote transmitters or audio recorders. When asked what he did when he found out that 815R and 841R did not capture audio or video on October 20, 2014, and 813R did not capture audio, Franko responded: “Well, at this point with the retrieval worksheet done, and common knowledge to my supervisors, it was left in their hands to follow-up on it from there. It was already reported.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 154:8-12.
Franko’s attempts to once again evade his responsibilities are unsuccessful in light of CPD Special Orders S03-03-06 and S03-05 specifically stating that it is Franko’s duty to initiate an investigation when notified of missing or lost remote transmitters or audio recorders and Becvar’s statement that it was “up to the district to watch for disciplinary issues.”
In addition, Franko’s cavalier attitude toward his supervisory responsibilities is further reflected in his failure to properly complete his October 20, 2014 Supervisor’s Management Log. These logs required him to determine, on a daily basis, whether each vehicle under his supervision had an operable in-car video system. Franko acknowledged that he failed to check any of the boxes related to the operability of the 813R, 815R, and 841R vehicles’ in-car video systems on the October 20, 2014 Log. When asked about this failure, Franko stated: “There is a lot of times where I miss something, you know, working middnights and not always checking everything. You know, you kind of assume that if there is something missing, one of the three signatures after you is going to catch it and kick it back.” Franko 6/13/16 OIG Tr. 155:1-7. Franko’s response suggests the operation of a lower standard of care and responsibility for first watch supervisors and that lesser attention to detail is acceptable because someone up the chain can attend to it. It is also reflective of Franko’s pervasive substandard attention to duty and of a broader abdication of his supervisory responsibilities throughout the events that culminated in Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald and CPD’s investigation of those events.

VI. RECOMMENDATION

Franko’s actions raise significant concerns regarding his credibility and ability to perform his duties as a sworn officer and supervisory member. As a sworn officer and supervisory member, Franko’s reports are relied upon in criminal legal proceedings and his credibility is therefore critical to his position. A CPD member who has made false statements in an official investigation has irrevocably tainted his credibility and has wholly disqualified himself from effectively executing core police functions. Based on this conduct he may be the subject of cross-examination in any contested proceedings in which he may appear as a witness, see Fed. R. Evid. 608(b) (“Specific instances of conduct”), and his conduct and the findings resulting from this investigation would further qualify as impeachment material that should, in principle, be disclosed in any contested proceeding involving the official records or testimony Franko generates. See Giglio v. United States, 405 U.S. 150 (1972) (requiring disclosure in criminal case of information impeaching of government witness’s credibility). Illinois courts have repeatedly noted that “as the guardians of our laws, police officers are expected to act with integrity, honesty, and trustworthiness” and have found intentional false or misleading statements by police officers to be sufficient cause for termination. Rodriguez v. Weis, 408 Ill. App. 3d 663, 671 (1st Dist. 2011) (quoting Sindermann v. Civil Service Comm’n, 275 Ill. App. 3d 917, 928 (2nd Dist. 1995)). OIG therefore recommends that CPD discharge Franko and refer him for placement on the ineligible for rehire list maintained by the Department of Human Resources.

VII. CPD RULE VIOLATIONS

Rule 2 Any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department.

Rule 6 Disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral.
Rule 11  Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.

Rule 14  Making a false report, written or oral.
Appendix A
This report consists of a summary of the evidence set out in the attached investigative materials and the Office of Inspector General’s (OIG’s) analysis of that evidence. An index of the investigative materials is attached.

I. INTRODUCTION

An OIG investigation has established that Thomas Gaffney, a police officer for the Chicago Police Department (CPD) who was at the scene when Officer Jason Van Dyke shot Laquan McDonald on October 20, 2014, failed to follow CPD Rules regarding the operation of CPD’s in-car video systems. More specifically, and as detailed below, Gaffney failed to ensure that his vehicle’s in-car video system was capturing audio of the October 20, 2014 shooting. Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD impose discipline upon Gaffney commensurate with the seriousness of his misconduct, his discipline history, and department standards.

II. APPLICABLE RULES, REGULATIONS, AND LAW

A. CPD Rules and Regulations

CPD’s Rules and Regulations set out the standards of conduct and duties of sworn members. Article V of the CPD Rules and Regulations, entitled CPD Rules of Conduct (the CPD Rules), sets forth specifically prohibited acts. In pertinent part, the CPD Rules include the following prohibitions:

Rule 6 Disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral.

Rule 11 Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.

B. CPD Special Order S03-05 (effective February 23, 2012 through February 24, 2016)

CPD Special Orders are directives that establish protocols and procedures concerning specific CPD functions, operations, programs, or processes. Special Order S03-05, which was in effect at the time of the shooting, outlines the protocols CPD members are to follow regarding in-car video systems.\(^1\) Section VI of the Special Order provides that at the beginning of their tour of duty, Department members assigned to a CPD vehicle equipped with an in-car video system are to:

(1) visually inspect the in-car video system equipment for damage;

\(^1\) In-car video systems are also referred to as dash cameras or dashcams in this report.
(2) obtain the remote transmitter/audio recorder and ensure it is securely attached to the member’s person; and

(3) follow the start-up procedures for the in-car video system as trained and ensure the system is working properly.

The Special Order notes that members are to “immediately notify a supervisor if, at any time, the in-car video system is inoperable, damaged, the equipped vehicle becomes inoperable, or the remote transmitter/audio recorder is missing.” During their tour, members are to “audibly and visually record events in accordance with this directive.” At the conclusion of a tour of duty, members are to “verify the in-car video system is working properly.”

III. THOMAS GAFFNEY EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

Gaffney has worked as a CPD Police Officer since July 8, 1996. Gaffney is a member of Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) Lodge 7.

IV. SUMMARY OF INVESTIGATION

A. Procedural History of OIG’s Investigation

By letter, dated December 8, 2015, Independent Police Review Authority (IPRA) Acting Chief Administrator Sharon Fairley requested that OIG conduct an administrative investigation “to determine whether certain police officers/witnesses made false statements on official reports prepared in connection with [Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald] and/or during the investigation of the incident.” IPRA further requested that OIG investigate “whether any of the involved Chicago Police officers committed any other violation(s) of Chicago Police Department rules, policies or procedures in their involvement with the incident, including, but not limited to, whether any officers’ conduct may have interfered with or obstructed the appropriate investigation and handling of this matter.”

Then, by letter, dated January 13, 2016, CPD Interim Superintendent John J. Escalante requested that OIG conduct an “administrative investigation into any and all allegations of police officer misconduct” arising out of the October 20, 2014 shooting death of McDonald. The Superintendent’s request asked OIG to investigate the following allegations: “whether any officer(s) made false statements on official reports submitted in connection with the shooting of Laquan McDonald on October 20, 2014; whether any officer(s) obstructed or interfered with the investigation of this incident, either individually or in collusion with others; and whether any officer(s) committed any violation of Chicago Police Department rules, policies, or orders in connection with their response and/or handling of this matter.” Escalante attached to the letter request a copy of Sergeant Sandra Soria’s Initiation Report, which raises allegations of misconduct related to the in-car video systems of the vehicles that were present during the McDonald shooting, and identified that Report as a basis for OIG’s administrative investigation.

On March 10, 2016, Kevin Kilmer, Financial Secretary for the FOP, filed a grievance with CPD on behalf of all affected members stating that OIG’s attempts to conduct CPD officer interviews violated Article 6 of CPD’s Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) with the FOP. On March 16, 2016, FOP on behalf of all impacted CPD officers filed a “Complaint for Injunction in Aid of Arbitration” in the Circuit Court of Cook County, asking the court to enjoin OIG from conducting interviews until the grievance was decided in arbitration. The court dismissed the complaint and denied the injunction on March 22, 2016.

OIG’s administrative investigation of other CPD employees’ actions related to CPD’s handling of the McDonald investigation is ongoing. During the course of its investigation, OIG has gathered documents from CPD and IPRA, among other sources, and conducted numerous interviews, including interviews of several CPD personnel who were at or responded to the scene of the shooting and civilian witnesses to the shooting. To date in its ongoing investigation, OIG has recommended disciplinary action against multiple CPD personnel.

B. The Events of October 20, 2014

The following sections detail the shooting of McDonald, as well as the relevant events that occurred directly before and after the shooting.

McDonald responded by making growling noises. After again told McDonald to leave the lot, McDonald pulled out a knife and swung it at Barillas. Barillas, who

3 Section 6.1, Paragraph I of the CBA states, “If the allegation under investigation indicates a recommendation for separation is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the statutory administrative proceeding rights, or if the allegation indicates criminal prosecution is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the constitutional rights concerning self-incrimination prior to the commencement of interrogation.” CPD General Order GO8-01-01, Paragraph K contains similar language.

5 On April 22, 2016, OIG obtained maps of the locations that are relevant to the shooting from Google Maps and included those maps in Appendix A. Those maps generally reflect the street layout and location of relevant businesses as they were on the night of October 20, 2014.

6 The following account of and Barillas’s encounter with McDonald is taken from the March 16, 2015 case supplementary report (CSR) submitted by CPD Detective David March, which includes the statements that and Barillas provided to CPD on October 21, 2014, and October 22, 2014, respectively. had already called 911, then threw his cell phone at McDonald. Gaffney ran from the lot, first northbound on Kildare and then eastbound on 40th Street.

2. Officers Thomas Gaffney and Joseph McElligott’s Encounter with McDonald

Gaffney and his partner, Officer Joseph McElligott, received a call over the radio that someone had broken into a truck at 4100 South Kildare and were dispatched to the scene. Gaffney was driving, and McElligott was in the passenger seat of their assigned vehicle, 815R. When they arrived at 4100 South Kildare, they saw a Hispanic male and female standing by the gate to the truck yard. The two said that a black male wearing a black shirt, later determined to be McDonald, had been trying to steal the radio out of a semi-truck, and had subsequently headed north toward 40th Street.

Gaffney and McElligott drove north on Kildare, turned right onto 40th Street, and saw McDonald walking east on the south side of 40th Street. McElligott exited the vehicle and commanded McDonald to stop and then turn around. Gaffney stayed in the vehicle in case McDonald attempted to flee. McElligott ordered McDonald to take his hands out of his pockets. McDonald, who had been facing McElligott, turned and walked away with one hand still in his pocket. McDonald then turned again and took both of his hands out of his pockets. He had a knife in his right hand. McElligott drew his weapon and told McDonald to drop the knife. McDonald started walking east again, going from the sidewalk to the street and back. McElligott

McDonald kept turning around and giving the officers a “weird glaze[d] look.” Gaffney IPRA Tr. 11:20.\textsuperscript{12}

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Karlov, Gaffney turned his car toward McDonald to direct him down Karlov. Gaffney wanted to keep McDonald away from Pulaski, which was a more populated area. McDonald then swung his arm and popped 815R’s right front tire with his knife. McElligott was toward the back of 815R when McDonald popped its tire. After McDonald took a step back from the vehicle, Gaffney pulled up further in front of him to stop him from proceeding to Pulaski. McDonald then hit the right side of 815R’s windshield once with the knife in his right hand. The windshield did not break but, according to Gaffney, McDonald hit it as hard as he could. McDonald walked around the front of 815R and continued eastward on 40th Street. After McDonald had walked 10 to 15 feet, another squad car turned off of Pulaski onto 40th Street with its lights on, and McDonald began to sprint. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, and Gaffney followed McDonald in 815R. McDonald ran eastbound through a parking lot of a Burger King located at 40th and Pulaski and then headed southbound on Pulaski. Video footage from several cameras captured McDonald’s movements as he reached Pulaski.

3. Summary of the Relevant Video Footage

The below table contains a summary of the relevant video footage of the McDonald shooting, which includes the dashcam videos from 813R, 823R, and 845R, video from the “WNE fire exit” security camera from the Greater Chicago Food Depository, which is bordered by 40th Street to the north, Karlov Avenue to the east, and Keeler Avenue to the west, and the security camera video from the Dunkin’ Donuts, located at 4113 South Pulaski Road (the DD Camera).\textsuperscript{13}

\textsuperscript{11} OEMC recordings reflect that, at 9:53 p.m., 815R reported: “We’re at 40th and Keeler. This guy uh is walking away from us and he’s got a knife in his hand.” Approximately 30 seconds later, a dispatcher stated, “815R looking for a taser.” See OEMC Documents and CDs; see also OIG 15-0564 003691, 3228.

14 OIG confirmed the vehicle is 815R and McElligott confirmed in his May 8, 2016 OIG interview that he was the officer on foot.

15 The DD Camera video does not display an embedded timestamp. Therefore, OIG used the timestamp of 813R’s video, which generally captured the same events as the DD Camera from a different angle, to establish the timeframe of the events captured by the DD Camera.
exits the passenger side of 845R with both of his feet in Pulaski’s northbound left turn lane, his gun drawn and pointed at McDonald (813R). Walsh exits the driver side of 845R, just east of Pulaski’s northbound left turn lane, with his gun drawn, and moves north along the driver side of 845R until he is several feet north of 845R (DD Camera).

9:57:30 – 9:57:33
McDonald continues to walk southwest, from the middle of Pulaski to the lane markers that divide the west side of the road (or approximately one lane west of where McDonald was prior to changing course) (813R). While McDonald walks southwest, Walsh begins moving sideways in a west/southwest direction, approximately parallel to McDonald, and crosses over the east side of Pulaski’s northbound left-turn lane—his gun is pointed at McDonald (813R; DD Camera). Van Dyke takes approximately two steps northwest toward McDonald, with his left foot crossing into Pulaski’s yellow-painted median strip—his gun is pointed at McDonald (813R; DD Camera). 822 drives north on Pulaski, away from 845R (813R).

McDonald spins between 180 and 270 degrees in a clockwise direction and then falls to the ground with the top of his head pointing south on Pulaski, approximately one street lane east of Van Dyke and just south of Van Dyke (813R). As McDonald falls to the ground, Van Dyke takes another step west toward McDonald, moving his right foot from Pulaski’s median strip into the southbound side of Pulaski; his gun remains pointed at McDonald (813R). Van Dyke subsequently takes an additional step or two south, toward McDonald. Other than those steps, Van Dyke’s feet are stationary (DD Camera). After McDonald is on the ground, his legs and feet do not move (813R). McDonald’s upper body makes small, intermittent movements as what appear to be puffs of smoke rise from McDonald’s body (813R).16

While on patrol on October 20, 2014, CCSPD Officers Adam Murphy and Jeff Pasqua observed several CPD police vehicles pass by them. Both officers decided to follow the CPD vehicles. When they arrived at the scene, several CPD vehicles were already present—Pasqua estimated it was five or six. McDonald was lying on the pavement “gasping for his last breath of air.”

16 OEMC records show that dispatch received notice to send an ambulance to the scene at 9:57:51. OIG 15-0564 003691.

17 The last time stamp visible on the 813R dashcam video is 9:58:55.

18 OIG identified the CCSPD officer as Officer Adam Murphy.

19 The following CCSPD Officer accounts are taken from OIG’s June 23, 2016 interview of Jeff Pasqua and its June 24, 2015 interview of Adam Murphy. Pasqua and Murphy are currently CCSPD investigators.
Pasqua OIG Tr. 11:22-23. Meanwhile, the CPD officers were “standing around” and talking to each other. Murphy OIG Tr. 11:1. Murphy noted the CPD officers did not respond to him when he asked if they needed assistance. Murphy stated:

I see there’s blood all over the pavement. [McDonald] was kind of gurgling when he was sitting there. I remember his mouth was going open and closed like he was trying to gasp for air. And I looked for everybody else, and they were kind of standing there. I just started taking my gloves—my rubber gloves out to check for a pulse and to see if I could render aid.

Murphy OIG Tr. 12:18-13:2. He heard someone say an ambulance was en route. Both Officers Murphy and Pasqua recalled then watching McDonald take his final breaths. It was “[m]aybe less than a minute before [McDonald] expired.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:15-16. At no time did any CPD officers attempt to provide aid or comfort McDonald—Murphy stated, “That’s why I felt that I needed to go up to him.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:11-12.

After McDonald passed away, Murphy got up from beside him and noticed the shooting officer, who he now knows to be Van Dyke, “pacing back and forth in front of his car.” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:7-8. Murphy approached him and told him to sit down and drink water. As he was speaking with Van Dyke, Murphy “heard several officers telling [Van Dyke] to call your union rep, call your union rep.” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:16-17.

Murphy and Pasqua departed after approximately ten minutes on the scene when a CPD sergeant told them CPD did not need their assistance. At the time they left, there was “[a] sea of CPD” on scene. Murphy OIG Tr. 38:3; Pasqua OIG Tr. 25:7-8.

A. Gaffney’s Statements Regarding the McDonald Shooting

1. October 20, 2014 Statement to Detective David March

On March 15, 2015, Detective David March submitted a case supplementary report (CSR) with the R.D. Number HX475653 that contains a summary of CPD’s investigation. Lieutenant

20 In a January 22, 2016 OIG interview, CPD Area North Commander Kevin Duffin stated CPD police officers have a duty to render aid to injured civilians per general orders. Police officers render aid by calling dispatch and requesting that an ambulance be dispatched to the scene. According to Duffin, police officers are not required or expected to provide any more assistance than this. On March 30, 2016, CPD issued General Order G03-06 which requires that the involved member(s) “request medical attention for the injured, and also offer immediate medical aid commensurate with their training, experience, and available equipment.”

21 The Medical Examiner’s Case Report states McDonald was pronounced dead “on view” at Mount Sinai Medical Center on October 20, 2014, at 10:42 p.m. OIG 15-0564 015029.

22 OIG 15-0564 003067–68.

23 CPD’s investigation in the aftermath of the McDonald shooting was reported under record number HX-475653, and most reports were classified as an investigation into an aggravated assault in which McDonald was the offender. In a few reports, the case was classified as an investigation into a justifiable homicide of which McDonald was the victim. An additional record number was also created and classified as a justifiable homicide, apparently for
Anthony Wojcik approved the CSR on March 16, 2015. Included in that CSR is a summary of the statement that March obtained from Gaffney at the scene of the shooting (referenced in part above in Section IV.B.2). Regarding his observations as McDonald reached Pulaski, Gaffney stated the following:

As McDonald approached the Burger King restaurant parking lot at 40th Street and Pulaski, assisting police units arrived, approaching westbound on 40th Street from Pulaski. McDonald began to run eastbound through the restaurant parking lot, on the north side of the Burger King building. He ran out onto Pulaski and then turned and ran southbound on Pulaski. Beat 845R pursued McDonald in their police vehicle, eastbound through the parking lot, over the curb at Pulaski, then southbound on Pulaski. Officer Gaffney lost sight of McDonald when he turned southbound on Pulaski.

Because of the flat tire on his vehicle, Officer Gaffney did not drive over the curb. As he drove around onto Pulaski, Officer Gaffney heard multiple gunshots in rapid succession. He did not see who was shooting. When he reached Pulaski, McDonald was lying on the ground.24

2. October 21, 2014 Statement to IPRA25

On October 21, 2014, at 4:06 a.m., IPRA investigator Brian Killen interviewed Gaffney at Area Central Police Headquarters, located at 5101 South Wentworth, regarding the McDonald shooting.26 Attorney Dan Herbert and FOP Field Representative Kriston Kato accompanied Gaffney. In summary, regarding his observations as McDonald reached Pulaski, Gaffney stated the following.

As McDonald went east toward Pulaski, Gaffney drove his squad car into the Burger King parking lot. Another squad car turned into the lot before he did. That car followed McDonald and went over the curb in the lot onto Pulaski. Gaffney did not know the beat number of the other car at the time of the incident, but was aware it was 845R at the time of his IPRA interview. Gaffney kept driving toward the end of the lot, but stopped because his tire was flat and he was unable to get over the curb. He turned around his car to get out of the lot from the entrance behind the Burger King. Gaffney started to hear shots before he reached Pulaski. He did not see who fired the shots because a fence blocked his view. Gaffney believed the shooting had stopped by the time he reached Pulaski. When he arrived, McDonald was on the ground.

24 Detective March completed a General Progress Report (GPR) relating to his interview of Gaffney that contains March’s handwritten notes of the interview. OIG 15-0564 003244–45. March’s handwritten notes of the interview do not differ in any significant way from the summary of Gaffney’s statement in the CSR.

B. Records and Interviews Concerning 815R’s In-Car Video System

On October 21, 2014, CPD Sergeant Lance Becvar submitted a supplementary report for R.D. No. HX475653 concerning his retrieval of video from the in-car video systems of the five CPD vehicles that were on scene when Van Dyke shot McDonald.27 With respect to 815R (also referred to as vehicle 8489), the vehicle Gaffney drove on October 20, 2014, Becvar noted “Operational but due to disc error no video recorded.”28 Becvar also completed a corresponding “In Car Camera Video Retrieval Worksheet” regarding his October 20, 2014 video retrieval, in which he made the following notation with respect to 815R: “Processing video: extremely large video file.”29 On July 17, 2015, Becvar sent an email summarizing his findings regarding his October 20, 2014 video retrieval from 815R and the other four CPD vehicles that were on scene when Van Dyke shot McDonald.30 With respect to 815R, Becvar wrote as follows: “System not engaged because a very long video (like hours long) was made previous to this event/incident and the system was processing that video and unable to start another video.”31

The in-car dash camera video recovered from 815R captured footage from 10:03:14 p.m. to 10:04:18 p.m.—after McDonald was shot—and only another squad car with flashing lights is visible.32 There is no sound on the video. The video does not display notations of “M1” or “M2” reflecting functioning microphones. In a January 27, 2016 OIG interview, Becvar stated that if a vehicle’s microphones were synced and functioning, its in-car video display and the recovered video would both show an on-screen “M1” (driver mic) and an “M2” (passenger mic). Becvar’s statement is corroborated by the in-car video system user manual, which establishes that officers are able to see “M1” and “M2” displayed on their in-car video system in real time as it is recording if the microphones are properly connected.33 The user manual further reflects that the in-car video system display contains a “camera preview” that “displays the image as seen through the camera lens. The default image is set as the front facing camera.”34

C. OIG Interview of Gaffney

On April 26, 2016, pursuant to Section 6.1 of the CBA between CPD and FOP, OIG, through CPD’s Bureau of Internal Affairs, served Gaffney with a Notification of Interview, Notification of Allegations, and copies of his prior statements, including: (1) his October 20, 2014 statement to Detective March, contained in the March 16, 2015 CSR; (2) March’s GPR containing his handwritten notes of his interview of Gaffney; and (3) Gaffney’s October 21, 2014 statement to IPRA. In addition, OIG provided Gaffney with the dashcam footage from 813R and 845R and the security camera footage from Dunkin’ Donuts.

On May 13, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed Gaffney under oath after informing him of his administrative advisements orally and in writing. Gaffney provided oral and written acknowledgement of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Gaffney’s attorney was also present for the interview.

In summary, Gaffney stated as follows. As of October 20, 2014, Gaffney was assigned to CPD’s 8th District and was working with McElligott, his regular partner.

1. The Scene of the Shooting

Gaffney said he was in the general area of the McDonald shooting. Gaffney arrived on Pulaski after all the shots had been fired. McDonald was lying on the ground. When asked what he did when he arrived on Pulaski, Gaffney stated, “Obviously everybody was just trying to make sure nobody came near the area, tried to stop cars to make sure the intersection was clear, and people were on their radio asking for an ambulance and telling them what happened, and then I just walked around.” Gaffney OIG Tr. 19:15-20. Gaffney found McElligott a couple of minutes after he arrived, and they proceeded to where Gaffney parked their vehicle. Gaffney said they “were just like looking at our vehicle, trying to figure out what happened . . . I didn’t see exactly what happened in the intersection or where the shots were fired at, so we were just trying to talk about what had happened, who did what.” Gaffney OIG Tr. 21:8-13.

About fifteen to twenty minutes after the shooting, Gaffney gave Sergeant Franko a “timeline” of what happened “from the time we got the job to where we ended up.” Gaffney OIG Tr. 27:4-6. At some point, Gaffney and McElligott spoke with detectives. He did not know the names of the detectives at the time. Gaffney stated:

I know in the beginning there were a couple—two detectives I believe it was that we actually went in their car with because they went back to the original scene where we first encountered the two, male and female Hispanic. We went there and we just showed them this is where we came in contact with [McDonald], and then we drove the whole route from that point to all the way back to where our car finally ended up.

Gaffney OIG Tr. 28:10-18. Gaffney did not recall the detectives taking notes. Later in his interview, Gaffney stated, “We spoke to detectives [at] different parts of the scene. We were talking to them while we were in the car and after we r[o]de in the car, we spoke to more people.” Gaffney OIG Tr. 40:6-9. Gaffney reviewed the statements attributed to him in the March 16, 2015 CSR summarizing his interview with Detective March and said it accurately reflects what he stated to detectives on October 20, 2014.

Gaffney also spoke with several supervisors at the scene, including his captain, Captain Walsh, who helped Gaffney and McElligott change the tire on their vehicle. Gaffney saw part of the video of the shooting at the scene, stating, “I believe it was 13 Roberts’ car, I just like maybe— it was on their inside camera. I think it was maybe a five-second little clip that somebody played it back and that was it.” Gaffney OIG Tr. 33:22-34:1.

2. Area Central

Gaffney and McElligott drove to Area Central at around 3:00 or 3:30 a.m. He could not recall if they drove their own squad car or another vehicle that was at the scene. The evidence technician might have still been with their squad car taking pictures. When asked if he had any conversations with the officers who witnessed the shooting at Area Central, Gaffney stated, “They had everybody together. . . . [W]e had told everybody . . . what happened from the beginning and how it progressed. . . . [T]hey were all there before we were for probably an hour or two at least before we got there.” Gaffney OIG Tr. 58:4-11. Officers Van Dyke and Walsh were present when Gaffney and McElligott relayed their experience.

Gaffney believed they spoke with detectives at Area Central. When asked what kind of questions those detectives were asking, Gaffney stated, “[J]ust pretty much the same thing that they would ask us at the scene, if I remember.” Gaffney OIG Tr. 56:20-21. At some point, Franko directed Gaffney to fill out an Officer’s Battery Report and a Tactical Response Report. Around 4:00 a.m., Gaffney gave his statement to IPRA. Gaffney believed he and McElligott left Area Central around 9:00 a.m. or 10:00 a.m. because it was light outside.

3. Use of 815R’s In-Car Video System

Gaffney had used vehicle 8489 several times before October 20, 2014. On that date, the car had a dashcam system. Gaffney reviewed CPD Special Order S03-05 outlining the protocol for in-car video systems. When asked if he was aware of the rules and protocols set forth in the order, Gaffney said, “I believe so, yes.” Gaffney OIG Tr. 80:6. When asked what actions he took on October 20, 2014, with respect to the in-car video system, Gaffney stated, “Pretty much we logged into the—put our PC numbers, our beat number on the little screen, and you just press send, I believe, and it starts up, and once you do that, the screen comes up where you can see through the camera what’s in front of you.” Gaffney OIG Tr. 83:23-84:3. When asked if he had any explanation as to why the video function in his in-car system did not capture events prior to and during the shooting, Gaffney stated: “No, I don’t. Like I said, we logged on and the screen was on, showing the video, camera. Whatever was on the camera, we could see on the little screen. As of we knew, it was working.” Gaffney OIG Tr. 87:5-8.

Gaffney said the microphones for the dashcam system were in the “charging spots” on October 20, 2014. Gaffney OIG Tr. 84:23. Gaffney did not believe they synced the microphones to the system, and he was not sure if the audio was functioning correctly. He did not have any explanation as to why there was no audio captured by their in-car video system on October 20, 2014. When asked if he ensured audio was working at the beginning of his shift, Gaffney said, “I don’t believe we did, no.” Gaffney OIG Tr. 89:15. When asked if there was a reason why he did not sync the audio that day, Gaffney said, “No, not that I can give, no.” Gaffney OIG Tr. 92:17. Gaffney said his normal practice is to leave the microphones in the car. When asked if he knows this is a violation of CPD policy, Gaffney said, “I’m sure it is” and then agreed that he is supposed to wear the microphones on his person. Gaffney OIG Tr. 94:5.

V. ANALYSIS

OIG’s investigation established that Gaffney violated CPD Rule 6 (disobedience of an order, namely S03-05) and Rule 11 (incompetency in the performance of a duty) by failing to audibly record events with his in-car video system. Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD impose discipline upon Gaffney commensurate with the seriousness of his misconduct, his discipline history, and department standards.

As Gaffney acknowledged, CPD did not recover any audio from 815R’s in-car video system. Additionally, CPD recovered only one minute of video from 815R’s system after the McDonald shooting. With respect to the video, Sergeant Becvar noted that the in-car video system was not engaged due to a disc error while processing a very long video, and there is no evidence that Gaffney knew of the error. Gaffney stated that he was able to log into the in-car video system and view video on the camera at the start of his tour. With respect to the audio, however, Gaffney admitted that he did not attach the microphones to his person. 815R’s dashcam video further reflects that Gaffney and McElligott did not connect their microphones to 815R’s in-car video system because there is no “M1” or “M2” symbol visible at the top of the video footage from October 20, 2014, as there would have been if the microphones were connected. Thus, the evidence demonstrates that on October 20, 2014, Gaffney failed to follow the in-car video system procedures set forth in S03-05.

Gaffney’s failure to follow CPD’s in-car video system protocols prevented CPD from collecting potentially important, objective, technology-based evidence of the McDonald shooting. As a result, investigators are now forced to rely on Gaffney’s subjective unrecorded oral account of the shooting. Gaffney’s violation of CPD rules also served to harm the relationship between CPD and the residents it serves. A functioning in-car video system is critical to CPD’s efforts to maintain accountability for its officers. That accountability, in turn, fosters the public’s trust in CPD. When accountability mechanisms fail, as they did in the present case, where only one of the five CPD vehicles present at the shooting captured video of the actual shooting and none of those vehicles captured audio, the public can lose faith in CPD’s commitment to accountability. Thus, as CPD works to rebuild the relationship between its officers and the greater Chicago community, it must ensure that its personnel understand the importance of keeping all aspects of CPD’s accountability framework, including in-car video systems, functional.

VI. RECOMMENDATION

OIG recommends that CPD impose discipline upon Gaffney commensurate with the seriousness of his misconduct, his discipline history, and department standards.
VII. CPD Rule Violations

Rule 6  Disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral.

Rule 11  Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.
Appendix A
This report consists of a summary of the evidence set out in the attached investigative materials and the Office of Inspector General’s (OIG’s) analysis of that evidence. An index of the investigative materials is attached.

I. INTRODUCTION

An OIG investigation has established that Daniel Gallagher, a Sergeant with the Chicago Police Department (CPD) who supervised the investigation in the aftermath of the October 20, 2014 shooting of Laquan McDonald by CPD Officer Jason Van Dyke, violated CPD Rules and Regulations during that investigation. As of October 20, 2014, Gallagher was assigned to CPD’s Detective Division. As detailed further below, Gallagher made false statements and misleading characterizations in CPD reports related to the shooting, which served to exaggerate the threat McDonald posed. Further, in his failure to ensure that the investigation under his supervision was conducted in a truthful, complete, and objective manner, Gallagher impeded CPD’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals, failed to promote CPD’s efforts to implement its policy and accomplish its goals, and brought discredit upon CPD. In so doing, Gallagher was incompetent in the performance of his duty. Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD discharge Gallagher and refer him for placement on the ineligible for rehire list maintained by the Department of Human Resources.

II. APPLICABLE RULES, REGULATIONS, AND LAW

A. CPD Rules and Regulations

The “Rules and Regulations of the Chicago Police Department” set out the standards of conduct and duties of sworn members, including supervisory members, as well as CPD goals. The Rules and Regulations state that sworn members must “conduct themselves at all times in such a manner as will reflect credit upon the Department with emphasis on personal integrity and professional devotion to law enforcement.” Supervisory members “have the responsibility for the performance of all subordinates placed under them” and they “[r]emain accountable for the failure, misconduct or omission by their subordinates.”

Article V of the CPD Rules and Regulations, entitled CPD Rules of Conduct (the CPD Rules), sets forth specifically prohibited acts. In pertinent part, the CPD Rules include the following prohibitions:

Rule 2 Any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department.
Rule 3 Any failure to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy or accomplish its goals.

Rule 11 Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.

Rule 14 Making a false report, written or oral.

III. SERGEANT GALLAGHER’S EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

Gallagher joined CPD in October of 2000 as a police officer. He became a Detective in 2006 and was promoted to Sergeant in 2009. On October 20, 2014, he was a Sergeant in the Detective Division assigned to Area Central, a position he has held from 2012 through the present. Gallagher is a member of the Policeman’s Benevolent & Protective Association of Illinois, Unit 156-Sergeants (Unit 156-Sergeants). Detective David March, the primary detective assigned to the McDonald shooting, was under Gallagher’s command.

IV. SUMMARY OF INVESTIGATION

A. Procedural History of OIG’s Investigation

By letter, dated December 8, 2015, Independent Police Review Authority (IPRA) Acting Chief Administrator Sharon Fairley requested that OIG conduct an administrative investigation “to determine whether certain police officers/witnesses made false statements on official reports prepared in connection with [Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald] and/or during the investigation of the incident.” IPRA further requested that OIG investigate “whether any of the involved Chicago Police officers committed any other violation(s) of Chicago Police Department rules, policies or procedures in their involvement with the incident, including, but not limited to, whether any officers’ conduct may have interfered with or obstructed the appropriate investigation and handling of this matter.”

Then, by letter, dated January 13, 2016, CPD Interim Superintendent John J. Escalante requested that OIG conduct an “administrative investigation into any and all allegations of police officer misconduct” arising out of the October 20, 2014 shooting death of McDonald. The Superintendent’s request asked OIG to investigate the following allegations: “whether any officer(s) made false statements on official reports submitted in connection with the shooting of Laquan McDonald on October 20, 2014; whether any officer(s) obstructed or interfered with the investigation of this incident, either individually or in collusion with others; and whether any officer(s) committed any violation of Chicago Police Department rules, policies, or orders in connection with their response and/or handling of this matter.” Escalante attached to the letter request a copy of Sergeant Sandra Soria’s Initiation Report, which raises allegations of

On March 10, 2016, Kevin Kilmer, Financial Secretary for the FOP, on behalf of all affected members, filed a grievance with CPD stating that OIG’s attempts to conduct CPD officer interviews violated Article 6 of CPD’s Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) with the FOP.²

On March 16, 2016, FOP on behalf of all impacted CPD officers filed a “Complaint for Injunction in Aid of Arbitration” in the Circuit Court of Cook County, asking the court to enjoin OIG from conducting interviews until the grievance was decided in arbitration.³ The court dismissed the complaint and denied the injunction on March 22, 2016.

OIG’s administrative investigation of other CPD employees’ actions related to the McDonald shooting is ongoing. During the course of its investigation, OIG has gathered documents from CPD and IPRA, among other sources, and conducted numerous interviews, including interviews of several CPD personnel who were at or responded to the scene of the shooting and civilian witnesses to the shooting. To date in its ongoing investigation, OIG has recommended disciplinary action against multiple CPD personnel.

B. The Events of October 20, 2014

The following sections detail the shooting of McDonald, as well as the relevant events that occurred directly before and after the shooting.⁴

 and , were parking a truck in a lot at 41st Street and Kildare Avenue when saw a black male, whom she subsequently identified as McDonald, attempting to steal property from certain vehicles parked in the lot. Barillas told McDonald to leave the lot. McDonald responded by making growling noises. After Barillas again told McDonald to leave the lot, McDonald pulled out a knife and swung it at Barillas. Barillas, who ² Section 6.1, Paragraph I of the CBA states, “If the allegation under investigation indicates a recommendation for separation is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the statutory administrative proceeding rights, or if the allegation indicates criminal prosecution is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the constitutional rights concerning self-incrimination prior to the commencement of interrogation.” CPD General Order GO8-01-01, Paragraph K contains similar language.

⁵ The following account of and Barillas’s encounter with McDonald is taken from the March 16, 2015 case supplementary report (CSR) submitted by CPD Detective David March, which includes the statements that and Barillas provided to CPD on October 21, 2014, and October 22, 2014, respectively. had already called 911, then threw his cell phone at McDonald. 6 McDonald ran from the lot, first northbound on Kildare and then eastbound on 40th Street.

2. Officers Thomas Gaffney and Joseph McElligott’s Encounter with McDonald 7

Officer Thomas Gaffney and his partner Officer Joseph McElligott received a call over the radio that someone had broken into a truck at 4100 South Kildare and were dispatched to the scene. 8 Gaffney was driving, and McElligott was in the passenger seat of their assigned vehicle, 815R. 9 When they arrived at 4100 South Kildare, they saw a Hispanic male and female standing by the gate to the truck yard. The two said that a black male wearing a black shirt, later determined to be McDonald, had been trying to steal the radio out of a semi-truck, and had subsequently headed north toward 40th Street.

Gaffney and McElligott drove north on Kildare, turned right onto 40th Street, and saw McDonald walking east on the south side of 40th Street. McElligott exited the vehicle and commanded McDonald to stop and turn around. Gaffney stayed in the vehicle in case McDonald attempted to flee. McElligott ordered McDonald to take his hands out of his pockets. McDonald, who had been facing McElligott, turned and walked away with one hand still in his pocket. McDonald then turned again and took both of his hands out of his pockets. He had a knife in his right hand. McElligott drew his weapon and told McDonald to drop the knife.

6 OEMC recordings reflect that Barillas called 911 at 9:45 p.m. stating that he was holding “a guy right hear [sic] that stolen [sic] the radios” from trucks in a truck yard located at “41st and Kildare.” OIG 15-0564 003227.

7 The following account of Gaffney and McElligott’s encounter with McDonald is taken from (1) the audio-recorded statements Gaffney and McElligott provided to IPRA on October 21, 2014, OIG 15-0564 000482-98, 000610-30; and (2) the March 16, 2015 CSR submitted by Detective David March, which includes the statements that Gaffney and McElligott provided to March on the night of the McDonald shooting. OIG 15-0564 003067–69.

8 OEMC records reflect that Gaffney and McElligott received the call at 9:47 p.m. OIG 15-0564 003691.

McDonald started walking east again, going from the sidewalk to the street and back. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, shining his flashlight on him, while Gaffney followed in 815R, parallel to McDonald.

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Keeler, Gaffney reported to dispatch that McDonald was walking away with a knife in his hand. Gaffney and McElligott continued to follow McDonald as he headed east, with McElligott giving McDonald orders to drop his knife and stop. McDonald kept turning around and giving the officers a “weird glaze[d] look.”

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Karlov, Gaffney turned his car toward McDonald to direct him down Karlov. Gaffney wanted to keep McDonald away from Pulaski, which was a more populated area. McDonald then swung his arm and popped 815R’s right front tire with his knife. McElligott was toward the back of 815R when McDonald popped its tire. After McDonald took a step back from the vehicle, Gaffney pulled up further in front of him to stop him from proceeding to Pulaski. McDonald then hit the right side of 815R’s windshield once with the knife in his right hand. The windshield did not break but, according to Gaffney, McDonald hit it as hard as he could. McDonald walked around the front of 815R and continued eastward on 40th Street. After McDonald had walked 10 to 15 feet, another squad car turned off of Pulaski onto 40th Street with its lights on, and McDonald began to sprint. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, and Gaffney followed McDonald in 815R. McDonald ran eastbound through a parking lot of a Burger King located at 40th and Pulaski and then headed southbound on Pulaski. Video footage from several cameras captured McDonald’s movements as he reached Pulaski.

3. Summary of the Relevant Video Footage

The below table contains a summary of the relevant video footage of the McDonald shooting, which includes the dashcam videos from 813R (the vehicle in which Mondragon was the driver), 823R, and 845R, video from the “WNE fire exit” security camera from the Greater Chicago Food Depository, which is bordered by 40th Street to the north, Karlov Avenue to the east, and Keeler Avenue to the west, and the security camera video from the Dunkin’ Donuts, located at 4113 South Pulaski Road (the DD Camera).

10 OEMC recordings reflect that, at 9:53 p.m., 815R reported: “We’re at 40th and Keeler. This guy uh is walking away from us and he’s got a knife in his hand.” Approximately 30 seconds later, a dispatcher stated, “815R looking for a taser.” See OEMC Documents and CDs; see also OIG 15-0564 003691, 3228.

12 In addition to the videos cited in the summary, OIG obtained video footage from the security camera videos at Burger King and Focal Point, and the dash camera videos from Vehicles 815R and 821R. These videos did not contain footage relevant to this report.

4. CCSPD Officer Accounts of the October 20, 2014 McDonald Shooting

While on patrol on October 20, 2014, CCSPD Officers Adam Murphy and Jeff Pasqua observed several CPD police vehicles pass by them. Both officers decided to follow the CPD vehicles. When they arrived at the scene, several CPD vehicles were already present—Pasqua estimated it was five or six. McDonald was lying on the pavement “gasping for his last breath of air.” Pasqua OIG Tr. 11:22-23. Meanwhile, the CPD officers were “standing around” and talking to each other. Murphy OIG Tr. 11:1. Murphy noted the CPD officers did not respond to him when he asked if they needed assistance. Murphy stated:

I see there’s blood all over the pavement. [McDonald] was kind of gurgling when he was sitting there. I remember his mouth was going open and closed like he was trying to gasp for air. And I looked for everybody else, and they were kind of standing there. I just started taking my gloves—my rubber gloves out to check for a pulse and to see if I could render aid.

Murphy OIG Tr. 12:18-13:2. He heard someone say an ambulance was en route. Both Officers Murphy and Pasqua recalled then watching McDonald take his final breaths. It was “[m]aybe less than a minute before [McDonald] expired.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:15-16. At no time did any CPD officers attempt to provide aid or comfort McDonald—Murphy stated, “That’s why I felt that I needed to go up to him.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:11-12.

After McDonald passed away, Murphy got up from beside him and noticed the shooting officer, who he now knows to be Van Dyke, “pacing back and forth in front of his car.” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:7-8. Murphy approached him and told him to sit down and drink water. As he was speaking with Van Dyke, Murphy “heard several officers telling [Van Dyke] to call your union rep, call your union rep.” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:16-17.

Murphy and Pasqua departed after approximately ten minutes on the scene when a CPD sergeant told them CPD did not need their assistance. At the time they left, there was “[a] sea of CPD” on scene. Murphy OIG Tr. 38:3; Pasqua OIG Tr. 25:7-8.

C. Sergeant Gallagher’s Reports Regarding the McDonald Shooting

1. March 16, 2016 Case Supplementary Report, “Sup ID” 10992767 CASR301

On March 15, 2015, Detective March submitted a case supplementary report under the R.D. Number HX475653 with “Sup ID” 10992767 CASR301 (the 301 CSR). The report is titled as a “Field Investigation Exc. Cleared Closed (Other Exceptional) Report.” It lists the original and last “Offense Classification” as “Assault/Aggravated Po: Knife/Cut Instr.,” the “Date of Occurrence” as October 20, 2014, at 9:57 p.m., and the “Address of Occurrence” as 4112 S. Pulaski Rd. Further, it lists Van Dyke, Walsh, Gaffney, and McElligott as the victims, McDonald as the offender, March as the reporting officer and primary detective assigned, and Lieutenant Anthony Wojcik as the approving supervisor. It is signed as the “report of” March, Gallagher, and Wojcik of the “Bureau of Detectives – Area Central. Wojcik approved the CSR on March 16, 2015.

According to March, he, Gallagher, and Wojcik worked together on the report in the days before it was submitted and approved. The three had several in-person meetings to discuss the preparation of the report. In his OIG interview, March stated that he, Gallagher, and Wojcik discussed specific details of the report, including the conclusion that witness accounts of the McDonald shooting were consistent with video footage capturing the events. In OIG’s interview of Commander Eugene Roy, Roy explained that the fact that the CSR is signed as the “report of” March, Gallagher, and Wojcik “would mean that they all worked on the report.”

20 OIG 15-0564 003057-79. CPD’s investigation in the aftermath of the McDonald shooting was reported under record number HX-475653, and most reports were classified as an investigation into an aggravated assault in which McDonald was the offender. In a few reports, the case was classified as an investigation into a justifiable homicide of which McDonald was the victim. An additional record number was also created and classified as a justifiable homicide. In CPD’s investigative reports, CPD personnel drew conclusions about the propriety and lawfulness of Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald. This was in violation of CPD Detective Division Special Order (DDSO) 15-22, which requires that, in reporting on an incident which has been classified as a justifiable homicide, detectives “will not state that the use of deadly force was justified.” DDSO 15-22 took effect on January 1, 2015, and, according to materials OIG received from CPD, would have been in effect when the relevant reports in this case were drafted and issued. See OIG 15-0564 009012.

21 Also on March 15, 2015, March submitted a second CSR with Sup ID 10988891 CSR339. OIG 15-0564 003034–56. This report contains no narrative, but includes, among other information, an inventory of the evidence recovered and an identification of the personnel assigned to the case and the witnesses to the relevant events. According to March, he would have submitted the two CSRs as one report, but it would have been too large for CPD’s system. Therefore, March had to break the report into two CSRs. March 4/27/2016 OIG Tr. 94:14-95:21.

22 See March 4/26/2016 OIG Tr. 260-61.

23 As of October 20, 2014, Roy was Commander of CPD’s Area Central Detective Division.
The CSR contains, among other information, summaries of the interviews March conducted of the officers who were present when Van Dyke shot McDonald, as well as summaries of the interviews CPD detectives conducted of civilian witnesses to the events of October 20, 2014.

a) Officer Statement Summaries

(1) Van Dyke

The 301 CSR includes a summary of the statements that Van Dyke provided to March on October 20, 2014, and October 21, 2014, respectively. The following is an excerpt of Van Dyke’s October 20, 2014 statement:

Officer Van Dyke exited the vehicle on the right side and drew his handgun. As Van Dyke stood in the street on Pulaski, facing northbound, toward McDonald, McDonald approached southbound. McDonald was holding the knife in his right hand, in an underhand grip, with the blade pointed forward. He was swinging the knife in an aggressive, exaggerated manner. Van Dyke ordered McDonald to “Drop the knife!” multiple times. McDonald ignored Van Dyke’s verbal direction to drop the knife and continued to advance toward Van Dyke.

When McDonald got to within 10 to 15 feet of Officer Van Dyke, McDonald looked toward Van Dyke. McDonald raised the knife across his chest and over his shoulder, pointing the knife at Van Dyke. Van Dyke believed McDonald was attacking Van Dyke with the knife, and attempting to kill Van Dyke. In defense of his life, Van Dyke backpedaled and fired his handgun at McDonald, to stop the attack. McDonald fell to the ground but continued to move and continued to grasp the knife, refusing to let go of it. Van Dyke continued to fire his weapon at McDonald as McDonald was on the ground, as McDonald appeared to be attempting to get up, all the while continuing to point the knife at Van Dyke. The slide on Van Dyke’s pistol locked in the rearward position, indicating the weapon was empty. Van Dyke performed a tactical reload of his pistol with a new magazine and then assessed the situation.

McDonald was no longer moving and the threat had been mitigated, so Officer Van Dyke and Officer Walsh approached McDonald. McDonald was still holding the knife in his right hand. Van Dyke continued to order McDonald to “Drop the knife!” Officer Walsh told Van Dyke, “I have this.” Van Dyke then used his handgun to cover Walsh as Walsh walked up and forcibly kicked the knife out of McDonald’s right hand, thereby eliminating the threat to the officers.24

24 March completed a General Progress Report (GPR) relating to his October 20, 2014 interview of Van Dyke that contains March’s handwritten notes of the interview. OIG 15-0564 003239-41. March’s handwritten notes of the interview do not differ in any significant way from the summary of Van Dyke’s statement in the CSR.
Van Dyke related the same sequence of events as documented in his original interview at the scene of the incident.\textsuperscript{25}

Van Dyke additionally articulated the reasoning behind his decision to use deadly force against the offender in this incident, Laquan McDonald. Van Dyke was aware of the radio transmissions from Officer Thomas Gaffney, on Beat 815R, that McDonald was armed with a knife. Van Dyke was aware that McDonald had attacked the officers on Beat 815R by slashing the tire of their police vehicle.

As he confronted McDonald at 4112 South Pulaski Road, Van Dyke saw that McDonald was in fact, armed with a knife, a deadly weapon. Van Dyke was aware of the widely accepted teaching in law enforcement that an assailant armed with a knife was considered a deadly threat, if within 21 feet, because it was possible for such an assailant to close that distance and attack with the knife before a defensive shot could be fired from a handgun. Van Dyke was also aware of the existence of throwing knives, which can be thrown from a distance, as well as spring loaded knifes, which propel a blade through the air from the knife handle. Van Dyke also said he recalled a previously issued Chicago Police Department bulletin warning of a weapon which appeared to be a knife but which actually was capable of firing a bullet, making it a firearm.\textsuperscript{26}

(2) Walsh

The following is an excerpt of Walsh’s October 20, 2014 statement\textsuperscript{27}:

As Laquan McDonald ran eastbound through the Burger King parking lot, Walsh used the police vehicle he was driving to block McDonald from entering the restaurant.

As McDonald ran southbound on Pulaski Road, from the Burger King, Walsh pursued McDonald in the police vehicle. Walsh drove southbound in the northbound lanes to get ahead of McDonald, keeping the police vehicle between McDonald and a Dunkin’ Donuts restaurant, on the east side of Pulaski. As their vehicle passed McDonald, Officer Van Dyke opened the right front door of their vehicle, to exit the truck and confront McDonald. Walsh, realizing that at this point they were too close to the armed McDonald to safely exit the vehicle, told Van Dyke to wait until they got further ahead of McDonald. Walsh drove further south on Pulaski. He stopped his vehicle south of McDonald and exited the driver’s door as Van Dyke exited the right side of the vehicle. Walsh drew his handgun when he exited the vehicle.

\textsuperscript{25} March’s GPR relating to his October 21, 2014 interview of Van Dyke stated: “Same details.” The rest of March’s handwritten notes of the interview do not differ in any significant way from the summary of Van Dyke’s statement in the CSR. OIG 15-0564 003254.

\textsuperscript{26} The CSR notes that a search was subsequently conducted for the bulletin Van Dyke referenced and that an “Officer Safety Alert number 2012-OSA0297,” issued on December 4, 2012, was located. See OIG 15-0564 003074. March wrote that “[i]t was a warning regarding a ‘revolver knife’ which was capable of firing .22 caliber cartridges.”

Officer Walsh came around the rear of the police vehicle and joined Officer Van Dyke on the right side of the vehicle. Walsh also stood in the street on Pulaski, facing northbound, as McDonald walked southbound toward the officers. Walsh ordered McDonald to “Drop the knife!” multiple times as McDonald approached the officers.

Officer Walsh also backed up, attempting to maintain a safe distance between himself and McDonald. McDonald ignored the verbal direction given by both Walsh and Officer Van Dyke, and continued to advance toward the officers. When McDonald got to within 12 to 15 feet of the officers he swung the knife toward the officers in an aggressive manner. Van Dyke opened fire with his handgun and McDonald fell to the ground. Van Dyke continued firing his weapon at McDonald as McDonald continued moving on the ground, attempting to get up, while still armed with the knife.

When the gunfire stopped and McDonald was not moving anymore, Walsh approached McDonald with Van Dyke. Walsh continued to order McDonald to “Drop the knife!” multiple times, as McDonald was still holding the knife in his right hand. Walsh forcibly kicked the knife out of McDonald’s hand and then notified the dispatcher on the police radio that shots had been fired by the police. An ambulance was also requested for McDonald.

As they waited for the ambulance to respond to the scene, Officer Walsh told McDonald to ‘hang in there,’ and that an ambulance was on the way.

Officer Walsh said he believed McDonald was attacking Walsh and Officer Van Dyke with the knife and attempting to kill them when the shots were fired. Walsh stated he did not fire his handgun because Van Dyke was in the line of fire between Walsh and McDonald. Walsh thought Van Dyke fired eight or nine shots total.28

(3) Fontaine

The 301 CSR includes a summary of Fontaine’s October 20, 2014 statement in relevant part as follows:

Fontaine was working with Police Officer Ricardo Viramontes. The two officers were assigned to a marked vehicle. Viramontes was driving the vehicle and Fontaine was the passenger.

The two officers responded to the request for assistance made by Beat 815R, regarding a man with a knife at 41st Street and Pulaski Road. Officer Viramontes drove northbound on Pulaski. When they arrived at the scene of this incident, in front of the Dunkin’ Donuts restaurant, Officer Fontaine saw a black male subject, now known as Laquan McDonald, walking southbound in the street, with a knife in his right hand. McDonald was walking sideways, with his body facing east, toward Officers Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh. These two officers were standing in the middle of the street, on the right side of their police vehicle, which was facing southbound. Fontaine heard the officers repeatedly order McDonald to “Drop the knife!” McDonald ignored the verbal direction and instead, raised his right arm toward Officer Van Dyke, as if attacking Van Dyke. At this time Van Dyke fired multiple shots from his handgun, until McDonald fell to the ground and stopped moving his right arm and hand, which still grasped the knife. The gunshots were rapid fire, without pause. Officer Walsh then kicked the knife out of McDonald’s hand.29

(4) Viramontes

The 301 CSR includes a summary of Viramontes’s October 20, 2014 statement in relevant part as follows:

[W]hen [Viramontes] exited his police vehicle, at the scene, he observed a black male subject, now known as Laquan McDonald, walking southbound on Pulaski Road, in the middle of the street, holding a knife in his right hand. Viramontes heard Officer Jason Van Dyke repeatedly order McDonald to “Drop the Knife!” McDonald ignored the verbal direction and turned toward Van Dyke and his partner, Officer Joseph Walsh. At this time Van Dyke fired multiple shots from his handgun. McDonald fell to the ground but continued to move, attempting to get back up, with the knife still in his hand. Van Dyke fired his weapon at McDonald continuously, until McDonald was no longer moving.30

(5) Sebastian

The following is an excerpt of the 301 CSR summary of Sebastian’s October 20, 2014 statement:

Officer Sebastian observed a black male subject, now known as Laquan McDonald, running southeast bound through the parking lot of the Burger King restaurant. Beat 845R pursued McDonald in their police vehicle, through the parking lot, toward Pulaski. Sebastian told Officer Mondragon to drive back out onto Pulaski to assist in the pursuit. McDonald ran out onto Pulaski and continued to run southbound down the middle of the street. Beat 845R pursued McDonald in their vehicle, southbound on Pulaski, followed by Beat 813R. As McDonald ran southbound on Pulaski, Sebastian saw the knife in his right hand. McDonald was waving the knife.

Beat 845R stopped their vehicle ahead of McDonald, between McDonald and the Dunkin’ Donuts restaurant on the east side of Pulaski. Officers Joseph Walsh and Jason Van Dyke exited their vehicle and drew their handguns. McDonald turned toward the two officers and continued to wave the knife. Sebastian heard the officers repeatedly order McDonald to “Drop the knife!” McDonald ignored the verbal directions and continued to advance on the officers, waving the knife. Officer Sebastian heard multiple gunshots and McDonald fell to the ground, where he continued to move. Sebastian did not know who fired the shots, which were fired in one continuous group. She then saw Officer Walsh kick the knife out of McDonald’s hand.31

(6) Mondragon

The 301 CSR includes a summary Mondragon’s October 20, 2014 statement in relevant part as follows:

[Mondragon] stated she was a Chicago Police Officer assigned to the 008th District. Mondragon related the same facts as her partner, Officer Daphne Sebastian.

Officer Mondragon added that as she drove westbound on 40th Street, she saw Officer McElligott running eastbound through the Burger King parking lot. She made a U-Turn and drove back out onto Pulaski Road. Mondragon turned southbound onto Pulaski. She saw Laquan McDonald running southbound on Pulaski, in the middle of the street. As she got closer she could see McDonald was holding a knife in his right hand. He was waving the knife.

31 Detective March completed a GPR relating to his interview of Sebastian that contains March’s handwritten notes of the interview. OIG 15-0564 003248. March’s handwritten notes of the interview do not differ in any significant way from the summary of Sebastian’s statement in the CSR.
Officer Mondragon saw Officers Joseph Walsh and Jason Van Dyke outside of their police vehicle. She heard the officers repeatedly ordering McDonald to “Drop the knife!” as McDonald got closer and closer to the officers, continuing to wave the knife. As she was placing her vehicle transmission into Park, Mondragon looked down and heard multiple, continuous gunshots, without pause. Mondragon then saw McDonald fall to the ground. Mondragon did not know who fired the shots.\textsuperscript{32}

\textit{b) The CSR Findings and Conclusions}

The CSR includes several findings and conclusions regarding the shooting. Specifically, it states that “[t]he recovered in-car camera video from Beats 845R and 813R was viewed and found to be consistent with the accounts of all of the witnesses.” OIG 15-0564 003075. It further states:

The above to-date investigation determined that Laquan McDonald was an active assailant who, while armed with a dangerous weapon, used force likely to cause death or serious injury to a private citizen when he attached Rudy Barillas; threatened the imminent use of force likely to cause death or serious injury when he incised the tire and stabbed the windshield of a Chicago Police Department vehicle occupied by Officer Thomas Gaffney; and initiated imminent use of force likely to cause death or serious injury when he initiated an attack on Officers Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh. The above investigation concluded that Officer Jason Van Dyke’s use of deadly force, the discharging of his duty firearm, was within the bounds of the Chicago Police Department’s use of force guidelines, and in conformity with local ordinances and state law.

2. \textit{Major Incident Notification Detail}\textsuperscript{33}

Gallagher completed a Major Incident Notification Detail (MIN) regarding the McDonald shooting. The MIN is reported under RD #HX475653 and is dated October 21, 2014 at 4:05 a.m. It lists the “Crime/Incident” at issue as an aggravated assault on a police officer with a “Knife/Cut Insr.” The MIN names three victims and one offender; the victims are identified as Gaffney, Walsh, and Van Dyke, and the offender as McDonald. Gallagher is identified as the person making the notification, and March as the assigned detective. The narrative portion of the report reads:

\textsuperscript{32} Detective March completed a GPR relating to his interview of Mondragon that contains March’s handwritten notes of the interview. OIG 15-0564 003249. March’s handwritten notes of the interview do not differ in any significant way from the summary of Mondragon’s statement in the CSR.

\textsuperscript{33} OIG 15-0564 003009-10.
Beat 815R responded to an OEMC call of a holding an offender who was breaking into trailers at 4100 S. Kildare. Beat 815R arrived on scene and spoke to the complainant who pointed to the offender who had fled on foot. Beat 815R pursued the offender in their marked vehicle to 4000 S. Karlov, at which time the offender who was acting irrational and was armed with a knife, punctured their front passenger tire, and then struck the windshield with his knife. Beat 815R requested a taser and additional units to respond and assist with the apprehension of the offender. Beat 845R responded to 4112 S. Pulaski and observed the offender still armed with a knife walking in traffic. Beat 845R exited their vehicle and ordered the offender to drop his knife. The offender refused all verbal commands and continued to approach the offices while still armed with his knife. Beat 845R fearing for his life discharged his weapon. The offender sustained numerous gun shot [sic] wounds and was transported to Mt. Sinai Hospital where he was subsequently pronounced at 2242 hours.

D. OIG’s Interview of Sergeant Gallagher

On May 18, 2016, pursuant to Section 6.1 of the CBA between CPD and Unit 156-Sergeants, OIG, through CPD’s Bureau of Internal Affairs, served Gallagher with a Notification of Interview, Notification of Allegations, and copies of several documents, including: (1) the March 16, 2015 CSR for R.D. #HX-475653 with the “Sup ID” of 10992767 CASR301; (2) the March 16, 2015 CSR for R.D. #HX-475653 with the “Sup ID” of 10988891 CASR339; and (3) a Major Incident Notification Detail for Incident Number 73204. In addition, OIG provided Gallagher with the dashcam footage from 813R and 845R and the security camera footage from Dunkin’ Donuts.

On June 8, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed Gallagher under oath after informing him of his administrative advisements orally and in writing. He provided oral and written acknowledgment of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Gallagher’s attorney, Thomas Needham, was also present for the interview. In summary, Gallagher stated as follows.

After he was served with OIG’s Notification of Allegations and in preparation for the interview, Gallagher spoke with Wojcik34 and Lieutenant Osvaldo Valdez in order to ensure “that nobody up the chain ever claimed that this was an unjustified shooting or ever had any issues with this particular investigation . . . .” Gallagher OIG Tr. 27:16-20.

1. The Scene of the Shooting

On October 20, 2014, Gallagher was working as the Sergeant of an Area Central Detective Division’s homicide team. He received a phone call saying that there had been a police-involved shooting at 4100 S. Pulaski. He assigned the case to March and responded to the scene. As of that date, Gallagher had participated in the investigation of between 25 and 35 police-involved shootings.

Once he arrived at the scene of the McDonald shooting, Gallagher assigned a variety of tasks to the detectives under his supervision. March was assigned as the lead investigator to investigate the incident as a police-involved shooting. Gallagher did not personally speak with any of the officers who had been on the scene at the time of the shooting, but March provided him updates regarding the officers’ statements. While at the scene, he did see video footage of the shooting from the 813R dashcam. He had several conversations with other CPD supervisors who were at the scene, including Wojcik, Valdez, Sergeant Shawn McGavock, and Roy. Gallagher’s conversations with Roy consisted of his providing Roy with updates as new information was gathered. Representatives from IPRA were on the scene, and Gallagher believed that they saw video of the shooting. FOP representatives were on the scene as well.

2. Area Central

Sometime after midnight, Gallagher left the scene of the shooting and went to Area Central. When he arrived, officers were participating in interviews with IPRA. While at Area Central, Gallagher again saw video of the shooting from 813R’s dashcam; he believed it was possible that Deputy Chief David McNaughton was present when he watched the video.35 Gallagher did not speak with anyone about the video. At some point, Gallagher also saw video footage from the Dunkin’ Donuts security camera.

Gallagher sat in on a portion of an interview that March conducted of Van Dyke. At the beginning of that interview, Van Dyke began recounting the events surrounding his arrival at the scene of the shooting. Gallagher was then called away and returned sometime later. When he returned, Van Dyke was “discussing the 21-foot rule, his knowledge of different types of knives, the throwing knives and ballistic knives, and then he mentioned the Officer Safety Bulletin that he was aware of a knife that’s capable of firing bullets.”36 Gallagher was aware of the so-called “21-foot rule” before October 20, 2014, but had never heard of a knife capable of firing bullets. Gallagher OIG Tr. 82:15-20, 83:10-12. March’s interview of Van Dyke occurred before Van Dyke was interviewed by IPRA.

35 As of October 20, 2014, McNaughton was Deputy Chief of Patrol in CPD’s Area Central.

36 The March 16, 2015 CSR explains the so-called “21-foot rule” as the principle that “an assailant armed with a knife was considered a deadly threat, if within 21 feet, because it was possible for such an assailant to close that distance and attack with the knife before a defensive shot could be fired from a handgun.” OIG 15-0564 003074. On April 29, 2016, OIG spoke with CPD Deputy Chief Director of Training Keith Calloway. Calloway is familiar with the so-called “21-foot rule.” Calloway characterized the 21-foot rule as “junk science” as the theory behind it has never been scientifically proven, and stated that it has never been part of CPD’s training process. See OIG Investigative Report of Call with Keith Calloway.
3. CPD’s Investigation

Within two or three days of the McDonald shooting, Gallagher learned that Roy was presenting video footage of the shooting at a meeting of high-level CPD personnel. After the meeting, Roy told Gallagher that “there were no issues with it, and the people saw the video, and nobody, all the way up to the superintendent, because any of those people that saw the video have a duty and obligation to pull a CR number if they saw any issues with it.”

Approximately ten days after Van Dyke shot McDonald, Gallagher learned that Van Dyke had been stripped of his police powers. Gallagher contacted IPRA to ask why they had recommended this action and whether they had any additional evidence relevant to the investigation. He eventually spoke with IPRA Chief Administrator Scott Ando, and was told that he would have to contact the office of CPD’s Superintendent. Gallagher contacted his chain of command and was told that the recommendation to “strip” Van Dyke had not come from anyone in CPD, but had come from IPRA.

At some point after Van Dyke was stripped of his police powers, there was a second upper-level management meeting which Valdez attended to present on the McDonald shooting. After that meeting, Valdez told Gallagher that “no one had any issues with it.”

Approximately one month later, Gallagher learned that officers who had been on the scene of the McDonald shooting were being called to testify before a grand jury at the Cook County Criminal Courts building at 26th Street and California Avenue. At that point, Gallagher considered his investigation of the shooting “on hold” until “someone from the upper echelon explained specifically what is going on at 26th Street.”

On March 8, 2015, Roy sent an email to Gallagher, Wojcik, Valdez, March, and possibly Detective Richard Hagen, who was also under Gallagher’s command, to set up a meeting to “go over this whole case.” Those who had received the email met, and, the following day, Valdez and Roy met with attorneys from the City of Chicago Law Department. After that meeting, Gallagher and the others were ordered to finalize the reports for the case, because “it sound[ed] like they [were] going to settle this case.” A deadline of two days was initially set and then extended through the following weekend. Gallagher stated the order to finish the reports would have come from Roy. Gallagher considered closing the reports on the case at that point to be “abnormal,” because the results of the toxicology tests on McDonald had not yet been reported.

March was responsible for drafting the CSR on the case. Generally, on a police-involved shooting case, the assigned detective would draft the report, Gallagher would review it and return

it to the detective with any comments, and then the detective would have the report reviewed by the lieutenant. Gallagher denied drafting any section of the CSR prepared in the aftermath of the McDonald shooting. After March prepared the CSR, Gallagher recalled making grammatical corrections, but did not recall making any substantive changes. At some point, Gallagher learned that Wojcik was planning to draft the conclusion paragraph of the CSR.

4. The March 16, 2015 CSR

Gallagher reviewed the allegations against him as set out in the Notification of Allegations served upon him by OIG, as relating to the March 16, 2016 CSR, which is labelled as the “report of” March, Gallagher, and Wojcik. He responded, in relevant part, to the allegations as follows.

- “[I]t is alleged that the case supplementary report . . . falsely stated that the in-car camera videos recovered from Vehicles 813R and 845R were consistent with the accounts of all the witnesses to the McDonald shooting.”

Gallagher responded, stating, “I did not believe that that was part of the draft copy that I reviewed when March typed it and I gave mine back. I don’t recall specifically if that sentence was in there. . . . It is possible, but I don’t recall.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 149:3-11. Gallagher later said that, if that statement had been included in the draft of the report which he reviewed, “would have double checked and made sure that everything was consistent.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 157:19-21. Nonetheless, when asked whether he believed it to be an accurate statement that the 813R and 845R videos were consistent with all witness accounts, Gallagher answered that “in general they are consistent.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 149:18.

Gallagher then reviewed a number of specific statements attributed to witnesses in the CSR, and OIG investigators asked whether he believed the dashcam videos to be consistent with those statements. Gallagher affirmed his belief that the video is consistent with the statements that “McDonald ignored Van Dyke’s verbal direction to drop the knife and continued to advance toward Van Dyke” and that “McDonald raised the knife across his chest and over his shoulder pointing the knife at Van Dyke.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 150:7-19.

Gallagher reviewed the statement that “[i]n defense of his life, Van Dyke backpedaled and fired his handgun at McDonald to stop the attack.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 150:24-151:2. When asked whether that statement was consistent with the 813R dashcam video, he answered, “Well, the perspective of that is the camera moves out of the – you don’t see Van Dyke, so you don’t see all of Van Dyke’s movements, so depending on the perspective of 813 Robert, it doesn’t appear that you see him backpedal on 813 Robert, but then if you look at the Dunkin’ Donuts video, he does either backpedal or shuffle, so it is consistent.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 151:4-11. Gallagher later said that he “didn’t have the opportunity to specifically ask [Van Dyke] what his definition of back pedal was,” and acknowledged that, from the Dunkin Donuts video, it appears that Van Dyke could have been moving either south or southeast. Gallagher OIG Tr. 152:8-15.

Gallagher reviewed the statement attributed to Van Dyke that “McDonald fell to the ground but
to fire his weapon at McDonald as McDonald was on the ground, as McDonald appeared to be attempting to get back up all the while continuing to point the knife at Van Dyke.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 152:17-23. When asked whether that statement was consistent with the 813R dashcam video, Gallagher initially answered, “Yeah, there is nothing to refute that perception.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 153:2-3. He went on to say, “[p]erception is reality in these cases. If that’s what an officer perceives and that’s what he relays, there is nothing in there to refute. There is nothing in the video to refute that.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 153:5-9. Gallagher also affirmed his belief that the 813R dashcam video was consistent with the statements attributed to Walsh, that “McDonald ignored the verbal direction given by both Walsh and Van Dyke and continued to advance toward the officers,” and that McDonald swung the knife toward the officers in an aggressive manner. Gallagher OIG Tr. 154:18-155:7. Further, Gallagher confirmed his belief that videos of the shooting were consistent with the statements that “Officer Walsh also backed up attempting to maintain a safe distance between himself and McDonald,” and that “Van Dyke continued firing his weapon at McDonald as McDonald continued moving on the ground attempting to get up while still armed with the knife.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 155:12-156:2.

Gallagher reviewed the CSR statement attributed to Officer Fontaine that “Fontaine heard the officers repeatedly order McDonald to drop the knife. McDonald ignored the verbal direction and instead raised his right arm toward Officer Van Dyke as if attacking Van Dyke.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 156:14-18. When asked whether that statement was consistent with videos of the shooting, Gallagher answered, “Yeah, that’s her perception and that there is nothing to refute that. That’s consistent with the video.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 156:21-22.

Gallagher was presented with the statement in the conclusion of the CSR, that McDonald “initiated an attack on Officers Van Dyke and Walsh.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 169:9-10. When asked for the basis for that statement, he said, “[McDonald] provoked this incident. If he would have turned around and ran [sic] the other way, there would not have been a shooting. For whatever reason, and obviously we can’t ask him, but he chose that route for whatever reason, and then he chooses to turn towards [Van Dyke and Walsh] again . . . .” Gallagher OIG Tr. 169:11-17.

5. Gallagher’s Major Incident Notification Detail

Gallagher described this report as an “internal document that basically we do after every shooting or after every major incident.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 190:5-7. He explained that the person responsible for preparing the document is to “get it out within hours of the incident and you type a short synopsis of the facts known at the time.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 190:8-10. Gallagher prepared the MIN relating to the McDonald shooting either during the night of October 20, 2014, or during the early morning hours of October 21, 2014. When he prepared the document, he had already seen video footage of the McDonald shooting. After Gallagher drafted it, McNaughton reviewed and approved the report.

Gallagher reviewed the allegation against him as set out in the Notification of Allegations served upon him by OIG, regarding the MIN. He responded, in relevant part, to the allegation as follows.
- “It is alleged that you falsely stated in a Major Incident Notification Detail for Incident No. 73204 regarding RD No. HX475653 that McDonald continued to approach officers Walsh and Van Dyke, and that Van Dyke fearing for his life discharged his weapon.”

Gallagher called that allegation “completely false.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 193:24. When asked whether he stood by the factual accuracy of the statement that McDonald “continued to approach Officers Walsh and Van Dyke,” Gallagher said, “[y]es.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 194:2-6. Gallagher went on to explain that, in his view, McDonald had taken “between 10 and 12 steps” in the direction of Van Dyke and Walsh before Van Dyke shot him. Gallagher OIG Tr. 194:17.

V. ANALYSIS

OIG’s investigation established that Gallagher made false statements and misleading characterizations in CPD reports related to the McDonald shooting. These false statements each served a similar purpose: to materially exaggerate the threat posed by McDonald. In addition, Gallagher’s failure to ensure that Detective March conducted a complete, thorough, properly documented, and professional investigation constitutes incompetence in the performance of his duties.

Gallagher’s actions, individually and collectively, constitute violations of CPD Rules. Each of Gallagher’s false statements, including those in the CSR for which he is a listed as a reporting officer, constitutes a violation of Rule 14 (making a false report, written or oral). His false statements and failure to perform and supervise a thoroughly and properly documented investigation also constitute violations of Rule 2 (engaging in any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department), and Rule 3 (failing to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy and accomplish its goals). A supervisory member who has made, reviewed, or approved false statements in an official investigation has irrevocably tainted not only his credibility, but also the credibility of CPD—and also fails to promote CPD’s goal of employing officers with personal integrity and professional devotion to law enforcement. Gallagher’s failure to ensure that the investigation conducted under his command proceeded in an objective and thorough manner further constituted a violation of Rule 11 (incompetency in the performance of a duty). Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD discharge Gallagher.

A. Gallagher’s False Statements in the March 16, 2015 Case Supplementary Report

The March 16, 2015 301 CSR lists Gallagher as a reporting officer and was submitted by March, who was under Gallagher’s command as the supervising sergeant. In his OIG interview, Gallagher admitted to having reviewed the CSR. Both March and Roy, in their OIG interviews, make clear that Gallagher was directly involved in the creation of the report. Gallagher is responsible for the content of the CSR; not only was it submitted by a detective under Gallagher’s supervision and command, it was submitted as the report of Gallagher, himself. Any attenuation from the actual creation of the report suggested by Gallagher’s supervisory role is belied by the fact that he is listed as an author of the document.

That report includes two false statements. First, it falsely states that the “recovered in-car camera video from Beats 845R and 813R was viewed and found to be consistent with the accounts of all of the witnesses.” OIG 15-0564 003075. Second, the CSR contains the false statement that “McDonald initiated the imminent use of force likely to cause death or serious injury when he initiated an attack on Officers Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh.” OIG 15-0564 003078.

With respect to the first false statement, that the dashcam videos are consistent with the witness statements, Gallagher asserted that specific statement may not have been in the draft he reviewed. Regardless, Gallagher was directly responsible for ensuring the accuracy of the statement and the report as a whole. March drafted the CSR under Gallagher’s direct supervision and command, and the CSR was issued as the “report of” three individuals, Gallagher among them. Even crediting Gallagher’s suggestion that he may not have seen that particular sentence, if Gallagher permitted the report to be finalized and issued in his name without knowing what it contained, he was at a basic level incompetent in his duties. Further, in his OIG interview, Gallagher affirmed his belief that the statement at issue was accurate.

OIG investigators presented Gallagher with several individual statements attributed to witnesses in the CSR and asked whether he affirmed the statement that they were consistent with dashcam video footage of the McDonald shooting. In each of the following instances, Gallagher affirmed the conclusion that these statements attributed to witnesses, were consistent with the video footage:

- “McDonald ignored Van Dyke’s verbal direction to drop the knife and continued to advance toward Van Dyke.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 150:7-9.

- “McDonald raised the knife across his chest and over his shoulder pointing his knife at Van Dyke.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 150:17-19.

- “McDonald fell to the ground but continued to move and continued to grasp the knife, refusing to let go of it. Van Dyke continued to fire his weapon at McDonald as McDonald was on the ground, as McDonald appeared to be attempting to get back up all the while continuing to point the knife at Van Dyke.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 152:17-23.

- “McDonald ignored the verbal direction given by both Walsh and Van Dyke and continued to advance toward the officers. When McDonald got to within 12 to 15 feet of the officers he swung the knife toward the officers in an aggressive manner.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 154:18-155:7.

- “Officer Walsh also backed up attempting to maintain a safe distance between himself and McDonald.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 155:12-14.

• “Fontaine heard the officers repeatedly order McDonald to drop the knife. McDonald ignored the verbal direction and instead raised his right arm toward Officer Van Dyke as if attacking Van Dyke.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 156:14-18.

In fact, each of these statements is refuted by the dashcam video footage of the shooting. The video footage of the shooting shows that, before Van Dyke shot McDonald, McDonald was walking away from Van Dyke and Walsh and that Walsh and Van Dyke were in fact moving toward McDonald. It shows that McDonald did not raise the knife he was holding over his shoulder, did not swing the knife toward the officers in an “aggressive” manner, nor did he raise his arm toward Van Dyke as if attacking Van Dyke. In the March 16, 2016 CSR, this statement is attributed to Officer Fontaine. In her OIG interview, Officer Fontaine denied making this statement, and she herself declined to stand by it as accurate. Fontaine 3/16/2016 OIG Tr. 34:23-35:1; 116:18.

Further, the video makes clear that, upon being shot and falling to the street, McDonald never moved his legs or lower body. The video only shows McDonald’s upper body making small, intermittent movements as what appear to be puffs of smoke rise from his body. Those small movements are demonstrably not suggestive of a person trying to get up or get to his feet.

When presented with the statement that, “[i]n defense of his life, Van Dyke backpedaled and fired his handgun at McDonald to stop the attack,” Gallagher acknowledged that the recovered dashcam video does not show this; it cannot, therefore, be consistent with the statement. He initially argued that Van Dyke’s “backpedaling” can be seen on the Dunkin’ Donuts security footage, but finally stated that even that video does not clearly show in which direction Van Dyke was moving.

Gallagher’s second false statement in the CSR, that McDonald “initiated the imminent use of force likely to cause death or serious injury when he initiated an attack on Officers Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh,” is similarly belied by the video evidence. As summarized, supra, the video footage shows McDonald moving away from Van Dyke and Walsh, and does not show him making any movement toward them which could appropriately be characterized as “initiat[ing] an attack.” Notably, during the entire period of time for which Van Dyke and Walsh were outside of their car, McDonald was moving away from them.

B. Gallagher’s False Statement in the Major Incident Notification Detail

In Gallagher’s MIN regarding the McDonald shooting, he reported that McDonald “refused all verbal commands and continued to approach the officers while still armed with his knife.” OIG 15-0564 003010. As described above, video footage of the moments leading up to the shooting make clear that McDonald was not “approaching” Van Dyke and Walsh; rather, McDonald was walking away from the officers as they moved toward him. This false characterization of McDonald’s actions serves to exaggerate the threat he posed to Van Dyke and Walsh.
C. Gallagher’s Incompetence in the Performance of Duty

Finally, Gallagher’s failure to ensure that Detective March conducted a complete, thorough, properly documented, and professional investigation constitutes incompetence in the performance of his duties. March included false material statements and conclusions in the CSR, for which Gallagher is responsible both as March’s supervising sergeant and as a named author of the report.

As March’s supervisor, Gallagher had an obligation to ensure that March completed a professional and accurate investigation and documented it appropriately. By CPD’s Rules and Regulations, Gallagher was responsible for the performance of March as his subordinate, and remained answerable and accountable for the failures and inadequacies of March’s performance. As a supervisory member of CPD, Gallagher was under a heightened obligation to further the policy and goals of CPD by ensuring the completion of a truthful, objective investigation.

VI. Recommendation

The false statements for which Gallagher is responsible, both directly and indirectly, raise significant concerns regarding his credibility and ability to perform his duties as a sworn officer and supervisory member. As a sworn officer and supervisory member, Gallagher’s reports are relied upon in criminal legal proceedings and his credibility is therefore critical to his position. An officer who has made false statements in an official investigation has irrevocably tainted his credibility and has wholly disqualified himself from effectively executing core police functions. Based on this conduct he may be the subject of cross-examination in any contested proceedings in which he may appear as a witness, see Fed. R. Evid. 608(b) (“Specific instances of conduct”), and his conduct and the findings resulting from this investigation would further qualify as impeachment material that should, in principle, be disclosed in any contested proceeding involving the official records or testimony Gallagher generates. See Giglio v. United States, 405 U.S. 150 (1972) (requiring disclosure in criminal case of information impeaching of government witness’s credibility). Illinois courts have repeatedly noted that “as the guardians of our laws, police officers are expected to act with integrity, honesty, and trustworthiness” and have found intentional false or misleading statements by police officers to be sufficient cause for termination. Rodriguez v. Weis, 408 Ill. App. 3d 663, 671 (1st Dist. 2011) (quoting Sindermann v. Civil Service Comm’n, 275 Ill. App. 3d 917, 928 (2nd Dist. 1995)). Further, in his position as a supervisor, Gallagher had an elevated responsibility to promote CPD’s goals and implement its policies; instead, he failed to supervise a complete, thorough, properly documented, and professional investigation in the aftermath of the McDonald shooting, and in so doing he brought discredit upon CPD and was incompetent in the performance of his duties.

OIG therefore recommends that CPD discharge Gallagher and refer him for placement on the ineligible for rehire list maintained by the Department of Human Resources.
VII. CPD Rule Violations

Rule 2
Any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department.

Rule 3
Any failure to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy or accomplish its goals.

Rule 11
Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.

Rule 14
Making a false report, written or oral.
Appendix A
This report consists of a summary of the evidence set out in the attached investigative materials and the Office of Inspector General’s (OIG’s) analysis of that evidence. An index of the investigative materials is attached.

I. INTRODUCTION

An OIG investigation has established that David March, a Chicago Police Department (CPD) detective who conducted CPD’s investigation of the events culminating in Officer Jason Van Dyke’s October 20, 2014 shooting of Laquan McDonald, violated CPD Rules and Regulations during that investigation. More specifically, and as detailed further below, March made false material statements and conclusions in the reports he drafted, provided a false material statement to the Cook County Office of Medical Examiner regarding the circumstances of McDonald’s death, and failed to properly document his investigative interviews of Van Dyke. Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD discharge March and refer him for placement on the ineligible for rehire list maintained by the Department of Human Resources.

II. APPLICABLE RULES, REGULATIONS, AND LAW

A. CPD Rules and Regulations

The “Rules and Regulations of the Chicago Police Department” set out the standards of conduct and duties of sworn members, as well as CPD goals. The Rules and Regulations state that sworn members must “conduct themselves at all times in such a manner as will reflect credit upon the Department with emphasis on personal integrity and professional devotion to law enforcement.”

Article V of the CPD Rules and Regulations, entitled CPD Rules of Conduct (the CPD Rules), sets forth specifically prohibited acts. In pertinent part, the CPD Rules include the following prohibitions:

- Rule 2 Any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department.

- Rule 3 Any failure to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy or accomplish its goals.

- Rule 6 Disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral.

- Rule 11 Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.

- Rule 14 Making a false report, written or oral.
B. CPD Detective Division Special Orders

CPD Special Orders are directives that establish protocols and procedures concerning specific CPD functions, operations, programs, or processes. Addendum 1 to Detective Division Special Order (DDSO) 11-01, titled “Homicides and Sworn Weapon Discharge Incidents,” effective from May 9, 2011 to January 1, 2015, states that detectives investigating homicides or weapon discharge incidents involving sworn members will “thoroughly document relevant information discovered during the course of the investigation” and “[r]ecord relevant information initially transcribed on General Progress Reports or other investigative documents to formatted Department reports (e.g. Supplementary Report, General Offense Case Report, etc.).”

Revision a to DDSO 01-01, titled “Violent Crimes Oversight Offices” and effective from October 10, 2002 to November 21, 2014, states that detectives investigating police shootings will, among other tasks:

- “canvass the area in every case to identify, locate and gather witnesses. All canvasses will be documented – including negative results;”
- “arrange for transportation of all witnesses who have pertinent knowledge of the shooting to the appropriate district station or area headquarters, ensuring that they are kept separated until interviewed;”
- “take formal written statements from eyewitnesses, when appropriate;” and
- “take either written or oral statements from other witnesses as circumstances of the investigation dictate.”

DDSO 15-22, titled “Justifiable Homicides,” outlines the protocols that CPD members in the Bureau of Detectives are to follow regarding justifiable homicides. The order defines a justifiable homicide as either “the killing of a felon by a peace officer in the line of duty,” or “the killing of a felon by a private citizen during the commission of a felony.”

Section III of DDSO

1 OIG 15-0564 009121-23. DDSO 11-01, titled “Investigative Files,” defines “General Progress Report” as follows: “A General Progress Report will be used by all Division members and is designed to standardize the recording of handwritten notes and memoranda including witness or suspect interviews, on-scene canvasses, written inter-watch communications that are investigative and not administrative in nature, or any other written notes generated during the course of an investigation.”

3 OIG 15-0564 009416-17. According to documents dated April 28, 2016 which OIG received from CPD, DDSO 15-22 remained in effect at least as of that date. DDSO 15-22 took effect on January 1, 2015, and was in place when the relevant CPD reports in this case were issued. See OIG 15-0564 009012.

4 OIG takes no position on whether the McDonald shooting was appropriately classified as a justifiable homicide, but rather notes that CPD reported the incident as such.
15-22 outlines reporting procedures for justifiable homicides and requires that:

A. “When an incident is determined to be a justifiable homicide, the assigned detective will obtain a second RD number. The first case will bear the classification of the crime the felon was committing. The second RD number will be for the justifiable homicide. Detectives will not identify a person lawfully entitled to use deadly force as an ‘Offender.’

B. The facts detailing the entire investigation will be reported in the justifiable homicide report.

Note: The narrative section of the original felony report will state, ‘The facts of this case are reported under RD#______. For complete details, refer to that investigation.’

E. Detectives will state in their reports that no charges were placed at this time. They will not state that use of deadly force was justified.

III. DETECTIVE MARCH’S EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

March joined CPD in June of 1982 as a police officer. He became a Detective in 1990. On October 20, 2014, he was a Detective assigned to Area Central, a position he has held from 2012 through the present. March is a member of Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) Lodge 7.

IV. SUMMARY OF INVESTIGATION

A. Procedural History of OIG’s Investigation

By letter dated December 8, 2015, IPRA Acting Chief Administrator Sharon Fairley requested that OIG conduct an administrative investigation “to determine whether certain police officers/witnesses made false statements on official reports prepared in connection with [Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald] and/or during the investigation of the incident.” 5 IPRA further requested that OIG investigate “whether any of the involved Chicago Police officers committed any other violation(s) of Chicago Police Department rules, policies or procedures in their involvement with the incident, including, but not limited to, whether any officers’ conduct may have interfered with or obstructed the appropriate investigation and handling of this matter.”

5 On November 24, 2015, the Cook County State’s Attorney charged Van Dyke with a single count of first degree murder in the shooting of McDonald. On December 15, 2015, it subsequently charged him with six counts of murder. OIG has not been involved with any criminal investigation related to the shooting and makes no findings regarding Van Dyke’s use of force.
Then, by letter dated January 13, 2016, CPD Interim Superintendent John J. Escalante requested that OIG conduct an “administrative investigation into any and all allegations of police officer misconduct” arising out of the October 20, 2014 shooting death of McDonald. The Superintendent’s request asked OIG to investigate the following allegations: “whether any officer(s) made false statements on official reports submitted in connection with the shooting of Laquan McDonald on October 20, 2014; whether any officer(s) obstructed or interfered with the investigation of this incident, either individually or in collusion with others; and whether any officer(s) committed any violation of Chicago Police Department rules, policies, or orders in connection with their response and/or handling of this matter.” Escalante attached to the letter request a copy of Sergeant Sandra Soria’s Initiation Report, which raises allegations of misconduct related to the in-car video systems of the vehicles that were present during the McDonald shooting, and identified that Report as a basis for OIG’s administrative investigation.

On March 10, 2016, Kevin Kilmer, Financial Secretary for the FOP, filed a grievance with CPD on behalf of all affected members, stating that OIG’s attempts to conduct CPD officer interviews violated Article 6 of CPD’s Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) with the FOP. On March 16, 2016, FOP, on behalf of all impacted CPD officers, filed a “Complaint for Injunction in Aid of Arbitration” in the Circuit Court of Cook County asking the court to enjoin OIG from conducting interviews until the grievance was decided in arbitration. The court dismissed the complaint and denied the injunction on March 22, 2016.

OIG’s administrative investigation of other CPD employees’ actions related to the McDonald shooting is ongoing. During the course of its investigation, OIG has gathered documents from CPD and IPRA, among other sources, and conducted numerous interviews, including interviews of CPD personnel who were at or responded to the scene of the shooting and civilian witnesses to the shooting. To date in its ongoing investigation, OIG has recommended disciplinary action against multiple CPD personnel.

B. The Events of October 20, 2014

The following sections detail the shooting of McDonald, as well as the relevant events that occurred directly before and after the shooting.

6 Section 6.1, Paragraph I of the CBA states, “If the allegation under investigation indicates a recommendation for separation is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the statutory administrative proceeding rights, or if the allegation indicates criminal prosecution is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the constitutional rights concerning self-incrimination prior to the commencement of interrogation.” CPD General Order GO8-01-01, Paragraph K contains similar language.

7 Fraternal Order of Police, Chicago Lodge 7 v. City of Chicago, No. 2016 CH 03726 (Cir. Ct. of Cook County, Ill., Mar. 16, 2016).

8 On April 22, 2016, OIG obtained maps of the locations that are relevant to the shooting from Google Maps and included those maps in Appendix A. Those maps generally reflect the street layout and location of relevant businesses as they were on the night of October 20, 2014.
1. and Barillas’ Encounter with McDonald

Rudy Barillas were parking a truck in a lot at 41st Street and Kildare Avenue when saw a black male, who she subsequently identified as Laquan McDonald, attempting to steal property from certain vehicles parked in the lot. Barillas told McDonald to leave the lot. McDonald responded by making growling noises. After Barillas again told McDonald to leave the lot, McDonald pulled out a knife and swung it at Barillas. Barillas, who had already called 911, then threw his cell phone at McDonald. McDonald ran from the lot, first northbound on Kildare and then eastbound on 40th Street.

2. Officers Gaffney and McElligott’s Encounter with McDonald

Officer Thomas Gaffney and his partner Officer Joseph McElligott received a call over the radio that someone had broken into a truck at 4100 South Kildare and were dispatched to the scene. Gaffney was driving and McElligott was in the passenger seat of their assigned vehicle, 815R. When they arrived at 4100 South Kildare, they saw a Hispanic male and female standing by the gate to the truck yard. The two said that a black male wearing a black shirt, later determined to be McDonald, had been trying to steal the radio out of a semi-truck and had subsequently headed north toward 40th Street.

Gaffney and McElligott drove north on Kildare, turned right onto 40th Street, and saw McDonald walking east on the south side of 40th Street. McElligott exited the vehicle and commanded McDonald to stop and turn around. Gaffney stayed in the vehicle in case McDonald attempted to flee. McElligott ordered McDonald to take his hands out of his pockets. McDonald, who had been facing McElligott, turned and walked away with one hand still in his pocket. McDonald then turned again and took both of his hands out of his pockets. He had a knife in his right hand. McElligott drew his weapon and told McDonald to drop the knife. McDonald started walking east again, going from the sidewalk to the street and back. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, shining his flashlight on him, while Gaffney followed in 815R, parallel to McDonald.

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Keeler, Gaffney reported to dispatch that McDonald was walking away with a knife in his hand. Gaffney and McElligott continued to follow McDonald as he headed east, with McElligott giving McDonald orders to drop his knife and stop. McDonald kept turning around and giving the officers a “weird glaze[d] look.”

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Karlov, Gaffney turned his car toward McDonald to direct him down Karlov. Gaffney wanted to keep McDonald away from Pulaski, which was a more populated area. McDonald then swung his arm and popped 815R’s right front tire with his knife. McElligott was toward the back of 815R when McDonald popped its tire. After McDonald took a step back from the vehicle, Gaffney pulled up further in front of him to stop him from proceeding to Pulaski. McDonald then hit the right side of 815R’s windshield once with the knife in his right hand. The windshield did not break, but according to Gaffney, McDonald hit it as hard as he could. McDonald walked around the front of 815R and continued eastward on 40th Street. After McDonald had walked 10 to 15 feet, another squad car turned off of Pulaski onto 40th Street with its lights on, and McDonald began to sprint. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, and Gaffney followed McDonald in 815R. McDonald ran eastbound through the Burger King parking lot at 40th and Pulaski and then headed southbound on Pulaski. Video footage from several cameras captured McDonald’s movements once he reached Pulaski.

14 OEMC recordings reflect that, at 9:53 p.m., 815R reported: “We’re at 40th and Keeler. This guy uh is walking away from us and he’s got a knife in his hand.” Approximately 30 seconds later, a dispatcher stated, “815R looking for a taser.” See OEMC Documents and CDs; see also OIG 15-0564 003691, 3228.

4. CCSPD Officer Accounts of the October 20, 2014 McDonald Shooting

While on patrol on October 20, 2014, CCSPD Officers Adam Murphy and Jeff Pasqua observed several CPD police vehicles pass by them. Both officers decided to follow the CPD vehicles. When they arrived at the scene, several CPD vehicles were already present—Pasqua estimated it was five or six. McDonald was lying on the pavement “gasping for his last breath of air.” Pasqua OIG Tr. 11:22-23. Meanwhile, the CPD officers were “standing around” and talking to each other. Murphy OIG Tr. 11:1. Murphy noted the CPD officers did not respond to him when he asked if they needed assistance. Murphy stated:

I see there’s blood all over the pavement. [McDonald] was kind of gurgling when he was sitting there. I remember his mouth was going open and closed like he was trying to gasp for air. And I looked for everybody else, and they were kind of standing there. I just started taking my gloves—my rubber gloves out to check for a pulse and to see if I could render aid.

Murphy OIG Tr. 12:18-13:2. He heard someone say an ambulance was en route. Both Officers Murphy and Pasqua recalled then watching McDonald take his final breaths.23 It was “[m]aybe less than a minute before [McDonald] expired.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:15-16. At no time did any CPD officers attempt to provide aid or comfort McDonald—Murphy stated, “That’s why I felt that I needed to go up to him.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:11-12.

After McDonald passed away, Murphy got up from beside him and noticed the shooting officer, who he now knows to be Van Dyke, “pacing back and forth in front of his car.” Murphy OIG

21 OIG identified the CCSPD officer as Officer Adam Murphy.

22 The following CCSPD Officer accounts are taken from OIG’s June 23, 2016 interview of Jeff Pasqua and its June 24, 2015 interview of Adam Murphy. Pasqua and Murphy are currently CCSPD investigators.

23 The Medical Examiner’s Case Report states McDonald was pronounced dead “on view” at Mount Sinai Medical Center on October 20, 2014, at 10:42 p.m. OIG 15-0564 015029.
Murphy approached him and told him to sit down and drink water. As he was speaking with Van Dyke, Murphy “heard several officers telling [Van Dyke] to ‘call your union rep, call your union rep.” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:16-17.

Murphy and Pasqua departed after approximately ten minutes on the scene when a CPD sergeant told them CPD did not need their assistance. At the time they left, there was “[a] sea of CPD” on scene. Murphy OIG Tr. 38:3; Pasqua OIG Tr. 25:7-8.

C. The Cook County Office of Medical Examiner’s Case Report and Post-Mortem Examination Report

On October 21, 2014 at 1:30:31 a.m., Cook County Office of Medical Examiner (CCME) Investigator Earl Briggs completed a Case Report concerning the McDonald shooting. The report, identified as ME2014-01071, contains, among other information, background information on McDonald, the “Place of Occurrence/Incident,” and the time McDonald was pronounced deceased. The report further contains a “Notification” section, which lists March’s name, title, star number, telephone number and beat. Under “Date” and “Time,” the notification section states “10/20/14” and “11:51:59 PM.” The notification section also lists a “Police Report #” of HX475653. The report was approved by CCME Investigator I Anthony King. The report contains a “Narrative” section, which states in relevant part as follows:

On 20 October 2014 at 2351 hours Detective March # 20563 of the Chicago Police Department Area Central Detectives Beat # 5121 notified the Forensic Institute the subject Laquan McDonald had expired at Mt. Sinai Hospital after being shot by an on duty Chicago Police Officer.

Detective March related the following: on or about 2156 hours 19 October 2014 Chicago Police 8th District Beat Car 815R responded to 41st and Kildare in reference to a “Citizen Holding a Subject”. Upon arrival Beat # 815R was confronted by the subject who threatened the officers with a 4 inch fold knife. The subject fled the scene on foot where at 4112 S. Pulaski the subject was stopped by officers assigned to Beat # 845R. The officers announced their office as “Chicago Police Officers” and ordered the subject to drop the knife. The subject lunged at the officers with the knife. Fearing for their life and attempting to stop the threat one officer (star # 9465) fired sixteen rounds from his duty weapon a Smith & Wesson 9mm handgun striking the subject numerous times. After striking the subject an ambulance was requested by the officers.

Upon arrival of Chicago Fire Department Ambulance # 21 the subject was transported to Mt. Sinai Hospital. Once at Mt. Sinai Hospital emergency room staff were unable to revive the subject and the subject expired at 2242 hours being pronounced by Doctor Titeel. It appears that the subject sustained the following gunshot wounds, four to the chest, six to the right arm, five to the left arm, one to the rightside torso, two to the back, one to the right hip, two to the left leg front, two to the left leg rear, 2 to the left thigh and three to the right thigh. At this time since the officer fired sixteen times which of the twenty-six gunshot wounds are entrance or exit wounds.

On January 15, 2015, CCME Assistant Medical Examiner Denika Means completed a Report of Postmortem Examination regarding ME2014-01071. The report lists McDonald’s date of death as October 20, 2014 and the “Date Examined” as October 21, 2014 at 8:25 a.m. The report’s “Opinion” section states in its entirety as follows: “Based on the case history and autopsy findings, it is my opinion that Laquan McDonald, a 17-year-old black male, died as the result of multiple gunshot wounds.”

D. Public Statements Concerning the McDonald Shooting

In the immediate aftermath of the shooting, CPD’s Office of News Affairs and FOP Spokesperson Pat Camden each made public statements regarding the shooting. On October 21, 2014, the Office of News Affairs issued a press release titled “Preliminary Statement on Police Involved Shooting – 4100 Block of S. Pulaski.” The release described the shooting as follows: “Near the intersection of 4100 S. Pulaski, uniformed officers confronted the armed offender who refused to comply with orders to drop the knife and continued to approach the officers. As a result of this action, the officer discharged his weapon striking the offender.”

Camden made his statement to the media at the scene of the shooting. Specifically, an October 21, 2014 Chicago Tribune article titled “Cops: Boy, 17, fatally shot by officer after refusing to drop knife,” states as follows: “Officers got out of their car and began approaching McDonald, again telling him to drop the knife, [FOP Spokesman Pat] Camden said. The boy allegedly lunged at police, and one of the officers opened fire.”

E. The HX486155 Case Incident Report

On October 29, 2014, March submitted an Original Case Incident Report under RD Number HX486155, with the event number of 1430116812 and the “Case ID” of 9837884 CASR229. The report identified March as the Reporting Officer and Detective/Investigator, and Sergeant Daniel Gallagher as the Approving Supervisor. The report classified the incident as “Assault – Aggravated; Knife/Cutting Instr,” listed the “Occurrence Location” as 4101 S Kildare Blvd. and

26 OIG 15-0564 003852.
27 OIG 15-0564 015188-015190. In a February 24, 2016 OIG interview, Camden, when asked who his source was for the statement that McDonald “lunged at police,” said that that information came from a FOP union representative who was at the scene of the shooting. However, Camden could not recall which union representative provided him with that information.
28 OIG 15-0564 003299-300.
the “Occurrence Date” as October 20, 2014 at 9:47 p.m. The report listed Rudy Barillas as the victim, Gaffney, Van Dyke, and Walsh as additional victims, and McDonald as “Suspect # 1.” The narrative section of the report states as follows:

The offender in this incident, Laquan McDonald, committed an aggravated assault against the victim, Rudy Barillas, by attempting to cut Barillas with a knife. Barillas called 9-1-1. Chicago Police Officers Thomas Gaffney, Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh responded to Barillas’ call. McDonald committed aggravated assaults against the three officers, finally forcing Officer Van Dyke, in defense of his life, to shoot and kill McDonald. Details of this investigation are reported under the Homicide/Justifiable, recorded under Records Division number HX475653.

F. CPD Evidence Submission Form

March submitted a CPD Evidence Submission Form to the Illinois State Police, listing an RD number of HX475653, identifying McDonald as the suspect and Gaffney, Van Dyke, and Walsh as victims. March, among other requests, asked that McDonald’s knife be examined for latent fingerprints and, if any were found, that they be compared to the fingerprints of McDonald. The form contains a “Detective’s Comments” section, which states in relevant part as follows: “The offender, Laquan [sic] McDonald, assaulted the three victim Chicago Police Officers with a knife, and was shot and killed by victim Police Officer Jason Van Dyke.” An Evidence Coordinator reviewed March’s submission on November 3, 2014.

G. HX475653 Case Supplementary Reports

On March 15, 2015, March submitted two case supplementary reports under the R.D. Number HX475653. Lieutenant Anthony Wojcik approved both reports on March 16, 2015. The first CSR, which March submitted at 6:23 p.m., has a Case ID of 9825613 and a Sup ID of 10988891 CSR339 (the 339 CCR), and is described as a “Field Investigation Progress-Violent (Scene)” report. The second CSR, which March submitted at 6:26 p.m., has a “Sup ID” of 10992767 CASR301 (the 301 CSR), and is described as a “Field Investigation Exc. Cleared Closed (Other Exceptional)” report. Both CSRs list the original and last “Offense Classification” as “Assault/Aggravated Po: Knife/Cut Instr.,” the “Date of Occurrence” as October 20, 2014 at 9:57 p.m., and the “Address of Occurrence” as 4112 S Pulaski Rd. Both CSRs further list Van Dyke, Walsh, Gaffney, and McElligott as the victims, McDonald as the offender, March as the reporting officer and primary detective assigned, and Wojcik as the approving supervisor. Finally, both CSRs state that they are the “report of” March, Wojcik, Gallagher, and the “Bureau of Detectives – Area Central.”

The 301 CSR contains, among other information, his summaries of the interviews he conducted of the officers who were present when Van Dyke shot McDonald, as well as summaries of the interviews CPD conducted of civilian witnesses to the events of October 20, 2014. The 339 CSR contains, among other information, an inventory of the evidence recovered and an identification of the personnel assigned to the case and the witnesses to the relevant events. March also notes in the 339 CSR that McDonald was “Taken To” Mount Sinai Hospital by CFD Ambulance 21, was “Pronounced By” Dr. Pitzele, at Mount Sinai Hospital on October 20, 2014 at 22:42, and lists the “Medical Examiner Case Number” as 2014-01071. Immediately above the “Taken To” section of the 339 CSR, is an “Injuries” section that describes the location of the entrance and exit wound (if one existed) of each gunshot wound McDonald received.

1. Officer Statement Summaries

   a) Van Dyke

The 301 CSR includes a summary of the statements that Van Dyke provided to March on October 20, 2014 and October 21, 2014, respectively. The following is an excerpt of Van Dyke’s October 20, 2014 statement:

Officer Van Dyke exited the vehicle on the right side and drew his handgun. As Van Dyke stood in the street on Pulaski, facing northbound, toward McDonald, McDonald approached southbound. McDonald was holding the knife in his right hand, in an underhand grip, with the blade pointed forward. He was swinging the knife in an aggressive, exaggerated manner. Van Dyke ordered McDonald to “Drop the knife!” multiple times. McDonald ignored Van Dyke’s verbal direction to drop the knife and continued to advance toward Van Dyke.

When McDonald got to within 10 to 15 feet of Officer Van Dyke, McDonald looked toward Van Dyke. McDonald raised the knife across his chest and over his shoulder, pointing the knife at Van Dyke. Van Dyke believed McDonald was attacking Van Dyke with the knife, and attempting to kill Van Dyke. In defense of his life, Van Dyke backpedaled and fired his handgun at McDonald, to stop the attack. McDonald fell to the ground but continued to move and continued to grasp the knife, refusing to let go of it. Van Dyke continued to fire his weapon at McDonald as McDonald was on the ground, as McDonald appeared to be attempting to get up, all the while continuing to point the knife at Van Dyke. The slide on Van Dyke’s pistol locked in the rearward position, indicating the weapon was empty. Van Dyke performed a tactical reload of his pistol with a new magazine and then assessed the situation.

33 OIG 15-0564 003046-47.
McDonald was no longer moving and the threat had been mitigated, so Officer Van Dyke and Officer Walsh approached McDonald. McDonald was still holding the knife in his right hand. Van Dyke continued to order McDonald to “Drop the knife!” Officer Walsh told Van Dyke, “I have this.” Van Dyke then used his handgun to cover Walsh as Walsh walked up and forcibly kicked the knife out of McDonald’s right hand, thereby eliminating the threat to the officers.

The 301 CSR summarized Van Dyke’s October 21, 2014 statement in relevant part as follows:

[Van Dyke] related the same sequence of events as documented in his original interview at the scene of the incident.

Van Dyke additionally articulated the reasoning behind his decision to use deadly force against the offender in this incident, Laquan McDonald. Van Dyke was aware of the radio transmissions from Officer Thomas Gaffney, on Beat 815R, that McDonald was armed with a knife. Van Dyke was aware that McDonald had attacked the officers on Beat 815R by slashing the tire of their police vehicle.

As he confronted McDonald at 4112 South Pulaski Road, Van Dyke saw that McDonald was in fact, armed with a knife, a deadly weapon. Van Dyke was aware of the widely accepted teaching in law enforcement that an assailant armed with a knife was considered a deadly threat, if within 21 feet, because it was possible for such an assailant to close that distance and attack with the knife before a defensive shot could be fired from a handgun.

Van Dyke was also aware of the existence of throwing knives, which can be thrown from a distance, as well as spring loaded knifes, which propel a blade through the air from the knife handle. Van Dyke also said he recalled a previously issued Chicago Police Department bulletin warning of a weapon which appeared to be a knife but which actually was capable of firing a bullet, making it a firearm.

34 March completed a General Progress Report (GPR) relating to his October 20, 2014 interview of Van Dyke that contain March’s handwritten notes of the interview. OIG 15-0564 003239-41. March’s handwritten notes of the interview do not differ in any significant way from the summary of Van Dyke’s statement in the CSR.

35 March’s GPR relating to his October 21, 2014 interview of Van Dyke stated: “Same details.” The rest of March’s handwritten notes of the interview do not differ in any significant way from the summary of Van Dyke’s statement in the CSR. OIG 15-0564 003254.

36 On April 29, 2016, OIG spoke with CPD Deputy Chief Director of Training Keith Calloway. Calloway is familiar with the so-called “21-foot rule.” Calloway characterized the 21-foot rule as “junk science” as the theory behind it has never been scientifically proven, and stated that it has never been part of CPD’s training process. See OIG Investigative Report of Call with Keith Calloway.

37 March wrote in the 301 CSR that a search was subsequently conducted for the bulletin Van Dyke referenced and that an “Officer Safety Alert number 2012-OSA0297,” issued on December 4, 2012, was located. See OIG 15-0564 003310. March wrote that “[i]t was a warning regarding a ‘revolver knife’ which was capable of firing .22 caliber cartridges.”
b) Walsh

The following is an excerpt of Walsh’s October 20, 2014 statement:

[A]s Laquan McDonald ran eastbound through the Burger King parking lot, Walsh used the police vehicle he was driving to block McDonald from entering the restaurant.

As McDonald ran southbound on Pulaski Road, from the Burger King, Walsh pursued McDonald in the police vehicle. Walsh drove southbound in the northbound lanes to get ahead of McDonald, keeping the police vehicle between McDonald and a Dunkin’ Donuts restaurant, on the east side of Pulaski. As their vehicle passed McDonald, Officer Van Dyke opened the right front door of their vehicle, to exit the truck and confront McDonald. Walsh, realizing that at this point they were too close to the armed McDonald to safely exit the vehicle, told Van Dyke to wait until they got further ahead of McDonald. Walsh drove further south on Pulaski. He stopped his vehicle south of McDonald and exited the driver’s door as Van Dyke exited the right side of the vehicle. Walsh drew his handgun when he exited the vehicle.

Officer Walsh came around the rear of the police vehicle and joined Officer Van Dyke on the right side of the vehicle. Walsh also stood in the street on Pulaski, facing northbound, as McDonald walked southbound toward the officers. Walsh ordered McDonald to “Drop the knife!” multiple times as McDonald approached the officers.

Officer Walsh also backed up, attempting to maintain a safe distance between himself and McDonald. McDonald ignored the verbal direction given by both Walsh and Officer Van Dyke, and continued to advance toward the officers. When McDonald got to within 12 to 15 feet of the officers he swung the knife toward the officers in an aggressive manner. Van Dyke opened fire with his handgun and McDonald fell to the ground. Van Dyke continued firing his weapon at McDonald as McDonald continued moving on the ground, attempting to get up, while still armed with the knife.

When the gunfire stopped and McDonald was not moving anymore, Walsh approached McDonald with Van Dyke. Walsh continued to order McDonald to “Drop the knife!” multiple times, as McDonald was still holding the knife in his right hand. Walsh forcibly kicked the knife out of McDonald’s hand and then notified the dispatcher on the police radio that shots had been fired by the police. An ambulance was also requested for McDonald.

As they waited for the ambulance to respond to the scene, Officer Walsh told

38 The first paragraph of the Walsh statement summary provides: “Walsh related the same facts as his partner, Officer Jason Van Dyke.”
McDonald to ‘hang in there,’ and that an ambulance was on the way.

Officer Walsh said he believed McDonald was attacking Walsh and Officer Van Dyke with the knife and attempting to kill them when the shots were fired. Walsh stated he did not fire his handgun because Van Dyke was in the line of fire between Walsh and McDonald. Walsh thought Van Dyke fired eight or nine shots total.39

c)  Fontaine

The 301 CSR summarizes Fontaine’s October 20, 2014 statement in relevant part as follows:

Fontaine was working with Police Officer Ricardo Viramontes. The two officers were assigned to a marked vehicle. Viramontes was driving the vehicle and Fontaine was the passenger.

The two officers responded to the request for assistance made by Beat 815R, regarding a man with a knife at 41st Street and Pulaski Road. Officer Viramontes drove northbound on Pulaski. When they arrived at the scene of this incident, in front of the Dunkin’ Donuts restaurant, Officer Fontaine saw a black male subject, now known as Laquan McDonald, walking southbound in the street, with a knife in his right hand. McDonald was walking sideways, with his body facing east, toward Officers Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh. These two officers were standing in the middle of the street, on the right side of their police vehicle, which was facing southbound. Fontaine heard the officers repeatedly order McDonald to “Drop the knife!” McDonald ignored the verbal direction and instead, raised his right arm toward Officer Van Dyke, as if attacking Van Dyke. At this time Van Dyke fired multiple shots from his handgun, until McDonald fell to the ground and stopped moving his right arm and hand, which still grasped the knife. The gunshots were rapid fire, without pause. Officer Walsh then kicked the knife out of McDonald’s hand.40

d)  Viramontes

The 301 CSR summarizes Viramontes’s October 20, 2014 statement in relevant part as follows41:

39 Detective March completed a GPR relating to his interview of Walsh that contains March’s handwritten notes of the interview. OIG 15-0564 003242–43. March’s handwritten notes of the interview do not differ in any significant way from the summary of Walsh’s statement in the CSR.

40 Detective March completed a GPR relating to his interview of Fontaine that contains March’s handwritten notes of the interview. OIG 15-0564 003252. March’s handwritten notes of the interview do not differ in any significant way from the summary of Fontaine’s statement in the CSR.

41 The first paragraph of the Viramontes’s statement summary provides: “Viramontes related the same facts as his partner, Officer Dora Fontaine.”
[W]hen [Viramontes] exited his police vehicle, at the scene, he observed a black male subject, now known as Laquan McDonald, walking southbound on Pulaski Road, in the middle of the street, holding a knife in his right hand. Viramontes heard Officer Jason Van Dyke repeatedly order McDonald to “Drop the Knife!” McDonald ignored the verbal direction and turned toward Van Dyke and his partner, Officer Joseph Walsh. At this time Van Dyke fired multiple shots from his handgun. McDonald fell to the ground but continued to move, attempting to get back up, with the knife still in his hand. Van Dyke fired his weapon at McDonald continuously, until McDonald was no longer moving.42

The following is an excerpt of the 301 CSR summary of Sebastian’s October 20, 2014 statement:

Officer Sebastian observed a black male subject, now known as Laquan McDonald, running southeast bound through the parking lot of the Burger King restaurant. Beat 845R pursued McDonald in their police vehicle, through the parking lot, toward Pulaski. Sebastian told Officer Mondragon to drive back out onto Pulaski to assist in the pursuit. McDonald ran out onto Pulaski and continued to run southbound down the middle of the street. Beat 845R pursued McDonald in their vehicle, southbound on Pulaski, followed by Beat 813R. As McDonald ran southbound on Pulaski, Sebastian saw the knife in his right hand. McDonald was waving the knife.

Beat 845R stopped their vehicle ahead of McDonald, between McDonald and the Dunkin’ Donuts restaurant on the east side of Pulaski. Officers Joseph Walsh and Jason Van Dyke exited their vehicle and drew their handguns. McDonald turned toward the two officers and continued to wave the knife. Sebastian heard the officers repeatedly order McDonald to “Drop the knife!” McDonald ignored the verbal directions and continued to advance on the officers, waving the knife. Officer Sebastian heard multiple gunshots and McDonald fell to the ground, where he continued to move. Sebastian did not know who fired the shots, which were fired in one continuous group. She then saw Officer Walsh kick the knife out of McDonald’s hand.43

42 Detective March completed a GPR relating to his interview of Viramontes that contains March’s handwritten notes of the interview. OIG 15-0564 003253. March’s handwritten notes of the interview do not differ in any significant way from the summary of Viramontes’ statement in the CSR.

43 Detective March completed a GPR relating to his interview of Sebastian that contains March’s handwritten notes of the interview. OIG 15-0564 003248. March’s handwritten notes of the interview do not differ in any significant way from the summary of Sebastian’s statement in the CSR.

The following is an excerpt of the 301 CSR summary of Mondragon’s October 20, 2014 statement:

Officer Mondragon added that as she drove westbound on 40th Street, she saw Officer McElligott running eastbound through the Burger King parking lot. She made a U-Turn and drove back out onto Pulaski Road. Mondragon turned southbound onto Pulaski. She saw Laquan McDonald running southbound on Pulaski, in the middle of the street. As she got closer she could see McDonald was holding a knife in his right hand. He was waving the knife.

Officer Mondragon saw Officers Joseph Walsh and Jason Van Dyke outside of their police vehicle. She heard the officers repeatedly ordering McDonald to “Drop the knife!” as McDonald got closer and closer to the officers, continuing to wave the knife. As she was placing her vehicle transmission into Park, Mondragon looked down and heard multiple, continuous gunshots, without pause. Mondragon then saw McDonald fall to the ground. Mondragon did not know who fired the shots.

2. The 301 CSR’s Findings and Conclusions

The 301 CSR includes several findings and conclusions regarding the shooting. Specifically, it states that “[t]he recovered in-car camera video from Beats 845R and 813R was viewed and found to be consistent with the accounts of all of the witnesses.”

The above to-date investigation determined that Laquan McDonald was an active assailant who, while armed with a dangerous weapon, used force likely to cause death or serious injury to a private citizen when he attacked Rudy Barillas; threatened the imminent use of force likely to cause death or serious injury when he incised the tire and stabbed the windshield of a Chicago Police Department vehicle occupied by Officer Thomas Gaffney; and initiated imminent use of force likely to cause death or serious injury when he initiated an attack on Officers Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh. The above investigation concluded that Officer Jason Van Dyke’s use of deadly force, the discharging of his duty firearm, was within the bounds of the Chicago Police Department’s use of force guidelines, and in conformity with local ordinances and state law.\(^{47}\)

On March 15, 2015 at 5:33 p.m., less than an hour before March submitted the CSR, Wojcik emailed March a Microsoft Word document titled “Conclusion.” The word document contains language almost identical to the above-quoted paragraph.

3. The 339 CSR’s Narrative and Findings

The “Manner/Motive” section of the 339 CSR states as follows:

Laquan McDonald was shot and killed by Chicago Police Officer Jason Van Dyke while McDonald was committing an aggravated assault with a knife against Officer Van Dyke and his partner, Chicago Police Officer Joseph Walsh. McDonald also committed an aggravated assault with a knife against Chicago Police Officers Thomas Gaffney and Joseph McElligott, when McDonald stabbed the right front tire and windshield of their police vehicle, and an aggravated assault with a knife against civilian, Rudy Barillas, immediately prior to being confronted by Officers Van Dyke and Walsh. / Peace officer interceding in a felony, in the line of duty-Defense of life (Offender apparently attempting to defeat arrest).\(^{48}\)

H. OIG Interview of Chief Medical Examiner Ponni Arunkumar

On July 22, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed Cook County Office of Medical Examiner (CCME) Chief Medical Examiner Ponni Arunkumar via telephone. Cook County Executive Officer James Sledge and CCMO General Counsel Robert Meza were also on the call. In summary, Arunkumar stated as follows.

Arunkumar has been the Chief Medical Examiner since mid-July of 2016. Prior to assuming that title, Arunkumar was a Deputy Medical Examiner for four years. Arunkumar began working for CCMO in 2003.

CCMEO assistant medical examiners, also referred to as pathologists, are assigned autopsy cases every morning. Denika Means was assigned to the Laquan McDonald autopsy through the normal case assignment process. Means would have reviewed the ME2014-01071 case report

after receiving the McDonald autopsy assignment to learn what the case was about generally. The information in the case report would have caused Means to review the X-Rays and McDonald’s body for gunshot entry and exit wounds as she determined the cause and manner of McDonald’s death. Specific information in the case report about McDonald lunging at the Chicago police officers would not have impacted Means’s conclusion about the cause and manner of McDonald’s death.

The wording “case history” in the opinion section of the McDonald postmortem examination report is not standardized language used by pathologists. Rather, it is a generic term that Means chose to use. Another pathologist could have used the wording “circumstances of the case” or something similar. Means’s intention in stating “case history” was to state that she used a variety of items to formulate her conclusion related to the cause and manner of McDonald’s death. The items would have included, but not been limited to, the case report, the toxicology report, and observations from McDonald’s autopsy.

I. OIG Interview of Briggs

On July 20, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed CCME Investigator I Earl Briggs under oath. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Christopher Kalka, Chief of Investigations for CCME, was also present for the interview. In summary, Briggs stated as follows.

Briggs was hired by CCME in December 2012 as an Investigator Aide and, at the time of his interview, was an Investigator I. Briggs did not recall what his title was on October 20, 2014. The primary function of an Investigator I and Investigator Aide is to assist the Cook County pathologists in determining the cause and manner of trauma-related deaths. Briggs works from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m., the same hours he was working on October 20, 2014.

CCME creates a case report for every trauma-related death in Cook County. Briggs described a CCME case report as a “narrative of the investigation.” Briggs OIG Tr. 11:2-3. CCME is usually notified by police officers, hospital workers, or a doctor regarding a trauma-related death, and then the CCME investigator “[g]et[s] some basics, you know, some circumstances to exactly what happened.” Briggs OIG Tr. 14:8-9. With respect to shooting deaths, Briggs determines the decedent’s name, address, how he or she was identified, where the decedent was shot, and the circumstances of death. According to Briggs, if CCME receives the notification of a shooting death via telephone, the officer who calls in would provide that information. After the investigator conducts the initial interview, the investigator completes the case report within 24 hours. The investigator submits the case report to the shift supervisor and then it goes to the deputy chief and deputy. After the case report is approved, it is read by the pathologist.50 Because Briggs works midnights, he rarely has interactions with the pathologists regarding his case reports. Briggs said he is “definitely gone” by the time they are doing their examinations. Briggs OIG Tr. 27:21.

50 Kalka explained that CCME investigators have to finish their reports by 6:30 a.m. because that is when the pathologists are assigned their cases.
With respect to the ME 2014-01071 case report, Briggs recounted that on the night of October 20, 2014, he got a call from a person identifying himself as Detective March. Briggs was at his desk when he received the call. During that phone call, March provided Briggs with a “preliminary” narrative of the McDonald shooting. Briggs OIG Tr. 34:16. When asked whether the case report accurately reflected what March told him during their phone conversation, Briggs responded: “To the best of my knowledge.” Briggs OIG Tr. 34:20. Briggs did not believe that he took notes during his interview of March. Rather, Briggs said his general practice when completing a case report is to type up the information the interviewee is providing as he or she provides it. According to Briggs, he was typing as March was speaking.

When asked whether he recalled March saying to him that “The subject lunged at the officers with a knife,” Briggs responded: “Yes.” Briggs OIG Tr. 37:4-7. Briggs added: “If it’s in my report, he said it.” Briggs OIG Tr. 34:9. Briggs’ general practice, especially with officer-involved shootings, is to “pretty much repeat what I’m going to put on paper” to the detective:

OIG: So you would have read back to March, ‘Here’s what I got’—

Briggs: ‘Does this sound’—I hate to use the word, ‘good’—‘Does this sound good? Da, da, da, da, ‘Officers responded, the guy pointed the gun at him, you know, are you okay with that?’ ‘Yes.’

Briggs OIG Tr. 37:12-20. Briggs reads his report to the interviewee because he “need[s] a confirmation.” Briggs OIG Tr. 38:3. Briggs did not recall whether he read the McDonald case report narrative to March, but said “it’s my normal practice.” Briggs OIG Tr. 38:7-8. March did not tell Briggs that a CPD dashcam recorded McDonald’s shooting and Briggs did not ask him whether there was any video of the shooting.

Briggs did not talk to anyone else at CPD regarding the McDonald case report. According to Briggs, “[e]verything that’s on this report was related to [him] by Detective March.” Briggs OIG Tr. 68:14-15.

Briggs acknowledged that he made a typographical error in the narrative section of the report when he stated that March identified the date of the shooting as October 19, 2014. Briggs did not recall having any follow-up conversation with March regarding the shooting.

CCME Investigator I Anthony King approved the McDonald case report. King was the senior Investigator the night of October 20, 2014. Briggs did not know whether anyone other than King reviewed his report, but assumed that the CCME Deputy Chief and Chief would have reviewed it as well because it was an officer-involved shooting. When asked whether anyone else participated in the drafting of the McDonald report, Briggs responded: “I would say no.” Briggs OIG Tr. 51:7.

The purpose of a postmortem examination report is to “determine cause and manner of death.” Briggs OIG Tr. 54: 13-14. Briggs did not believe he had any communications with Means prior to her examination of McDonald. Briggs thought that Means would have had a copy of his case report prior to her examination of McDonald but did not know for sure. Briggs said it was “procedure” for the assistant medical examiners to read the investigators’ case reports. Briggs OIG Tr. 55:5.

J. OIG Interview of Fontaine

On March 16, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed Officer Dora Fontaine under oath after informing her of her administrative rights orally and in writing. She provided oral and written acknowledgement of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Fontaine’s attorney, Jennifer Russell, was also present for the interview. In summary, Fontaine stated as follows concerning her interactions with March on the night of October 20, 2014, and the morning of October 21, 2014.

1. March’s October 20, 2014 Interview of Fontaine

Fontaine and her partner Ricardo Viramontes were present on October 20, 2014, when Van Dyke shot McDonald. Fontaine subsequently spoke to Detective March at the scene of the shooting. March approached Fontaine while she was in her vehicle working on a case report. She exited the car and spoke with him. March asked her for the RD number of the investigation and which beat cars were on the scene. March also asked where Fontaine and Viramontes had been during the shooting and if she had seen anything. Fontaine told him that she had and provided details regarding the shooting. March had a pen and pad, but Fontaine did not recall him writing anything down. Her conversation with March lasted less than 15 minutes.

OIG asked Fontaine to review the statements attributed to her in the 301 CSR and identify any statements she did not make to March. She pointed out the sentence in the CSR which reads, “McDonald ignored the verbal direction, instead raised his right arm toward Officer Van Dyke as if attacking Van Dyke,” and said “I don’t recall telling [March] that.” Fontaine 3/16/16 OIG Tr. 115:19-20. Fontaine said that she did not see McDonald raise his right arm toward Van Dyke. When asked whether the statements attributed to her in the 301 CSR were factually accurate, Fontaine said that the statement that McDonald raised his arm as if attacking Van Dyke was not accurate. Fontaine added: “I never made that statement.” Fontaine 3/16/16 OIG Tr. 134:7.

2. Area Central

After completing the case report, Fontaine and Viramontes went to Area Central. While at Area Central, March asked Fontaine to go into a small Area Central office and then showed her video of the McDonald shooting on a computer monitor. There was another person in the room who ran the video, but Fontaine did not know the identity of that person. Fontaine recalled, “[March] was showing me the video and he says, when [McDonald] was walking – he says, ‘It looks as if he’s turning here.’ And I was like, ‘Oh, it does.’” Fontaine 3/16/16 OIG Tr. 72:21-24. Fontaine further recalled that March asked, “Oh, is this where he’s walking?” Fontaine 3/16/16 OIG Tr. 73:16. Fontaine said that it was, and March asked, “You see he kind of turns around?” Fontaine 3/16/16 OIG Tr. 73:17-18. Fontaine agreed that it did look as though McDonald “kind of turns.” Fontaine 3/16/16 OIG Tr. 73:20. Fontaine did not recall March taking notes during their interaction. March did not ask her any other questions after showing her the video, and she returned to the main room.

K. OIG Interview of McElligott

On May 9, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed Officer Joseph McElligott under oath after informing him of his administrative rights orally and in writing. He provided oral and written acknowledgement of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. McElligott’s attorney, Jennifer Russell was present for the interview. In summary, McElligott stated as follows concerning his observations of the interactions that occurred between CPD detective and Van Dyke and Walsh at Area Central on the morning of October 21, 2014.

Approximately four to five hours after the McDonald shooting, McElligott drove to Area Central with Gaffney. While at Area Central, McElligott saw CPD detectives and officers looking at the Dunkin’ Donuts video. McElligott attempted to watch the video over the detectives’ shoulders but could not see very much. Detectives whom McElligott could not identify were talking to either Van Dyke or Walsh while the video was playing. McElligott stated that there were “probably” a couple of other officers watching the video as well. McElligott OIG Tr. 71:16. The detectives were “running through” what was happening on the video as it played and trying to see where Van Dyke and Walsh were in relation to McDonald. McElligott OIG Tr. 72:16. The detectives were focused on the officers’ actions and McElligott remembered them saying at one point that Walsh or Van Dyke or both were backpedaling:

McElligott: [T]hey were kind of just back and forth rewinding and showing [the video] again.

OIG: And the detectives were saying—

McElligott: Their placement on the scene.

OIG: -- ‘Okay, look. It looks like you’re back-pedaling here?’

McElligott: Yes.

OIG: And they’re agreeing with him?

McElligott: Yes.

McElligott OIG Tr. 74:20-75:4. McElligott did not recall any dashcam videos being played at Area Central that night.
L. OIG Interviews of March

1. April 26-27, 2016 Interview

On April 7, 2016, pursuant to Section 6.1 of CBA between the City of Chicago and FOP, OIG, through CPD’s Bureau of Internal Affairs, served March with, among other documents, a Notification of Interview, Notification of Allegations, and a copy of the 301 and 339 CSRs. In addition, OIG provided March with the dashcam footage from 813R and 845R and the security camera footage from Dunkin’ Donuts.

On April 26 and April 27 of 2016, OIG investigators interviewed March under oath after informing him of his administrative advisements orally and in writing. He provided oral and written acknowledgment of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. March’s attorney, James McKay, was present for the interview. In summary, March stated as follows.

As of October 20, 2014, March was a CPD detective assigned to Area Central. March worked on a homicide team that was supervised by Gallagher. That team had two lieutenants, Wojcik and Osvaldo Valdez. Their commander at the time was Eugene Roy.

On the night of October 20, 2014, March was on-duty at Area Central headquarters when he received a call from Gallagher. Gallagher informed him that there had been a police-involved shooting and that the case was going to be assigned to March. March then drove to the scene of the shooting by himself.

When March arrived, he had a brief conversation with Gallagher, who identified the shooter as Van Dyke and told March where Van Dyke was. March located Van Dyke, who was standing outside his vehicle, introduced himself and told Van Dyke he was the detective assigned to do “the immediate follow-up investigation.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 64:18-9. March asked Van Dyke if he was okay and Van Dyke proceeded to provide March with a narrative of what occurred prior to and during the shooting. No one else was present during their conversation. In that initial conversation, Van Dyke told March, among other details, that he and Walsh exited their vehicle, drew their weapons and pointed them at McDonald. Van Dyke shouted to McDonald multiple times “Drop the knife. Drop the knife.” However, McDonald did not make any indication that he was going to drop the knife. McDonald continued walking generally in a southbound directions and when he got 10 to 15 feet away from Van Dyke, turned directly towards Van Dyke and began to bring the knife in his right hand up and point it at Van Dyke. Van Dyke said that at that moment he felt McDonald was beginning to attack him and fired his handgun at McDonald in defense of his life.

With respect to his initial interview of Van Dyke, March stated: “I didn’t take the time to write down everything he was telling me. I took a few quick notes identifying who he was . . . .” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 73:2-4. March further stated: “[I]t was later on, once we had most of the facts, that I took the time to stand there with him and actually, you know, write down the story so I accurately had what he remembered.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 73:17-21. March did not know how much time transpired between his first and second interview of Van Dyke.

March then spoke to Walsh. According to March, Walsh relayed information similar to what Van Dyke had told him. March took “initial cursory notes” during his interview of Walsh and then interviewed Walsh again later. March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 76:4-5. During that second conversation, March took notes on a GPR form.

March eventually spoke to the other eight officers who were present when Van Dyke shot McDonald, but he did not recall the order in which he did so. March stated that for each of those officers, “[t]here were two primary interviews, one was the initial first verbal interview to find out what that officer’s involvement was. And then ultimately I went back and actually, when I had the time, once things slowed down a little bit and I had the time, I took a more detailed GPR of what each of those officers told me.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 92:14-21. March did not have an independent recollection of “any differences or additions between the first verbal interview and the second interview where [he] created the GPRs.” March 4/27/16 OIG Tr. 132:22-133:1.

March stated that he may have had follow-up questions for certain of the officers as he was being asked questions by his chain of command. March later added that during his initial conversations with the officers he may have noted in a GPR their names, star numbers, and whether they were the passenger or driver of their vehicle. March did not interview any other officers or civilian witnesses at the scene. March did not believe that he talked to anyone from FOP at the scene.

With respect to his interviews of Fontaine, March said he spoke to her alone, “probably somewhere near her police vehicle.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 128:14-5. March denied fabricating any of the statements attributed to Fontaine in the 301 CSR or the GPR relating to Fontaine’s interview. March claimed that Fontaine stated to him on October 20, 2014, that McDonald raised his right arm toward Van Dyke as if attacking him.

After March had his initial conversation with Walsh, he then went to 813R and saw the dashcam video captured by 813R’s in-car video system on a small monitor in the vehicle. March sat in the driver’s seat of the vehicle to watch the video, which was “queued up to just immediately prior to the confrontation between McDonald and Van Dyke.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 91:1-2. March estimated that he ultimately watched the 813R video three to five times at the scene of the shooting.

March also watched the Dunkin’ Donuts video at the scene of the shooting. Detective Richard Hagen played it on his laptop out on Pulaski after he had recovered it from the Dunkin’ Donuts. March said he was sure other people were present when he watched the video, but he could not recall who those people were.

When Deputy Chief David McNaughton, who functioned as the on-call incident commander, arrived to the scene, March gave him a briefing on the incident. March and McNaughton then did a ride-through in McNaughton’s vehicle of the relevant sites and locations, starting with the trucking lot at 41st and Kildare. March thought that ride-through took place in the middle of March’s officer interviews.

While at the scene of the shooting, March also had a series of conversations with Gallagher in which March and Gallagher informed each other what other personnel were doing or had learned. More specifically, March said that he was conducting officer interviews while CPD personnel were attempting to recover video from the area and conducting a canvass to identify potential witnesses.

March left the scene of the shooting “well after midnight” and drove to Area Central. March believed that Detective Hagen rode with him. When he and Hagen left, the forensics personnel were “finishing up odds and ends” at the scene and Pulaski was close to being reopened. March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 158:3.

b) Area Central

Once March arrived at Area Central, he collected documentation from the police personnel involved in the investigation, including the original case report authored by an 8th District beat car, the reports concerning the activities of the forensics services people, and the other detectives’ GPRs. March also conferred with Gallagher multiple times regarding the coordination of activities at Area Central. Sergeant Lance Becvar had uploaded the 813R dashcam video into the CPD server and someone made it available for viewing in one of the Area Central side offices on the second floor. March looked at that video more than one time at Area Central “to make sure [he] had a good comprehension of what was shown on the video.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 184:23-185:1. March “may have” told the police officers that it was available for viewing. March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 185:1. According to March, on certain occasions there might have been someone “standing behind me who was curious that was also watching it . . .” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 187:19-20. March denied specifically going into that side office to view the video with anyone. Rather, “[i]f someone followed me in there, or, like I said, if somebody was curious and wanted to see the video, they might have been looking over my shoulder.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 188:2-5. March did not recall having conversations with anyone at Area Central that night while they were watching the 813R video.

March conducted an additional interview of Van Dyke at Area Central the night of the shooting. Gallagher was present for most of the interview. March did not conduct any other interviews at Area Central that night. When asked what the purpose of that interview was, March responded: “He was the principal member involved in this incident, and I wanted to make sure I had all of the details from him that I needed to be thorough and complete.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 195:9-12. March added that he wanted to make sure that the notes he had taken on the scene were accurate in terms of Van Dyke’s recollection of the incident and to see “if there was anything else he had – he had recalled that needed to be documented.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 196:17-9. Van Dyke provided a narrative of the shooting to March, and March compared that narrative to the notes he had taken before. March created a new GPR in which he added any additional information Van Dyke provided during the Area Central interview. According to March, the narrative of the shooting Van Dyke provided at Area Central did not differ at all from the narrative he provided at the scene of the shooting. March denied that he intentionally failed to take notes of Van Dyke’s Area Central narrative to prevent Van Dyke from making inconsistent statements. With respect to the allegation that March failed to properly and thoroughly document Van Dyke’s Area Central statement, March stated: “There is no way to properly and thoroughly fill out a GPR. It’s whatever notes the detective deems necessary.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 239:8-10.

According to March, the detectives assigned to the investigation did not meet at Area Central that night to discuss their findings. However, March acknowledged that he and Gallagher communicated to each other at Area Central that they both thought Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald was justified. March also communicated with McNaughton at Area Central regarding the investigation and McNaughton stated that “he thought, from everything he was aware of, that everything was fine also with the incident and the investigation and the use of force.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 211:7-10.

c) Post-Area Central Investigative Activities

On October 21, 2014, CPD detectives located the original 911 caller’s wife and interviewed her. CPD also recovered additional video that day. On October 22, March interviewed Rudy Barillas. In addition, after a major case review was conducted at the Illinois State Police crime lab regarding the processing of evidence in the McDonald investigation, March prepared an evidence submission report requesting that the lab analyze certain evidence. In addition, March collected all the documentation and reports so he would have everything he needed for the case file.

On October 29, 2014, March submitted an Original Case Incident Report with the RD number HX486155. March confirmed that he drafted the narrative contained in that report. With respect to the new RD number, March explained that pursuant to the FBI’s Uniform Crime Reporting guidelines, once a detective concludes that an incident is a justifiable homicide, he or she must generate a second reporting number. With respect to the McDonald investigation, it was originally reported as an assault on a peace officer with a knife because Van Dyke and Walsh were saying that McDonald had assaulted them with a knife. The investigation continued under that designation “until we became confident that it was – you know, the justifiable homicide and then we created the second [number].” March 4/27/16 OIG Tr. 108:3-5.

With respect to jurisdiction, March stated that, at the time of the shooting, for any incident where a police officer fires his handgun, CPD would conduct the “underlying criminal investigation,” and IPRA would investigate whether the officer’s use of the firearm or deadly force was appropriate. March 4/27/16 OIG Tr. 108:23. At the time of the McDonald investigation, “the Department’s policy was to never make a statement of – as to the justifiability as to the use of force because IPRA was conducting their investigation. We would just, you know, draw conclusions based on our investigation but not make a final statement as to whether or not the officer was justified.” March 4/27/16 OIG Tr. 117:1-9. March added: “it’s not our responsibility to make that determination as far as justifiable, and we really aren’t permitted to.” March 4/27/16 OIG Tr. 118:3-5.
During the course of the investigation, there were multiple meetings involving March and some combination of the following individuals: Hagen, Gallagher, Wojcik, Valdez, and Roy. According to March, “[a]t some of those meetings, we actually played the video again and reviewed to get, you know, everyone’s – weigh in with their opinion. And everyone was in agreement with the investigation and the conclusions reached as documented in this report.” March 4/27/16 OIG Tr. 72:8-13. March also stated that Roy would sometimes come to March with “a specific question about something, and then [the two] would talk at length about the other aspects of the investigation.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 257:16-19. March never had any meetings with Superintendent Garry McCarthy regarding the investigation.

In November and December 2014, March worked on the drafting of the CSRs “as much as [he] could.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 250:24-251:1. March described the investigation as a “major case” and said: “They don’t get much bigger in terms of priority.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 250:23-4. In January 2015, March and Wojcik learned that police officers with involvement in the McDonald shooting were being subpoenaed by the Cook County State’s Attorney’s Office and the FBI. March did not recall where or from whom he received this information. As a result, Wojcik told March to “hold off on doing anything” until they got some answers from their chain of command regarding the additional investigation. March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 251:19. The investigation was put on hold from the beginning of January to the beginning of March. In March, around the time the City was negotiating a settlement with McDonald’s family, Commander Eugene Roy ordered that the reports be done right away. Roy gave that order to Wojcik and Wojcik communicated it to March. March believed that directive was prompted by the legal settlement.

Upon receiving the order, March created the original draft of the 301 CSR and then Gallagher and Wojcik reviewed it. March explained: “Gallagher and Wojcik and I worked together, you know, to—rather than dumping it all on one guy, the three of us worked together.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 260:12-15. Wojcik, Gallagher, and March also had in-person meetings regarding the findings in the 301 CSR. All three were in agreement that the witness accounts were consistent with the videos of the shooting.

March noted that the 301 and 339 CSRs would normally have been combined into one report, with the 339 CSR being the first half of the report, listing the victims, witnesses, offenders, the evidence and police personnel involved, and the 301 CSR being the second half of the report, setting forth the narrative of the investigation. However, the resulting document would have had too many pages for CPD’s computer system so March broke it up into two reports. Wojcik and Gallagher played the same role in the creation of the 301 and 339 CSRs.

When asked whether anyone else was involved in the decision-making regarding the findings contained in the 301 CSR, March said that Valdez and Roy each, after attending executive management meetings in which the McDonald case was discussed, told Wojcik, Gallagher, and Roy that they agreed with their findings. No one other than Wojcik, Gallagher or March reviewed the 301 CSR prior to its final approval by Wojcik.

In response to the allegation that the 301 CSR falsely stated that the in-car camera videos recovered from 813R and 845R were consistent with the accounts of all the witnesses to the McDonald shooting, March stated that he believed that “the video is consistent with the statements of the witnesses, that’s why I stated that in the report.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 272:20-2. March added that he could and maybe should have included the Dunkin’ Donuts video in that finding. March was then asked to review certain statements in the 301 CSR and state whether he believed those statements were consistent with the 813R and 845R videos. March’s responses are summarized below:

March later added: “[McDonald is] not walking away from the officers . . . . When the distance between two bodies or two subjects decreases, they’re moving towards each other.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 317:9-318:1. March then claimed his report states that “both of the officers said in their statements that they were moving towards McDonald from the time they heard the call for assistance.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 323:9-12. March further stated: “[I]t was their job to approach him. And any inference that the fact that they took a couple of steps toward McDonald somehow mitigates what McDonald did or doesn’t justify what the officers did doesn’t make any sense to me. Yes, they took a couple of steps toward McDonald, but in the grand scheme of things of what this situation—what this incident entailed, it’s a very minor fact. And it’s obvious—you can see it in the video; I’m not hiding anything.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 323:23-324:10. Upon watching the 813R video, March stated that McDonald was advancing on Van Dyke from the time Van Dyke got out of 845R until shots were fired at 9:57:36 p.m. according to the 813R video’s embedded timestamp.</td>

| 51 During March’s April 27, 2016 interview, he noted that McDonald was shot in the chest and opined that it was that gunshot wound that caused McDonald’s body to spin to the right. March further opined that McDonald had to be facing the officers when he was struck by that shot because otherwise he could not have been shot in the chest. | toward his left, squared his shoulders toward Van Dyke, and you can see in the video him begin to raise the knife with his right arm, and then the rest of the movement is blocked by his body.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 275:18-23. March added that “it appears that [McDonald] is raising the knife pointing it towards Van Dyke.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 276:5-6. March was then asked to identify where on the 813R video McDonald supposedly raised his knife across his chest and across his shoulder, pointing it at Van Dyke. March stopped the video approximately one second prior to the appearance of the 9:57:36 p.m. embedded timestamp and said: “Now you see the right arm has come up in front of his body. Now he’s going to continue to turn his body. You saw him begin to bring the right arm up, and now he’s going to turn the body. Now the arm is in front of his body because he’s bringing it around towards Van Dyke.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 289:21-290:3. |

| Van Dyke: “Van Dyke believed McDonald was attacking Van Dyke with the knife and attempting to kill Van Dyke.” | “[Y]ou see McDonald turn to his left towards Van Dyke and the right arm begin to raise until it’s out of view. And then we – from that particular video, you can’t see the perspective of what Jason Van Dyke saw. So there’s nothing inconsistent with what Van Dyke said.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 276:16-22. |

| Van Dyke: “In defense of his life, Van Dyke backpedaled and fired his handgun at McDonald to stop the attack.” | “Just prior to firing the handgun, Jason Van Dyke takes a couple of steps forward and then he begins to fire the handgun. And then because of the – I’m assuming it’s the movement of the car that has the dash cam, Van Dyke goes out of frame so then we can’t see what he’s doing while he continues to fire his handgun. So, again, there’s nothing inconsistent there.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 277:3-11. March added: “[I]f you look at the Dunkin’ Donuts video, it does look like there’s movement from right to left of both officers, Van Dyke and Walsh, which I found to be consistent with them saying that they were backpedaling.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 277:14-19. |
Upon being shown the Dunkin’ Donuts video, March stated that Van Dyke was backpedaling from 27:33 to 27:36 on that video. March then stated: “They did take a couple of steps forward, but that doesn’t mean, as I said, when they’re out of the frame of the dash cam video, which you can see is consistent in the Dunkin’ Donuts video, it does look like after that they did backpedal.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 324:18-23.

Van Dyke: “McDonald fell to the ground but continued to move and continued to grasp the knife refusing to let go of it.”

“While McDonald is on the ground, he continues to move. You can see his right hand. He continues to hold the knife and point it in the direction of Officer Van Dyke.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 279:5-8.

Van Dyke: “Van Dyke continued to fire his weapon at McDonald as McDonald was on the ground as McDonald appeared to be attempting to get up, all the while continuing to point the knife at Van Dyke.”

March stated: “From Jason Van Dyke’s perspective, he said it looked to him like he was getting up. I didn’t find anything in the video to be inconsistent with that, and that’s why I decided—I used that terminology that the video was consistent with what Van Dyke said.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 280:2-8.

Upon watching the 813R video, March stated that McDonald was making attempts to get up from the ground for a period of eight seconds, starting at 9:57:38 p.m. on the video. After asking for the 813R video to be paused with the embedded time stamp showing 9:57:38 p.m., March stated that “[h]e hit the ground and he’s already—his torso has moved from right to left already once right there.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 293:2-4. March later added: “[I]t looked to me like he was getting up, I don’t see anything inconsistent here.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 295:3-5.

Walsh: “Officer Walsh also backed up attempting to maintain a safe distance between himself and McDonald.”

March stated that Walsh’s statement was consistent with the 813R, 845R and Dunkin Donuts videos. Upon being shown the Dunkin’ Donuts video, March stated that Walsh was backpedaling from 27:30 to 27:33 on that video. March added: “Walsh backpedals farther [than Van Dyke], and that’s why he ends up obstructed by the police vehicle. But when he backpedals, he actually backpedals behind Van Dyke.” March 4/27/16 OIG Tr. 49:13-6.

Walsh: “McDonald ignored the verbal direction given by both Walsh and Officer Van Dyke and continue to advance toward the officers.”

towards the officers. The distance between McDonald and the officers decreased. And, again, we don’t have audio, but it’s clear that he is holding the knife and never drops it as he’s being ordered to.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 281:1-7.

Walsh: “When McDonald got within 12 to 15 feet of the officers, he swung the knife toward the officers in an aggressive manner.”

In response to the allegation that he falsely determined in the 301 CSR that McDonald initiated the imminent use of force likely to cause death or serious injury when he initiated an attack on Van Dyke and Walsh, March stated as follows: “I believe the video shows that Laquan McDonald turned towards the officers, raised his knife, and pointed it towards the officers. And that the video is consistent with the statement of both officers, Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh, that they believed they were being attacked by Laquan McDonald, that he was armed with a deadly knife attacking them, attempting to kill them or do great bodily harm to them.” March 4/27/16 OIG Tr. 93:9-19.

In response to the allegation that the 339 CSR falsely stated in the “Additional Just. Homicide Description” section that McDonald “attacked officer, that officer killed criminal,” March responded: “Those are not my words; that is a selection I made from the drop-down menu.” March 4/27/16 OIG Tr. 139:11-12. March explained that once they had determined that they were reporting a justifiable homicide, he had to pick from the drop-down menu the most appropriate classification. However, March then said that he believes the drop-down selection he made is a true statement.

When asked whether he would change anything about the 301 CSR, March stated: “[I]f I was writing the reports today, I would write it the same way because everything in this report is totally factual as far as I believe.” March 4/27/16 OIG Tr. 134:17-20.

e) March’s Statement

At the conclusion of his interview, March read a statement into the record. Included in that statement was the following description of the McDonald shooting:

Officers Walsh and Van Dyke drove further south on Pulaski and stopped the police vehicle ahead of McDonald. Walsh and Van Dyke both exited their vehicle and drew their handguns. The officers stood in the street facing northbound toward McDonald. Both officers were in uniform standing next to their marked police vehicle.

As McDonald approached southbound, he was holding the knife in his right hand in an underhand grip with the blade pointed forward. As he walked towards the officers, he swung the knife in an aggressive, exaggerated manner. Both officers ordered him to drop the knife multiple times. McDonald ignored these directions and continued to advance towards the officers with the distance between McDonald and the officers decreasing.

When McDonald got to within 10 to 15 feet of the officers, he looked toward the officers, squaring his shoulders in their direction. He raised the knife pointing it at the officers.

Officer Van Dyke, believing McDonald was attacking Van Dyke with the knife, attempting to kill Van Dyke, fired his handgun in self-defense – or in defense of his life to stop the attack.

McDonald fell to the ground but continued to move and continued to grasp the knife refusing to let go of it. Van Dyke continued to fire his weapon at McDonald as McDonald was on the ground as Van Dyke thought McDonald was attempting to get up, all the while continuing to point the knife at Van Dyke.

Van Dyke fired his pistol until the slide of the weapon locked in the rearward position indicating the weapon was empty. Van Dyke immediately loaded his weapon with a new magazine and assessed the situation. McDonald was no longer moving and the threat had been mitigated, so the officers approached McDonald. McDonald was still holding the knife in his right hand, and both officers continued to order him to drop the knife. Finally, Officer Walsh was able to approach McDonald and forcibly kick the knife out of his hand.

2. July 25, 2016 Interview

On July 20, 2016, pursuant to Section 6.1 of CBA between the City of Chicago and FOP, OIG, through CPD’s Bureau of Internal Affairs, served March with, among other documents, a Notification of Interview, Notification of Allegations, and a copy of the CCME ME2014-01071 Case Report.

On July 25, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed March under oath after informing him of his administrative advisements orally and in writing. He provided oral and written acknowledgment of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter.
March’s attorney, James McKay, was present for the interview. In summary, March stated as follows.

\[ a) \quad \text{CPD’s Notification of CCME} \]

CPD has to notify CCME “any time we are dealing with any kind of death . . . whether it be a natural death, suicide, homicide, whatever.” March 7/25/16 OIG Tr. 45:2-5. When March notifies CCME of a death, the investigator will ask him for the date and time he discovered the body, the location of the body, and the identity of the decedent. In addition, “they ask us for a brief summary of the circumstances under which we became aware of the – that there was a dead body.” March 7/25/16 OIG Tr. 47:18-20. March has communicated with Cook County personnel regarding death investigations on well over 50 occasions. March has seen CCME autopsy reports and toxicology reports, but had never seen a CCME case report prior to being provided the October 21, 2014 case report by OIG.

On October 20, 2014, March notified CCME of McDonald’s death while March was at the scene of the shooting. March explained that the detectives who had responded to Mount Sinai hospital, where McDonald had been transported, learned that McDonald had been pronounced dead by the attending physician. Those detectives informed Gallagher, who was the detective supervisor in charge of the scene, that McDonald was dead, and Gallagher then provided that information to March. March decided to call CCME himself because he felt he “had the most information in one place, so to speak.” March 7/25/16 OIG Tr. 51:16-7.

March called CCME from the scene of the shooting using his personal cell phone and spoke to CCME investigator Briggs. March believed that he had seen the 813R dashcam video prior to contacting Briggs. March’s first statement to Briggs was that he was notifying CCME of a police officer-involved shooting and that there was a dead body. Briggs then proceeded to ask March a series of questions and March provided Briggs information in response to those questions. March did not recall providing Briggs any information absent a prompting question from Briggs. March added: “[T]o the best of my knowledge, like I said, maybe he’s got a checklist that he goes through and he’s asking me to fill in the blanks of his checklist.” March 7/25/16 OIG Tr. 63: 4-7.

March was asked to review the second paragraph of the “Narrative” section of the CCME case report and, with respect to each sentence in that paragraph, state (1) whether he provided the information contained in that sentence to Briggs during their October 20, 2014 phone conversation; and (2) whether that information was accurate. March first stated that none of the statements in that paragraph were verbatim statements by him to Briggs. March’s further responses are summarized in the below table:

With respect to the accuracy of the sentence, March stated “most of the information in that first sentence is accurate except for the date of occurrence where he documented that I said or I related that the incident occurred on 19 October 2014.” March 7/25/16 OIG Tr. 64:8-11.</td>

March continued: “That having been said, I believe that the act of attacking the marked police vehicle associated with two uniformed police officers was, in fact a threat to the officers . . . .” March 7/25/16 OIG Tr. 67:9-12. Finally, March stated that McDonald’s knife was always referred to as a “folding knife, seven inches in overall length with a three-inch blade,” and that he never described the weapon as a “four-inch fold knife.” March 7/25/16 OIG Tr. 67:23-68:5.</td>

According to March, he did not provide to Briggs the majority of the information contained in the third paragraph of the case report’s “Narrative” section concerning the wounds McDonald sustained. March said he would have told Briggs the time that McDonald was pronounced dead and the name of the doctor. March noted that the detectives at the hospital provided him with a different spelling of the doctor’s name than the spelling Briggs used in his report. March claimed that he could not have told Briggs any of the information concerning McDonald’s gunshot wounds because at the time of his notification he only knew that Van Dyke had fired his weapon 16 times and that McDonald had been shot multiple times. March acknowledged that it was “certainly possible” that the detectives at the hospital, in addition to knowing the doctor’s name, were in possession of information concerning the location of McDonald’s gunshot wounds. March 7/25/16 OIG Tr. 78:15-6.\(^{52}\)

March did not recall whether he informed Briggs that there was video of McDonald’s shooting or whether Briggs asked him about the existence of video. March said he did not provide Briggs with McDonald’s zip code. With respect to the statement in the case report that “Subject was positively identified by the Chicago Police ICLEAR system based on a prior Chicago Police Booking Number IR2106340,” March said that he would have told Briggs that CPD had “tentative information” coming off McDonald’s ID, and that someone ran McDonald’s name in CPD’s system and came up with a possible IR number. March 7/25/16 OIG Tr. 89:5. Finally, March stated that “[t]here is no way that I told Investigator Briggs that the temperature at the scene that night was 52 degrees. Again, he obviously went to some internet source or something, some weather site and found – you know, just looked up the temperature.” March 7/25/16 OIG Tr. 102:6-12.

When asked whether he, at any time at the scene of the shooting on October 20, 2014, told an FOP representative that McDonald lunged at officers, March said that he “did not recall ever in the past almost two years ever characterizing or describing anything that Laquan McDonald did on the night of October 20th, 2014, as a lunge to anyone.” March 7/25/16 OIG Tr. 97:6-10. March further stated that he did not remember having any conversations with FOP representatives while at the scene of the shooting “regarding the details of what happened in this incident.” March 7/25/16 OIG Tr. 97:14-5. With respect to Pat Camden, March stated: “And I can tell you specifically Pat Camden – and I know who he is – I did not have any conversation with him at all that night.” March 7/25/16 OIG Tr. 98: 2-4. March added that there was “no way using the word ‘lunged’ as opposed to any other word would have made a difference to the Medical Examiner’s Office,” because their ultimate finding was going to be that the cause of death was multiple gunshot wounds. March 7/25/16 OIG Tr. 130:2-9.

V. ANALYSIS

OIG’s investigation established that March made material false statements and conclusions in the reports he drafted regarding his investigation, provided a false material statement to CCME concerning the circumstances of McDonald’s death, and failed to properly document his investigation. March’s violations constituted a knowing exaggeration of the threat posed by McDonald and established the false narrative that a backpedaling Van Dyke was forced to shoot an onrushing McDonald, while he was “lunging” at Van Dyke and Walsh with a knife.

March’s actions, individually and collectively, constitute violations of CPD Rules. Each of March’s false statements constitutes a violation of Rule 14 (making a false report, written or oral). His false statements also constitute violations of Rule 2 (engaging in any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department), and Rule 3 (failing to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy and accomplish its goals). In addition, March violated DDSOs 11-01, and therefore Rules 6 and 11 as well, by failing to thoroughly document his investigation. A detective who has made false statements in an official investigation has irrevocably tainted not only his credibility, but also the credibility of CPD—and also fails to promote CPD’s goal of employing individuals with personal integrity and professional devotion to law enforcement. March was the critical touchstone to a hub and spoke manufacturing of a manifestly false narrative that has resulted in grievous reputation harm to the Department and with it, injury to the reputation of its thousands of conscientious professional sworn personnel. Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD discharge March.

54 One of March’s October 20, 2014 GPRs lists the name of FOP representatives Kriston Kato and Marlon Harvey. OIG 15-0564 003263. The GPR does not provide any information regarding why he listed those individuals’ names.

A. March’s False Statements

1. The Purported Consistency of the Witness Statements with the Available Video

In the 301 CSR, March falsely reported that the recovered in-car camera video from Beats 845R and 813R was “consistent with the accounts of all of the witnesses.” During his OIG interview, March maintained that that statement was true, even after reviewing the 813R and Dunkin’ Donuts videos. See March 4/27/16 OIG Tr. 134:17-20 (“[I]f I was writing the reports today, I would write it the same way because everything in this report is totally factual as far as I believe.”). However, there are numerous witness statements contained in the 301 CSR that are clearly inconsistent with the recovered videos. Most notably:

- McDonald did not advance toward Walsh and Van Dyke after they exited their vehicles (Van Dyke, Walsh, and Sebastian)

As described in the Relevant Video Footage summary chart set forth above, see supra § IV(B)(3), by the time Van Dyke and Walsh exited their vehicle, McDonald was walking in a southwest direction away from Van Dyke and Walsh, who at all times prior to the shooting were east of McDonald. Thus, at no time during the encounter between McDonald and Walsh and Van Dyke did McDonald advance toward the two officers. Rather, it was the officers who moved northward or west/southwestward, toward McDonald, as he continued to walk in a southwest direction. March ultimately acknowledged that fact:

[I]t was [the officers’] job to approach him. And any inference that the fact that they took a couple of steps toward McDonald somehow mitigates what McDonald did or doesn’t justify what the officers did doesn’t make any sense to me. Yes, they took a couple of steps toward McDonald, but in the grand scheme of things of what this situation—what this incident entailed, it’s a very minor fact. And it’s obvious—you can see it in the video.”

March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 323:23-324:9. Therefore, the evidence establishes that McDonald did not advance toward Van Dyke and Walsh.

- McDonald did not raise his knife across his chest and over his shoulder and point his knife at Van Dyke (Van Dyke); swing a knife toward Walsh and Van Dyke (Walsh), or raise his right arm toward Van Dyke, as if attacking him (Fontaine).

55 March acknowledged that he could and possibly should have included the Dunkin’ Donuts video in the finding that the witness accounts were consistent with the videos of the shooting.
The 813R dashcam video evidences that at no time during the period when Van Dyke and Walsh were outside their vehicle did McDonald raise the knife across his chest and over his shoulder and point the knife at Van Dyke. Seconds prior to the shooting, McDonald moved the knife from his right hip to the right side of his lower back, but this modest movement of the knife was not in the direction of Van Dyke and Walsh—Van Dyke and Walsh were in front of McDonald and to his left, and McDonald moved his knife behind his back, not in front of his body. March claimed that McDonald began raising his knife just prior to being shot, but that this movement was obscured by McDonald’s body. However, if McDonald had raised his knife over his shoulder, as if attacking Van Dyke, one certainly would be able to see that movement on the 813R video. However, that video establishes conclusively that McDonald never made such a move. In addition, Fontaine admitted that the statement attributed to her—that McDonald raised his right arm as if attacking Van Dyke—was not accurate. Accordingly, these statements of Van Dyke, Walsh and Fontaine are not consistent with the available video.

- Van Dyke did not backpedal before he fired his handgun at McDonald (Van Dyke)

Van Dyke’s statement that he backpedaled prior to shooting McDonald is clearly refuted by the 813R dashcam video and the Dunkin’ Donuts security camera video, which show that Van Dyke takes approximately three steps northwest/west toward McDonald before shooting him. At no time does Van Dyke move in a way that increases the distance between himself and McDonald. Rather, the video shows he either stayed still or moved toward McDonald. March himself admitted that “[j]ust prior to firing the handgun, Jason Van Dyke takes a couple of steps forward and then he begins to fire the handgun.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 277:3-6; see also March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 324:5-9 (stating that it was “obvious” that Van Dyke and Walsh took a couple of steps toward McDonald). Nevertheless, March still claimed that the Dunkin’ Donuts video showed Van Dyke backpedaling. That March refused to acknowledge the falsity of Van Dyke’s statement, even after being presented with the video evidence, demonstrates his inability to provide reliable testimony regarding the events of October 20, 2014.

- Walsh did not back up several feet prior to Van Dyke shooting McDonald (Walsh)

The video evidence reflects that Walsh also did not back away from McDonald prior to the shooting. Rather, Walsh moved northward and then westward toward McDonald, and then moved parallel to McDonald, crossing almost the entire left-turn lane on Pulaski in a southwest direction as McDonald continued to walk in a southwest direction. Walsh never moved in a way that increased the distance between himself and McDonald. Rather, the video evidence shows that Walsh either moved toward McDonald, moved parallel to McDonald, or stayed still. When shown the video evidence, March, instead of acknowledging the false nature of Walsh’s statement, claimed that he could see Walsh backpedaling on the Dunkin’ Donuts video. See March 4/27/16 OIG Tr. 49:13-6 (“Walsh backpedals farther [than Van Dyke], and that’s why he ends up obstructed by the police vehicle. But when he backpedals, he actually backpedals

56 Fontaine further stated that she never made the “as if attacking” statement to March.
behind Van Dyke.”). Again, March’s refusal to recognize the lack of backpedaling on the relevant videos reflects his inability or unwillingness to objectively view the evidence.

- McDonald did not attempt to get up after he was shot and fell to the ground (Van Dyke, Walsh, Viramontes)

The 813R dashcam video reveals that McDonald did not attempt to get up after he fell to the ground. Upon being shot and falling to the street, McDonald never moved his legs or lower body. In addition, the video only shows McDonald’s upper body making small, intermittent movements as what appears to be puffs of smoke rise from his body. Those small movements are not suggestive of a person trying to get to his feet. Accordingly, Van Dyke, Walsh, Viramontes’s statements that McDonald attempted to get up after he was shot are not consistent with the video evidence.

The above-identified false witness statements each served to exaggerate the danger McDonald posed to Van Dyke and Walsh, thus making Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald appear more reasonable than it otherwise would have. In this context, March’s finding that these false witness statements were consistent with the available video can be seen as a deliberate attempt to perpetuate the false narrative that Van Dyke shot an oncoming McDonald in response to McDonald’s potentially deadly knife attack. March was shown the videos of the shooting which objectively contradict these statements, and still he stood by his finding. Accordingly, March’s decision to continue to disregard the objective evidence is evidence of the intentional nature of his false statements.

2. McDonald’s Purported Initiation of an Attack on Van Dyke and Walsh

March also falsely determined in the 301 CSR that McDonald “initiated imminent use of force likely to cause death or serious injury when he initiated an attack on Officers Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh.” For the reasons set forth above, the evidence, including the available video, demonstrates that McDonald did not initiate an attack on Van Dyke and Walsh in which he used deadly force. March is the reporting officer for the 301 CSR and collaborated with Wojcik and Gallagher in reaching this finding. Thus, March is directly responsible for this finding, which constitutes a false statement.57

3. McDonald’s Purported “Lunging” at Officers

March, when notifying CCME of McDonald’s death, falsely stated that McDonald “lunged” at Van Dyke and Walsh with a knife. March provided his narrative to Briggs pursuant to an official Cook County investigation, and that narrative contains a false statement that directly relates to Briggs’s inquiry into the circumstances of McDonald’s death. Accordingly, March’s statement to Briggs violates Rule 14.

March did not contest the falsity of the statement, as he acknowledged—and video evidence

57 For similar reasons, the statement in the 339 CSR that “Criminal Attacked Officer That Officer Killed Criminal,” is also a false statement attributable to March.
confirms—that McDonald never lunged at Van Dyke and Walsh with a knife. Rather, March made self-serving denials regarding his provision of that statement. However, CCME investigator Earl Briggs’s case report must be credited over March’s denials because Briggs’s general documentation practice, which includes: (1) typing the information he receives from a detective directly into his report contemporaneously with the detective’s provision of that information; and (2) reading back to the detective the information he has entered into his report, serves to ensure the accuracy of his reporting of a detective’s statement. In addition, other than the typo concerning the date of the occurrence and Briggs’s description of McDonald’s knife, March conceded that a substantial portion of the factual information contained in the “lunged” paragraph was accurate and that he provided that information to Briggs.

Moreover, March’s attempts to impeach the credibility of Briggs’s report are not supported by police records and his own testimony. For example, March claimed that Briggs must have obtained certain of the factual information in his report from someone other than him. Specifically, March asserted that there was “no way” he told Briggs that the temperature at the scene was 52 degrees. March 7/25/16 OIG Tr. 102:6-8. However, March’s own GPR, dated October 20, 2014, described the weather that night as “Cloudy + cool – 50s.” Therefore, March was aware of the temperature on the night of October 20, 2014, at the time of his call with Briggs and certainly could have relayed that information to Briggs. Similarly, March contended that he could not have provided Briggs with information regarding the location of McDonald’s gun-shot wounds because he did not possess that information at the time of their conversation. However, March acknowledged that the CPD detectives who were at the hospital with McDonald’s body could have had that information, and further admitted that those detectives provided him with other medical information that evening, including the name of the doctor who pronounced McDonald. Thus, contrary to March’s claim, it is entirely plausible that March did have knowledge of the specifics of McDonald’s gun-shot wounds when he spoke to Briggs.

Finally, March did not have a credible explanation as to why Briggs would have erroneously inserted the word “lunged” into his report. Briggs’s only objective was to get an accurate account of the circumstances of McDonald’s death, and he had no reason to fabricate March’s statement. In contrast, March’s usage of the term “lunged” is consistent with at least one other statement that was made at the scene of the shooting. Specifically, FOP spokesperson Pat Camden described McDonald as “lunging” at officers in the statement he provided to the media that night. It thus strains credulity to conclude that Briggs, who did not have communications with CPD personnel other than March regarding his report, employed the word “lunged,” as opposed to March, who was at the scene at the approximate time Camden was using that same word to describe McDonald’s actions.

58 March himself noted that the reason he personally called CCME was because information was being funneled to him by CPD personnel, and he, as a result, “had the most information in one place, so to speak.” March 7/25/16 OIG Tr. 51:16-7.

59 Briggs also had minimal time to conduct a broader informational outreach regarding the circumstances of McDonald’s death, as he completed his report less than two hours after receiving March’s notification.
4. The HX486155 Case Incident Report

Finally, March falsely stated in the HX486155 Case Incident Report that “McDonald committed aggravated assaults against the three officers, finally forcing Officer Van Dyke, in defense of his life, to shoot and kill McDonald.” As set forth above, the objective evidence belies the factual assertion that McDonald “forc[ed]” Van Dyke to shoot him. To the extent that March was making a legal conclusion regarding Van Dyke’s use of force, pursuant to the DDSOs, such a conclusion was not appropriate. See, e.g., DDSO 15-22 (prohibiting detectives from stating that the use of deadly force was justified).

B. March’s Failure to Properly Document his Investigation

March violated Addendum 1 to Detective Division Special Order (DDSO) 11-01, by failing to “thoroughly document relevant information discovered during the course of the investigation.” Specifically, Van Dyke provided March with narrative descriptions of his shooting of McDonald on three separate occasions on the night of October 20, 2014 and morning of October 21, 2014. However, March, knowing that Van Dyke had shot and killed McDonald, only made an official record of one of those narratives. March declined to document in any form his first conversation with Van Dyke at the scene of the shooting, during which Van Dyke, according to March, provided a lengthy, detailed description of the events that culminated in his shooting of McDonald. Similarly, during March’s Area Central interview of Van Dyke, March only noted “Same Details” in the corresponding GPR, even though, as March acknowledged, Van Dyke provided another narrative regarding the shooting at that time. Although the DDSOs provide a detective some discretion regarding whether to take written or oral statements from eyewitnesses to a police-involved shooting, there is little justification for March’s failure to make a record of his lengthy investigative interviews of the person who was responsible for that police-involved shooting. March’s failure to thoroughly document the interviews of Van Dyke he conducted at the scene of the shooting and Area Central therefore violated DDSO 11-01.

VI. Recommendation

March’s false reports raise significant concerns regarding his credibility and ability to perform his duties as a sworn officer. As a sworn officer, March’s reports are relied upon in criminal legal proceedings and his credibility is therefore critical to his position. An officer who has made false statements in an official investigation has irrevocably tainted his credibility and has wholly disqualified himself from effectively executing core police functions. Based on this conduct he may be the subject of cross-examination in any contested proceedings in which he may appear as a witness, see Fed. R. Evid. 608(b) (“Specific instances of conduct”), and his conduct and the findings resulting from this investigation would further qualify as impeachment.

60 This specific violation of March’s fits into a larger pattern of sub-standard investigative practices, as he failed to document his initial interviews of any of the ten officers who were present when Van Dyke shot McDonald.

61 In addition, March’s reporting of his investigation did not comport with DDSO 15-22 because he (1) reported the facts detailing the investigation under the aggravated assault RD number (HX475653) as opposed to the justifiable homicide RD number (HX486155); and (2) reached a conclusion in the 301 CSR as to whether Van Dyke’s use of deadly force was justified.
material that should, in principle, be disclosed in any contested proceeding involving the official records or testimony March generates. See Giglio v. United States, 405 U.S. 150 (1972) (requiring disclosure in criminal case of information impeaching of government witness’s credibility). Illinois courts have repeatedly noted that “as guardians of our laws, police officers are expected to act with integrity, honesty, and trustworthiness” and have found intentional false or misleading statements by police officers to be sufficient cause for termination. Rodriguez v. Weis, 408 Ill. App. 3d 663, 671 (1st Dist. 2011) (quoting Sinderman v. Civil Service Comm’n, 275 Ill. App. 3d 917, 928 (2nd Dist. 1995)). OIG therefore recommends that CPD discharge March and refer him for placement on the ineligible for rehire list maintained by the Department of Human Resources.

VII. CPD Rule Violations

Rule 2 Any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department.

Rule 3 Any failure to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy or accomplish its goals.

Rule 6 Disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral.

Rule 11 Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.

Rule 14 Making a false report, written or oral.
Appendix A
This report consists of a summary of the evidence set out in the attached investigative materials and the Office of Inspector General’s (OIG’s) analysis of that evidence. An index of the investigative materials is attached.

I. INTRODUCTION

An OIG investigation has established that Joseph McElligott, a police officer for the Chicago Police Department (CPD) who was at the scene when Officer Jason Van Dyke shot Laquan McDonald on October 20, 2014, failed to follow CPD Rules regarding the operation of CPD’s in-car video systems. More specifically, and as detailed below, McElligott failed to ensure that his vehicle’s in-car video system was capturing audio of the October 20, 2014 shooting. Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD impose discipline upon McElligott commensurate with the seriousness of his misconduct, his discipline history, and department standards.

II. APPLICABLE RULES, REGULATIONS, AND LAW

A. CPD Rules and Regulations

CPD’s Rules and Regulations set out the standards of conduct and duties of sworn members. Article V of the CPD Rules and Regulations, entitled CPD Rules of Conduct (the CPD Rules), sets forth specifically prohibited acts. In pertinent part, the CPD Rules include the following prohibitions:

Rule 6 Disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral.

Rule 11 Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.

B. CPD Special Order S03-05 (effective February 23, 2012 through February 24, 2016)

CPD Special Orders are directives that establish protocols and procedures concerning specific CPD functions, operations, programs, or processes. Special Order S03-05, which was in effect at the time of the shooting, outlines the protocols CPD members are to follow regarding in-car video systems.¹ Section VI of the Special Order provides that at the beginning of their tour of duty, Department members assigned to a CPD vehicle equipped with an in-car video system are to:

(1) visually inspect the in-car video system equipment for damage;

¹ In-car video systems are also referred to as dash cameras or dashcams in this report.
(2) obtain the remote transmitter/audio recorder and ensure it is securely attached to the member’s person; and

(3) follow the start-up procedures for the in-car video system as trained and ensure the system is working properly.

The Special Order notes that members are to “immediately notify a supervisor if, at any time, the in-car video system is inoperable, damaged, the equipped vehicle becomes inoperable, or the remote transmitter/audio recorder is missing.” During their tour, members are to “audibly and visually record events in accordance with this directive.” At the conclusion of a tour of duty, members are to “verify the in-car video system is working properly.”

III. JOSEPH MCELLIGOTT EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

McElligott has worked as a CPD Police Officer since August 27, 2001. McElligott is a member of Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) Lodge 7.

IV. SUMMARY OF INVESTIGATION

A. Procedural History of OIG’s Investigation

By letter, dated December 8, 2015, Independent Police Review Authority (IPRA) Acting Chief Administrator Sharon Fairley requested that OIG conduct an administrative investigation “to determine whether certain police officers/witnesses made false statements on official reports prepared in connection with [Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald] and/or during the investigation of the incident.” IPRA further requested that OIG investigate “whether any of the involved Chicago Police officers committed any other violation(s) of Chicago Police Department rules, policies or procedures in their involvement with the incident, including, but not limited to, whether any officers’ conduct may have interfered with or obstructed the appropriate investigation and handling of this matter.”

Then, by letter, dated January 13, 2016, CPD Interim Superintendent John J. Escalante requested that OIG conduct an “administrative investigation into any and all allegations of police officer misconduct” arising out of the October 20, 2014 shooting death of McDonald. The Superintendent’s request asked OIG to investigate the following allegations: “whether any officer(s) made false statements on official reports submitted in connection with the shooting of Laquan McDonald on October 20, 2014; whether any officer(s) obstructed or interfered with the investigation of this incident, either individually or in collusion with others; and whether any officer(s) committed any violation of Chicago Police Department rules, policies, or orders in connection with their response and/or handling of this matter.” Escalante attached to the letter request a copy of Sergeant Sandra Soria’s Initiation Report, which raises allegations of misconduct related to the in-car video systems of the vehicles that were present during the McDonald shooting, and identified that Report as a basis for OIG’s administrative investigation.

On March 10, 2016, Kevin Kilmer, Financial Secretary for the FOP, filed a grievance with CPD on behalf of all affected members stating that OIG’s attempts to conduct CPD officer interviews violated Article 6 of CPD’s Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) with the FOP.3 On March 16, 2016, FOP on behalf of all impacted CPD officers filed a “Complaint for Injunction in Aid of Arbitration” in the Circuit Court of Cook County, asking the court to enjoin OIG from conducting interviews until the grievance was decided in arbitration.4 The court dismissed the complaint and denied the injunction on March 22, 2016.

OIG’s administrative investigation of other CPD employees’ actions related to CPD’s handling of the McDonald investigation is ongoing. During the course of its investigation, OIG has gathered documents from CPD and IPRA, among other sources, and conducted numerous interviews, including interviews of several CPD personnel who were at or responded to the scene of the shooting and civilian witnesses to the shooting. To date in its ongoing investigation, OIG has recommended disciplinary action against multiple CPD personnel.

B. The Events of October 20, 2014

The following sections detail the shooting of McDonald, as well as the relevant events that occurred directly before and after the shooting.5

and Rudy Barillas, were parking a truck in a lot at 41st Street and Kildare Avenue when saw a black male, whom she subsequently identified as McDonald, attempting to steal property from certain vehicles parked in the lot. Barillas told McDonald to leave the lot. McDonald responded by making growling noises. After Barillas again told McDonald to leave the lot, McDonald pulled out a knife and swung it at Barillas. Barillas, who

3 Section 6.1, Paragraph I of the CBA states, “If the allegation under investigation indicates a recommendation for separation is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the statutory administrative proceeding rights, or if the allegation indicates criminal prosecution is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the constitutional rights concerning self-incrimination prior to the commencement of interrogation.” CPD General Order GO8-01-01, Paragraph K contains similar language.

5 On April 22, 2016, OIG obtained maps of the locations that are relevant to the shooting from Google Maps and included those maps in Appendix A. Those maps generally reflect the street layout and location of relevant businesses as they were on the night of October 20, 2014.

6 The following account of and Barillas’s encounter with McDonald is taken from the March 16, 2015 case supplementary report (CSR) submitted by CPD Detective David March, which includes the statements that and Barillas provided to CPD on October 21, 2014, and October 22, 2014, respectively. had already called 911, then threw his cell phone at McDonald. McDonald ran from the lot, first northbound on Kildare and then eastbound on 40th Street.

2. Officers Thomas Gaffney and Joseph McElligott’s Encounter with McDonald

McElligott and his partner, Officer Thomas Gaffney, received a call over the radio that someone had broken into a truck at 4100 South Kildare and were dispatched to the scene. Gaffney was driving, and McElligott was in the passenger seat of their assigned vehicle, 815R. When they arrived at 4100 South Kildare, they saw a Hispanic male and female standing by the gate to the truck yard. The two said that a black male wearing a black shirt, later determined to be McDonald, had been trying to steal the radio out of a semi-truck, and had subsequently headed north toward 40th Street.

Gaffney and McElligott drove north on Kildare, turned right onto 40th Street, and saw McDonald walking east on the south side of 40th Street. McElligott exited the vehicle and commanded McDonald to stop and turn around. Gaffney stayed in the vehicle in case McDonald attempted to flee. McElligott ordered McDonald to take his hands out of his pockets. McDonald, who had been facing McElligott, turned and walked away with one hand still in his pocket. McDonald then turned again and took both of his hands out of his pockets. He had a knife in his right hand. McElligott drew his weapon and told McDonald to drop the knife. McDonald started walking east again, going from the sidewalk to the street and back. McElligott

8 The following account of Gaffney and McElligott’s encounter with McDonald is taken from (1) the audio-recorded statements Gaffney and McElligott provided to IPRA on October 21, 2014, OIG 15-0564 000482-98, 000610-30; and (2) the March 16, 2015 CSR submitted by Detective David March, which includes the statements that Gaffney and McElligott provided to March on the night of the McDonald shooting. followed McDonald on foot, shining his flashlight on him, while Gaffney followed in 815R, parallel to McDonald.

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Karlov, Gaffney turned his car toward McDonald to direct him down Karlov. Gaffney wanted to keep McDonald away from Pulaski, which was a more populated area. McDonald then swung his arm and popped 815R’s right front tire with his knife. McElligott was toward the back of 815R when McDonald popped its tire. After McDonald took a step back from the vehicle, Gaffney pulled up further in front of him to stop him from proceeding to Pulaski. McDonald then hit the right side of 815R’s windshield once with the knife in his right hand. The windshield did not break but, according to Gaffney, McDonald hit it as hard as he could. McDonald walked around the front of 815R and continued eastward on 40th Street. After McDonald had walked 10 to 15 feet, another squad car turned off of Pulaski onto 40th Street with its lights on, and McDonald began to sprint. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, and Gaffney followed McDonald in 815R. McDonald ran eastbound through a parking lot of a Burger King located at 40th and Pulaski and then headed southbound on Pulaski. Video footage from several cameras captured McDonald’s movements as he reached Pulaski.

3. Summary of the Relevant Video Footage

The below table contains a summary of the relevant video footage of the McDonald shooting, which includes the dashcam videos from 813R, 823R, and 845R, video from the “WNE fire exit” security camera from the Greater Chicago Food Depository, which is bordered by 40th Street to the north, Karlov Avenue to the east, and Keeler Avenue to the west, and the security camera video from the Dunkin’ Donuts, located at 4113 South Pulaski Road (the DD Camera).

4. CCSPD Officer Accounts of the October 20, 2014 McDonald Shooting

While on patrol on October 20, 2014, CCSPD Officers Adam Murphy and Jeff Pasqua observed several CPD police vehicles pass by them. Both officers decided to follow the CPD vehicles. When they arrived at the scene, several CPD vehicles were already present—Pasqua estimated it was five or six. McDonald was lying on the pavement “gasping for his last breath of air.” Pasqua OIG Tr. 11:22-23. Meanwhile, the CPD officers were “standing around” and talking to each other. Murphy OIG Tr. 11:1. Murphy noted the CPD officers did not respond to him when he asked if they needed assistance. Murphy stated:

17 The last time stamp visible on the 813R dashcam video is 9:58:55.

18 OIG identified the CCSPD officer as Officer Adam Murphy.

19 The following CCSPD Officer accounts are taken from OIG’s June 23, 2016 interview of Jeff Pasqua and its June 24, 2015 interview of Adam Murphy. Pasqua and Murphy are currently CCSPD investigators.

I see there’s blood all over the pavement. [McDonald] was kind of gurgling when he was sitting there. I remember his mouth was going open and closed like he was trying to gasp for air. And I looked for everybody else, and they were kind of standing there. I just started taking my gloves—my rubber gloves out to check for a pulse and to see if I could render aid.

Murphy OIG Tr. 12:18-13:2. He heard someone say an ambulance was en route. Both Officers Murphy and Pasqua recalled then watching McDonald take his final breaths. It was “[m]aybe less than a minute before [McDonald] expired.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:15-16. At no time did any CPD officers attempt to provide aid or comfort McDonald—Murphy stated, “That’s why I felt that I needed to go up to him.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:11-12.

After McDonald passed away, Murphy got up from beside him and noticed the shooting officer, who he now knows to be Van Dyke, “pacing back and forth in front of his car.” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:7-8. Murphy approached him and told him to sit down and drink water. As he was speaking with Van Dyke, Murphy “heard several officers telling [Van Dyke] to call your union rep, call your union rep.” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:16-17.

Murphy and Pasqua departed after approximately ten minutes on the scene when a CPD sergeant told them CPD did not need their assistance. At the time they left, there was “[a] sea of CPD” on scene. Murphy OIG Tr. 38:3; Pasqua OIG Tr. 25:7-8.

A. McElligott’s Statements Regarding the McDonald Shooting

1. October 20, 2014 Statement to Detective David March

On March 15, 2015, Detective David March submitted a case supplementary report (CSR) with the R.D. Number HX475653 that contains a summary of CPD’s investigation. Lieutenant

20 In a January 22, 2016 OIG interview, CPD Area North Commander Kevin Duffin stated CPD police officers have a duty to render aid to injured civilians per general orders. Police officers render aid by calling dispatch and requesting that an ambulance be dispatched to the scene. According to Duffin, police officers are not required or expected to provide any more assistance than this. On March 30, 2016, CPD issued General Order G03-06 which requires that the involved member(s) “request medical attention for the injured, and also offer immediate medical aid commensurate with their training, experience, and available equipment.”

21 The Medical Examiner’s Case Report states McDonald was pronounced dead “on view” at Mount Sinai Medical Center on October 20, 2014, at 10:42 p.m. OIG 15-0564 015029.

22 OIG 15-0564 003068–69.

23 CPD’s investigation in the aftermath of the McDonald shooting was reported under record number HX-475653, and most reports were classified as an investigation into an aggravated assault in which McDonald was the offender. In a few reports, the case was classified as an investigation into a justifiable homicide of which McDonald was the victim. An additional record number was also created and classified as a justifiable homicide, apparently for recordkeeping purposes. In CPD’s investigative reports classified under the aggravated assault, CPD personnel
Anthony Wojcik approved the CSR on March 16, 2015. Included in that CSR is a summary of the statement that March obtained from McElligott at the scene of the shooting (referenced in part above in Section IV.B.2). Regarding his observations as McDonald reached Pulaski, McElligott stated the following:

When McDonald ran eastbound through the parking lot of the Burger King, Officer McElligott ran after McDonald in pursuit. McElligott ran out into the middle of Pulaski Road in pursuit of McDonald. McElligott heard multiple gunshots but did not see who fired the shots. The gunfire was continuous, one shot after another. McElligott then saw McDonald lying on the ground. McElligott saw Officer Joseph Walsh kick the knife out of McDonald’s hand.

2. October 21, 2014 Statement to IPRA

On October 21, 2014, at 4:36 a.m., IPRA investigator Brian Killen interviewed McElligott at Area Central Police Headquarters, located at 5101 South Wentworth, regarding the McDonald shooting. Attorney Dan Herbert and FOP Field Representative Kriston Kato accompanied McElligott. In summary, regarding his observations as McDonald reached Pulaski, McElligott stated the following.

As McElligott approached Pulaski, several squad cars were also approaching the area. One squad car traveling northbound on Pulaski started to do a U-turn, and McElligott stopped running to let the squad car pass. McElligott then stated: “And at that point [McDonald] turned around he, he’s goin’ um southbound slowly so I know they’re, they’re stopping right there. I hear the shots at that point. And uh when I approach I think I was running down maybe the middle that’s when I saw the offender layin’ on the ground.” McElligott IPRA Tr. 9:31-10:5. McElligott then saw Walsh kick the knife out of McDonald’s hand.

B. Records and Interviews Concerning 815R’s In-Car Video System

On October 21, 2014, CPD Sergeant Lance Becvar submitted a supplementary report for R.D. No. HX475653 concerning his retrieval of video from the in-car video systems of the five CPD vehicles that were on-scene when Van Dyke shot McDonald. With respect to 815R (also referred to as vehicle 8489), the vehicle in which McElligott was the passenger on October 20, 2014, Becvar noted “Operational but due to disc error no video recorded.” Becvar also completed a corresponding “In Car Camera Video Retrieval Worksheet” regarding his October 20, 2014 video retrieval, in which he made the following notation with respect to 815R: “Processing video: extremely large video file.” On July 17, 2015, Becvar sent an email summarizing his findings regarding his October 20, 2014 video retrieval from 815R and the other four CPD vehicles that were on scene when Van Dyke shot McDonald. With respect to 815R, Becvar wrote as follows: “System not engaged because a very long video (like hours long) was made previous to this event/incident and the system was processing that video and unable to start another video.”

The in-car dash camera video recovered from 815R captured footage from 10:03:14 p.m. to 10:04:18 p.m.—after McDonald was shot—and only another squad car with flashing lights is visible. There is no sound on the video. The video does not display notations of “M1” or “M2” reflecting functioning microphones. In a January 27, 2016 OIG interview, Becvar stated that if a vehicle’s microphones were synced and functioning, its in-car video display and the recovered video would both show an on-screen “M1” (driver mic) and an “M2” (passenger mic). Becvar’s statement is corroborated by the in-car video system user manual, which establishes that officers are able to see “M1” and “M2” displayed on their in-car video system in real time as it is recording if the microphones are properly connected. The user manual further reflects that the in-car video system display contains a “camera preview” that “displays the image as seen through the camera lens. The default image is set as the front facing camera.”

C. OIG Interview of McElligott

On April 21, 2016, pursuant to Section 6.1 of the CBA between CPD and FOP, OIG, through CPD’s Bureau of Internal Affairs, served McElligott with a Notification of Interview, Notification of Allegations, and copies of his prior statements, including: (1) his October 20, 2014 statement to Detective March, contained in the March 16, 2015 CSR; (2) March’s GPR containing his handwritten notes of his interview of McElligott; and (3) McElligott’s October 21, 31 OIG attempted to obtain the Supervisor’s Management Log from October 21, 2014, but CPD informed OIG that the log had been destroyed prior to the commencement of OIG’s investigation. Supervisor Management Logs are completed by shift supervisors, usually a sergeant, and list the personnel and assignments for a shift and whether the in-car camera was operable or inoperable.

2014 statement to IPRA. In addition, OIG provided McElligott with the dashcam footage from 813R and 845R and the security camera footage from Dunkin’ Donuts.

On May 9, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed McElligott under oath after informing him of his administrative advisements orally and in writing. McElligott provided oral and written acknowledgement of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. McElligott’s attorney was also present for the interview.

In summary, McElligott stated as follows. As of October 20, 2014, McElligott was assigned to CPD’s 8th District and was working with Gaffney, one of his regular partners.

1. The Scene of the Shooting

Immediately after McDonald was shot, McElligott stated he and the other officers on scene waited for an ambulance to arrive. McElligott recalled that his sergeant, Stephen Franko, arrived on the scene within minutes of the shooting. McElligott did not recall speaking with anyone on the scene about the shooting besides the detectives. He did not know the names of the two detectives who interviewed him. He stated, “I know I gave basically an on-scene interview, which was written down in notes on the hood of our squad car . . . .” McElligott OIG Tr. 48:9-11. McElligott and Gaffney were standing next to each other when they gave their statements. Franko may have been “lingering in and out” while they were speaking to the detectives. McElligott OIG Tr. 51:11. A couple of minutes after they gave their statements, McElligott and Gaffney accompanied the detectives to where they first encountered McDonald and gave another run through of their encounter with McDonald. The detectives checked to see if any cameras caught the incident.

McElligott reviewed the statements attributed to him in the March 16, 2015 CSR summarizing his interview with Detective March. McElligott stated the statement is a “shortened summary” of what he told the detectives. McElligott OIG Tr. 92:6-7. He stated: ‘There’s seconds missing. I was at the light. I waved a car ahead of me, and it did a U-turn in front of me. I heard the shots, and then after I started hearing the shots and saw that traffic was being blocked—because I believe 821 Robert completely cut off traffic at 40th Place, I think it is.” McElligott OIG Tr. 92:19-93:1. McElligott did not see Van Dyke shoot McDonald. He explained:

I was facing northbound when I first heard the shots. I was stopped at the light. There were squad cars coming at me and turning around. And the Mars lights that we have now are so bright that you can’t see very far ahead or next to them. One drove by me. I couldn’t see their VIN tag if I wanted to because they’re just so bright. And I was approaching the scene while shots were being made.

McElligott OIG Tr. 95:13-21.

After speaking with the detectives, an evidence technician came to recover their tire and take photographs of their squad car. At some point, someone came to download 815R’s dashcam video. McElligott stated the individual who came to download their video was “mumbling and cussing under his breath.” McElligott OIG Tr. 58:7. McElligott explained, “It’s like because he couldn’t—like, he was fumbling with the video or something with—I don’t know if he was having a hard time with it or if he didn’t know what was going on with it, but I remember him being mad.” McElligott OIG Tr. 58:21-59:2.

2. Area Central

McElligott and Gaffney drove to Area Central in their squad car approximately four or five hours after the shooting. McElligott believed they arrived at Area Central after all of the other officers who witnessed the shooting. He did not speak with any of the other officers regarding the shooting. At Area Central, an evidence technician finger printed and photographed McElligott. At some point, McElligott saw detectives watching the Dunkin’ Donuts video with Van Dyke and Walsh. He stated he watched the video over the detectives’ shoulders, but “didn’t see very much.” McElligott OIG Tr. 71:20. McElligott recalled the detectives pointing out that Walsh or Van Dyke were backpedaling. McElligott said he was not required to fill out an Officer’s Battery Report or Tactical Response Report because the detectives and Franko said he “wasn’t considered to be a victim.” McElligott OIG Tr. 75:18. McElligott then waited to give his statement to IPRA. McElligott left Area Central a couple of hours after McElligott gave his statement to IPRA.

3. Use of 815R’s In-Car Video System

McElligott had used vehicle 8489 several times before October 20, 2014. On that date, the car had a dashcam system. He reviewed CPD Special Order S03-05 outlining the protocol for in-car video systems. McElligott reviewed the provision in the order stating members must “obtain the remote transmitter/audio recorder and ensure it is securely attached to the member’s person.” McElligott OIG Tr. 117:18-20. When asked if he did that on October 20, 2014, McElligott stated, “We did not attach the audio recorder to our person.” McElligott OIG Tr. 118:1-2. He did not recall doing anything with the microphones upon entering his vehicle. When asked if he is supposed to report if the audio is not functioning in the system, McElligott stated: “I would think so, yes. I don’t recall specific times I’ve notified anybody about the audio.” McElligott OIG Tr. 126:22-24. McElligott noted that there used to be holders for the microphones to clip on to their uniforms, but CPD no longer provided them.

McElligott noted that he and Gaffney checked the camera on October 20, 2014 at the start of their tour and it was operational. They were able to log in to the system. McElligott was unable to explain why there was an hours long video that was unable to be processed.

V. ANALYSIS

OIG’s investigation established that McElligott violated CPD Rule 6 (disobedience of an order, namely S03-05) and Rule 11 (incompetency in the performance of a duty) by failing to audibly record events with his in-car video system. Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD impose discipline upon McElligott commensurate with the seriousness of his misconduct, his discipline history, and department standards.
As McElligott acknowledged, CPD did not recover any audio from 815R’s in-car video system. Additionally, CPD recovered only one minute of video from 815R’s system after the McDonald shooting. With respect to the video, Sergeant Becvar noted that the in-car video system was not engaged due to a disc error while processing a very long video, and there is no evidence that McElligott knew of the error. McElligott stated that he and Gaffney checked the camera at the start of their tour and found it operational. With respect to the audio, however, McElligott admitted that he did not attach the microphones to his person. 815R’s dashcam video further reflects that McElligott and Gaffney did not connect their microphones to 815R’s in-car video system because there is no “M1” or “M2” symbol visible at the top of the video footage from October 20, 2014 as there would have been if the microphones were connected. Thus, the evidence demonstrates that on October 20, 2014, McElligott failed to follow the in-car video system procedures set forth in S03-05.

McElligott’s failure to follow CPD’s in-car video system protocols prevented CPD from collecting potentially important, objective, technology-based evidence of the McDonald shooting. As a result, investigators are now forced to rely on McElligott’s subjective unrecorded oral account of the shooting. McElligott’s violation of CPD rules, also served to harm the relationship between CPD and the residents it serves. A functioning in-car video system is critical to CPD’s efforts to maintain accountability for its officers. That accountability, in turn, fosters the public’s trust in CPD. When accountability mechanisms fail, as they did in the present case, where only one of the five CPD vehicles present at the shooting captured video of the actual shooting and none of those vehicles captured audio, the public can lose faith in CPD’s commitment to accountability. Thus, as CPD works to rebuild the relationship between its officers and the greater Chicago community, it must ensure that its personnel understand the importance of keeping all aspects of CPD’s accountability framework, including in-car video systems, functional.

VI. RECOMMENDATION

OIG recommends that CPD impose discipline upon McElligott commensurate with the seriousness of his misconduct, his discipline history, and department standards.

VII. CPD RULE VIOLATIONS

Rule 6
Disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral.

Rule 11
Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.
Appendix A
This report consists of a summary of the evidence set out in the attached investigative materials and the Office of Inspector General’s (OIG’s) analysis of that evidence. An index of the investigative materials is attached.

I. INTRODUCTION

An OIG investigation established that David McNaughton, a Chicago Police Department (CPD) Deputy Chief who was the On-Call Incident Commander (OCIC) for the October 20, 2014 Laquan McDonald shooting, violated CPD Rules and Regulations when he approved false Tactical Response Reports (TRRs) and false Officer’s Battery Reports (OBRs) submitted by Officers Jason Van Dyke, Joseph Walsh, and Thomas Gaffney regarding the shooting. In addition, McNaughton falsely reported in Van Dyke’s TRR that McDonald “continued to approach” Van Dyke—then checked the box in Van Dyke’s TRR that states, “I have concluded that the member’s actions were in compliance with department procedures and directives,” and failed to mark the box stating that further investigation was required. Finally, McNaughton provided a false statement to CPD’s Office of News Affairs when he revised a CPD preliminary statement to say McDonald “continued to approach” Officers Van Dyke and Walsh. McNaughton’s creation and endorsement of false statements, despite objective evidence to the contrary, all served to establish a false narrative that McDonald initiated an attack on Officers Walsh and Van Dyke. McNaughton, as a CPD supervisory member, was accountable for the actions of his subordinates, and his failure to be a neutral, objective arbiter when evaluating a police-involved shooting brought discredit to the Department. Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD discharge McNaughton and refer him for placement on the ineligible for rehire list maintained by the Department of Human Resources.

II. APPLICABLE RULES, REGULATIONS, AND LAW

A. CPD Rules and Regulations

The “Rules and Regulations of the Chicago Police Department” set out the standards of conduct and duties of sworn members, including supervisory members, as well as CPD goals. The Rules and Regulations state that sworn members must “conduct themselves at all times in such a manner as will reflect credit upon the Department with emphasis on personal integrity and professional devotion to law enforcement.” Supervisory members “have the responsibility for the performance of all subordinates placed under them” and they “[r]emain accountable for the failure, misconduct or omission by their subordinates.”
Article V of the CPD Rules and Regulations, entitled CPD Rules of Conduct (the CPD Rules), sets forth specifically prohibited acts. In pertinent part, the CPD Rules include the following prohibitions:

Rule 2 Any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department.

Rule 11 Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.

Rule 14 Making a false report, written or oral.

B. CPD General Order G03-02-05 (effective October 1, 2002 through October 29, 2014)

CPD General Orders “are directives that establish critical policies directly related to the core values and functions of the Department or the broad organizational policies and key practices relating to those core values.” General Order G03-02-05 “identifies incidents which will require the completion of a Tactical Response Report.” It states that a TRR is used to document, among other things, all incidents “involving the discharge . . . of a firearm,” or “which involve a subject fitting the definition of an assailant whose actions are directed against a Department member.” Section II.C. states, “If the most serious use of force requires an investigation by an On-Call Incident Commander (OCIC), then the findings of all Tactical Response Reports resulting from the use of force by any member in that instance will be the responsibility of that OCIC.”

C. CPD Special Order S03-02-01 (effective October 1, 2002 through October 29, 2014)

CPD Special Orders are directives that establish protocols and procedures concerning specific CPD functions, operations, programs, or processes. Special Order S03-02-01 outlines CPD “investigative and reporting procedures in firearm discharge incidents.” Section VIII, listing the “On-Call Incident Commander Responsibilities,” states that one of the OCIC’s responsibilities is to “personally conduct an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the incident and make a preliminary determination as to whether the conduct of the member conformed to Department guidelines.” The OCIC must also “review all TRR(s) for legibility and completeness.”

III. DEPUTY CHIEF MCNAUGHTON EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

McNaughton has been a CPD member since December 16, 1991. On October 20, 2014, he was a Deputy Chief in the Patrol Bureau, assigned to Area Central. In December 2015, McNaughton was named the Deputy Chief of the Bureau of Support Services.
IV. SUMMARY OF INVESTIGATION

A. Procedural History of OIG’s Investigation

By letter, dated December 8, 2015, IPRA Acting Chief Administrator Sharon Fairley requested that OIG conduct an administrative investigation “to determine whether certain police officers/witnesses made false statements on official reports prepared in connection with [Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald] and/or during the investigation of the incident.” IPRA further requested that OIG investigate “whether any of the involved Chicago Police officers committed any other violation(s) of Chicago Police Department rules, policies or procedures in their involvement with the incident, including, but not limited to, whether any officers’ conduct may have interfered with or obstructed the appropriate investigation and handling of this matter.”

Then, by letter, dated January 13, 2016, CPD Interim Superintendent John J. Escalante requested that OIG conduct an “administrative investigation into any and all allegations of police officer misconduct” arising out of the October 20, 2014 shooting death of McDonald. The Superintendent’s request asked OIG to investigate the following allegations: “whether any officer(s) made false statements on official reports submitted in connection with the shooting of Laquan McDonald on October 20, 2014; whether any officer(s) obstructed or interfered with the investigation of this incident, either individually or in collusion with others; and whether any officer(s) committed any violation of Chicago Police Department rules, policies, or orders in connection with their response and/or handling of this matter.” Escalante attached to the letter request a copy of Sergeant Sandra Soria’s Initiation Report, which raises allegations of misconduct related to the in-car video systems of the vehicles that were present during the McDonald shooting, and identified that Report as a basis for OIG’s administrative investigation.

On March 10, 2016, Kevin Kilmer (Star # 7518), Financial Secretary for the FOP, on behalf of all affected members, filed a grievance with CPD stating that OIG’s attempts to conduct CPD officer interviews violated Article 6 of CPD’s Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) with the FOP. On March 16, 2016, FOP on behalf of all impacted CPD officers filed a “Complaint for Injunction in Aid of Arbitration” in the Circuit Court of Cook County asking the court to enjoin

1 On November 24, 2015, the Cook County State’s Attorney charged Van Dyke with a single count of first degree murder in the shooting of McDonald. On December 15, 2015, it subsequently charged him with six counts of murder. OIG has not been involved with any criminal investigation related to the shooting and makes no findings regarding Van Dyke’s use of force.

2 Section 6.1, Paragraph I of the CBA states, “If the allegation under investigation indicates a recommendation for separation is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the statutory administrative proceeding rights, or if the allegation indicates criminal prosecution is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the constitutional rights concerning self-incrimination prior to the commencement of interrogation.” CPD General Order GO8-01-01, Paragraph K contains similar language.
OIG from conducting interviews until the grievance was decided in arbitration. The court dismissed the complaint and denied the injunction on March 22, 2016.

OIG’s administrative investigation of other CPD employees’ actions related to the McDonald shooting is ongoing. During the course of its investigation, OIG has gathered documents from CPD and IPRA, among other sources, and conducted numerous interviews, including interviews of CPD personnel who were at or responded to the scene of the shooting and civilian witnesses to the shooting. To date in its ongoing investigation, OIG has recommended disciplinary action against multiple CPD personnel.

B. The Events of October 20, 2014

The following sections detail Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald, as well as the relevant events that occurred directly before and after the shooting.

1. and Rudy Barillas’s Encounter with McDonald

 and , were parking a truck in a lot at 41st Street and Kildare Avenue when saw a black male, whom she subsequently identified as McDonald, attempting to steal property from certain vehicles parked in the lot. told McDonald to leave the lot. McDonald responded by making growling noises. After again told McDonald to leave the lot, McDonald pulled out a knife and swung it at Barillas. Barillas, who had already called 911, then threw his cell phone at McDonald. McDonald ran from the lot, first northbound on Kildare and then eastbound on 40th Street.

2. Officers Thomas Gaffney and Joseph McElligott’s Encounter with McDonald

4 On April 22, 2016, OIG obtained maps of the locations that are relevant to the shooting from Google Maps and included those maps in Appendix A. Those maps generally reflect the street layout and location of relevant businesses as they were on the night of October 20, 2014.

5 The following account of and Barillas’s encounter with McDonald is taken from the March 16, 2015 case supplementary report (CSR) submitted by CPD Detective David March, which includes the statements that and Barillas provided to CPD on October 21, 2014, and October 22, 2014, respectively. OIG 15-0564 003077.

6 OEMC recordings reflect that Barillas called 911 at 9:45 p.m. stating that he was holding “a guy right hear [sic] that stolen [sic] the radios” from trucks in a truck yard located at “41st and Kildare.” OIG 15-0564 003077.

7 The following account of Gaffney and McElligott’s encounter with McDonald is taken from (1) the audio-recorded statements Gaffney and McElligott provided to IPRA on October 21, 2014; and (2) the March 16, 2015 CSR submitted by Detective David March, which includes the statements that Gaffney and McElligott provided to March on the night of the McDonald shooting. OIG 15-0564 000482-98, 000610-30, 003067–69.
that someone had broken into a truck at 4100 South Kildare and were dispatched to the scene. Gaffney was driving and McElligott was in the passenger seat of their assigned vehicle, 815R. When they arrived at 4100 South Kildare, they saw a Hispanic male and female standing by the gate to the truck yard. The two said that a black male wearing a black shirt, later determined to be McDonald, had been trying to steal the radio out of a semi-truck, and had subsequently headed north toward 40th Street.

Gaffney and McElligott drove north on Kildare, turned right onto 40th Street, and saw McDonald walking east on the south side of 40th Street. McElligott exited the vehicle and commanded McDonald to stop and turn around. Gaffney stayed in the vehicle in case McDonald attempted to flee. McElligott ordered McDonald to take his hands out of his pockets. McDonald, who had been facing McElligott, turned and walked away with one hand still in his pocket. McDonald then turned again and took both of his hands out of his pockets. He had a knife in his right hand. McElligott drew his weapon and told McDonald to drop the knife. McDonald started walking east again, going from the sidewalk to the street and back. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, shining his flashlight on him, while Gaffney followed in 815R, parallel to McDonald.

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Keeler, Gaffney reported to dispatch that McDonald was walking away with a knife in his hand. Gaffney and McElligott continued to follow McDonald as he headed east, with McElligott giving McDonald orders to drop his knife and stop. McDonald kept turning around and giving the officers a “weird glaze[d] look.” Gaffney IPRA Tr. 11:20. 11

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Karlov, Gaffney turned his car toward McDonald to direct him down Karlov. Gaffney wanted to keep McDonald away from Pulaski, which was a more populated area. McDonald then swung his arm and popped 815R’s right front tire with his knife. McElligott was toward the back of 815R when McDonald popped its tire. After McDonald took a step back from the vehicle, Gaffney pulled up further in front of him to stop him from proceeding to Pulaski. McDonald then hit the right side of 815R’s windshield once with the knife in his right hand. The windshield did not break but, according to Gaffney, McDonald hit it as hard as he could. McDonald walked around the front of 815R and continued eastward on 40th Street. After McDonald had walked 10 to 15 feet, another squad car turned off of Pulaski onto 40th Street with its lights on, and McDonald began to sprint. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, and Gaffney followed McDonald in 815R. McDonald ran eastbound through a parking lot of a Burger King located at 40th and Pulaski and then headed southbound on Pulaski. Video footage from several cameras captured McDonald’s movements as he reached Pulaski.

3. Summary of the Relevant Video Footage

The below table contains a summary of the relevant video footage of the McDonald shooting, which includes the dashcam videos from 813R, 823R, and 845R, video from the “WNE fire exit” security camera from the Greater Chicago Food Depository, which is bordered by 40th Street to the north, Karlov Avenue to the east, and Keeler Avenue to the west, and the security camera video from the Dunkin’ Donuts, located at 4113 South Pulaski Road (the DD Camera).12

12 In addition to the videos cited in the summary, OIG obtained video footage from the security camera videos at Burger King and Focal Point, and the dash camera videos from Vehicles 821R and 815R. These videos did not contain footage relevant to this report.

13 OIG confirmed the vehicle is 815R and the officer on foot is McElligott by comparing the video with photographs of the officers. OIG 15-0564 003356.
845R turns into the parking lot (813R). McDonald runs southeast through the Burger King parking lot out onto Pulaski (845R).

845R drives over the curb and sidewalk north of Burger King and heads south on Pulaski (845R); 813R turns around, turns right onto 40th Street, and then right again on Pulaski (813R); McDonald runs southbound in the middle of Pulaski and enters the intersection of 41st Street and Pulaski (813R).

845R, which is facing east/southeast on Pulaski just north of 41st street, turns right behind McDonald and proceeds south on Pulaski on the east side of the street; 845R’s passenger door briefly opens and then closes as it passes McDonald on his left; McDonald continues southbound on Pulaski, toward 822R, which is stopped in the middle of Pulaski facing north.

McDonald slows as he approaches 822R, touches his hands to his waist, and then, before Walsh and Van Dyke exit 845R and with 822R situated between McDonald and the officers, McDonald extends his right arm fully to his right—the video shows that he has a silver object in his right hand; 845R passes 822R and comes to a stop on the east side of Pulaski, facing south and almost directly south of 822R; Van Dyke opens 845R’s passenger door.

9:57:28 – 9:57:30

9:57:30 – 9:57:33
McDonald continues to walk southwest, from the middle of Pulaski to the lane markers that divide the west side of

4. CCSPD Officer Accounts of the October 20, 2014 McDonald Shooting\(^{18}\)

While on patrol on October 20, 2014, CCSPD Officers Adam Murphy and Jeff Pasqua observed several CPD police vehicles pass by them. Both officers decided to follow the CPD vehicles. When they arrived at the scene, several CPD vehicles were already present—Pasqua estimated it was five or six. McDonald was lying on the pavement “gasping for his last breath of air.” Pasqua OIG Tr. 11:22-23. Meanwhile, the CPD officers were “standing around” and talking to each other. Murphy OIG Tr. 11:1. Murphy noted the CPD officers did not respond to him when he asked if they needed assistance. Murphy stated:

\(^{15}\) OEMC records show that dispatch received notice to send an ambulance to the scene at 9:57:51. OIG 15-0564 003691.

\(^{16}\) The last time stamp visible on the 813R dashcam video is 9:58:55.

\(^{18}\) The following CCSPD Officer accounts are taken from OIG’s June 23, 2016 interview of Jeff Pasqua and its June 24, 2015 interview of Adam Murphy. Pasqua and Murphy are currently CCSPD investigators.
I see there’s blood all over the pavement. [McDonald] was kind of gurgling when he was sitting there. I remember his mouth was going open and closed like he was trying to gasp for air. And I looked for everybody else, and they were kind of standing there. I just started taking my gloves—my rubber gloves out to check for a pulse and to see if I could render aid.

Murphy OIG Tr. 12:18-13:2. He heard someone say an ambulance was en route. Both Officers Murphy and Pasqua recalled then watching McDonald take his final breaths.\(^{19}\) It was “[m]aybe less than a minute before [McDonald] expired.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:15-16. At no time did any CPD officers attempt to provide aid or comfort McDonald—Murphy stated, “That’s why I felt that I needed to go up to him.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:11-12.

After McDonald passed away, Murphy got up from beside him and noticed the shooting officer, who he now knows to be Van Dyke, “pacing back and forth in front of his car.” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:7-8. Murphy approached him and told him to sit down and drink water. As he was speaking with Van Dyke, Murphy “heard several officers telling [Van Dyke] to ‘call your union rep, call your union rep.’” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:16-17.

Murphy and Pasqua departed after approximately ten minutes on the scene when a CPD sergeant told them CPD did not need their assistance. At the time they left, there was “[a] sea of CPD” on scene. Murphy OIG Tr. 38:3; Pasqua OIG Tr. 25:7-8.

C. Documents Concerning the McDonald Shooting

1. Tactical Response Reports (TRRs)

On October 21, 2014, at 4:44 a.m., Van Dyke submitted a TRR with the R.D. Number HX475653 and an Event Number of 1429315878, regarding his October 20, 2014 encounter with “Lequan [sic] McDonald.”\(^{20}\) Under the heading titled “Assailant: Assault,” Van Dyke marked the box labeled “Imminent Threat of Battery.”\(^{21}\) Under the heading titled “Assailant: Battery,” he marked the box labeled “Attack with Weapon.” Under the heading titled “Assailant: Deadly Force,” he marked the boxes labeled “Uses Force Likely to Cause Death or Great Bodily Harm” and “Weapon.” Van Dyke specified in the TRR that the “offender’s weapon was a knife in his hand.”

\(^{21}\) Pursuant to the Illinois Criminal Code, a person commits battery when he or she knowingly and without legal justification “(1) causes bodily harm to an individual or (2) makes physical contact of an insulting or provoking nature with an individual.” 720 ILL. COMP. STAT. 5/12-3. A person commits assault when he or she, without lawful authority, “knowingly engages in conduct which places another in reasonable apprehension of receiving a battery.” 720 ILL. COMP. STAT. 5/12-1.
The back of Van Dyke’s TRR contains a section titled “76. Lieutenant or Above/OCIC Rationale for Box 77 Finding.” In that section, McNaughton typed the following: “Based upon information available at the time of this report It [sic] is the preliminary determination of the undersigned that Officer Van Dyke fired his weapon in compliance with Department policy. Officer Van Dyke fired his weapon in fear of his life when the offender while armed with a knife continued to approach and refused all verbal direction.”

Under “77. Lieutenant or Above/OCIC Finding Based Upon Currently Available Information,” McNaughton checked the box labeled “I have concluded that the member’s actions were in compliance with department procedures and directives.” McNaughton did not mark the box labeled “I have concluded that further investigation is required.” Under that box, there is a space for a “Log No./CR No,” which states, “1072125.”

McNaughton electronically signed Van Dyke’s TRR on October 21, 2014, at 4:58 a.m. He noted that a “TRR packet” would be forwarded to IPRA.

Walsh and Gaffney also submitted TRRs on October 21, 2014, at 5:04 a.m. and 5:15 a.m., respectively.22 Under the heading titled “Assailant: Assault,” they each marked the box labeled “Imminent Threat of Battery.” Under the heading titled “Assailant: Battery,” they marked the box labeled “Attack with Weapon.” Under the heading titled “Assailant: Deadly Force,” they marked the boxes labeled “Uses Force Likely to Cause Death or Great Bodily Harm” and “Weapon.” Walsh and Gaffney both specified in the TRRs that McDonald was “armed with [a] knife.” McNaughton electronically signed Walsh’s TRR at 5:12 a.m. and Gaffney’s TRR at 5:20 a.m.

2. Officer’s Battery Reports (OBR)

The OBR form states that it is to be completed when “a sworn member is the victim of a murder, aggravated battery, battery, aggravated assault, or assault while performing a police function either on-duty or off-duty.” Van Dyke, Walsh, and Gaffney completed and submitted OBRs with the R.D. Number HX475653 regarding their October 20, 2014 encounters with McDonald. The OBRs are nearly identical. They all state three officers were “battered.” Under the heading titled “Manner of Attack,” the officers each marked the box labeled “Stabbed/Cut (Including Actual Attempt).” Under the heading titled “Type of Weapon/Threat,” Van Dyke and Gaffney marked the boxes labeled “Knife/Other Cutting Instrument” and “Other/Specify.” Walsh only marked “Other/Specify.” All three officers specified the type of weapon/threat as a “Swinging Knife.” McNaughton electronically signed all three reports.

23 See also Special Order S04-13-01, issued on December 28, 2012, which outlines the procedures to be followed for the preparation of an OBR.

25 During his February 22, 2016 OIG interview, Walsh produced an OBR Summary from the CLEAR system, containing the same information as the October 21, 2014 OBR Walsh completed. It stated 3 officers were “Assaulted or Battered.” OIG 15-0564 006019–20.
3. October 21, 2014 Email between McNaughton and CPD’s Office of News Affairs

On October 21, 2014, at 12:25 a.m., CPD’s Office of News Affairs emailed McNaughton a “Preliminary Statement on Police Involved Shooting – 4100 Block of S. Pulaski.” It stated:

On Monday, October 20, 2014, at approximately 9:45 pm, officers assigned to the 008th District (Chicago Lawn) were on patrol in the vicinity of the 4100 block of S. Pulaski when they were responding to a call of holding an offender, when the officers arrived on scene they were met with the complaint [sic] who stated that an unknown subject was breaking into vehicles at that location. The officers approached the subject and announced their office. At which time the subject began to flee, a brief foot chase ensued. The offender produced a knife and proceeded to puncture the Chicago Police SUV tire, he then attempted to break out the driver side window of a responding unit. The officers ordered the offender to drop the knife. Refusing to comply with the officers’ commands, the offender then turned towards the officers and began to approach. As a result of this action the officer discharged his weapon, striking the offender. The offender was transported to an area hospital where he succumbed to his injuries. No officers were injured during the incident.

This matter remains under investigation and all further media inquiries can be directed to the Independent Police Review Authority at 312-446-3298.

At 3:23 a.m., McNaughton responded with a revised statement.

On Monday, October 20, 2014, at approximately 9:45 pm, officers assigned to the 008th District (Chicago Lawn) were investigating a 911 call of a subject who was breaking into vehicles in the vicinity of 41st and Karlov. Responding uniformed officers approached a subject who produced a knife and proceeded to puncture the front passenger tire and damage the front windshield of their marked Chicago Police vehicle. The offender fled with officers in pursuit. Near the intersection of 41st and Pulaski uniformed officers confronted the armed offender who refused to comply with orders to drop the knife and continued to approach the officers. As a result of this action the officer discharged his weapon, striking the offender. The offender was transported to an area hospital where he succumbed to his injuries. No officers were injured during the incident.

This matter remains under investigation and all further media inquiries can be directed to the Independent Police Review Authority at 312-446-3298.

The official statement from CPD’s Office of News Affairs was substantially similar to the statement McNaughton provided—it stated, in part: “Near the intersection of 4100 S. Pulaski, uniformed officers confronted the armed offender who refused to comply with orders to drop the knife and continued to approach the officers.”

4. IPRA Preliminary Statement from Walk-Through

IPRA Investigator Brian Killen drafted a memorandum with Log # 1072125 that included details of the McDonald shooting. It lists the involved officers as Van Dyke, Gaffney, McElligott, Daphne Sebastian, Janet Mondragon, and Walsh. It notes that IPRA arrived to the shooting scene at 11:15 p.m. The memorandum contains a “Preliminary Statement From Walk-Through,” which states the following, in part:

The following information was provided by On-Scene Incident Commander Dave McNaughton during a walk-through of the scene, it is based upon multiple layers of hearsay and is not verbatim. At 0100 hours, OCIC Dave McNaughton conducted the walk-thru [sic].

Officer Walsh drove their vehicle south past McDonald and stopped in front of him in the northbound lanes of Pulaski Road. Officers Walsh and Van Dyke exited their vehicle with their weapons drawn and ordered McDonald to drop his knife. McDonald did not drop his knife, and instead walked toward Officer Van Dyke in an aggressive manner by waving the knife back and forth. Officer Van Dyke then discharged his firearm sixteen times, striking McDonald several times. McDonald fell to the ground still holding the knife.

The memorandum also states that McNaughton told the IPRA investigators that several of the police vehicles on the scene had in-car cameras and they were attempting to retrieve all recordings. It further states: “McNaughton noted that based on the position of the police vehicle driven by Officers Sebastian and Mondragon (Beat 813R) at the time of the incident, their in-car camera may have the best line-of-sight to the incident.”

D. OIG’s Interview of Deputy Chief McNaughton

On May 16, 2016, pursuant to CPD General Order 08-01, OIG, through CPD’s Bureau of Internal Affairs, served McNaughton with a Notification of Interview, Notification of Allegations, and copies of the TRRs and OBRS he reviewed and approved. In addition, OIG

provided McNaughton with the dashcam footage from 813R and 845R and the security camera footage from Dunkin’ Donuts.30

On May 25, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed McNaughton under oath after informing him of his administrative advisements orally and in writing. He provided oral and written acknowledgement of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. McNaughton’s attorney, Thomas Pleines, was also present for the interview. In summary, McNaughton stated as follows.

McNaughton was a Deputy Chief of Patrol in Area Central on October 20, 2014. His direct supervisor was Wayne Gulliford, the Chief of Patrol. McNaughton learned of the McDonald shooting when he received a call from the Crime Prevention and Information Center (CPIC) while he was in bed informing him that he would be the OCIC for the shooting. McNaughton told the CPIC caller that he was not scheduled to be the OCIC that night and that another “exempt member” was assigned. McNaughton OIG Tr. 26:5. He noted in his OIG interview that he had just worked more than a full day on the motorcade detail escorting President Obama. CPIC called McNaughton again and said the other exempt member did not believe he was assigned, so McNaughton would have to go. McNaughton told the caller no again. He received a third call from Deputy Chief Eddie Johnson, who was serving as the Chief of Patrol while Gulliford was out. Johnson told McNaughton there was a mix-up and McNaughton would have to be the OCIC that evening. McNaughton stated a “considerable amount of time” passed between the first call from CPIC and the last call from Johnson. McNaughton OIG Tr. 27:4-5.

1. The Scene of the Shooting

McNaughton was unable to estimate how much time elapsed between the CPIC call and when he arrived at the scene, but he said there were many police officers present, and McDonald was no longer at the scene when he arrived. McNaughton believed the assigned detectives and IPRA personnel were already on the scene as well. As the OCIC, McNaughton’s duties were to supervise and ensure everyone was “doing their job.” McNaughton OIG Tr. 37:21. He was also responsible for doing a one-on-one interview with the shooting officer and walking IPRA through the scene. McNaughton believed the McDonald shooting was the second shooting he had handled as an OCIC.

McNaughton stressed that his description of the events at the scene may be off, but he would describe his actions as best as he could recall. McNaughton believed that, when he first arrived on scene, he spoke with 8th District Commander O’Donnell or Captain Walsh for a briefing. McNaughton then approached Van Dyke and introduced himself as the OCIC, explained his role, and told him he would return to ask Van Dyke some questions. McNaughton then recalled that one of the first things he did on scene was to view the video Sergeant Lance Becvar retrieved from Beat 813R’s vehicle. McNaughton believed he viewed the video on Becvar’s laptop in the vehicle. McNaughton stated: “Well, my initial reaction was, oh, my God, you know, this is, you know, something to see, but I looked at it several times from the perspective of a police officer, and there were some very troubling things on that video that need to be notated and are not being notated in popular culture right now.” McNaughton OIG Tr. 44:8-14. McNaughton then described his perception of the video, which he recalled from memory after reviewing the video in preparation for his OIG interview:

That video shows an offender running through the Burger King parking lot, okay? And he is running at a good clip because police officers are running after him.

When he gets to what I believe is the intersection of 41st and Pulaski, he slows down and he almost—and he is walking now, and he almost comes to a complete stop, and in front of him, he is facing southbound, and in front of him, his view, are two police cars. One that just passed him and is parking at him, that’s Van Dyke and Walsh, and another vehicle that’s facing him . . . .

The point that really gets to me as far as a police officer, and it would for any police officer, is he stops, he hitches up his pants, and with his right hand presents the knife in a swinging motion, not trying to conceal it, throw it away, which where I come from in my personal knowledge of just being a human being, not alone a police officer, that’s an aggressive act.

It is one that I would consider to be an assailant at that point. If I am going to confront this guy is telling me, he is going to fight.

Also, I noticed that Walsh and Van Dyke’s vehicle have pulled several feet ahead, and now the offender, or excuse me, Mr. McDonald, is moving forward in such a fashion. He is kind of veering to the right, but he continues to move the knife.

He doesn’t conceal it or surrender it or discard it, and the officers are getting out of their vehicle. They are hand motioning, which would give me an indication that they are telling him, hey stop, get back, get down on the ground, normal police commands, drop the knife, and he continues his motions to where he gets close enough to Van Dyke where he makes a motion with what looks like his right hand that is obscured by the video itself when it appears that Van Dyke does fire upon him.

If you look at the video, he had a clear path to run on the right-hand side, and knowing Laquan McDonald’s size and stature and age, I would venture to guess that he would make good his escape if he just put the knife down and took off.

He didn’t do those things.
McNaughton OIG Tr. 44:18-46:15, 54:6-13. When asked how many times he viewed the video, McNaughton stated: “It was several times, and I believe other people were, I want you to see it, too, maybe detectives, detective sergeants at that point. I think Lieutenant Wojcik saw it as well . . .” McNaughton OIG Tr. 52:12-17.

After viewing the video, Detective March gave McNaughton a tour of the scene, starting with the truck yard where Beat 815R first encountered McDonald. McNaughton stated:

I walk the distance to where I think McDonald has stopped to where he is hit, and the one thing you will notice, if you have done it yourself is that—people say he is walking away, that he is not approaching them. That’s just not the case.

If you are standing about 60 feet away from where the parked vehicle is from Walsh and Van Dyke, and they are pretty much a fixed object, and McDonald is about ten feet away when he is shot, he approached them. There is no other way to describe it.

If you define approach as come near to somebody, he came near to them. It wasn’t Van Dyke and Walsh that engaged him. It was McDonald that came up to them.

McNaughton OIG Tr. 50:1-16. McNaughton did not consult with the detectives about the direction of their investigation, stating, “I didn’t get the sense that I had to give anybody direction, nor was anyone asking me for direction that I recall.” McNaughton OIG Tr. 61:7-9.31

McNaughton then conducted interviews of the involved officers—he believed he only interviewed Van Dyke, Walsh, McElligott, and Gaffney. McNaughton spoke with each officer separately and “not within earshot of anyone.” McNaughton OIG Tr. 56:1-2. Consistent with the practice at the time, McNaughton did not take notes of the interviews. McNaughton said “none of them told me something that would contradict the facts that I knew at the time.” McNaughton OIG Tr. 56:5-7. McNaughton first found out Van Dyke shot McDonald 16 times during his interview with Van Dyke. McNaughton stated:

So at this point when I am talking to Van Dyke, it is the first time I actually learn—I asked him how many times did you shoot, and he told me it was, you know, 16, you know, he fired, and I kind of did like a, you know, a gafar

31 CPD’s Detective Division reported its investigation in the aftermath of the McDonald shooting under record number HX-475653, and classified most reports as an investigation into an aggravated assault in which McDonald was the offender. In a few reports, CPD classified the case as an investigation into a justifiable homicide of which McDonald was the victim. CPD created an additional record number and classified the case as a justifiable homicide. In CPD’s investigative reports, CPD personnel drew conclusions about the propriety and lawfulness of Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald. This was in violation of CPD Detective Division Special Order (DDSO) 15-22, which requires that, in reporting on an incident which has been classified as a justifiable homicide, detectives “will not state that the use of deadly force was justified.” DDSO 15-22 took effect on January 1, 2015 and, according to materials OIG received from CPD, would have been in effect when the relevant reports in this case were drafted and issued. See Detective Division Special Order 15-22.
(phonetic), 16 times, why, you know. I could tell he was traumatized, and he said words to the effect “eliminate the threat,” and that’s what he is trained to do in the academy when they learn to shoot, and we saw subsequent shooting classes that they take.

I wasn’t aware that there was the curriculum in the academy; that they actually use the verbiage, “eliminate the threat.” I subsequently learned that they do use that verbiage. I was surprised.

McNaughton OIG Tr. 81:19-82:11. McNaughton reiterated that he was surprised to learn Van Dyke fired 16 shots.

After McNaughton spoke with the officers, he then walked approximately four IPRA personnel through the scene. McNaughton believed he showed them the dashcam video on the scene prior to leaving and said “they may have seen it several times.” McNaughton OIG Tr. 64:15-16. McNaughton stated that IPRA was at least “definitely” made aware of the video’s existence. McNaughton OIG Tr. 64:23.

At some point, McNaughton went to Dunkin’ Donuts to get a coffee, and he may have viewed the store’s security video at that time. McNaughton recalled the video was “very grainy,” and it was “hard to discern what was going on.” McNaughton OIG Tr. 91:18-19.

2. Area Central

McNaughton did not recall when he left the scene for Area Central, but said he was on the scene for several hours. One of the first things he did when he arrived at Area Central was to listen to the relevant 911 calls. McNaughton said that the call recordings gave him a “better feeling of—what the anxiety and what the officers are going to feel because of what was happening, and also the fact that the puncture, that the tire was punctured and it was announced that he [McDonald] had punctured the tire so people were aware that that had occurred as well.” McNaughton OIG Tr. 95:24-96:6. McNaughton then ensured that Van Dyke’s weapon was recovered and that IAD gave him a breathalyzer and urine analysis. McNaughton did not recall reviewing the 813R dashcam video at Area Central.

McNaughton then went to an office to review and approve the TRRs and OBRs. McNaughton said it is “common knowledge” that those forms have to be done after an incident like the McDonald shooting, and he did not have to specifically direct the officers to fill them out. McNaughton OIG Tr. 109:8. McNaughton stated, “I just expect it to get done and so we could move on and complete this phase of the investigation and get on with other things.” McNaughton OIG Tr. 109:18-20. The decision as to which officers must fill out TRRs and OBRs is generally a collective one between McNaughton, the investigators, and the detectives, but McNaughton did not recall any specific conversations on the topic. McNaughton believed he was on the opposite side of the room as Van Dyke, Walsh, and Gaffney when they filled out the TRRs and OBRs, and that they were working with their FOP representative and Sergeant Franko to fill out the forms. McNaughton later clarified that he was not sure if the FOP representative and Franko were helping the officers fill out the forms, he just recalled they were talking on the other side of the room. When asked if he helped the officers fill out the forms, McNaughton stated: “I don’t recall doing so. I may have. You know, I am not saying I am not, you know. . . . I don’t remember direct involvement saying you check that box, you check this and this is this. I don’t think that happened.” McNaughton OIG Tr. 114:18-23.

McNaughton completed several other tasks that evening at Area Central, including: (1) reviewing the Major Incident Notification form at Area Central, which is a form that is posted to inform other command staff there was a police-involved shooting; (2) ensuring Van Dyke received his Employee Assistance Program forms; and (3) filling out the OCIC Activity Log listing his activities for the night. McNaughton left Area Central around 7:00 a.m.

McNaughton reviewed the allegations against him as set out in the Notification of Allegations OIG served him on May 16, 2016. He responded, in relevant part, to the allegations as follows.

- On or about October 21, 2014, you made a false statement in the Tactical Response Report Officer Jason Van Dyke completed concerning his encounter with McDonald, which includes an Event Number of 1429315878 and an R.D. Number of HX475653 (the Van Dyke TRR). Specifically, you stated that “Officer Van Dyke fired his weapon in fear of his life when the offender while armed with a knife continued to approach and refused all verbal direction.”

In response to this allegation, McNaughton stressed that this statement was “based on information available at this time” and was his “preliminary determination” as noted in the Van Dyke TRR. McNaughton OIG Tr. 121:6-7. McNaughton stated that “Officer Van Dyke fired his weapon in fear of his life” was a true statement, and that was what Van Dyke told him. McNaughton OIG Tr. 121:3-4. McNaughton continued: “[A] reasonable person would believe that they would be in fear of their life if they were confronted with the circumstances that Officer Van Dyke was confronted with.” McNaughton OIG Tr. 121:22-122:1.

When asked if he saw McDonald walk away from the officers on the video, McNaughton stated he did not consider McDonald’s veering to the right a “walking away” from the officers. He elaborated:

Do I consider him when he is going to the right walking away? . . . No, I don’t, and I will tell you why. He has already taken aggressive stance. . . . At this point, as far as what I am looking at, is a person that is actually, because he is right-handed, could actually easy do a flanking maneuver.

If that was Mr. McDonald’s only option to straddle that white line, okay, if that was his only option, that might have played in my thinking, but he had a whole 32 The October 21, 2014 Major Incident Notification Detail, completed by Sergeant Daniel Gallagher, contains a narrative stating the following, in part: “Beat 845R exited their vehicle and ordered the offender to drop the knife. The offender refused all verbal commands and continued to approach the officers while still armed with his knife. Beat 845R fearing for his life discharged his weapon.” It does not contain McNaughton’s signature.

wide berth, 40 feet west of there that he could have clearly gone to. . . . [W]hat is just as concerning is the fact that he is not turning his head away from presenting the fact that he has got that weapon to the officers.

He is looking straight on at them, and he is understanding that a weapon is pointed at him at this time.

I can’t characterize what Mr. McDonald knows or what he doesn’t know, but I can tell you he is facing full frontal Van Dyke and Walsh, and they are facing each other.

McNaughton OIG Tr. 125:17-127:3. When asked if he saw Officers Van Dyke and Walsh step toward McDonald, McNaughton stated that it was “very hard to tell.” McNaughton OIG Tr. 127:19. He continued: “I think at one point Van Dyke takes a step forward, and I think Walsh is moving around the car as far as their movements, but their movements don’t appear to deviate too much from the vehicle.” McNaughton OIG Tr. 127:19-23.

- On or about October 21, 2014, you reviewed and approved the Van Dyke TRR, which TRR contained the following false statements: (1) under the category titled “Assailant: Assault,” the box labeled “imminent threat of battery” was marked; (2) under the category titled “Assailant: Battery,” the box labeled “attack with weapon” was marked; and (3) under the category titled “Assailant: Deadly Force,” the box labeled “uses force likely to cause death or great bodily harm” was marked.

- On or about October 21, 2014, you reviewed and approved the Tactical Response Report Officer Joseph Walsh completed concerning his encounter with McDonald, which includes an Event Number of 1429315878 and an R.D. Number of HX475653 (the Walsh TRR), which TRR contained the following false statements: (1) under the category titled “Assailant: Assault,” the box labeled “imminent threat of battery” was marked; (2) under the category titled “Assailant: Battery,” the box labeled “attack with weapon” was marked; and (3) under the category titled “Assailant: Deadly Force,” the box labeled “uses force likely to cause death or great bodily harm” was marked.

In response to the allegation regarding Van Dyke’s TRR, McNaughton first explained that he reviews and approves the TRRs for completeness.

McNaughton stated the first statement, in which the officers reported an “imminent threat of battery” under the category “Assailant: Assault,” was true for the following reasons:

As far as him [McDonald] being armed, [Van Dyke’s and Walsh’s] observations that he was armed, his disregard for verbal direction, his clearly brandishing the weapon in a menacing manner in which he is moving his right hand back and forth, and his non-compliance or his what would be the normal actions of an offender who would try to run away. He didn’t.
He stopped, hitched up his pants, and threw out the knife. He didn’t surrender or comply with the verbal commands, and he did not conceal or discard the weapon.

So—and he continued to approach the Officers Van Dyke and Walsh. So for that reason, that is correct. That is a true statement.

McNaughton OIG Tr. 133:3-18.

McNaughton stated the second statement, in which the officers reported an “attack with weapon” under the heading “Assailant: Battery,” was true for the reasons above. When asked why it was true even though there was no battery, McNaughton stated:

You know, it is a fair question. I don’t know. This is a computer-generated report and it limits your options, and this report is going to get cleaned up by the statements made by—the actual statements made by—the officers to IPRA and to the detectives.

To my knowledge, he did attack with a weapon. Does it fit battery as we know battery in the State of Illinois is actually, you know, hurting someone? It does not.

Again, the intention was not to deceive or say something was false or to make it appear anything different.

I was of full knowledge as were the officers that this was on videotape, so I think it is a hairsplitting-type thing, and again, a lot of these boxes, and they say check all that apply, don’t necessarily neatly fit into our descriptions of battery and simple battery or aggravated battery on state statutes.

McNaughton OIG Tr. 135:3-22. McNaughton acknowledged that it was not necessary to fill out any box in the section titled “Assailant: Battery,” and he could have left it blank. However, he believed the phrase “attack with weapon” was correct—McNaughton stated, “I think you could actually say the attack may begin right when he hitched up his pants and put out his right hand with the knife.” McNaughton OIG Tr. 137:22-24.

McNaughton stated the third statement, in which the officers marked “Assailant: Deadly Force,” and the box labeled “uses force likely to cause death or great bodily harm,” was true for the following reasons:

[McDonald] had a weapon. The force that he could have used could likely cause death or great bodily harm.

So if we go through the progression of what was going on, if he, in fact, made it across what was the distance between you and I, he could have obviously seriously injured the officer or the officers, and I did observe the knife, and it is not a butter knife. This is a knife that would cut through you. It cut through a tire.

McNaughton OIG Tr. 134:4-14.

- On or about October 21, 2014, you inputted in the Van Dyke TRR that “Officer Van Dyke fired his weapon in compliance with Department policy,” and checked the box marked “I have concluded that the member’s actions were in compliance with department procedures and directives” instead of the box marked “I have concluded that further investigation is required.”

In response to this allegation, McNaughton stressed that his determination was preliminary, stating: “It was my preliminary finding. There is no standing, the OCIC has no standing on whether to make these conclusions. It has no weight. It has no standing for the officers involved, for the Department. It is not the official stance of the department.” McNaughton OIG Tr. 139:18-23. McNaughton stated that checking that box “means absolutely nothing.” McNaughton OIG Tr. 140:3-4. He also pointed out that he inserted Log Number 1072125 under the unchecked box, indicating that there would be an IPRA investigation. McNaughton stated: “This was the baby stages of this. This was by no means the end and that checking that box would not suggest that this was over.” McNaughton OIG Tr. 142:2-4.

- On or about October 20, 2014 or October 21, 2014, you reviewed and approved the Officer’s Battery Report Officer Van Dyke completed concerning his encounter with McDonald, which includes an R.D. Number of HX475653 (the Van Dyke OBR), which OBR contained the following false statements: (1) under the category titled “Manner of Attack,” the box labeled “stabbed/cut (including actual attempt)” was marked; and (2) three officers were battered.

- On or about October 20, 2014 or October 21, 2014, you reviewed and approved the Officer’s Battery Report Officer Walsh completed concerning his encounter with McDonald, which includes an R.D. Number of HX475653 (the Walsh OBR), which OBR contained the following false statements: (1) under the category titled “Manner of Attack,” the box labeled “stabbed/cut (including actual attempt)” was marked; and (2) three officers were battered.

- On or about October 20 or October 21, 2014, you reviewed and approved the Officer’s Battery Report Officer Thomas Gaffney completed concerning his encounter with McDonald, which includes an R.D. Number of HX475653 (the Gaffney OBR), which OBR falsely stated that three officers were battered.

McNaughton stated that “we had an incident with Officer Gaffney at 40th and Karlov, and then we had the Walsh and McDonald incident at 41st and Pulaski, and this was just a way of documenting these things.” McNaughton OIG Tr. 147:6-10. McNaughton said he did not intend to deceive—the OBRs are “gathered for statistical purposes” and “any type of clarification that needed to be made would be made in the detective reports and with the Independent Police Review Authority.” McNaughton OIG Tr. 147:23-148:2.

- On October 21, 2014, you provided a false statement to the Chicago Police Department’s Office of News Affairs when you stated McDonald “continued to approach” Officers Van Dyke and Walsh.

In response to this allegation, McNaughton stated that he believed then and he believes now that the statement is true. He elaborated:

I believe that Officer Walsh and Van Dyke parked their vehicle ahead, about probably 60 to 70 feet ahead of Mr. McDonald.

Mr. McDonald in clear view at that point when the vehicle came to a stop hitched up his pants, opened up his knife. He was about 60 feet away, I believe, and that’s an approximate. He was 60 feet away at that point.

At the point when Officer Van Dyke fired his weapon striking Mr. McDonald, I believe they were about 10 to 11 feet away, best guess estimate, and I believed it that night and I believe it now, and if the definition of the word “approach” is to come nearer to, then I don’t think I was imprecise in that language.

I wish someone else could write statements. They could probably have crafted that better than I could, but it is there.

I do not believe it is a false statement in my heart of hearts.

McNaughton OIG Tr. 180:24-181:19.

- You were incompetent in the performance of your duties in the ways enumerated in allegations 1 through 11.

McNaughton noted that on the night of the incident he was fatigued, and this may have impacted his decision-making. He stressed, however, that he reported all of his actions to his superiors and, at no time, did anyone criticize his performance or competency. He emphasized that he never directed the officers to do anything he thought was deceitful or false, and while “reasonable people” may question his judgment, “they cannot question” his integrity. McNaughton further detailed his career with CPD and his dedication to the department. McNaughton OIG Tr. 189:24, 190:4.

3. October 22, 2014 Post-Shooting Briefing

McNaughton explained that after an officer-involved shooting, it is the responsibility of the OCIC to brief the Superintendent and other command staff in a post-shooting briefing. These are usually held in conjunction with the Executive Management Meetings. On October 22, 2014, McNaughton presented a summation of the October 20, 2014 events for command staff, including Superintendent Garry McCarthy. McNaughton believed Area Central Commander Eugene Roy was also present. McNaughton could not independently recall who else was at the meeting, but said “plenty” of the other CPD Chiefs were in the room. McNaughton OIG Tr. 167:10. He showed the Greater Food Depository and 813R dashcam videos to the group. McNaughton said there was no discussion about whether the shooting was justified, and he did not offer an opinion. However, he acknowledged there was “[d]efinitely a concern” with the number of shots fired. McNaughton OIG Tr. 171:4. Several days later, McNaughton briefed Gulliford on the shooting because Gulliford was unable to attend the post-shooting briefing. McNaughton had no other involvement in the McDonald shooting.

V. Analysis

The OIG investigation established that McNaughton violated CPD Rules and Regulations when he approved false TRRs and false OBRs submitted by Van Dyke, Walsh, and Gaffney regarding the shooting. In addition, McNaughton falsely reported in Van Dyke’s TRR that McDonald “continued to approach” Van Dyke—then checked the box in Van Dyke’s TRR that states, “I have concluded that the member’s actions were in compliance with department procedures and directives,” and failed to mark the box stating that further investigation was required. Finally, McNaughton provided a false statement to CPD’s Office of News Affairs when he revised a CPD preliminary statement to say McDonald “continued to approach” Van Dyke and Walsh.

McNaughton’s creation and endorsement of those false statements all served to establish a false narrative that McDonald initiated an attack on Van Dyke and Walsh. Throughout McNaughton’s OIG interview, he attempted to explain his viewpoint—offering a clearly incorrect interpretation of the 813R dashcam video. McNaughton’s attempts to justify his actions in his OIG interview continued his endorsement of the materially false narrative, which cannot be excused.

McNaughton’s actions, individually and collectively, constitute violations of CPD Rules. His review and approval of TRRs and OBRs containing false statements made by him and the other officers constitutes a violation of Rule 14 (making a false report, written or oral). As a CPD supervisory member, McNaughton is responsible for the performance of Van Dyke, Walsh, and Gaffney, and is ultimately accountable for their “failure, misconduct or omission.” See Rules and Regulations of the Chicago Police Department, Section IV.B.8. CPD General Order G03-02-05 further affirms that “the findings of all Tactical Response Reports resulting from the use of force by any member” are the responsibility of the OCIC. McNaughton’s actions, including his false statement to CPD’s Office of News Affairs, also constitute violations of Rule 2 (engaging in any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department) and Rule 3 (failing to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy and accomplish its goals). A supervisory member who has made, reviewed, or approved false statements in an official investigation has irrevocably tainted not only his credibility, but also the credibility of CPD—and also fails to promote CPD’s goal of employing officers with personal integrity and professional devotion to law enforcement. By violating these Rules, McNaughton further violated Rule 11 (incompetency in the performance of a duty). Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD discharge McNaughton and refer him for placement on the ineligible for rehire list maintained by the Department of Human Resources.

1. McNaughton’s Review and Approval of False Statements

Van Dyke and Walsh both asserted false narratives of the McDonald shooting in the official CPD reports they submitted regarding their encounter with McDonald. In their TRRs, Van Dyke and Walsh claimed that McDonald (1) used force likely to cause death or great bodily harm; (2) attacked them with a weapon; and (3) created an imminent threat of battery. In their OBRs, Van Dyke and Walsh claimed that the manner of attack was a stab or a cut (including actual attempt). Further, Van Dyke, Walsh, and Gaffney all claimed that three officers were battered.

As detailed in the Summary of Relevant Video Footage, Section IV.B.3., at no time while Van Dyke and Walsh were out of their vehicle and proximate to McDonald did McDonald swing his knife in a manner to cause death or great bodily harm to them. McNaughton acknowledged that he saw the video several times before reviewing and approving the TRRs and OBRs containing false statements. Yet, he continued to assert the statements were true even though they were contradicted by 813R’s dashcam footage. Notably, the footage shows that McDonald was not “clearly brandishing the weapon in a menacing manner” as McNaughton asserted in his OIG interview. The moment McNaughton characterized as the trigger for the assault—when McDonald hitched up his pants and presented the knife—occurred when Van Dyke and Walsh were still in their moving vehicle with 822R situated between them and McDonald. In addition, McNaughton claimed that it was not Van Dyke or Walsh that engaged McDonald, but McDonald who came up to them. However, the video clearly shows that during the entire period Van Dyke and Walsh were outside their vehicle, McDonald walked in a direction that generally veered away from Van Dyke and Walsh, and in fact, only Van Dyke advanced in a manner that directly closed the distance when he took at least three steps toward McDonald.

McNaughton candidly acknowledged that his initial reaction to the video was one of concern, but then proceeded to piece together actions or the absence of actions by McDonald, which he asserts support a finding that McDonald attacked Van Dyke and Walsh with force likely to cause death or great bodily harm. However, McDonald’s actions did not amount to an attack on Van Dyke and Walsh, and they did not amount to a battery, given that McDonald made no physical contact with any of the officers. McNaughton himself admitted that checking a box under “Assailant: Battery” was not required, and that there may not have been a battery “as we know battery in the State of Illinois.” Despite clear evidence to the contrary, McNaughton reviewed and approved the three officers’ TRRs and OBRs, which falsely stated that McDonald attacked the officers with deadly force, attempted to stab or cut the officers, and committed a battery. These false statements materially served to exaggerate the threat McDonald posed.

2. McNaughton’s Conclusions in Van Dyke’s TRR

McNaughton further violated CPD Rules when he typed the following in Van Dyke’s TRR: “Based upon information available at the time of this report It [sic] is the preliminary determination of the undersigned that Officer Van Dyke fired his weapon in compliance with Department policy. Officer Van Dyke fired his weapon in fear of his life when the offender while armed with a knife continued to approach and refused all verbal direction.” Although McNaughton’s determination was “preliminary” and “based upon information available at the time,” he had already viewed the 813R dashcam video several times when he wrote this conclusion. Even if McNaughton credited Van Dyke’s statement to him that Van Dyke feared for his life, McNaughton’s additional explanations for why Van Dyke’s belief was reasonable are refuted by the video evidence. Most notably, McNaughton included the false statement that McDonald “continued to approach” Van Dyke and Walsh. As stated above, McDonald walked in a direction that veered away from Van Dyke and Walsh the entire time the officers were outside their vehicle, and rather it was only Van Dyke who took steps that affirmatively closed the distance with McDonald.

Based on this false statement, that McDonald continued to approach the officers, McNaughton checked the box marked “I have concluded that the member’s actions were in compliance with department procedures and directives” instead of the box marked “I have concluded that further investigation is required” in Van Dyke’s TRR. McNaughton did this despite acknowledging his surprise to learn from Van Dyke that he shot McDonald 16 times, indicating that his “preliminary” determination would not be that Van Dyke’s actions were in compliance and that no further investigation was necessary.

McNaughton’s argument that this conclusion “has no weight” and “means absolutely nothing, and that the OCIC “has no standing on whether to make these conclusions,” appears to minimize the significance of the TRR as an official CPD report and, in this instance, a report of a very serious incident involving the use of deadly force. Equally significant is that McNaughton’s rationalization does not accord with the role of the OCIC as the senior member on scene responsible for relaying the preliminary findings of CPD’s own investigation to CPD command staff. McNaughton’s deflection is also countered by CPD Special Order S03-02-01 requiring the OCIC to “personally conduct an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the incident and make a preliminary determination as to whether the conduct of the member conformed to Department guidelines.” Regardless of what importance McNaughton might ascribe to the role and the conclusion, CPD created a provision in its Special Orders specifically describing the responsibility otherwise.

The importance of the OCIC is further reflected in McNaughton’s role as the point of contact for IPRA investigators responding to the scene of an officer-involved shooting to conduct an official investigation as required by law. See MCC § 2-57-040. The OCIC escorts responding IPRA personnel on a “walk-through” of the scene, and provides them with information that the OCIC has gathered or received to that point. McNaughton played precisely that role in connection with the McDonald shooting. In their preliminary memorandum containing the shooting details, IPRA investigators provided a summary of McNaughton’s statement to them. That summary states, in part: “Officers Walsh and Van Dyke exited their vehicle with their weapons drawn and ordered McDonald to drop his knife. McDonald did not drop his knife, and instead walked toward Officer Van Dyke in an aggressive manner by waving the knife back and forth.” (Emphasis added). McNaughton provided that characterization, which is clearly contradicted by the video that he had already viewed, in his official capacity as the OCIC. McNaughton’s summary constituted CPD’s first official account to the IPRA investigators who were conducting an ordinance-mandated investigation of an officer-involved shooting.

Accordingly, in the aggregate, McNaughton’s rationalization must be deemed an attempt to minimize and, in some respects, deflect the significance of both the OCIC’s responsibilities under the Special Order and his accountability for official forms that he is required to submit in response to police-involved shootings.

3. McNaughton’s Statement to CPD’s Office of News Affairs

On October 21, 2014, McNaughton provided a false statement to CPD’s Office of News Affairs when he stated McDonald “continued to approach” Officers Van Dyke and Walsh. When confronted with this allegation, McNaughton reiterated his previous arguments for why he believed McDonald continued to approach. However, as stated above, McDonald was moving away from the officers during the entire period they were outside of their vehicle. By issuing a false statement to the Office of News Affairs, McNaughton directly contributed to the false narrative put forth by CPD in the immediate aftermath of the McDonald shooting, bringing discredit not only upon him, but on the entire Department.

VI. RECOMMENDATION

McNaughton’s actions raise significant concerns regarding his credibility and ability to perform his duties as a sworn officer and supervisory member. As a sworn officer and supervisory member, McNaughton’s reports are relied upon in criminal legal proceedings and his credibility is therefore critical to his position. A CPD member who has made false statements in an official investigation has irrevocably tainted his credibility and has wholly disqualified himself from effectively executing core police functions. Based on this conduct he may be the subject of cross-examination in any contested proceedings in which he may appear as a witness, see Fed. R. Evid. 608(b) (“Specific instances of conduct”), and his conduct and the findings resulting from this investigation would further qualify as impeachment material that should, in principle, be disclosed in any contested proceeding involving the official records or testimony McNaughton generates. See Giglio v. United States, 405 U.S. 150 (1972) (requiring disclosure in criminal case of information impeaching of government witness’s credibility). Illinois courts have repeatedly noted that “as the guardians of our laws, police officers are expected to act with integrity, honesty, and trustworthiness” and have found intentional false or misleading statements by police officers to be sufficient cause for termination. Rodriguez v. Weis, 408 Ill. App. 3d 663, 671 (1st Dist. 2011) (quoting Sindermann v. Civil Service Comm’n, 275 Ill. App. 3d 917, 928 (2nd Dist. 1995)). OIG therefore recommends that CPD discharge McNaughton and refer him for placement on the ineligible for rehire list maintained by the Department of Human Resources.

VII. CPD RULE VIOLATIONS

Rule 2 Any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department.
Rule 3  Any failure to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy or accomplish its goals.

Rule 11  Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.

Rule 14  Making a false report, written or oral.
Appendix A
This report consists of a summary of the evidence set out in the attached investigative materials and the Office of Inspector General’s (OIG’s) analysis of that evidence. An index of the investigative materials is attached.

I. INTRODUCTION

An OIG investigation has established that Janet Mondragon, a police officer for the Chicago Police Department (CPD) who was present when Officer Jason Van Dyke shot Laquan McDonald on October 20, 2014, violated CPD Rules and Regulations during the subsequent CPD and Independent Police Review Authority (IPRA) investigations.1 Mondragon was assigned to Beat 813R on October 20, 2014; she and her partner, Officer Daphne Sebastian, were in the vehicle that recorded the most complete footage of the shooting. As detailed further below, Mondragon made false statements and material omissions during her subsequent interviews with CPD and IPRA, which served to exaggerate the threat McDonald posed. In addition, OIG’s investigation established that Mondragon failed to follow CPD Rules regarding the operation of CPD’s in-car video systems. Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD discharge Mondragon and refer her for placement on the ineligible for rehire list maintained by the Department of Human Resources.

II. APPLICABLE RULES, REGULATIONS, AND LAW

A. CPD Rules and Regulations

The “Rules and Regulations of the Chicago Police Department” set out the standards of conduct and duties of sworn members, as well as CPD goals. The Rules and Regulations state that sworn members must “conduct themselves at all times in such a manner as will reflect credit upon the Department with emphasis on personal integrity and professional devotion to law enforcement.”

Article V of the CPD Rules and Regulations, entitled CPD Rules of Conduct (the CPD Rules), sets forth specifically prohibited acts. In pertinent part, the CPD Rules include the following prohibitions:

Rule 2 Any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department.

1 CPD’s investigation in the aftermath of the McDonald shooting was reported under record number HX-475653, and most reports were classified as an investigation into an aggravated assault in which McDonald was the offender. In a few reports, the case was classified as an investigation into a justifiable homicide of which McDonald was the victim. An additional record number was also created and classified as a justifiable homicide, apparently for recordkeeping purposes. In CPD’s investigative reports classified under the aggravated assault, CPD personnel drew conclusions about the propriety and lawfulness of Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald. This raises questions about CPD’s role in investigating a police-involved shooting in light of IPRA’s jurisdiction over the matter.
Rule 3  Any failure to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy or accomplish its goals.

Rule 6  Disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral.

Rule 11 Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.

Rule 14 Making a false report, written or oral.

B. CPD Special Order S03-05 (effective February 23, 2012 through February 24, 2016)

CPD Special Orders are directives that establish protocols and procedures concerning specific CPD functions, operations, programs, or processes. Special Order S03-05 outlines the protocols CPD members are to follow regarding in-car video systems.\(^2\) Section VI of the Special Order provides that at the beginning of their tour of duty, Department members assigned to a CPD vehicle equipped with an in-car video system are to:

1. visually inspect the in-car video system equipment for damage;
2. obtain the remote transmitter/audio recorder and ensure it is securely attached to the member’s person; and
3. follow the start-up procedures for the in-car video system as trained and ensure the system is working properly.

The Special Order notes that members are to “immediately notify a supervisor if, at any time, the in-car video system is inoperable, damaged, the equipped vehicle becomes inoperable, or the remote transmitter/audio recorder is missing.” During their tour, members are to “audibly and visually record events in accordance with this directive.” At the conclusion of a tour of duty, members are to “verify the in-car video system is working properly.”

III. Officer Mondragon’s Employment History

Mondragon has worked as a CPD Police Officer since April 1, 2007. She is a member of Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) Lodge 7.

IV. Summary of Investigation

A. Procedural History of OIG’s Investigation

By letter, dated December 8, 2015, IPRA Acting Chief Administrator Sharon Fairley requested that OIG conduct an administrative investigation “to determine whether certain police officers/witnesses made false statements on official reports prepared in connection with [Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald] and/or during the investigation of the incident.” IPRA further requested that OIG investigate “whether any of the involved Chicago Police officers committed any other violation(s) of Chicago Police Department rules, policies or procedures in their involvement with the incident, including, but not limited to, whether any officers’ conduct may have interfered with or obstructed the appropriate investigation and handling of this matter.”

Then, by letter, dated January 13, 2016, CPD Interim Superintendent John J. Escalante requested that OIG conduct an “administrative investigation into any and all allegations of police officer misconduct” arising out of the October 20, 2014 shooting death of McDonald. The Superintendent’s request asked OIG to investigate the following allegations: “whether any officer(s) made false statements on official reports submitted in connection with the shooting of Laquan McDonald on October 20, 2014; whether any officer(s) obstructed or interfered with the investigation of this incident, either individually or in collusion with others; and whether any officer(s) committed any violation of Chicago Police Department rules, policies, or orders in connection with their response and/or handling of this matter.” Escalante attached to the letter request a copy of Sergeant Sandra Soria’s Initiation Report, which raises allegations of misconduct related to the in-car video systems of the vehicles that were present during the McDonald shooting, and identified that Report as a basis for OIG’s administrative investigation.

On March 10, 2016, Kevin Kilmer, Financial Secretary for the FOP, on behalf of all affected members, filed a grievance with CPD stating that OIG’s attempts to conduct CPD officer interviews violated Article 6 of CPD’s Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) with the FOP. On March 16, 2016, FOP on behalf of all impacted CPD officers filed a “Complaint for Injunction in Aid of Arbitration” in the Circuit Court of Cook County, asking the court to enjoin OIG from conducting interviews until the grievance was decided in arbitration. The court dismissed the complaint and denied the injunction on March 22, 2016.

OIG’s administrative investigation of other CPD employees’ actions related to the McDonald shooting is ongoing. During the course of its investigation, OIG has gathered documents from CPD and IPRA, among other sources, and conducted numerous interviews, including interviews of thirteen CPD personnel who were at or responded to the scene of the shooting and seven civilian witnesses to the shooting. To date in its ongoing investigation, OIG has recommended

3 On November 24, 2015, the Cook County State’s Attorney charged Van Dyke with a single count of first degree murder in the shooting of McDonald. On December 15, 2015, it subsequently charged him with six counts of murder. OIG has not been involved with any criminal investigation related to the shooting and makes no findings regarding Van Dyke’s use of force.

4 Section 6.1, Paragraph I of the CBA states, “If the allegation under investigation indicates a recommendation for separation is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the statutory administrative proceeding rights, or if the allegation indicates criminal prosecution is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the constitutional rights concerning self-incrimination prior to the commencement of interrogation.” CPD General Order GO8-01-01, Paragraph K contains similar language.

disciplinary action against multiple CPD personnel, sustaining allegations that they each put forth a false narrative regarding the shooting.

B. The Events of October 20, 2014

The following sections detail the shooting of McDonald, as well as the relevant events that occurred directly before and after the shooting.6

1. and Rudy Barillas’s Encounter with McDonald7

and , were parking a truck in a lot at 41st Street and Kildare Avenue when saw a black male, whom she subsequently identified as McDonald, attempting to steal property from certain vehicles parked in the lot. Barillas told McDonald to leave the lot. McDonald responded by making growling noises. After Barillas again told McDonald to leave the lot, McDonald pulled out a knife and swung it at Barillas. Barillas, who had already called 911, then threw his cell phone at McDonald.8 McDonald ran from the lot, first northbound on Kildare and then eastbound on 40th Street.

2. Officers Thomas Gaffney and Joseph McElligott’s Encounter with McDonald9

Officer Thomas Gaffney and his partner Officer Joseph McElligott received a call over the radio that someone had broken into a truck at 4100 South Kildare and were dispatched to the scene.10 Gaffney was driving, and McElligott was in the passenger seat of their assigned vehicle, 815R.11

6 On April 22, 2016, OIG obtained maps of the locations that are relevant to the shooting from Google Maps and included those maps in Appendix A. Those maps generally reflect the street layout and location of relevant businesses as they were on the night of October 20, 2014.

7 The following account of and Barillas’s encounter with McDonald is taken from the March 16, 2015 case supplementary report (CSR) submitted by CPD Detective David March, which includes the statements that and Barillas provided to CPD on October 21, 2014, and October 22, 2014, respectively. OIG 15-0564 003077.

8 OEMC recordings reflect that Barillas called 911 at 9:45 p.m. stating that he was holding “a guy right hear [sic] that stolen [sic] the radios” from trucks in a truck yard located at “41st and Kildare.” OIG 15-0564 003227.

9 The following account of Gaffney and McElligott’s encounter with McDonald is taken from (1) the audio-recorded statements Gaffney and McElligott provided to IPRA on October 21, 2014, OIG 15-0564 000482-98, 000610-30; and (2) the March 16, 2015 CSR submitted by Detective David March, which includes the statements that Gaffney and McElligott provided to March on the night of the McDonald shooting. OIG 15-0564 003067–69.

10 OEMC records reflect that Gaffney and McElligott received the call at 9:47 p.m. OIG 15-0564 003691.

11 Below is a chart identifying the beat numbers and vehicle numbers of the CPD vehicles that were present when McDonald was shot, along with the names of the officers who were assigned to those vehicles. This SRI refers to the below-referenced vehicles by beat number, unless otherwise specified.
When they arrived at 4100 South Kildare, they saw a Hispanic male and female standing by the gate to the truck yard. The two said that a black male wearing a black shirt, later determined to be McDonald, had been trying to steal the radio out of a semi-truck, and had subsequently headed north toward 40th Street.

Gaffney and McElligott drove north on Kildare, turned right onto 40th Street, and saw McDonald walking east on the south side of 40th Street. McElligott exited the vehicle and commanded McDonald to stop and turn around. Gaffney stayed in the vehicle in case McDonald attempted to flee. McElligott ordered McDonald to take his hands out of his pockets. McDonald, who had been facing McElligott, turned and walked away with one hand still in his pocket. McDonald then turned again and took both of his hands out of his pockets. He had a knife in his right hand. McElligott drew his weapon and told McDonald to drop the knife. McDonald started walking east again, going from the sidewalk to the street and back. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, shining his flashlight on him, while Gaffney followed in 815R, parallel to McDonald.

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Keeler, Gaffney reported to dispatch that McDonald was walking away with a knife in his hand. Gaffney and McElligott continued to follow McDonald as he headed east, with McElligott giving McDonald orders to drop his knife and stop. McDonald kept turning around and giving the officers a “weird glaze[d] look.” Gaffney IPRA Tr. 11:20.13

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Karlov, Gaffney turned his car toward McDonald to direct him down Karlov. Gaffney wanted to keep McDonald away from Pulaski, which was a more populated area. McDonald then swung his arm and popped 815R’s right front tire with his knife. McElligott was toward the back of 815R when McDonald popped its tire. After McDonald took a step back from the vehicle, Gaffney pulled up further in front of him to stop him from proceeding to Pulaski. McDonald then hit the right side of 815R’s windshield once with the knife in his right hand. The windshield did not break but, according to Gaffney, McDonald hit it as hard as he could. McDonald walked around the front of 815R and continued eastward on 40th Street. After McDonald had walked 10 to 15 feet, another squad car turned off of Pulaski onto 40th Street with its lights on, and McDonald began to sprint. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, and Gaffney followed McDonald in 815R. McDonald ran eastbound through a parking lot of a Burger King located at 40th and Pulaski and then headed southbound on Pulaski. Video footage from several cameras captured McDonald’s movements as he reached Pulaski.

12 OEMC recordings reflect that, at 9:53 p.m., 815R reported: “We’re at 40th and Keeler. This guy uh is walking away from us and he’s got a knife in his hand.” Approximately 30 seconds later, a dispatcher stated, “815R looking for a taser.” See OEMC Documents and CDs; see also OIG 15-0564 003691, 3228.

The below table contains a summary of the relevant video footage of the McDonald shooting, which includes the dashcam videos from 813R (the vehicle in which Mondragon was the driver), 823R, and 845R, video from the “WNE fire exit” security camera from the Greater Chicago Food Depository, which is bordered by 40th Street to the north, Karlov Avenue to the east, and Keeler Avenue to the west, and the security camera video from the Dunkin’ Donuts, located at 4113 South Pulaski Road (the DD Camera).14

14 In addition to the videos cited in the summary, OIG obtained video footage from the security camera videos at Burger King and Focal Point, and the dash camera videos from Vehicles 815R and 821R. These videos did not contain footage relevant to this report.

on Pulaski (813R); McDonald runs southbound in the middle of Pulaski and enters the intersection of 41st Street and Pulaski (813R).

845R, which is facing east/southeast on Pulaski just north of 41st street, turns right behind McDonald and proceeds south on Pulaski on the east side of the street; 845R’s passenger door briefly opens and then closes as it passes McDonald on his left; McDonald continues southbound on Pulaski, toward 822R, which is stopped in the middle of Pulaski facing north.

McDonald slows as he approaches 822R, touches his hands to his waist, and then, before Walsh and Van Dyke exit 845R, extends his right arm fully to his right—the video shows that he has a silver object in his right hand; 845R passes 822R and comes to a stop on the east side of Pulaski, facing south and almost directly south of 822R; Van Dyke opens 845R’s passenger door.

9:57:28 – 9:57:30

9:57:30 – 9:57:33
McDonald continues to walk southwest, from the middle of Pulaski to the lane markers that divide the west side of the road (or approximately one lane west of where McDonald was prior to changing course) (813R). While McDonald walks southwest, Walsh begins moving sideways in a west/southwest direction, approximately parallel to McDonald, and crosses over the east side of Pulaski’s northbound left-turn lane—his gun is pointed at McDonald (813R; DD Camera). Van Dyke takes approximately two steps northwest toward McDonald,

| 9:57:36 – 9:57:54 | McDonald spins between 180 and 270 degrees in a clockwise direction and then falls to the ground with the top of his head pointing south on Pulaski, approximately one street lane east of Van Dyke and just south of Van Dyke (813R). As McDonald falls to the ground, Van Dyke takes another step west toward McDonald, moving his right foot from Pulaski’s median strip into the southbound side of Pulaski; his gun remains pointed at McDonald (813R). Van Dyke subsequently takes an additional step or two south, toward McDonald. Other than those steps, Van Dyke’s feet are stationary (DD Camera). After McDonald is on the ground, his legs and feet do not move (813R). McDonald’s upper body makes small, intermittent movements as what appear to be puffs of smoke rise from McDonald’s body (813R).17 | 813R Dashcam; DD Camera |

4. CCSPD Officer Accounts of the October 20, 2014 McDonald Shooting

While on patrol on October 20, 2014, CCSPD Officers Adam Murphy and Jeff Pasqua observed several CPD police vehicles pass by them. Both officers decided to follow the CPD vehicles. When they arrived at the scene, several CPD vehicles were already present—Pasqua estimated it was five or six. McDonald was lying on the pavement “gasp[ing] for his last breath of air.” Pasqua OIG Tr. 11:22-23. Meanwhile, the CPD officers were “standing around” and talking to each other. Murphy OIG Tr. 11:1. Murphy noted the CPD officers did not respond to him when he asked if they needed assistance. Murphy stated:

> I see there’s blood all over the pavement. [McDonald] was kind of gurgling when he was sitting there. I remember his mouth was going open and closed like he was trying to gasp for air. And I looked for everybody else, and they were kind of standing there. I just started taking my gloves—my rubber gloves out to check for a pulse and to see if I could render aid.

Murphy OIG Tr. 12:18-13:2. He heard someone say an ambulance was en route. Both Officers Murphy and Pasqua recalled then watching McDonald take his final breaths. It was “[m]aybe less than a minute before [McDonald] expired.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:15-16. At no time did any CPD officers attempt to provide aid or comfort McDonald—Murphy stated, “That’s why I felt that I needed to go up to him.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:11-12.

After McDonald passed away, Murphy got up from beside him and noticed the shooting officer, who he now knows to be Van Dyke, “pacing back and forth in front of his car.” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:7-8. Murphy approached him and told him to sit down and drink water. As he was speaking with Van Dyke, Murphy “heard several officers telling [Van Dyke] to call your union rep, call your union rep.” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:16-17.

Murphy and Pasqua departed after approximately ten minutes on the scene when a CPD sergeant told them CPD did not need their assistance. At the time they left, there was “[a] sea of CPD” on scene. Murphy OIG Tr. 38:3; Pasqua OIG Tr. 25:7-8.

C. Officer Mondragon’s Statements Regarding the McDonald Shooting

1. October 20, 2014 Statement to Detective David March

On March 15, 2015, Detective David March submitted a case supplementary report (CSR) with the R.D. Number HX475653 that contains a summary of CPD’s investigation in the aftermath of the McDonald shooting. Lieutenant Anthony Wojcik approved the CSR on March 16, 2015. Included in that CSR is March’s summary of the statement he obtained from Mondragon at the scene of the shooting. The CSR summarizes Mondragon’s October 20, 2014 statement in relevant part as follows:

[Mondragon] stated she was a Chicago Police Officer assigned to the 008th District. Mondragon related the same facts as her partner, Officer Daphne Sebastian.

Officer Mondragon added that as she drove westbound on 40th Street, she saw Officer McElligott running eastbound through the Burger King parking lot. She made a U-Turn and drove back out onto Pulaski Road. Mondragon turned southbound onto Pulaski. She saw Laquan McDonald running southbound on Pulaski, in the middle of the street. As she got closer she could see McDonald was holding a knife in his right hand. He was waving the knife.

Officer Mondragon saw Officers Joseph Walsh and Jason Van Dyke outside of their police vehicle. She heard the officers repeatedly ordering McDonald to “Drop the knife!” as McDonald got closer and closer to the officers, continuing to wave the knife. As she was placing her vehicle transmission into Park,

22 OIG 15-0564 003070.

23 March completed a General Progress Report (GPR) relating to his interview of Mondragon that contains March’s handwritten notes of the interview. OIG 15-0564 003249. March’s handwritten notes of the interview do not differ in any significant way from his summary of Mondragon’s statement in the CSR.
Mondragon looked down and heard multiple, continuous gunshots, without pause. Mondragon then saw McDonald fall to the ground. Mondragon did not know who fired the shots.

2. October 21, 2014 Statement to IPRA

On October 21, 2014, at 5:29 a.m., IPRA investigator Brian Killen interviewed Mondragon at Area Central Police Headquarters, located at 5101 South Wentworth, regarding the McDonald shooting. Attorney Dan Herbert and FOP Field Representative Kriston Kato accompanied Mondragon. Prior to the interview, Killen informed Mondragon that “any intentional falsification of any answer to any question would be in direct violations [sic] of rules and regulations,” and that her “failure to provide a complete and accurate account of this incident could result in a finding of a violation of Rule 14 with discipline leading up to and including separation from the Chicago Police Department.” Mondragon IPRA Tr. 3:22-32. Mondragon indicated that she understood the potential disciplinary consequences of making a false statement to IPRA and of providing a less than complete account of the shooting to IPRA. In summary, Mondragon stated as follows.

On the evening of October 20, 2014, Mondragon was on routine patrol with her partner, Sebastian. They began work at 9:00 p.m., were in full uniform, and were assigned a marked Ford Explorer, vehicle 8779. Mondragon was the driver of the vehicle.

When Mondragon and Sebastian were near 55th Street and Kostner, they heard a radio dispatch from officers asking for more cars at 40th Street and Kildare. When asked if she remembered why officers had called for more cars, she answered: “[T]hey stated that um they had a call about someone breakin’ into cars. And uh the offender that was on scene um had a knife. So they were lookin’ for a car with a taser.” Mondragon IPRA Tr. 5:21-24. Neither Mondragon nor Sebastian carried a taser.

Mondragon drove northbound on Pulaski, toward the location of the call. As she approached 40th Street, she saw 845R travelling in front of her vehicle. Both cars turned on 40th Street. Mondragon then saw McElligott running across the parking lot of the Burger King. At that point, Mondragon turned around and drove back onto Pulaski. She was not able to see an offender. As Mondragon drove south on Pulaski and was approaching 41st Street, she saw the offender, now known as McDonald, running southbound in the middle of Pulaski in front of her car, waving his hand up and down. She also saw another squad car coming toward her and saw 845R drive around McDonald. When Mondragon got closer to him, she saw a knife.

Mondragon said that McDonald was “waving the knife. He’s movin’ around. He’s like not completely running but he’s like I don’t know jogging, I could say.” Mondragon IPRA Tr. 9:31-10:2. Next, she related: “As we come you know I’m right behind ‘em next thing you know I hear um, I see officers um Walsh get outta their vehicle and I hear them say drop the knife, drop the knife, drop the knife. And he’s just you know wavin’ it. And then that’s when I hear shots fired.” Mondragon IPRA Tr. 10:2-8. When asked if McDonald was facing Walsh and his partner when he was waving the knife, Mondragon said she did not recall. Mondragon reiterated that she heard the officers say “drop the knife” several times and noted that, at that point, her vehicle was still moving slowly behind McDonald.

Mondragon then heard gunshots, but did not know who was shooting. She did not see any muzzle flash. She was not sure how many gunshots she heard, but it was several. Then, Mondragon said, “I’m still moving and I see the offender drop down.” Mondragon IPRA Tr. 11:13-14. Immediately after seeing McDonald “drop down,” she exited her vehicle and began directing oncoming cars away from the scene of the shooting. Mondragon IPRA Tr. 11:14-20.

When asked by IPRA whether everything she stated was “a true and accurate account of what occurred,” Mondragon said, “Yes.” Tr. 12:10-12.

G. Records and Interview Concerning 813R’s In-Car Video System

On October 21, 2014, CPD Sergeant Lance Becvar submitted a supplementary report for R.D. Number HX475653 concerning his retrieval of video from the in-car video systems of the five CPD vehicles that were on scene when Van Dyke shot McDonald. With respect to 813R, the vehicle Mondragon was driving on October 20, 2014, Becvar noted, “video recovered.” Becvar also completed an “In Car Camera Video Retrieval Worksheet” regarding his October 20, 2014 video retrieval, in which he made the following notation with respect to 813R: “Mics in glove box batteries inserted upside down → fully op.”

On July 17, 2015, Becvar sent an email summarizing his findings regarding his October 20, 2014 video retrieval from 845R and the other four CPD vehicles that were on scene when Van Dyke shot McDonald. With respect to 813R, Becvar stated as follows: “Video recovered titled PC0Z400@20141020215250, No mics because they were in the glove compartment with the batteries inserted upside down – Disabling them.”

In a January 27, 2016 OIG interview with Becvar, he stated that, while video had been recovered from 813R’s system, there was no audio recording because the system’s microphones “were in the glove compartment with the batteries turned upside down.” Becvar OIG Tr. 52:8-10. When asked what he had made of the fact that the batteries had been put in upside down, Becvar answered, “It’s a known way to get around the video – get around the microphones.” Becvar OIG Tr. 52:18-19. He went on to explain that, if batteries had been put in upside down accidentally, an officer should have been able to ascertain that from the operation of the system.

H. OIG’s Interview of Officer Mondragon

On February 24, 2016, pursuant to Section 6.1 of the CBA between CPD and FOP, OIG, through CPD’s Bureau of Internal Affairs, served Mondragon with a Notification of Interview, Notification of Allegations, and copies of her prior statements, including: (1) her October 20, 2014 statement to March, contained in the March 16, 2015 CSR; (2) March’s GPR containing his handwritten notes of his interview of Mondragon; and (3) Mondragon’s October 21, 2014 statement to IPRA. In addition, OIG provided Mondragon with the dashcam footage from 813R and 845R and the security camera footage from Dunkin’ Donuts.

On March 22, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed Mondragon under oath after informing her of her administrative advisements orally and in writing. She provided oral and written acknowledgment of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Mondragon’s attorney, Jennifer Russell, was also present for the interview.

In an interview which lasted just less than four hours, including breaks, Mondragon answered that she did not remember or did not recall approximately 145 times. In addition, she answered “not that I remember,” or “not that I recall” more than a dozen times, including in answer to such questions as whether she had ever witnessed a police-involved shooting—or indeed any shooting—before October of 2014.

In summary, Mondragon stated as follows. As of October 20, 2014, Mondragon was assigned to CPD’s 8th District and was working with Sebastian, one of her regular partners.

1. The Scene of the Shooting

Mondragon and Sebastian were at the scene of the McDonald shooting. Immediately after McDonald was shot, they got out of their car and began directing traffic away from the scene. Mondragon first said she “didn’t really talk” to Sebastian at the scene, and then said she did not remember speaking with Sebastian. Mondragon OIG Tr. 48:21. Mondragon did not remember whether she spoke to any CPD sergeants at the scene of the shooting; she did not remember whether she spoke to Sergeant Stephen Franko or Commander David McNaughton, or whether either of them was at the scene. She did not remember speaking to March or to any detective. After reviewing a copy of March’s CSR, recounting an interview with Mondragon, she said, “I’m sure I spoke to him at some point, but I don’t remember where or when.” Mondragon OIG Tr. 47:22-23. She did not remember whether she spoke to a FOP representative at the scene.

At the scene, a technician approached Mondragon and asked if he could look at the in-car video in the vehicle she had been driving. Mondragon set up the video to play and gave the technician access to the system. She did not remember whether she watched the in-car video of the shooting at the scene.
2. Area Central

At some point, Mondragon left the scene of the shooting and went to Area Central. She drove herself and Sebastian in 813R; Mondragon did not recall what they talked about on the way. When they arrived, there were other officers there. Mondragon remembered seeing Officers Viramontes and Fontaine, but did not remember whether Officers Walsh, Van Dyke, McElligott, or Gaffney were there. She did not remember talking to any other officers at Area Central, and did not remember whether she spoke with a detective. Mondragon did specifically recall that there was pizza at Area Central.

3. Mondragon’s Statement to Detective March

Mondragon reviewed the statements attributed to her in the March 16, 2015 CSR and provided the following responses.

She later reiterated, “I saw them get out, out of the corner of my eye, then, you know, I looked at Laquan, put my car in park, and everything happened.” Mondragon OIG Tr. 112:22-24. |
| Mondragon stood by this statement. When asked how it was that she did not see who was shooting, she answered, “I was – you know, I was driving, and I was focused on Laquan.” Mondragon OIG Tr. 105:7-8. When asked whether she saw McDonald “actually being shot,” Mondragon answered, “I don’t recall if I actually saw – like I said, I put it on park, heard the shots. He fell to the ground.” Mondragon OIG Tr. 105:13-17. However, when asked, “[S]o you saw him standing and then fall to the ground?”, she answered, “I don’t – I don’t know. I don’t remember.” Mondragon OIG Tr. 105:18-20. When asked, “Would you think that witnessing a shooting would be something that would stick in your memory?”, she said she was “sure it would,” but that it was not really sticking in her memory at that time. Mondragon OIG Tr. 106:24-107:5. Mondragon was asked to confirm that she “did not see who was shooting because [she was] focused on Laquan McDonald,” and she answered, “Yeah. I was looking at him.” Mondragon Tr. 110:2-5. Nonetheless, Mondragon did not remember whether she saw McDonald fall to the ground. |

During her OIG interview, Mondragon watched the footage captured by the in-car video system in 813R, the car she was driving on October 20, 2014. Before watching the video, she said, “I mean, seeing the video is not going to change what my statement says.” Mondragon OIG Tr. 126:4-5. After watching the video, she was asked: “You said your attention was on McDonald when you were at the scene. Did you see him standing and then fall to the ground?” She answered, “Like I said, I don’t remember that.” Mondragon OIG Tr. 128:19-22. The following exchange then took place:

OIG: You did not see Officers Walsh or Officer Van Dyke – you did not see who shot?

Mondragon: No, I didn’t.

OIG: And you did not see Laquan McDonald standing and then fall to the ground?

Mondragon: I don’t recall seeing him, like I said, but I don’t, no. I didn’t see who shot.

OIG: So I wanted to ask you, is your statement that you did not see any of that, the shooting, because you were looking down?

Mondragon: I don’t remember if I said because I was looking down the entire time, but I didn’t see the shots.

Mondragon OIG Tr. 129:5-130:10.

4. Mondragon’s October 21, 2014 IPRA Interview

Mondragon did not recall whether she spoke with an attorney or a FOP representative before her October 21, 2014 IPRA interview at Area Central.

Mondragon reviewed the allegations against her as set out in the Notification of Allegations served upon her by OIG, as relating to her IPRA interview. She responded, in relevant part, to the allegations as follows.

5. Use of 813R’s In-Car Video System

Mondragon reviewed CPD Special Order S03-05 outlining the protocol for in-car video systems. Mondragon was familiar with the procedures set out therein as of October 20, 2014, and she had received training on them.

Mondragon had used vehicle 8779 several times before October 20 2014. On that date, the car had a dashcam system. When asked if she had ever had problems with vehicle 8779’s in-car audio or video system prior to October 20, 2014, she answered, “Not that I remember.” Mondragon OIG Tr. 154:6-9. When asked where the microphones for the system were stored, Mondragon said, “It depends. I don’t remember that car where they kept it.” Mondragon OIG Tr. 155:19-20.

Mondragon reviewed Becvar’s notes having to do with vehicle 8779’s microphones being in the glove compartment, with their batteries inserted upside down. When asked if she could explain why the mics were in the glove compartment, she answered, “I have no idea, no.” Mondragon OIG Tr. 158:1. Mondragon could not explain why the batteries were inserted upside down, and denied purposely disabling the microphones. When asked if she had checked the system’s microphones at the start of her tour of duty on October 20, 2014, she answered, “I did not, no.” Mondragon OIG Tr. 158:10. Mondragon did not remember whether, as of October 20, 2014, it would have been general practice to notify a sergeant if the audio component of the in-car video system was not working.

Mondragon reviewed the allegations against her as set out in the Notification of Allegations served upon her by OIG, as relating to her use of 813R’s in-car video system on October 20, 2014. She responded, in relevant part, to the allegations as follows.

V. ANALYSIS

OIG’s investigation established that Mondragon made false statements and material omissions in her interviews with CPD and IPRA regarding the McDonald shooting. Mondragon’s false statements and material omissions all served a similar purpose: to minimize Van Dyke’s accountability in the shooting of McDonald, to materially exaggerate the threat posed by McDonald and provide a false narrative concerning the shooting.

Mondragon’s false statements and material omissions served to minimize Van Dyke’s accountability in that she omitted the fact that Van Dyke moved toward McDonald before shooting him and that McDonald was walking away from the Van Dyke and Walsh when he was shot, and further claimed that she was unable to identify Van Dyke as the shooter.

Further, Mondragon’s credibility is severely limited by her uncooperativeness, as evidenced by her repeated and insistent claim that she did not remember details and events relating to the events of October 20, 2014. In response to OIG’s questions, Mondragon answered that she did not remember or did not recall approximately 145 times, and answered with some variation of “not that I recall” more than a dozen times. She remembered being served pizza at Area Central, but stated she was unable to remember large swaths of details of the actual shooting. Even when asked whether she had witnessed a police-involved shooting before the McDonald shooting, she answered, “Not that I recall.” Mondragon OIG Tr. 78:13. She gave the same response when asked if she had ever witnessed any shooting. It defies belief that Mondragon does not remember whether or not she had seen anyone shot, but has a clear recollection of pizza.

Mondragon’s actions, individually and collectively, constitute violations of CPD Rules. Each of Mondragon’s false statements constitutes a violation of Rule 14 (making a false report, written or oral). Her false statements also constitute violations of Rule 2 (engaging in any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department), and Rule 3 (failing to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy and accomplish its goals). An officer who has made false statements in an official investigation has irrevocably tainted not only her credibility, but also the credibility of CPD—and also fails to promote CPD’s goal of employing officers with personal integrity and professional devotion to law enforcement. Mondragon further violated Rule 6 (disobedience of an order, namely S03-05) and Rule 11 (incompetency in the performance of a duty) by failing to audibly record events with her in-car video system and failing to notify her supervisor about the status of the system’s audio component. Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD discharge Mondragon.

A. Mondragon’s False Narrative to Detective March

Mondragon made false statements and material omissions in her October 20, 2014 statement to March. Specifically,

- Mondragon stated that she did not know who fired the shots at McDonald.
Mondragon stated that, because she was placing her vehicle transmission into park, she was looking down during the time that McDonald was shot.

Mondragon failed to state that McDonald changed the direction in which he was walking before he was shot.

Mondragon failed to state that Van Dyke and Walsh moved toward McDonald before Van Dyke shot him.

Mondragon took the position that she did not see Van Dyke and Walsh move toward McDonald, and that she did not see who shot McDonald, because she wasn’t looking at the officers. Instead, she said, she was either looking down to put her car in park or was focused solely on McDonald. Neither possibility is credible. The footage recorded by 813R’s in-car video system, the very car Mondragon was driving, shows precisely what was visible from her location at the scene. It is unreasonable to suggest that it took Mondragon so long to move the transmission of a vehicle she was amply familiar with into park that she missed the entire interlude during which Van Dyke repeatedly shot McDonald – a period of time which appears to have lasted approximately 14 seconds. Mondragon was not unfamiliar with the vehicle, and there should not have been anything particularly difficult about placing it into park; she admitted that she had driven the same car several times before and confirmed that the gear shift lever was located on the steering wheel. Further, she said that she was focused solely on McDonald, but she failed to say that he changed direction and was walking away from Van Dyke and Walsh. If she was wholly focused on McDonald, it is impossible that she did not see McDonald’s actions. She asserted she did not recall whether she actually saw McDonald get shot and fall to the ground. She takes the precarious position that she did not see Van Dyke shoot because she was watching McDonald get shot, but she is not sure she saw McDonald get shot. Mondragon’s answers are so inconsistent as to prevent any of them from being credited.

Taken as a whole, Mondragon’s false statements and material omissions can be seen as a deliberate attempt to establish or further the false narrative that Van Dyke shot an onrushing McDonald in response to a potentially deadly knife attack. This narrative, and Mondragon’s statements which further it, are belied by the video footage of the events of the shooting.

B. Mondragon’s False Narrative to IPRA

Mondragon effectively repeated her false narrative of the McDonald shooting to IPRA during her October 21, 2014 interview with Investigator Killen. Specifically, she again omitted the facts that Van Dyke and Walsh moved toward McDonald before McDonald was shot, and that McDonald had changed the direction in which he was walking, as are clearly shown by the video footage from Mondragon’s own vehicle. She again stated that she did not see who shot McDonald. As detailed above, however, Mondragon’s statement and omissions are contradicted by the video evidence. Nonetheless, she stood by her statement to IPRA that she had provided a true and accurate account of the shooting.

C. Failure to Comply with Special Order S03-05

Mondragon also violated Rule 6 (disobedience of an order) and Rule 11 (incompetency in the performance of a duty) by failing to audibly record events with her in-car video system and failing to notify her supervisor about the audio component’s status as required by S03-05. Becvar, who recovered the video from 813R’s in-car video system, found that the system’s microphones were in the glove compartment with their batteries inserted upside down. If Mondragon had properly followed the pre-tour of duty in-car video system protocols, she would have identified all these issues. Yet, as Mondragon admitted, she never checked or reported on the status of 813R’s audio component. Becvar’s inspection revealed that, if the batteries were inserted correctly, 813R’s audio recording component was fully functional. Therefore, it was only Mondragon’s failure to operate the system correctly that precluded audio recording. Mondragon repeatedly claimed that she did not know that the audio component was not working. The special order clearly requires, however, that an officer obtain an audio recorder and securely attach it to her person; it is difficult to imagine how Mondragon could not have known that she failed to attach a microphone to her person. Thus, the evidence demonstrates that Mondragon failed to follow the in-car video system procedures set forth in S03-05 on October 20, 2014.

VI. Recommendation

Mondragon’s false statements raise significant concerns regarding her credibility and ability to perform her duties as a sworn officer. As a sworn officer, Mondragon’s reports are relied upon in criminal legal proceedings and her credibility is therefore critical to her position. An officer who has made false statements in an official investigation has irrevocably tainted her credibility and has wholly disqualified herself from effectively executing core police functions. Based on this conduct she may be the subject of cross-examination in any contested proceedings in which she may appear as a witness, see Fed. R. Evid. 608(b) (“Specific instances of conduct”), and her conduct and the findings resulting from this investigation would further qualify as impeachment material that should, in principle, be disclosed in any contested proceeding involving the official records or testimony Mondragon generates. See Giglio v. United States, 405 U.S. 150 (1972) (requiring disclosure in criminal case of information impeaching of government witness’s credibility). Illinois courts have repeatedly noted that “‘as the guardians of our laws, police officers are expected to act with integrity, honesty, and trustworthiness’” and have found intentional false or misleading statements by police officers to be sufficient cause for termination. Rodriguez v. Weis, 408 Ill. App. 3d 663, 671 (1st Dist. 2011) (quoting Sindermann v. Civil Service Comm’n, 275 Ill. App. 3d 917, 928 (2nd Dist. 1995)). Further, Mondragon failed to comply with Special Order S03-05, and her actions resulted in the loss of what would have been critical, objective evidence of the events surrounding the McDonald shooting.

OIG therefore recommends that CPD discharge Mondragon and refer her for placement on the ineligible for rehire list maintained by the Department of Human Resources.

30 Information supplied by Becvar suggests that, given that the microphones in 813R would have been fully functional if the batteries had been inserted correctly, they may have been intentionally disabled. Because different officers drive the same car, however, OIG is unable to establish who may have disabled them.
VII. CPD RULE VIOLATIONS

Rule 2  Any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department.

Rule 3  Any failure to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy or accomplish its goals.

Rule 6  Disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral.

Rule 11  Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.

Rule 14  Making a false report, written or oral.
Appendix A
This report consists of a summary of the evidence set out in the attached investigative materials and the Office of Inspector General’s (OIG’s) analysis of that evidence. An index of the investigative materials is attached.

I. INTRODUCTION

An OIG investigation has established that Chicago Police Department’s (CPD) Bureau of Detectives Chief Eugene Roy, who, as Commander of the Area Central Detective Division, had formal supervisory responsibility for CPD’s investigation related to CPD Officer Jason Van Dyke’s October 20, 2014 shooting of Laquan McDonald, violated CPD Rules and Regulations during that investigation. More specifically, and as detailed further below, Roy failed to ensure that the investigative team under his supervision produced truthful and objective reports. Roy also failed to take corrective action after conducting his review, mandated by CPD special order, of the materially false reports produced by his subordinates, which served to exaggerate the threat McDonald posed. Roy let stand reports containing materially false statements and conclusions despite viewing video of the shooting within hours of its occurrence and possessing ongoing knowledge of the investigation as it unfolded. By failing to adequately carry out his supervisory responsibilities, Roy impeded CPD’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals (Rule 2), failed to promote CPD’s efforts to implement its policy and accomplish its goals (Rule 3), disobeyed an order requiring that he hold his subordinates strictly accountable for appropriate reporting (Rule 6), and was incompetent in the performance of his duties (Rule 11). Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD discharge Roy and refer him for placement on the ineligible for rehire list maintained by the Department of Human Resources.

II. APPLICABLE RULES, REGULATIONS, AND LAW

A. CPD Rules and Regulations

CPD’s Rules and Regulations set out the standards of conduct and duties of sworn members, including supervisory members, as well as CPD goals. The Rules and Regulations state that sworn members must “conduct themselves at all times in such a manner as will reflect credit upon the Department with emphasis on personal integrity and professional devotion to law enforcement.” Supervisory members “have the responsibility for the performance of all subordinates placed under them” and they “[r]emain accountable for the failure, misconduct or omission by their subordinates.”

Article V of the CPD Rules and Regulations, entitled CPD Rules of Conduct (the CPD Rules), sets forth specifically prohibited acts. In pertinent part, the CPD Rules include the following prohibitions:
Rule 2 Any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department.

Rule 3 Any failure to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy or accomplish its goals.

Rule 6 Disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral.

Rule 11 Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.

B. CPD Special Orders

CPD Special Orders are directives that establish protocols and procedures concerning specific CPD functions, operations, programs, or processes. CPD Special Orders are directives that establish protocols and procedures concerning specific CPD functions, operations, programs, or processes. Addendum 1 to Detective Division Special Order 11-01, titled “Homicides and Sworn Weapon Discharge Incidents,” effective from May 9, 2011, to January 1, 2015, states that detectives investigating homicides or weapon discharge incidents involving sworn members will “[t]horoughly document relevant information discovered during the course of the investigation” and “[r]ecord relevant information initially transcribed on General Progress Reports or other investigative documents to formatted Department reports (e.g. Supplementary Report, General Offense Case Report, etc.).”\(^1\)

Bureau of Detectives Special Order (BDSO) 14-13, titled “Reporting Guidelines,” was in effect from November 13, 2014 to January 1, 2015, and was then re-issued on January 1, 2015, as BDSO 15-13.\(^2\) The order states that “[i]t is the policy of the Bureau of Detectives to comprehensively and accurately document all steps taken during the course of an investigation.” Further, it requires that “Area Commanders will hold detectives and supervisors strictly accountable for failure to comply with the provisions of this directive.”

BDSO 14-17, titled “Police Involved Shooting Guidelines,” was in effect from November 21, 2014 to January 1, 2015, and was then re-issued on January 1, 2015 as BDSO 15-17.\(^3\) Under the heading “Investigative File Review and Retention,” Section V.A. of the order required that “[u]pon completion of the investigative file, the assigned sergeant will forward the file to the Area Commander for review.”

\(^2\) OIG 15-0564 009054-56. See OIG 15-0564 009012. In CPD documents, special orders governing the Bureau of Detectives are referred to as both Detective Division Special Orders and Bureau of Detectives Special Orders. Hereafter, they are referred to as Bureau of Detectives Special Orders (BDSOs).

\(^3\) OIG 15-0564 009068-71. See OIG 15-0564 009012.
BDSO 15-22, titled “Justifiable Homicides,” outlines the protocols that CPD members in the Bureau of Detectives are to follow regarding justifiable homicides. The order defines a justifiable homicide as either “the killing of a felon by a peace officer in the line of duty,” or “the killing of a felon by a private citizen during the commission of a felony.” Section III of BDSO 15-22 outlines reporting procedures for justifiable homicides and requires that:

A. When an incident is determined to be a justifiable homicide, the assigned detective will obtain a second RD number. The first case will bear the classification of the crime the felon was committing. The second RD number will be for the justifiable homicide. Detectives will not identify a person lawfully entitled to use deadly force as an ‘Offender.’

B. The facts detailing the entire investigation will be reported in the justifiable homicide report.

*Note: The narrative section of the original felony report will state, ‘The facts of this case are reported under RD#______. For complete details, refer to that investigation.’ (Emphasis in original).

E. Detectives will state in their reports that no charges were placed at this time. They will not state that use of deadly force was justified.

III. CHIEF EUGENE ROY’S EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

Roy was hired by the City of Chicago in 1972 as a Cadet with the Fire Department. He joined CPD in 1977 as an Investigator and became a police officer in 1986. Roy was promoted to Sergeant in 1994, to Lieutenant in 1998, to Captain in 2001, to Commander in 2005, and to Deputy Chief and then Chief in 2015. He is currently Chief of CPD’s Bureau of Detectives, and was Commander of the Area Central Detective Division as of October 20, 2014. In his role as Commander, Roy supervised the CPD members who conducted the McDonald investigation, including Lieutenant Anthony Wojcik, Sergeant Daniel Gallagher, and Detective David March. Roy also supervised Lieutenant Osvaldo Valdez, who was present at the scene of the shooting and attended internal CPD meetings regarding the investigation.

IV. SUMMARY OF INVESTIGATION

A. Procedural History of OIG’s Investigation

By letter, dated December 8, 2015, Independent Police Review Authority (IPRA) Acting Chief Administrator Sharon Fairley requested that OIG conduct an administrative investigation “to determine whether certain police officers/witnesses made false statements on official reports prepared in connection with [Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald] and/or during the investigation of the incident.”6 IPRA further requested that OIG investigate “whether any of the involved Chicago Police officers committed any other violation(s) of Chicago Police Department rules, policies or procedures in their involvement with the incident, including, but not limited to, whether any officers’ conduct may have interfered with or obstructed the appropriate investigation and handling of this matter.”

Then, by letter, dated January 13, 2016, CPD Interim Superintendent John J. Escalante requested that OIG conduct an “administrative investigation into any and all allegations of police officer misconduct” arising out of the October 20, 2014 shooting death of McDonald. The Superintendent’s request asked OIG to investigate the following allegations: “whether any officer(s) made false statements on official reports submitted in connection with the shooting of Laquan McDonald on October 20, 2014; whether any officer(s) obstructed or interfered with the investigation of this incident, either individually or in collusion with others; and whether any officer(s) committed any violation of Chicago Police Department rules, policies, or orders in connection with their response and/or handling of this matter.” Escalante attached to the letter request a copy of Sergeant Sandra Soria’s Initiation Report, which raises allegations of misconduct related to the in-car video systems of the vehicles that were present during the McDonald shooting, and identified that Report as a basis for OIG’s administrative investigation.

On March 10, 2016, Kevin Kilmer, Financial Secretary for the FOP, filed a grievance with CPD on behalf of all affected members stating that OIG’s attempts to conduct CPD officer interviews violated Article 6 of CPD’s Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) with the FOP.7 On March 16, 2016, FOP on behalf of all impacted CPD officers filed a “Complaint for Injunction in Aid of Arbitration” in the Circuit Court of Cook County, asking the court to enjoin OIG from conducting interviews until the grievance was decided in arbitration.8 The court dismissed the complaint and denied the injunction on March 22, 2016.

7 Section 6.1, Paragraph I of the CBA states, “If the allegation under investigation indicates a recommendation for separation is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the statutory administrative proceeding rights, or if the allegation indicates criminal prosecution is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the constitutional rights concerning self-incrimination prior to the commencement of interrogation.” CPD General Order GO8-01-01, Paragraph K contains similar language.

8 Fraternal Order of Police, Chicago Lodge 7 v. City of Chicago, No. 2016 CH 03726 (Cir. Ct. of Cook County, Ill., Mar. 16, 2016).
OIG’s administrative investigation of other CPD employees’ actions related to CPD’s handling of the McDonald investigation is ongoing. During the course of its investigation, OIG has gathered documents from CPD and IPRA, among other sources, and conducted numerous interviews, including interviews of several CPD personnel who were at or responded to the scene of the shooting and civilian witnesses to the shooting. To date in its ongoing investigation, OIG has recommended disciplinary action against multiple CPD personnel.

B. The Events of October 20, 2014

The following sections detail the shooting of McDonald, as well as the relevant events that occurred directly before and after the shooting.9

1. and Rudy Barillas’s Encounter with McDonald10

and were parking a truck in a lot at 41st Street and Kildare Avenue when saw a black male, whom she subsequently identified as McDonald, attempting to steal property from certain vehicles parked in the lot. told to leave the lot. responded by making growling noises. After again told McDonald to leave the lot, pulled out a knife and swung it at Barillas. Barillas, who had already called 911, then threw his cell phone at . ran from the lot, first northbound on Kildare and then eastbound on 40th Street.

2. Officers Thomas Gaffney and Joseph McElligott’s Encounter with McDonald12

Officer Thomas Gaffney and his partner Officer Joseph McElligott received a call over the radio that someone had broken into a truck at 4100 South Kildare and were dispatched to the scene.13

9 On April 22, 2016, OIG obtained maps of the locations that are relevant to the shooting from Google Maps and included those maps in Appendix A. Those maps generally reflect the street layout and location of relevant businesses as they were on the night of October 20, 2014.

10 The following account of and Barillas’s encounter with McDonald is taken from the March 16, 2015 case supplementary report (CSR) submitted by CPD Detective David March, which includes the statements that and Barillas provided to CPD on October 21, 2014, and October 22, 2014, respectively. OIG 15-0564 003077.

11 OEMC recordings reflect that called 911 at 9:45 p.m. stating that he was holding “a guy right hear [sic] that stolen [sic] the radios” from trucks in a truck yard located at “41st and Kildare.” OIG 15-0564 003227.

12 The following account of Gaffney and McElligott’s encounter with McDonald is taken from (1) the audio-recorded statements Gaffney and McElligott provided to IPRA on October 21, 2014, OIG 15-0564 000482-98, 000610-30; and (2) the March 16, 2015 CSR submitted by Detective David March, which includes the statements that Gaffney and McElligott provided to March on the night of the McDonald shooting. OIG 15-0564 003067–69.

13 OEMC records reflect that Gaffney and McElligott received the call at 9:47 p.m. OIG 15-0564 003691.
Gaffney was driving, and McElligott was in the passenger seat of their assigned vehicle, 815R.\textsuperscript{14} When they arrived at 4100 South Kildare, they saw a Hispanic male and female standing by the gate to the truck yard. The two said that a black male wearing a black shirt, later determined to be McDonald, had been trying to steal the radio out of a semi-truck, and had subsequently headed north toward 40th Street.

Gaffney and McElligott drove north on Kildare, turned right onto 40th Street, and saw McDonald walking east on the south side of 40th Street. McElligott exited the vehicle and commanded McDonald to stop and turn around. Gaffney stayed in the vehicle in case McDonald attempted to flee. McElligott ordered McDonald to take his hands out of his pockets. McDonald, who had been facing McElligott, turned and walked away with one hand still in his pocket. McDonald then turned again and took both of his hands out of his pockets. He had a knife in his right hand. McElligott drew his weapon and told McDonald to drop the knife. McDonald started walking east again, going from the sidewalk to the street and back. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, shining his flashlight on him, while Gaffney followed in 815R, parallel to McDonald.

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Keeler, Gaffney reported to dispatch that McDonald was walking away with a knife in his hand.\textsuperscript{15} Gaffney and McElligott continued to follow McDonald as he headed east, with McElligott giving McDonald orders to drop his knife and stop. McDonald kept turning around and giving the officers a “weird glaze[d] look.” Gaffney IPRA Tr. 11:20.\textsuperscript{16}

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Karlov, Gaffney turned his car toward McDonald to direct him down Karlov. Gaffney wanted to keep McDonald away from Pulaski,

This guy uh is walking away from us and he’s got a knife in his hand.” Approximately 30 seconds later, a dispatcher stated, “815R looking for a taser.” See OEMC Documents and CDs; see also OIG 15-0564 003691, 3228.

which was a more populated area. McDonald then swung his arm and popped 815R’s right front tire with his knife. McElligott was toward the back of 815R when McDonald popped its tire. After McDonald took a step back from the vehicle, Gaffney pulled up further in front of him to stop him from proceeding to Pulaski. McDonald then hit the right side of 815R’s windshield once with the knife in his right hand. The windshield did not break but, according to Gaffney, McDonald hit it as hard as he could. McDonald walked around the front of 815R and continued eastward on 40th Street. After McDonald had walked 10 to 15 feet, another squad car turned off of Pulaski onto 40th Street with its lights on, and McDonald began to sprint. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, and Gaffney followed McDonald in 815R. McDonald ran eastbound through a parking lot of a Burger King located at 40th and Pulaski and then headed southbound on Pulaski. Video footage from several cameras captured McDonald’s movements as he reached Pulaski.

3. Summary of the Relevant Video Footage

4. CCSPD Officer Accounts of the October 20, 2014 McDonald Shooting

While on patrol on October 20, 2014, CCSPD Officers Adam Murphy and Jeff Pasqua observed several CPD police vehicles pass by them. Both officers decided to follow the CPD vehicles. When they arrived at the scene, several CPD vehicles were already present—Pasqua estimated it was five or six. McDonald was lying on the pavement “gasping for his last breath of air.” Pasqua OIG Tr. 11:22-23. Meanwhile, the CPD officers were “standing around” and talking to each other. Murphy OIG Tr. 11:1. Murphy noted the CPD officers did not respond to him when he asked if they needed assistance. Murphy stated:

>> I see there’s blood all over the pavement. [McDonald] was kind of gurgling when he was sitting there. I remember his mouth was going open and closed like he was trying to gasp for air. And I looked for everybody else, and they were kind of standing there. I just started taking my gloves—my rubber gloves out to check for a pulse and to see if I could render aid.

20 OEMC records show that dispatch received notice to send an ambulance to the scene at 9:57:51. OIG 15-0564 003691.

21 The last time stamp visible on the 813R dashcam video is 9:58:55.

22 OIG identified the CCSPD officer as Officer Adam Murphy.

23 The following CCSPD Officer accounts are taken from OIG’s June 23, 2016 interview of Jeff Pasqua and its June 24, 2015 interview of Adam Murphy. Pasqua and Murphy are currently CCSPD investigators.
Murphy OIG Tr. 12:18-13:2. He heard someone say an ambulance was en route.\(^{24}\) Both Officers Murphy and Pasqua recalled then watching McDonald take his final breaths.\(^{25}\) It was “[m]aybe less than a minute before [McDonald] expired.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:15-16. At no time did any CPD officers attempt to provide aid or comfort McDonald—Murphy stated, “That’s why I felt that I needed to go up to him.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:11-12.

After McDonald passed away, Murphy got up from beside him and noticed the shooting officer, who he now knows to be Van Dyke, “pacing back and forth in front of his car.” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:7-8. Murphy approached him and told him to sit down and drink water. As he was speaking with Van Dyke, Murphy “heard several officers telling [Van Dyke] to call your union rep, call your union rep.” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:16-17.

Murphy and Pasqua departed after approximately ten minutes on the scene when a CPD sergeant told them CPD did not need their assistance. At the time they left, there was “[a] sea of CPD” on scene. Murphy OIG Tr. 38:3; Pasqua OIG Tr. 25:7-8.

C. CPD’s Reports Regarding the McDonald Investigation

1. Case Supplementary Report, “Sup ID” 10992767 CASR301\(^{26}\)

On March 15, 2015, Detective March submitted a case supplementary report under RD #HX-475653 with “Sup ID” 10992767 CASR301 (the 301 CSR).\(^{27}\) The report is titled as a “Field Investigation Exc. Cleared Closed (Other Exceptional) Report.” It lists the original and last “Offense Classification” as “Assault/Aggravated Po: Knife/Cut Instr.,” the “Date of Occurrence” as October 20, 2014, at 9:57 p.m., and the “Address of Occurrence” as 4112 S. Pulaski Rd. Further, it lists Van Dyke, Walsh, Gaffney, and McElligott as the victims, McDonald as the offender, March as the reporting officer and primary detective assigned, and Wojcik as the

\(^{24}\) In a January 22, 2016 OIG interview, CPD Area North Commander Kevin Duffin stated CPD police officers have a duty to render aid to injured civilians per general orders. Police officers render aid by calling dispatch and requesting that an ambulance be dispatched to the scene. According to Duffin, police officers are not required or expected to provide any more assistance than this. On March 30, 2016, CPD issued General Order G03-06 which requires that the involved member(s) “request medical attention for the injured, and also offer immediate medical aid commensurate with their training, experience, and available equipment.”

\(^{25}\) The Medical Examiner’s Case Report states McDonald was pronounced dead “on view” at Mount Sinai Medical Center on October 20, 2014, at 10:42 p.m. OIG 15-0564 015029.

\(^{27}\) CPD reported its investigation of the events that culminated in the McDonald shooting under record number HX-475653, and classified most of the reports as an investigation into an aggravated assault in which McDonald was the offender. In a few reports, CPD classified the case as an investigation into a justifiable homicide of which McDonald was the victim. CPD also created an additional record number, HX-486155, which it classified as a justifiable homicide.
approving supervisor. It is signed as the “report of” March, Gallagher, and Wojcik of the Bureau of Detectives – Area Central. Wojcik approved the CSR on March 16, 2015.28

The CSR contains, among other information, summaries of the interviews March conducted of the officers who were present when Van Dyke shot McDonald, as well as summaries of the interviews CPD detectives conducted of civilian witnesses to the events of October 20, 2014.

a) Officer Statement Summaries

(1) Van Dyke

The 301 CSR includes summaries of the statements that Van Dyke provided to March on October 20, 2014, and October 21, 2014, respectively. The following is an excerpt of Van Dyke’s October 20, 2014 statement:

Officer Van Dyke exited the vehicle on the right side and drew his handgun. As Van Dyke stood in the street on Pulaski, facing northbound, toward McDonald, McDonald approached southbound. McDonald was holding the knife in his right hand, in an underhand grip, with the blade pointed forward. He was swinging the knife in an aggressive, exaggerated manner. Van Dyke ordered McDonald to “Drop the knife!” multiple times. McDonald ignored Van Dyke’s verbal direction to drop the knife and continued to advance toward Van Dyke.

When McDonald got to within 10 to 15 feet of Officer Van Dyke, McDonald looked toward Van Dyke. McDonald raised the knife across his chest and over his shoulder, pointing the knife at Van Dyke. Van Dyke believed McDonald was attacking Van Dyke with the knife, and attempting to kill Van Dyke. In defense of his life, Van Dyke backpedaled and fired his handgun at McDonald, to stop the attack. McDonald fell to the ground but continued to move and continued to grasp the knife, refusing to let go of it. Van Dyke continued to fire his weapon at McDonald as McDonald was on the ground, as McDonald appeared to be attempting to get up, all the while continuing to point the knife at Van Dyke. The slide on Van Dyke’s pistol locked in the rearward position, indicating the weapon

28 On March 16, 2015, hours after Wojcik approved the CSR, Lieutenant Osvaldo Valdez sent an email to Wojcik and Gallagher, copying Roy. OIG 15-0564 015738-41. The email was part of a chain of emails between Valdez and the FBI, and stated as follows:

All[,] See attached spread sheet that was provided by the FBI. It is regarding L[aw]E[ncrof]icer’s killed or assaulted and injured in the line of duty in which offenders used a knife/other cutting instrument. After a quick review of the report there were a couple things that stood out. These are incidents where an officer is assaulted and injured or killed by an assailant with a knife between the years of 2004 – 2013. 1. Out of 382 incidents, there are 2 incidents that resulted in the officer being killed. Interesting to note would be to determine what the distance between the offenders and the officers were as the shots were fired that resulted in fatality. 2. There are only 32 incidents where assisting officer shot there [sic] weapon as well. This was a question that was brought up, ‘why didn’t the other officers shoot?’ I will ask if I can get more details.
was empty. Van Dyke performed a tactical reload of his pistol with a new magazine and then assessed the situation.

McDonald was no longer moving and the threat had been mitigated, so Officer Van Dyke and Officer Walsh approached McDonald. McDonald was still holding the knife in his right hand. Van Dyke continued to order McDonald to “Drop the knife!” Officer Walsh told Van Dyke, “I have this.” Van Dyke then used his handgun to cover Walsh as Walsh walked up and forcibly kicked the knife out of McDonald’s right hand, thereby eliminating the threat to the officers.

The 301 CSR summarized Van Dyke’s October 21, 2014 statement in relevant part as follows:

[Van Dyke] related the same sequence of events as documented in his original interview at the scene of the incident.

Van Dyke additionally articulated the reasoning behind his decision to use deadly force against the offender in this incident, Laquan McDonald. Van Dyke was aware of the radio transmissions from Officer Thomas Gaffney, on Beat 815R, that McDonald was armed with a knife. Van Dyke was aware that McDonald had attacked the officers on Beat 815R by slashing the tire of their police vehicle.

As he confronted McDonald at 4112 South Pulaski Road, Van Dyke saw that McDonald was in fact, armed with a knife, a deadly weapon. Van Dyke was aware of the widely accepted teaching in law enforcement that an assailant armed with a knife was considered a deadly threat, if within 21 feet, because it was possible for such an assailant to close that distance and attack with the knife before a defensive shot could be fired from a handgun. Van Dyke was also aware of the existence of throwing knives, which can be thrown from a distance, as well as spring loaded knives, which propel a blade through the air from the knife handle. Van Dyke also said he recalled a previously issued Chicago Police Department bulletin warning of a weapon which appeared to be a knife but which actually was capable of firing a bullet, making it a firearm.29

(2) Walsh

The following is an excerpt of Walsh’s October 20, 2014 statement:

As McDonald ran southbound on Pulaski Road, from the Burger King, Walsh pursued McDonald in the police vehicle. Walsh drove southbound in the northbound lanes to get ahead of McDonald, keeping the police vehicle between

29 The CSR notes that a search was subsequently conducted for the bulletin Van Dyke referenced and that an “Officer Safety Alert number 2012-OSA0297,” issued on December 4, 2012, was located. See OIG 15-0564 003074. March wrote that “[i]t was a warning regarding a ‘revolver knife’ which was capable of firing .22 caliber cartridges.”
McDonald and a Dunkin’ Donuts restaurant, on the east side of Pulaski. As their vehicle passed McDonald, Officer Van Dyke opened the right front door of their vehicle, to exit the truck and confront McDonald. Walsh, realizing that at this point they were too close to the armed McDonald to safely exit the vehicle, told Van Dyke to wait until they got further ahead of McDonald. Walsh drove further south on Pulaski. He stopped his vehicle south of McDonald and exited the driver’s door as Van Dyke exited the right side of the vehicle. Walsh drew his handgun when he exited the vehicle.

Officer Walsh came around the rear of the police vehicle and joined Officer Van Dyke on the right side of the vehicle. Walsh also stood in the street on Pulaski, facing northbound, as McDonald walked southbound toward the officers. Walsh ordered McDonald to “Drop the knife!” multiple times as McDonald approached the officers.

Officer Walsh also backed up, attempting to maintain a safe distance between himself and McDonald. McDonald ignored the verbal direction given by both Walsh and Officer Van Dyke, and continued to advance toward the officers. When McDonald got to within 12 to 15 feet of the officers he swung the knife toward the officers in an aggressive manner. Van Dyke opened fire with his handgun and McDonald fell to the ground. Van Dyke continued firing his weapon at McDonald as McDonald continued moving on the ground, attempting to get up, while still armed with the knife.

When the gunfire stopped and McDonald was not moving anymore, Walsh approached McDonald with Van Dyke. Walsh continued to order McDonald to “Drop the knife!” multiple times, as McDonald was still holding the knife in his right hand. Walsh forcibly kicked the knife out of McDonald’s hand and then notified the dispatcher on the police radio that shots had been fired by the police. An ambulance was also requested for McDonald.

As they waited for the ambulance to respond to the scene, Officer Walsh told McDonald to ‘hang in there,’ and that an ambulance was on the way.

Officer Walsh said he believed McDonald was attacking Walsh and Officer Van Dyke with the knife and attempting to kill them when the shots were fired. Walsh stated he did not fire his handgun because Van Dyke was in the line of fire between Walsh and McDonald. Walsh thought Van Dyke fired eight or nine shots total.30

30 Detective March completed a GPR relating to his interview of Walsh that contains March’s handwritten notes of the interview. OIG 15-0564 003242–43. March’s handwritten notes of the interview do not differ in any significant way from the summary of Walsh’s statement in the CSR.
The 301 CSR summarizes Fontaine’s October 20, 2014 statement in relevant part as follows:

The two officers responded to the request for assistance made by Beat 815R, regarding a man with a knife at 41st Street and Pulaski Road. Officer Viramontes drove northbound on Pulaski. When they arrived at the scene of this incident, in front of the Dunkin’ Donuts restaurant, Officer Fontaine saw a black male subject, now known as Laquan McDonald, walking southbound in the street, with a knife in his right hand. McDonald was walking sideways, with his body facing east, toward Officers Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh. These two officers were standing in the middle of the street, on the right side of their police vehicle, which was facing southbound. Fontaine heard the officers repeatedly order McDonald to “Drop the knife!” McDonald ignored the verbal direction and instead, raised his right arm toward Officer Van Dyke, as if attacking Van Dyke. At this time Van Dyke fired multiple shots from his handgun, until McDonald fell to the ground and stopped moving his right arm and hand, which still grasped the knife. The gunshots were rapid fire, without pause. Officer Walsh then kicked the knife out of McDonald’s hand.31

The 301 CSR summarizes Viramontes’s October 20, 2014 statement in relevant part as follows:

The 301 CSR summarizes Sebastian’s October 20, 2014 statement in relevant part as follows:

31 Detective March completed a GPR relating to his interview of Fontaine that contains March’s handwritten notes of the interview. OIG 15-0564 003252. March’s handwritten notes of the interview do not differ in any significant way from the summary of Fontaine’s statement in the CSR.

32 Detective March completed a GPR relating to his interview of Viramontes that contains March’s handwritten notes of the interview. OIG 15-0564 003253. March’s handwritten notes of the interview do not differ in any significant way from the summary of Viramontes’s statement in the CSR.
Officer Sebastian observed a black male subject, now known as Laquan McDonald, running southeast bound through the parking lot of the Burger King restaurant. Beat 845R pursued McDonald in their police vehicle, through the parking lot, toward Pulaski. Sebastian told Officer Mondragon to drive back out onto Pulaski to assist in the pursuit. McDonald ran out onto Pulaski and continued to run southbound down the middle of the street. Beat 845R pursued McDonald in their vehicle, southbound on Pulaski, followed by Beat 813R. As McDonald ran southbound on Pulaski, Sebastian saw the knife in his right hand. McDonald was waving the knife.

Beat 845R stopped their vehicle ahead of McDonald, between McDonald and the Dunkin’ Donuts restaurant on the east side of Pulaski. Officers Joseph Walsh and Jason Van Dyke exited their vehicle and drew their handguns. McDonald turned toward the two officers and continued to wave the knife. Sebastian heard the officers repeatedly order McDonald to “Drop the knife!” McDonald ignored the verbal directions and continued to advance on the officers, waving the knife. Officer Sebastian heard multiple gunshots and McDonald fell to the ground, where he continued to move. Sebastian did not know who fired the shots, which were fired in one continuous group. She then saw Officer Walsh kick the knife out of McDonald’s hand.33

The 301 CSR summarizes Mondragon’s October 20, 2014 statement in relevant part as follows:

[Mondragon] stated she was a Chicago Police Officer assigned to the 008th District. Mondragon related the same facts as her partner, Officer Daphne Sebastian.

Officer Mondragon added that as she drove westbound on 40th Street, she saw Officer McElligott running eastbound through the Burger King parking lot. She made a U-Turn and drove back out onto Pulaski Road. Mondragon turned southbound onto Pulaski. She saw Laquan McDonald running southbound on Pulaski, in the middle of the street. As she got closer she could see McDonald was holding a knife in his right hand. He was waving the knife.

Officer Mondragon saw Officers Joseph Walsh and Jason Van Dyke outside of their police vehicle. She heard the officers repeatedly ordering McDonald to “Drop the knife!” as McDonald got closer and closer to the officers, continuing to wave the knife. As she was placing her vehicle transmission into Park, Mondragon looked down and heard multiple, continuous gunshots, without pause.

33 Detective March completed a GPR relating to his interview of Sebastian that contains March’s handwritten notes of the interview. OIG 15-0564 003248. March’s handwritten notes of the interview do not differ in any significant way from the summary of Sebastian’s statement in the CSR.
Mondragon then saw McDonald fall to the ground. \section*{b) The 301 CSR Findings and Conclusions}

The 301 CSR includes several findings and conclusions regarding the shooting. Specifically, it states that “[t]he recovered in-car camera video from Beats 845R and 813R was viewed and found to be consistent with the accounts of all of the witnesses.” OIG 15-0564 003075. It further states:

The above to-date investigation determined that Laquan McDonald was an active assailant who, while armed with a dangerous weapon, used force likely to cause death or serious injury to a private citizen when he attacked Rudy Barillas; threatened the imminent use of force likely to cause death or serious injury when he incised the tire and stabbed the windshield of a Chicago Police Department vehicle occupied by Officer Thomas Gaffney; and initiated imminent use of force likely to cause death or serious injury when he initiated an attack on Officers Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh. The above investigation concluded that Officer Jason Van Dyke’s use of deadly force, the discharging of his duty firearm, was within the bounds of the Chicago Police Department’s use of force guidelines, and in conformity with local ordinances and state law.

\section*{2. The 339 CSR’s Narrative and Findings}

On March 15, 2015, March submitted a second CSR with Sup ID 10988891 CSR339 (the 339 CSR).\footnote{Detective March completed a GPR relating to his interview of Mondragon that contains March’s handwritten notes of the interview. OIG 15-0564 003249. March’s handwritten notes of the interview do not differ in any significant way from the summary of Mondragon’s statement in the CSR.} The 339 CSR contains, among other information, an inventory of the evidence recovered and an identification of the personnel assigned to the case and the witnesses to the relevant events. Like the 301 CSR, the 339 CSR lists Van Dyke, Walsh, Gaffney, and McElligott as the victims, McDonald as the offender, March as the reporting officer and primary detective assigned, and Wojcik as the approving supervisor. It is signed as the “report of” March, Gallagher, and Wojcik of the Bureau of Detectives – Area Central. Wojcik approved the 339 CSR on March 16, 2015. The “Manner/Motive” section of the 339 CSR states as follows:

Laquan McDonald was shot and killed by Chicago Police Officer Jason Van Dyke while McDonald was committing an aggravated assault with a knife against Officer Van Dyke and his partner, Chicago Police Officer Joseph Walsh. McDonald also committed an aggravated assault with a knife against Chicago Police Officers Thomas Gaffney and Joseph McElligott, when McDonald stabbed the right front tire and windshield of their police vehicle, and an aggravated assault with a knife against civilian, Rudy Barillas, immediately prior to being confronted by Officers Van Dyke and Walsh. / Peace officer interceding in a felony, in the line of duty-Defense of life (Offender apparently attempting to defeat arrest).\textsuperscript{36}

The “Just Homicide Description” section of the 339 CSR states: “Criminal Killed By Police Officer.”\textsuperscript{37} The “Additional Just Homicide Descr.” section of the 339 CSR states: “Criminal Attacked Officer That Officer Killed Criminal.”

3. Major Incident Notification Detail\textsuperscript{38}

On October 21, 2014, at 4:05 a.m., Gallagher completed a Major Incident Notification Detail (MIN) under RD #HX-475653 regarding the events of October 20, 2014. The MIN lists the “Crime/Incident” at issue as an aggravated assault on a police officer with a “Knife/Cut Instr.” The MIN identifies Gaffney, Walsh, and Van Dyke as victims, and McDonald as the offender. The narrative portion of the MIN states as follows:

Beat 815R responded to an OEMC call of a holding an offender [sic] who was breaking into trailers at 4100 S. Kildare. Beat 815R arrived on scene and spoke to the complainant who pointed to the offender who had fled on foot. Beat 815R pursued the offender in their marked vehicle to 4000 S. Karlov, at which time the offender who was acting irrational and was armed with a knife, punctured their front passenger tire, and then struck the windshield with his knife. Beat 815R requested a taser and additional units to respond and assist with the apprehension of the offender. Beat 845R responded to 4112 S. Pulaski and observed the offender still armed with a knife walking in traffic. Beat 845R exited their vehicle and ordered the offender to drop his knife. The offender refused all verbal commands and continued to approach the officers while still armed with his knife. Beat 845R fearing for his life discharged his weapon. The offender sustained numerous gun shot [sic] wounds and was transported to Mt. Sinai Hospital where he was subsequently pronounced at 2242 hours.

4. HX-486155 Case Incident Report\textsuperscript{39}

On October 29, 2014, March submitted an Original Case Incident Report under RD #HX-486155, with the event number of 1430116812 and the “Case ID” of 9837884 CASR229. The report identifies March as the Reporting Officer and Detective/Investigator, and Gallagher as the

Approving Supervisor. The report classifies the incident as “Assault – Aggravated; Knife/Cutting Instr,” and lists the “Occurrence Location” as 4101 S. Kildare Blvd. and the “Occurrence Date” as October 20, 2014, at 9:47 p.m. The report identifies Rudy Barillas as the victim, Gaffney, Van Dyke, and Walsh as additional victims, and McDonald as “Suspect # 1.” The narrative section of the report states as follows:

The offender in this incident, Laquan McDonald, committed an aggravated assault against the victim, Rudy Barillas, by attempting to cut Barillas with a knife. Barillas called 9-1-1. Chicago Police Officers Thomas Gaffney, Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh responded to Barillas’ call. McDonald committed aggravated assaults against the three officers, finally forcing Officer Van Dyke, in defense of his life, to shoot and kill McDonald. Details of this investigation are reported under the Homicide/Justifiable, recorded under Records Division number HX475653.

D. OIG’s Interview of Valdez

On July 12, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed Valdez under oath after informing him of his administrative advisements orally and in writing. He provided oral and written acknowledgment of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Valdez’s attorneys, Laura Morask and Dean Morask, were also present for the interview. In summary, Valdez stated as follows regarding the meetings he attended with Roy concerning the McDonald investigation.

On or around November 1, 2015, Valdez attended a meeting with Roy, Deputy Chief David McNaughton, then Deputy Chief Eddie Johnson, and then Chief of Patrol Division Wayne Gulliford, to brief Gulliford regarding the McDonald shooting. Roy asked Valdez to attend the meeting. When asked about the purpose of the meeting, Valdez said “[t]hey wanted to review the video and understand that 16 shots was justified.” Valdez OIG Tr. 94:13-14. Valdez said that “because of the number of shots that Officer Van Dyke shot on October 20th, there was, you know, news reports, all kinds of stuff that he – it was excessive . . . .” Valdez OIG Tr. 93:23-94:2.

McNaughton led the meeting, but Valdez did not remember exactly what he said. After they watched the video, Gulliford “said something about he has to go and brief the superintendent as to this is how Jason Van Dyke was trained.” Valdez OIG Tr. 97:23-98:1. Everyone in the meeting agreed the shooting was justified and that Van Dyke “used the force necessary to eliminate the threat.” Valdez OIG Tr. 99:8-9.

Valdez later spoke to Roy, Gallagher, and probably March regarding the meeting. When asked what he said to those individuals, Valdez responded: “I said that here is what happened, showed the video, everyone agreed that Jason Van Dyke used the force necessary to eliminate the threat and that was how Jason Van Dyke was trained and that Chief Gulliford was going to tell the superintendent that that was how Van Dyke was trained.” Valdez OIG Tr. 101:22-102:5. Valdez added: “I said no one expressed any other concerns or contradictions to what has already been determined as far as the shooting.” Valdez OIG Tr. 102:11-13.
On March 8, 2015, Roy asked Valdez to attend a meeting at Area Central with him, March, Gallagher, and Wojcik. During that meeting, Roy directed that March, Gallagher, and Wojcik finish the CSR and told them to be ready for a meeting the next day with Ralph Price, CPD’s General Counsel, and Tom Platt from the City’s Department of Law. Ultimately, only Roy and Valdez met with Price and Platt on March 9. They showed Price and Platt the 813R video, and, Valdez said, “it was very apparent that they were not concerned with the ‘justification,’ the details of the investigation.” Valdez OIG Tr. 120:9-12. Valdez explained: “It was deemed a justified shooting but [sic] the detective, the sergeant, the lieutenant, the commander, and all the way up the chain of command, and it was, as I said, that meeting it was very apparent that it was not about determining whether the shooting was justified. It was determining how the video would jeopardize anything.” Valdez OIG Tr. 123:19-124:2.

Valdez and Roy subsequently related to March, Gallagher, and Wojcik what happened at the meeting. They “told them that it appears that this meeting was about how the video would be perceived if released, and I think I might have said they weren’t concerned with whether it was justified or not.” Valdez OIG Tr. 129:20-24.

E. OIG’s Interview of Gallagher

On June 8, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed Gallagher under oath after informing him of his administrative advisements orally and in writing. He provided oral and written acknowledgment of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Gallagher’s attorney, Thomas Needham, was also present for the interview. In summary, Gallagher stated as follows regarding Roy’s participation in CPD’s investigation of the events of October 20, 2014.

On October 20, 2014, Gallagher had in-person communications with Roy while at the scene of the shooting. Among other information, Gallagher relayed to Roy the narratives that the witness officers provided to CPD. Roy was also present at Area Central later that evening, but Gallagher did not recall any specific conversations with him.

Within two or three days of the shooting, Roy requested that Detective Richard Hagen “compile a compilation of all the video that was collected” of the incident, and then Roy made a presentation at an executive management meeting. Gallagher OIG Tr. 113:14-15. After the meeting, Roy told Gallagher that the meeting participants saw the video of the shooting, and “there were no issues with it.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 114:7.

During the course of the investigation, Gallagher continued to have communications with Roy regarding the investigation, “if something new came up.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 119:13.

Approximately one month after Van Dyke was stripped of his police powers, Gallagher and others started hearing that “officers were getting called down to the grand jury at 26th Street.”

40 Van Dyke was relieved of his police powers on October 29, 2014.
Gallagher OIG Tr. 98:2-3. At that point, the investigation was put on hold while the investigative team waited for an explanation as to what was taking place at 26th Street.

Then, in early March 2015 while the investigation was still on hold, Gallagher was told that the City’s Department of Law was having a meeting regarding the case and that they wanted to meet with the investigative team. Roy requested a meeting, and Wojcik, Valdez, March, Gallagher, Hagen, and Roy met at Area Central to “go over the facts of the case.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 99:1. Gallagher said that “everyone just related what they knew about the investigation.” Gallagher OIG Tr. 121:1-2

The next day Roy and Valdez met with two attorneys from the Department of Law regarding the case. Following that meeting, Roy ordered Wojcik to complete the reports relating to CPD’s October 20, 2014 encounter with McDonald. Aside from that order, Gallagher did not recall Roy giving any specific directives regarding the investigation.

F. OIG’s Interview of March

On April 26, April 27, and July 25 of 2016, OIG investigators interviewed March under oath after informing him of his administrative advisements orally and in writing. He provided oral and written acknowledgment of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. March’s attorney, James McKay, was present for the interview. In summary, March stated as follows regarding Roy’s participation in CPD’s investigation of the events of October 20, 2014.

On October 20, 2014, Roy responded to the scene following the McDonald shooting, but March did not have much contact with him. March believed Roy “was briefed on everything from other supervisory personnel at the scene.” March 4/26/16 Tr. 82:8-9.

During the course of CPD’s investigation, March had “multiple face-to-face conversations” with Roy regarding the investigation. March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 257:6-7. March explained: “Most of the time it was him coming to me because maybe he had been asked a question from higher up the chain of command or an issue came to the Department so they were trying to get more background information. So he would come to me with maybe a specific question about something, and then we would talk at length about the other aspects of the investigation.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 257:11-19. According to March, there were also multiple meetings involving March and some combination of the following individuals: Hagen, Gallagher, Wojcik, Valdez, and Roy. March stated that “[a]t some of those meetings, we actually played the video again and reviewed to get, you know, everyone’s – weigh in with their opinion. And everyone was in agreement with the investigation and the conclusions reached as documented” in the reports. March 4/27/16 OIG Tr. 72:8-13.

In January 2015, March and Wojcik learned that the Cook County State’s Attorney’s Office and the FBI were sending subpoenas to police officers with involvement in the McDonald shooting. As a result, Wojcik told March to “hold off on doing anything” until they got some answers from their chain of command regarding the additional investigation. March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 251:19. The investigation was put on hold from the beginning of January to the beginning of March.

In March, around the time the City was negotiating a settlement with McDonald’s family, Roy ordered that the investigative reports be completed right away. Roy gave that order to Wojcik and Wojcik communicated it to March. March believed that directive was prompted by the legal settlement.

Upon receiving the order, March created the original draft of the 301 CSR, and then Gallagher and Wojcik reviewed it. Wojcik, Gallagher, and March also had in-person meetings regarding the findings in the 301 CSR. All three were in agreement that the witness accounts were consistent with the videos of the shooting. No one other than Wojcik, Gallagher, or March reviewed the 301 CSR prior to Wojcik’s final approval.

When asked whether anyone else was involved in reaching the conclusions contained in the CSR findings, March responded: “Valdez and Roy both personally told us that they agreed with our conclusions, and they told us that, based on the two different briefings that they each conducted at executive management meetings, as far as they were aware, every – as far as they were aware, everyone in the command staff was in agreement.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 263:13-19. March’s understanding was that “they were all agreeing with the one basic conclusion . . . that the video was consistent with what all the officers were saying, and that the use of force, the way the incident – the actions of the officers were all appropriate.” March 4/27/16 OIG Tr. 75:15-20.

In March 2015, March had “personal contact with Roy and Valdez, and both of them continued to indicate that they were in agreement with everything that the investigation concluded and that they were not aware of anyone in the Department expressing any opinions otherwise.” March 4/26/16 OIG Tr. 265:15-20.

When asked how Roy and Valdez knew what the investigative team’s findings were, March noted that “they were both present at the scene right from the beginning” and that “information flowed up the chain of command.” March 4/27/16 OIG Tr. 73:7-8, 15-16. March explained: “[W]e would communicate what we had learned, whether it be from the witness statements, the evidence, this, that, the other, and people obviously would express their opinion.” March 4/27/16 OIG Tr. 73:22-74:2. March later added: “During the entire investigation of this incident, I had multiple consultations with my immediate supervisors, including Sergeant Daniel Gallagher, Lieutenant Anthony Wojcik, Lieutenant Osvaldo Valdez, and [C]ommander Eugene Roy. During all of these consultations, I was repeatedly told that my interpretation and understanding of the events in this incident, as well as my conclusions, were accurate and correct.” March 4/27/16 OIG Tr. 181:24-182:9. With respect to March’s chain of command, March stated: “it’s a reasonable expectation that they should have been aware of what was going on in this investigation.” March 4/27/16 OIG Tr. 205:4-7.
G. OIG’s Interview of McNaughton

On May 25, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed McNaughton under oath after informing him of his administrative advisements orally and in writing. He provided oral and written acknowledgement of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. McNaughton’s attorney, Thomas Pleines, was also present for the interview. In summary, McNaughton stated as follows regarding Roy’s participation in post-shooting briefings.

On October 22, 2014, McNaughton presented a summation of the October 20, 2014 events for command staff, including Superintendent Garry McCarthy. McNaughton explained that after an officer-involved shooting, it is the responsibility of the On-Call Incident Commander (OCIC) to brief the Superintendent and other command staff in a post-shooting briefing. The briefings are usually held in conjunction with executive management meetings. Roy was also present, and McNaughton and Roy walked the command staff through “the entire investigation that we knew at that time,” which included the 813R and Greater Food Depository videos. McNaughton OIG Tr. 165:23-24.

When asked what the group’s response was to their presentation, McNaughton responded: “Definitely a concern, you know, with the amount of shots that were being fired. They looked – the superintendent, I think, asked some questions about the officer’s background and then some general questions about the investigation with Chief Roy or and then Commander Roy, but I can’t remember exactly the content of who said what, where, when, all those type of things.” McNaughton OIG Tr. 171:4-12.

H. OIG’s Interview of Roy

On May 23, 2016, pursuant to CPD General Order 08-01, OIG, through CPD’s Bureau of Internal Affairs (BIA), served Roy with a Notification of Interview and a Notification of Allegations.

On July 6 and 7, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed Roy under oath after informing him of his administrative advisements orally and in writing. He provided oral and written acknowledgment of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Roy’s attorneys, Laura Morask and Dean Morask, were also present for the interview. In summary, Roy stated as follows.

As of the dates of his OIG interview, Roy was assigned as Chief of CPD’s Bureau of Detectives. On October 20, 2014, he was Commander of the Area Central Detective Division and reported to Deputy Chief Anthony Riccio and Chief John Escalante. In his role as Commander, Roy was “responsible for the management, oversight, and operations of the Area Central Detective Division.” Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 39:2-4. His responsibilities with respect to a police shooting were to “[r]espond to the scene and ensure an investigation was conducted, provide support to the on-call Incident Commander, make sure that the investigation – any questions, any issues he had were investigated.” Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 39:14-18.
During his time as Commander of Area Central’s Detective Division, Roy responded to approximately 15 to 25 police-involved shootings. During his entire tenure at CPD, Roy had never been involved in a police-involved shooting, which had been determined to not be justified. Roy 7/7/2016 OIG Tr. 132:20-133:12.

1. The Scene of the Shooting

On October 20, 2014, Roy received a phone call from the Area Central homicide desk, notifying him that there had been a police-involved shooting at 40th and Pulaski. Roy responded to the scene, arriving at around 11:00 p.m. According to Roy, he was responsible for “making sure that the crime scene is being – it’s been secured, it’s being processed, making sure that IPRA has been notified, checking on the status where are we at, did we get any additional video, do we have any video that’s relevant, so forth and so on, ensuring that a technician has been requested to come out and download the in-car camera video from the squad cards that were involved in the incident.” Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 56:5-14.

McDonald was no longer at the scene when Roy arrived. Roy spoke first with Gallagher, who told him, in relevant part, that:

[O]fficers had responded to a call of an attempted burglary in a trailer yard. A citizen had been confronted by an individual with a knife – swinging a knife . . . .

[McDonald] cut the tire on a squad car with the knife he was armed with. He also attempted to stab an officer who was a passenger in that car by striking the windshield or attempting to stab him through the windshield of the vehicle.

He then proceeded southbound, and at some point Officer Van Dyke arrived. Efforts to get McDonald to drop the knife, to stop were unsuccessful, and McDonald was shot as he was advancing towards Officer Van Dyke.

Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 51:10-13, 51:22-52:8. Roy then spoke with the OCIC, McNaughton, to make sure the scene was “being processed appropriately.” Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 53:21-22. Roy added: “[T]his is Deputy Chief McNaughton’s investigation as to the use of deadly force. My role is to interface with him to make sure that the resources of the Area Central Detective Division are available and are doing the investigative steps that he wants done so that he can review the entire circumstances surrounding the use of deadly force.” Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 56:20-57:3.

Thereafter, Roy spoke with “the various sergeants and detectives that are working there, you know, ensuring that things are being done, you know.” Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 56:1-4. Roy said he spoke with March and Wojcik at the scene, but could not recall the specifics of those conversations. Roy did not speak with any of the officers who had been involved in or witnessed the shooting.
When asked whether he expressed an opinion while at the scene as to whether Van Dyke’s shooting was justified, Roy responded: “You know, you’re dealing with a dynamic situation. Information is flowing in rapidly. It’s a very dynamic situation. Again, it just would have been premature. You know, am I saying that I didn’t say that? No. I’m just saying, again, due to the passage of time, I don’t recall any specific conversations with anybody to that effect.” Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 64:17-24.

Roy believed he retraced McDonald’s route “from the truckyard where the original incident occurred” while in his department vehicle, but could not recall if anyone was with him. Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 60:2-3.

2. Area Central

Sometime after 1:00 a.m. on October 21, 2014, Roy left the scene of the shooting and drove to Area Central. When he arrived there, he “checked with Sergeant Gallagher to see about the progress of the case.” Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 91:19-20. Gallagher told Roy that three civilian witnesses had been transported to Area Central from the scene of the shooting to be interviewed and that detectives were examining the smartphone of one of those witnesses. Detectives Thomas Curran and Pete Torres, who interviewed the civilian witnesses, subsequently briefed Roy as to “the substance” of those interviews. Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 109:14. The detectives also told Roy that the civilian witnesses were “becoming hostile. They didn’t want to stay. They didn’t want to remain any longer. At that point I said, ‘Take them back to the scene.’” Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 95:13-16. Roy did not personally participate in the interviews of any witnesses at Area Central.

Roy saw video of the shooting while he was at Area Central; he was in an office on the second floor, and McNaughton and Gallagher were probably present as well. Roy saw both the 813R video of the shooting and the Dunkin’ Donuts security video “a number of times” while he was at Area Central that night. Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 116:13.

3. Post-Shooting Briefings

On October 22, 2014, Roy attended a meeting at which McNaughton briefed then-Superintendent Garry McCarthy on the “facts and circumstances surrounding the shooting.” Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 126:14-15. It was typical to have this sort of briefing after a police-involved shooting. During McNaughton’s presentation, he showed the 813R video of the shooting.

McCarthy raised concerns “about the number of shots that had been fired.” Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 131:21-22. Roy did not have any concerns about the number of shots Van Dyke fired. Roy was not aware of any subsequent briefings on the McDonald shooting in which McCarthy was involved.

On or about October 31, 2014, Roy participated in a briefing on the McDonald shooting for Chief Wayne Gulliford, CPD’s then-Chief of Patrol. The meeting took place at McNaughton’s suggestion, and was intended to provide Gulliford information on the shooting because he had not been present at the October 22, 2014 meeting. McNaughton took the lead, and used a disk provided by Roy to show the 813R dashcam video.

After the October 22, 2014 shooting briefing, Roy told a group, which likely included March, Gallagher, and Wojcik, that “McNaughton briefed the Superintendent, and there were no questions regarding the appropriate use of deadly force.” Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 140:8-10. According to Roy, that conversation took place in November after Van Dyke was stripped of his police powers. When asked whether he considered McCarthy’s concern regarding the number of shots Van Dyke fired to be raising a question as to the appropriateness of Van Dyke’s use of force, Roy responded: “That would call for me to speculate what was on Superintendent McCarthy’s mind, and I can’t do that.” Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 141:15-17. Roy later added that he told March, Gallagher, and Wojcik in that conversation that he agreed that Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald was lawful.

Roy further recalled that during that conversation March “was concerned that there appeared to be a disconnect between the fact that Officer Van Dyke had been stripped and, you know, the feedback that I had provided regarding the shooting briefing.” Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 144:19-22. In response to March’s concerns, Roy said that he would “look into it.” Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 145:24. Roy made some inquiries and learned that a number of officers had been interviewed by the Cook County State’s Attorney’s Office and the FBI, and that IPRA was investigating the incident. 42

4. The Suspension and Subsequent Completion of CPD’s Investigation

In November 2014, Roy “told Wojcik, March, and Gallagher to stand down, that IPRA had the lead on the investigation and I didn’t want them doing anything.” Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 159:6-8. Roy explained that “the investigative responsibility for the use of deadly force, in this case by Officer Van Dyke, is reserved for IPRA.” Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 102:22-24. However, Roy, when asked to provide his reasons for suspending the investigation, later stated: “Well, first of all, I’d like to note that at that point everything was pretty much done. We were just in the process of waiting for the formal protocol to come back from the Medical Examiner’s Office along with lab tests – the results of lab tests done on Laquan McDonald. All investigative avenues that I was aware of at the time had been exhausted.” Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 170:9-16. Roy denied that CPD was engaging in any investigative activities to determine whether Officer Van Dyke’s shooting was justified, and said that such activities are “reserved for IPRA. That falls under IPRA’s area of investigative authority and responsibility.” Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr.

41 On October 30, 2014, McNaughton sent Roy an email stating in relevant part as follows: “Gene, [w]hen you have a minute can you give me a call. I am in the office all day today. I’d like to see if we can give Chief Gulliford a run through of the Van Dyke shooting in 008 with the disc you have with the video. I am thinking since we will be down at 35th Street tomorrow for the briefing on the 9th District shooting we could go to Gulliford’s office either before or after the 1400 Hour EMM and briefing.” Roy responded that same day: “I have the disk and will bring it. I will call you in about 15 min and we can discuss those items.” OIG 15-0564 01598-99.

42 Roy was himself interviewed by the FBI; he did not recall the date of the interview, but said that it occurred “approximately” in 2015. Roy 7/7/2016 OIG Tr. 121:19.
105:6-8. Roy acknowledged that he first became aware of IPRA’s investigation on the night of the shooting. According to Roy, CPD did not take any investigative action with respect to the McDonald investigation from December 2014 through February 2015.

In March of 2015, Roy received a “request from our general counsel that the City corporation counsel wants the reports and wants to see the video” relating to the McDonald shooting. Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 182:6-8. Roy also learned that the City’s corporation counsel wanted a briefing on the case, and told March, Gallagher, and Wojcik that they needed to finish the investigative reports. Roy, along with Valdez, met with CPD general counsel and representatives from the City’s Department of Law. Either Roy or Valdez gave a presentation on the McDonald shooting, and showed some video of the shooting.

5. Roy’s Supervision of CPD’s Investigation

During the course of CPD’s investigation, Wojcik, Gallagher, and March were under Roy’s general supervision. Wojcik gave Roy updates “[w]henever something came up that merited attention.” Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 163:1-2. Roy said that March may have given him updates as well, but that he generally received his information regarding the case from Wojcik or Gallagher. During the investigation, Roy provided updates to Riccio and Escalante. He did not provide updates to McCarthy. He also had some conversations with Valdez about the investigation.

When asked whether as area commander he was “ultimately responsible for ensuring the McDonald investigation was conducted in accordance with CPD rules and regulations,” Roy responded: “Yes.” Roy 7/7/2016 OIG Tr. 106:12-16.43

6. The 301 CSR

Roy believed that March drafted the 301 CSR and submitted it to Wojcik and Gallagher for comments. Roy did not play a role in the drafting of the CSR. Roy initially stated he did not discuss the findings contained in the 301 CSR with March, Gallagher, and Wojcik prior to Wojcik’s approval. He later said that he “related to [March, Gallagher, and Wojcik] that there were no problems from the command structure of the police department with the shooting. If you want to take that as participating in the decision-making process, I don’t know that it is. Did I sit down with the three of them and convene a meeting to review it? No.” Roy 7/7/2016 OIG Tr. 51:8-15.

Roy first saw the 301 CSR on March 17, 2015. Roy was given the report so that he could provide it to CPD’s general counsel. Roy did not recall who provided him the report. Roy reviewed the 301 CSR pursuant to BDSO 14-17. Roy interpreted his duties under that order to be limited to an obligation to “[m]ake sure that there are no reports missing from a file, that everything that needs to be included in the file is included. . . . I’m looking at the checklist to make sure all the case and supplementary reports are in, the crime lab and the E[vidence]

OIG investigators presented Roy with the allegation that he reviewed and approved the 301 CSR even though it falsely stated that the dashcam video footage of the incident was consistent with the accounts of all of the witnesses to the shooting. He called this allegation “[a]bsolutely false,” and stated that he “had no role in the review or approval of reports prior to their submission in the system.” Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 210:14-21. OIG investigators then presented Roy with certain statements in the CSR attributed to Van Dyke, Walsh, Fontaine, and Viramontes regarding McDonald’s actions immediately before and after the shooting, and asked him to evaluate whether those statements were consistent with the video footage. Roy said that the statements were either consistent or “not inconsistent” with the video evidence. Roy 7/7/2016 OIG Tr. 8:15. More specifically, upon being shown the 813R video, Roy stated that McDonald made five aggressive swings of his knife after Van Dyke and Walsh arrived on the scene. Roy also said that the video showed McDonald attempting to get up after he was shot.

OIG investigators presented Roy with the allegation that he reviewed and approved the 301 CSR even though it falsely stated that McDonald initiated an attack upon Van Dyke and Walsh. He responded that the allegation was false because he “reviewed a report that had already been submitted by Detective March and approved by Lieutenant Wojcik.” Roy 7/7/2016 OIG Tr. 50:5-8. Roy further stated that he “believe[d] that the video, the entire circumstances substantiate the language in this allegation, that, ‘[McDonald] initiated an attack on Officer Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh.’” Roy 7/7/2016 OIG Tr. 50:9-12. Roy did not have any conversations with March, Gallagher, or Wojcik in which he expressed disagreement with the conclusion that the 813R and 845R videos were consistent with the witness accounts or that Van Dyke’s use of force was lawful.

When asked whether it was proper for the 301 CSR to include findings regarding Officer Van Dyke’s use of force and whether that use was in compliance with state law, Roy answered, “Detective March, in his Supplementary Report, was merely reflecting a decision that had been made by the on-call incident commander, Deputy Chief McNaughton, and he spelled out the reasons.” Roy 7/7/2016 OIG Tr. 44:20-24. According to Roy, the final decision on the appropriateness of Van Dyke’s use of force was McNaughton’s to make. Roy believed that the findings and conclusions included in the 301 CSR were consistent with an aggravated assault investigation, and he had no concerns that those findings and conclusions exceeded the scope of an aggravated assault investigation.

44 Upon watching the 813R dashcam video, Roy identified frames in the footage which he believed showed these swings. See Roy 7/7/2016 OIG Tr. 9-17.
7. The 339 CSR

Roy reviewed the 339 CSR pursuant to his BDSO 14-17 review of the investigative file. He did not see the CSR prior to its being approved. Roy did not have any communications with March, Gallagher, or Wojcik regarding the report’s description of the homicide as “criminal attacked officer, that officer attacked criminal” and said that that description is “consistent with all the evidence we’ve seen.” Roy 7/7/2016 OIG Tr. 64:14-16. With respect to the 339 CSR’s “manner/motive” section, Roy stated that “[t]he statement that McDonald was shot and killed by Van Dyke while McDonald was committing an aggravated assault with a knife against Officers Van Dyke and Walsh is consistent with the investigation.” Roy 7/7/2016 OIG Tr. 66:15-19.

8. The HX-475653 Major Incident Notification Detail

Roy described the HX-475653 MIN as “an automated computer-based entry of information regarding a major incident into the Department’s recordkeeping system” and identified its purpose as to “provide members of the command staff with a synopsis of major incidents that have occurred in the city.” Roy 7/7/2016 OIG Tr. 81:21-24, 82:2-4. Roy first saw the MIN within a “relatively short time after the shooting.” Roy 7/7/2016 OIG Tr. 83:4-5. According to Roy, McNaughton reviewed and approved the MIN. When asked whether the statement contained in the MIN, that McDonald continued to approach Van Dyke and Walsh and that Van Dyke discharged his weapon in fear for his life, was accurate, Roy answered, “I think that that statement is consistent with the evidence uncovered in the investigation.” Roy 7/7/2016 OIG Tr. 87:6-8.

9. The HX-486155 Case Incident Report

Roy reviewed the HX-486155 Case Incident Report pursuant to his BDSO 14-17 review of the investigative file. March prepared the report, and submitted it to Gallagher, who approved it. When presented with the allegation that that report falsely stated that “McDonald committed aggravated assaults against Officers Gaffney, Van Dyke, and Walsh, and forced Van Dyke ‘in defense of his life to shoot and kill McDonald,’” Roy answered, “False.” Roy 7/7/2016 OIG Tr. 77:24-78:6. He went on to state that “the investigation reveals that [McDonald] did commit aggravated assaults against the three officers.” Roy 7/7/2016 OIG Tr. 78:16-18. When asked whether it was accurate to say that McDonald “forced” Van Dyke to shoot and kill McDonald, Roy answered, “That is consistent with the evidence gathered during the course of the investigation.” Roy 7/7/2016 OIG Tr. 78:22-23.

10. Roy’s Assessment of the Accuracy of the McDonald Investigative Reports

When Roy was asked whether, as Area Commander, he was ultimately the person who was responsible for ensuring the accuracy of the CSRs in an investigative file, he answered, “Yes.” Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 204:3-6. Roy considered the 301 CSR, the 339 CSR, the Original Case Incident Report, and the MIN to each be truthful, complete, and objective. Roy did not believe any portion of those reports was untruthful.
V. ANALYSIS

OIG’s investigation established that Roy, who had formal supervisory responsibility for CPD’s investigation related to the McDonald shooting, failed to ensure that his subordinates produced truthful and objective reports regarding that investigation. Roy, upon conducting his mandated review of those reports, failed to hold his subordinates accountable for their materially false statements. Both immediately after the shooting and on an ongoing basis as the investigation unfolded, Roy had substantive knowledge about the events of October 20, 2014 and the progress of the investigation. Nevertheless, he let stand reports that contained materially false statements and put forth a false narrative which served to exaggerate the threat McDonald posed at the time of the shooting. By his own account, Roy was ultimately responsible for ensuring both that CPD conducted the McDonald investigation in accord with CPD Rules and Regulations, and that his subordinates produced accurate investigatory reports. Roy did not fulfill either of those responsibilities.

Roy’s actions, individually and collectively, violated CPD Rules. Roy’s failure to ensure that the investigative team under his supervision produced truthful, complete, and objective reports constituted a violation of Rule 2 (engaging in any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department), Rule 3 (failing to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy and accomplish its goals), Rule 6 (disobedience of an order or directive), and Rule 11 (incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty). Similarly, Roy’s failure to take any corrective action following his review of the investigatory file and the reports contained therein also violated Rules 2, 3, 6, and 11.

A supervisory member who has failed to prevent the issuance of materially false official reports has irrevocably tainted not only his credibility, but also the credibility of CPD, and has further failed to promote CPD’s goal of employing officers with personal integrity and professional devotion to law enforcement. Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD discharge Roy.

A. Materially False Reports Issued Under Roy’s Supervision

Roy had formal supervisory authority over the team that conducted the McDonald investigation. Under Roy’s supervision, that team produced a series of reports, including the 301 CSR, the MIN, and the HX-486155 Case Incident Report, that contained materially false statements.

First, the 301 CSR falsely stated that (1) the “recovered in-car camera video from Beats 845R and 813R was viewed and found to be consistent with the accounts of all of the witnesses”; and (2) “McDonald initiated the imminent use of force likely to cause death or serious injury when he initiated an attack on Officers Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh.”

Contrary to the conclusion reached in the 301 CSR, and to Roy’s testimony, the dashcam videos of the McDonald shooting are not consistent with the accounts attributed to witnesses. The 301 CSR contains the following statements attributed to witnesses:
Van Dyke: “When McDonald got to within 10 to 15 feet of Officer Van Dyke, McDonald looked toward Van Dyke. McDonald raised the knife across his chest and over his shoulder, pointing the knife at Van Dyke.” OIG 15-0564 003065-66.

Van Dyke: “In defense of his life, Van Dyke backpedaled and fired his handgun at McDonald to stop the attack.” OIG 15-0564 003066.

Van Dyke: “Van Dyke continued to fire his weapon at McDonald as McDonald was on the ground, as McDonald appeared to be attempting to get up, all while continuing to point the knife at Van Dyke.” OIG 15-0564 003066.

Walsh: “Walsh ordered McDonald to ‘Drop the knife!’ multiple times as McDonald approached the officers.” OIG 15-0564 003067.

Walsh: “Walsh also backed up, attempting to maintain a safe distance between himself and McDonald.” OIG 15-0564 003067.

Walsh: “McDonald ignored the verbal direction given by both Walsh and Officer Van Dyke and continued to advance toward the officers.” OIG 15-0564 003067.

Walsh: “When McDonald got to within 12 to 15 feet of the officers he swung the knife toward the officers in an aggressive manner.” OIG 15-0564 003067.

Fontaine: “McDonald ignored the verbal direction and instead, raised his right arm toward Officer Van Dyke, as if attacking Van Dyke.” OIG 15-0564 003071.

Viramontes: “McDonald fell to the ground but continued to move, attempting to get back up, with the knife still in his hand.” OIG 15-0564 003071.

Each of these statements is refuted by the dashcam video footage of the shooting. The video footage of the shooting shows that, before Van Dyke shot McDonald, McDonald was walking in a southwest direction, away from Van Dyke and Walsh, and that it was in fact Walsh and Van Dyke who were moving toward McDonald. The 813R video further establishes that McDonald did not raise the knife he was holding over his shoulder, did not raise his arm toward Van Dyke as if attacking Van Dyke, and did not swing the knife toward Van Dyke and Walsh in an “aggressive” manner. In addition, the videos demonstrate that Van Dyke and Walsh never backpedaled prior to the shooting, but rather either moved towards McDonald or stayed still. Finally, the video makes clear that, upon being shot and falling to the street, McDonald never attempted to get up. The video shows that McDonald, once on the ground, did not move his legs or lower body. McDonald’s upper body made small, intermittent movements as what appear to be puffs of smoke rose from his body, but those small movements are demonstrably not suggestive of a person trying to get up or get to his feet. Thus, the 301 CSR’s conclusion that the video evidence is consistent with the witness accounts is a materially false statement.

The 301 CSR’s finding that McDonald “initiated the imminent use of force likely to cause death or serious injury when he initiated an attack on Officers Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh,” is similarly belied by the video evidence. As summarized, supra, the video footage shows McDonald moving away from Van Dyke and Walsh, and does not show him making any movement toward them which could appropriately be characterized as “initiat[ing] an attack.” Notably, during the entire period of time for which Van Dyke and Walsh were outside of their car, McDonald was moving away from them. Accordingly, that finding is also materially false.

Second, the MIN produced by Gallagher also contained materially false statements. According to the MIN’s narrative, McDonald “refused all verbal commands and continued to approach the officers while still armed with his knife.” OIG 15-0564 003010. As described above, though, video footage of the moments leading up to the shooting make clear that McDonald was not “approaching” Van Dyke and Walsh; rather, McDonald was walking away from the officers as they moved toward him.

Finally, the HX-486155 Case Incident Report, also produced under Roy’s command, contained the statement that “McDonald committed aggravated assaults against the three officers, finally forcing Officer Van Dyke, in defense of his life, to shoot and kill McDonald.” OIG 15-0564 003300. As set forth above, the objective evidence belies the factual assertion that McDonald “forc[ed]” Van Dyke to shoot him. To the extent that March was making a legal conclusion regarding Van Dyke’s use of force, pursuant to the BDSOs, such a conclusion was not procedurally appropriate. See, e.g., BDSO 15-22 (prohibiting detectives from stating that the use of deadly force was justified).

In his OIG interview, Roy affirmed his belief that the above-described reports are truthful and accurate, but disavowed responsibility for the decision-making which produced the findings and conclusions contained in those reports. However, BDSO 14-13 required him to ensure the comprehensive and accurate documentation of the investigation, which he failed to do. From the earliest stages of the investigation, Roy was aware of the false narrative ultimately put forth by his subordinates, but abdicated his responsibility to prevent its memorialization. Specifically, Roy was briefed on the scene as to officers’ statements, viewed video of the shooting within hours of its occurrence, and read Gallagher’s MIN within days of its completion. He received

For similar reasons, the statement in the 339 CSR that “Criminal Attacked Officer That Officer Killed Criminal,” is also a false statement.

Contrary to the requirements of BDSO 15-22, the details of the investigation related to the McDonald shooting were reported under the RD number classified as an aggravated assault (HX-475653), rather than the RD number classified as a justifiable homicide (HX-486155). Further, Roy’s conflicting comments on whether IPRA, or CPD’s OCIC McNaughton, was responsible for determining whether Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald was appropriate reflects a policy-level confusion within CPD on how an investigation related to a police-involved shooting should appropriately proceed. This confusion is further reflected in BDSO 15-22, which contains instructions for reporting on a justifiable homicide while prohibiting the statement of a conclusion that a homicide is justified.
periodic updates from his subordinates in the months that followed, and acted as a point of contact between the investigative team and CPD’s command staff.\textsuperscript{48} Thus, in light of the information possessed by Roy regarding the events of October 20, 2014, his failure to prevent his subordinates from drafting false reports concerning those events violated Rules 6 and 11.

In addition, Roy confirmed that he reviewed the file on the McDonald investigation pursuant to BDSO 14-17, which required that, upon completion of the investigative file, it be forwarded to him for review. Roy acknowledged that if during the course of his review he encountered a “demonstrably false statement” in a report, that “would call for initiation of a C[omplaint] R[egister] number and notification of the State’s Attorney’s Office if it was a pending criminal prosecution.” Roy 7/6/2016 OIG Tr. 202:2-5. Roy did encounter several demonstrably false statements in his review and yet he took no such action, effectively endorsing the false conclusions reached by his subordinates. Pursuant to CPD Rules and Regulations, Roy was responsible for “the performance of all subordinates placed under them” and was “accountable for the failure, misconduct or omission” of his subordinates. Further, he was specifically required by special order to hold his subordinates strictly accountable for any failure to comprehensively and accurately document all steps taken during the investigation. Accordingly, Roy’s failure to fulfill his supervisory responsibilities constituted violations of Rules 2, 3, 6, and 11.

VI. \textbf{RECOMMENDATION}

The reports issued under Roy’s supervision, which he reviewed and for which he was ultimately responsible, contained false statements and misleading characterizations related to the shooting, which served to exaggerate the threat McDonald posed. This raises significant concerns regarding his credibility and ability to perform his duties as a sworn officer and supervisory member. As a sworn officer and a high-level supervisor, Roy’s credibility and integrity are critical to his position. Illinois courts have repeatedly noted that “as the guardians of our laws, police officers are expected to act with integrity, honesty, and trustworthiness.” \textit{Sindermann v. Civil Service Comm’n}, 275 Ill. App. 3d 917, 928 (2nd Dist. 1995). Further, in his position as a high-level supervisor, Roy had an elevated responsibility to promote CPD’s goals and implement its policies; instead, he failed to ensure that his subordinates conducted a complete, thorough, properly documented, and professional investigation related to the McDonald shooting, and in so doing he brought discredit upon CPD and was incompetent in the performance of his duties.

OIG therefore recommends that CPD discharge Roy and refer him for placement on the ineligible for rehire list maintained by the Department of Human Resources.

\textsuperscript{48} In addition to providing information on the case to members of CPD’s senior command staff, Roy communicated to his subordinates his assessment of the senior command staff’s position on the shooting. He told his subordinates that no one on the senior command staff had raised any questions about Van Dyke’s use of deadly force, despite the fact that Roy himself reported that, at the initial shooting briefing, McCarthy raised concerns about the number of shots Van Dyke fired.
VII. CPD RULE VIOLATIONS

Rule 2  Any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department.

Rule 3  Any failure to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy or accomplish its goals.

Rule 6  Disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral.

Rule 11 Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.
Appendix A
This report consists of a summary of the evidence set out in the attached investigative materials and the Office of Inspector General’s (OIG’s) analysis of that evidence. An index of the investigative materials is attached.

I. INTRODUCTION

An OIG investigation has established that Daphne Sebastian, a police officer for the Chicago Police Department (CPD) who was present when Officer Jason Van Dyke shot Laquan McDonald on October 20, 2014, violated CPD Rules and Regulations during the subsequent CPD and Independent Police Review Authority (IPRA) investigations.1 Sebastian was assigned to Beat 813R on October 20, 2014; she and her partner, Officer Janet Mondragon, were in the vehicle which recorded the most complete footage of the shooting. As detailed further below, Sebastian made false statements and material omissions during her subsequent interviews with CPD and IPRA, which served to exaggerate the threat McDonald posed. In addition, OIG’s investigation established that Sebastian failed to follow CPD Rules regarding the operation of CPD’s in-car video systems. Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD discharge Sebastian and refer her for placement on the ineligible for rehire list maintained by the Department of Human Resources.

II. APPLICABLE RULES, REGULATIONS, AND LAW

A. CPD Rules and Regulations

The “Rules and Regulations of the Chicago Police Department” set out the standards of conduct and duties of sworn members, as well as CPD goals. The Rules and Regulations state that sworn members must “conduct themselves at all times in such a manner as will reflect credit upon the Department with emphasis on personal integrity and professional devotion to law enforcement.”

Article V of the CPD Rules and Regulations, entitled CPD Rules of Conduct (the CPD Rules), sets forth specifically prohibited acts. In pertinent part, the CPD Rules include the following prohibitions:

Rule 2 Any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department.

1 CPD’s investigation in the aftermath of the McDonald shooting was reported under record number HX-475653, and most reports were classified as an investigation into an aggravated assault in which McDonald was the offender. In a few reports, the case was classified as an investigation into a justifiable homicide of which McDonald was the victim. An additional record number was also created and classified as a justifiable homicide, apparently for recordkeeping purposes. In CPD’s investigative reports classified under the aggravated assault, CPD personnel drew conclusions about the propriety and lawfulness of Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald. This raises questions about CPD’s role in investigating a police-involved shooting in light of IPRA’s jurisdiction over the matter.
Rule 3  Any failure to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy or accomplish its goals.

Rule 6  Disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral.

Rule 11  Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.

Rule 14  Making a false report, written or oral.

B. CPD Special Order S03-05 (effective February 23, 2012 through February 24, 2016)

CPD Special Orders are directives that establish protocols and procedures concerning specific CPD functions, operations, programs, or processes. Special Order S03-05 outlines the protocols CPD members are to follow regarding in-car video systems. Section VI of the Special Order provides that at the beginning of their tour of duty, Department members assigned to a CPD vehicle equipped with an in-car video system are to:

1. visually inspect the in-car video system equipment for damage;
2. obtain the remote transmitter/audio recorder and ensure it is securely attached to the member’s person; and
3. follow the start-up procedures for the in-car video system as trained and ensure the system is working properly.

The Special Order notes that members are to “immediately notify a supervisor if, at any time, the in-car video system is inoperable, damaged, the equipped vehicle becomes inoperable, or the remote transmitter/audio recorder is missing.” During their tour, members are to “audibly and visually record events in accordance with this directive.” At the conclusion of a tour of duty, members are to “verify the in-car video system is working properly.”

III. OFFICER SEBASTIAN’S EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

Sebastian has worked as a CPD Police Officer since September 30, 2002. She is a member of Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) Lodge 7.

IV. SUMMARY OF INVESTIGATION

A. Procedural History of OIG’s Investigation

By letter, dated December 8, 2015, IPRA Acting Chief Administrator Sharon Fairley requested that OIG conduct an administrative investigation “to determine whether certain police...”

2 The in-car video systems are also referred to as dash cameras or dashcams.
officers/witnesses made false statements on official reports prepared in connection with [Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald] and/or during the investigation of the incident.\(^3\) IPRA further requested that OIG investigate “whether any of the involved Chicago Police officers committed any other violation(s) of Chicago Police Department rules, policies or procedures in their involvement with the incident, including, but not limited to, whether any officers’ conduct may have interfered with or obstructed the appropriate investigation and handling of this matter.”

Then, by letter, dated January 13, 2016, CPD Interim Superintendent John J. Escalante requested that OIG conduct an “administrative investigation into any and all allegations of police officer misconduct” arising out of the October 20, 2014 shooting death of McDonald. The Superintendent’s request asked OIG to investigate the following allegations: “whether any officer(s) made false statements on official reports submitted in connection with the shooting of Laquan McDonald on October 20, 2014; whether any officer(s) obstructed or interfered with the investigation of this incident, either individually or in collusion with others; and whether any officer(s) committed any violation of Chicago Police Department rules, policies, or orders in connection with their response and/or handling of this matter.” Escalante attached to the letter request a copy of Sergeant Sandra Soria’s Initiation Report, which raises allegations of misconduct related to the in-car video systems of the vehicles that were present during the McDonald shooting, and identified that Report as a basis for OIG’s administrative investigation.

On March 10, 2016, Kevin Kilmer, Financial Secretary for the FOP, on behalf of all affected members, filed a grievance with CPD stating that OIG’s attempts to conduct CPD officer interviews violated Article 6 of CPD’s Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) with the FOP.\(^4\) On March 16, 2016, FOP on behalf of all impacted CPD officers filed a “Complaint for Injunction in Aid of Arbitration” in the Circuit Court of Cook County, asking the court to enjoin OIG from conducting interviews until the grievance was decided in arbitration.\(^5\) The court dismissed the complaint and denied the injunction on March 22, 2016.

OIG’s administrative investigation of other CPD employees’ actions related to the McDonald shooting is ongoing. During the course of its investigation, OIG has gathered documents from CPD and IPRA, among other sources, and conducted numerous interviews, including interviews of thirteen CPD personnel who were at or responded to the scene of the shooting and seven civilian witnesses to the shooting. To date in its ongoing investigation, OIG has recommended

\(^4\) Section 6.1, Paragraph I of the CBA states, “If the allegation under investigation indicates a recommendation for separation is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the statutory administrative proceeding rights, or if the allegation indicates criminal prosecution is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the constitutional rights concerning self-incrimination prior to the commencement of interrogation.” CPD General Order G08-01-01, Paragraph K contains similar language.

\(^5\) Fraternal Order of Police, Chicago Lodge 7 v. City of Chicago, No. 2016 CH 03726 (Cir. Ct. of Cook County, Ill., Mar. 16, 2016).
disciplinary action against multiple CPD personnel, sustaining allegations that they each put forth a false narrative regarding the shooting.

B. The Events of October 20, 2014

The following sections detail the shooting of McDonald, as well as the relevant events that occurred directly before and after the shooting.6

1. and Rudy Barillas’s Encounter with McDonald7

 and  were parking a truck in a lot at 41st Street and Kildare Avenue when saw a black male, whom she subsequently identified as McDonald, attempting to steal property from certain vehicles parked in the lot. Barillas told McDonald to leave the lot. McDonald responded by making growling noises. After Barillas again told McDonald to leave the lot, McDonald pulled out a knife and swung it at Barillas. Barillas, who had already called 911, then threw his cell phone at McDonald.8 McDonald ran from the lot, first northbound on Kildare and then eastbound on 40th Street.

2. Officers Thomas Gaffney and Joseph McElligott’s Encounter with McDonald9

Officer Thomas Gaffney and his partner Officer Joseph McElligott received a call over the radio that someone had broken into a truck at 4100 South Kildare and were dispatched to the scene.10 Gaffney was driving, and McElligott was in the passenger seat of their assigned vehicle, 815R.11

6 On April 22, 2016, OIG obtained maps of the locations that are relevant to the shooting from Google Maps and included those maps in Appendix A. Those maps generally reflect the street layout and location of relevant businesses as they were on the night of October 20, 2014.

7 The following account of and Barillas’s encounter with McDonald is taken from the March 16, 2015 case supplementary report (CSR) submitted by CPD Detective David March, which includes the statements that and Barillas provided to CPD on October 21, 2014, and October 22, 2014, respectively. OIG 15-0564 003077.

8 OEMC recordings reflect that Barillas called 911 at 9:45 p.m. stating that he was holding “a guy right hear [sic] that stolen [sic] the radios” from trucks in a truck yard located at “41st and Kildare.” OIG 15-0564 003227.

9 The following account of Gaffney and McElligott’s encounter with McDonald is taken from (1) the audio-recorded statements Gaffney and McElligott provided to IPRA on October 21, 2014, OIG 15-0564 000482-98, 000610-30; and (2) the March 16, 2015, CSR submitted by Detective David March, which includes the statements that Gaffney and McElligott provided to March on the night of the McDonald shooting. OIG 15-0564 003067–69.

10 OEMC records reflect that Gaffney and McElligott received the call at 9:47 p.m. OIG 15-0564 003691.

11 Below is a chart identifying the beat numbers and vehicle numbers of the CPD vehicles that were present when McDonald was shot, along with the names of the officers who were assigned to those vehicles. This SRI refers to the below-referenced vehicles by beat number, unless otherwise specified.
When they arrived at 4100 South Kildare, they saw a Hispanic male and female standing by the gate to the truck yard. The two said that a black male wearing a black shirt, later determined to be McDonald, had been trying to steal the radio out of a semi-truck, and had subsequently headed north toward 40th Street.

Gaffney and McElligott drove north on Kildare, turned right onto 40th Street, and saw McDonald walking east on the south side of 40th Street. McElligott exited the vehicle and commanded McDonald to stop and turn around. Gaffney stayed in the vehicle in case McDonald attempted to flee. McElligott ordered McDonald to take his hands out of his pockets. McDonald, who had been facing McElligott, turned and walked away with one hand still in his pocket. McDonald then turned again and took both of his hands out of his pockets. He had a knife in his right hand. McElligott drew his weapon and told McDonald to drop the knife. McDonald started walking east again, going from the sidewalk to the street and back. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, shining his flashlight on him, while Gaffney followed in 815R, parallel to McDonald.

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Keeler, Gaffney reported to dispatch that McDonald was walking away with a knife in his hand.¹² Gaffney and McElligott continued to follow McDonald as he headed east, with McElligott giving McDonald orders to drop his knife and stop. McDonald kept turning around and giving the officers a “weird glazed look.” Gaffney IPRA Tr. 11:20.¹³

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Karlov, Gaffney turned his car toward McDonald to direct him down Karlov. Gaffney wanted to keep McDonald away from Pulaski, which was a more populated area. McDonald then swung his arm and popped 815R’s right front tire with his knife. McElligott was toward the back of 815R when McDonald popped its tire. After McDonald took a step back from the vehicle, Gaffney pulled up further in front of him to stop him from proceeding to Pulaski. McDonald then hit the right side of 815R’s windshield once with the knife in his right hand. The windshield did not break but, according to Gaffney, McDonald hit it as hard as he could. McDonald walked around the front of 815R and continued

McElligott followed McDonald on foot, and Gaffney followed McDonald in 815R. McDonald ran eastbound through a parking lot of a Burger King located at 40th and Pulaski and then headed southbound on Pulaski. 4. CCSPD Officer Accounts of the October 20, 2014 McDonald Shooting

While on patrol on October 20, 2014, CCSPD Officers Adam Murphy and Jeff Pasqua observed several CPD police vehicles pass by them. Both officers decided to follow the CPD vehicles. When they arrived at the scene, several CPD vehicles were already present—Pasqua estimated it was five or six. McDonald was lying on the pavement “gasping for his last breath of air.” Pasqua OIG Tr. 11:22-23. Meanwhile, the CPD officers were “standing around” and talking to each other. Murphy OIG Tr. 11:1. Murphy noted the CPD officers did not respond to him when he asked if they needed assistance. Murphy stated:

> I see there’s blood all over the pavement. [McDonald] was kind of gurgling when he was sitting there. I remember his mouth was going open and closed like he was trying to gasp for air. And I looked for everybody else, and they were kind of standing there. I just started taking my gloves—my rubber gloves out to check for a pulse and to see if I could render aid.

Murphy OIG Tr. 12:18-13:2. He heard someone say an ambulance was en route. Both Officers Murphy and Pasqua recalled then watching McDonald take his final breaths. It was “[m]aybe less than a minute before [McDonald] expired.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:15-16. At no time did any

CPD officers attempt to provide aid or comfort McDonald—Murphy stated, “That’s why I felt that I needed to go up to him.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:11-12.

After McDonald passed away, Murphy got up from beside him and noticed the shooting officer, who he now knows to be Van Dyke, “pacing back and forth in front of his car.” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:7-8. Murphy approached him and told him to sit down and drink water. As he was speaking with Van Dyke, Murphy “heard several officers telling [Van Dyke] to ‘call your union rep, call your union rep.’” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:16-17.

Murphy and Pasqua departed after approximately ten minutes on the scene when a CPD sergeant told them CPD did not need their assistance. At the time they left, there was “[a] sea of CPD” on scene. Murphy OIG Tr. 38:3; Pasqua OIG Tr. 25:7-8.

C. Officer Sebastian’s Statements Regarding the McDonald Shooting

1. October 20, 2014 Statement to Detective David March

On March 15, 2015, Detective David March submitted a case supplementary report (CSR) with the R.D. Number HX475653 that contains a summary of CPD’s investigation in the aftermath of the McDonald shooting. Lieutenant Anthony Wojcik approved the CSR on March 16, 2015. Included in that CSR is March’s summary of the statement he obtained from Sebastian at the scene of the shooting. The CSR summarizes Sebastian’s October 20, 2014 statement in relevant part as follows:

[Sebastian] stated she was a Chicago Police Officer assigned to the 008th District. She was on duty, in uniform, working on Beat 813R. Sebastian was working with Police Officer Janet Mondragon. The two officers were assigned to a marked vehicle. Mondragon was driving the vehicle and Sebastian was the passenger.

The two officers responded to the request for assistance made by Beat 815R, regarding a subject with a knife. Officer Sebastian thought the original call for assistance was at 40th Street and Keeler Avenue. The subject had punctured a tire on the police vehicle of Beat 815R. Officer Mondragon drove northbound on Pulaski Road, following Beat 845R, as they also responded to the request for assistance. Mondragon turned westbound onto 40th Street, behind Beat 845R.

Officer Sebastian observed a black male subject, now known as Laquan McDonald, running southeast bound through the parking lot of the Burger King restaurant. Beat 845R pursued McDonald in their police vehicle, through the parking lot, toward Pulaski. Sebastian told Officer Mondragon to drive back out onto Pulaski to assist in the pursuit. McDonald ran out onto Pulaski and continued to run southbound down the middle of the street. Beat 845R pursued McDonald in their vehicle, southbound on Pulaski, followed by Beat 813R. As McDonald ran southbound on Pulaski, Sebastian saw the knife in his right hand. McDonald was waving the knife.

23 March completed a General Progress Report (GPR) relating to his interview of Sebastian that contains March’s handwritten notes of the interview. OIG 15-0564 003248. March’s handwritten notes of the interview do not differ in any significant way from his summary of Sebastian’s statement in the CSR.

Beat 845R stopped their vehicle ahead of McDonald, between McDonald and the Dunkin’ Donuts restaurant on the east side of Pulaski. Officers Joseph Walsh and Jason Van Dyke exited their vehicle and drew their handguns. McDonald turned toward the two officers and continued to wave the knife. Sebastian heard the officers repeatedly order McDonald to “Drop the knife!” McDonald ignored the verbal directions and continued to advance on the officers, waving the knife. Officer Sebastian heard multiple gunshots and McDonald fell to the ground, where he continued to move. Sebastian did not know who fired the shots, which were fired in one continuous group. She then saw Officer Walsh kick the knife out of McDonald’s hand.

2. October 21, 2014 Statement to IPRA

On October 21, 2014, at 5:07 a.m., IPRA investigator Brian Killen interviewed Sebastian at Area Central Police Headquarters, located at 5101 South Wentworth, regarding the McDonald shooting. Attorney Dan Herbert and FOP Field Representative Kriston Kato accompanied Sebastian. Prior to the interview, Killen informed Sebastian that “any intentional falsification of any question, any answer to any question would be in direct violation of Department rules and regulations,” and that her “failure to provide a complete and accurate account of this incident could result in a finding of Rule 14 with uh discipline leading up to and including separation from the Chicago Police Department.” Sebastian IPRA Tr. 3:20-30. Sebastian indicated that she understood the potential disciplinary consequences of making a false statement to IPRA and of providing a less than complete account of the shooting to IPRA. In summary, Sebastian stated as follows.

Sebastian started work at 9:00 p.m. on October 20, 2014. Mondragon was her partner that night. They were both in full uniform and were assigned vehicle 8779, a marked Ford Explorer. Sebastian was the passenger.

Sebastian and Mondragon were in the area of 55th Street and Kostner when they heard a radio dispatch saying that 815R was requesting assistance with an offender armed with a knife. Mondragon drove toward 815R and, in the meantime, Sebastian learned that the offender, now known as McDonald, was travelling eastbound toward a Burger King restaurant, and toward Pulaski, on foot with a knife in his hand. She then learned that McDonald punctured 815R’s tire. At this point, Mondragon and Sebastian were travelling northbound on Pulaski, behind 845R. They turned westbound on 40th Street, just north of the Burger King parking lot. As they arrived, 845R went into the parking lot, and Sebastian heard over the radio that McDonald was running through the parking lot. Sebastian could see McDonald at some distance, and told Mondragon to drive out onto Pulaski in an effort to cut off the offender. As they reached 41st Street driving southbound on Pulaski, they saw McDonald running southbound in front of them in the middle of Pulaski. McDonald was in front of the car, running away from them.

When Sebastian and Mondragon were behind McDonald on Pulaski, Sebastian was able to see a knife in his hand. She stated: “[H]e [was] actually waving [the knife] back and forth. Like front to back. Moving his arm back and forth as he’s um maybe like a fast walk, slow run southbound on Pulaski.” Sebastian IPRA Tr. 8:12-15. When Sebastian and Mondragon reached 41st Street, Walsh and Van Dyke were already out of their car. Sebastian saw the offender “in the street still waving his, his arm with the knife.” Sebastian IPRA Tr. 8:30-31. When asked later in her interview whether she saw the offender wave the knife at someone, Sebastian answered: “He was (noise) waving it (noise) before he got towards 845 Robert he was just swinging his arm back and forth. I mean he’s doing all kinds of like twisting body motions as he’s walking. (noise) Um when he got closer to them and they got outta the vehicle, it (noise) he turned his body towards them like the knife like (noise) in a motion towards them. His, (noise) his right arm did. (noise)” Sebastian IPRA Tr. 9:28-10:4.

Sebastian then heard several shots fired and saw McDonald fall to the ground. She did not know who was shooting, and explained that she saw both Van Dyke and Walsh with their guns drawn, but her attention was directed at the offender when shots were fired. 813R was “still in motion . . . still moving” when the shooting occurred. Sebastian IPRA Tr. 9:12-16. Sebastian said she heard the gunshots, but did not know how many she heard. After she heard the gunshots, she and Mondragon exited their vehicle and, as they did so, Sebastian saw that the offender was “no longer a threat.” Sebastian IPRA Tr. 12:3-4. She explained: “I didn’t see that there was any more movement. Um Officer Walsh, I saw Officer Walsh (noise) um kick the knife, the, he still had the knife in his hand. (noise) You could see that. And he kicked it away from ‘em and it was no more, I didn’t see any movement from the offender.” Sebastian IPRA Tr. 12:16-22.

When asked by IPRA whether everything she stated was “a true and accurate account of what occurred,” Sebastian said, “Yes.” Sebastian IPRA Tr. 13:14-16.

G. Records and Interview Concerning 813R’s In-Car Video System

On October 21, 2014, CPD Sergeant Lance Becvar submitted a supplementary report for R.D. Number HX475653 concerning his retrieval of video from the in-car video systems of the five CPD vehicles that were on scene when Van Dyke shot McDonald. With respect to 813R, the vehicle in which Sebastian was the passenger on October 20, 2014, Becvar noted, “video recovered.” Becvar also completed an “In Car Camera Video Retrieval Worksheet” regarding his October 20, 2014 video retrieval, in which he made the following notation with respect to 813R: “Mics in glove box batteries inserted upside down ➔ fully op.”

On July 17, 2015, Becvar sent an email summarizing his findings regarding his October 20, 2014 video retrieval from 845R and the other four CPD vehicles that were on scene when Van Dyke shot McDonald. With respect to 813R, Becvar stated as follows: “Video recovered titled PC0Z400@20141020215250, No mics because they were in the glove compartment with the batteries inserted upside down – Disabling them.”

In a January 27, 2016 OIG interview with Becvar, he stated that, while video had been recovered from 813R’s system, there was no audio recording because the system’s microphones “were in the glove compartment with the batteries turned upside down.” Becvar OIG Tr. 52:8-10. When asked what he had made of the fact that the batteries had been put in upside down, Becvar answered, “It’s a known way to get around the video – get around the microphones.” Becvar OIG Tr. 52:18-19. He went on to explain that, if batteries had been put in upside down accidentally, an officer should have been able to ascertain that from the operation of the system.

H. OIG’s Interview of Officer Sebastian

On February 24, 2016, pursuant to Section 6.1 of the CBA between CPD and FOP, OIG, through CPD’s Bureau of Internal Affairs, served Sebastian with a Notification of Interview, Notification of Allegations, and copies of her prior statements, including: (1) her October 20, 2014 statement to March, contained in the March 16, 2015 CSR; (2) March’s GPR containing his handwritten notes of his interview of Sebastian; and (3) Sebastian’s October 21, 2014 statement to IPRA. In addition, OIG provided Sebastian with the dashcam footage from 813R and 845R and the security camera footage from Dunkin’ Donuts.

On March 21, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed Sebastian under oath after informing her of her administrative advisements orally and in writing. She provided oral and written acknowledgment of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Sebastian’s attorney, Jennifer Russell, was also present for the interview. In summary, Sebastian stated as follows.

As of October 20, 2014, Sebastian was assigned to CPD’s 8th District and was working the first watch on Beat 813R. She was working with Mondragon, one of her regular partners.

1. The Scene of the Shooting

Sebastian and Mondragon were at the scene of the McDonald shooting. Immediately after McDonald was shot, they exited their vehicle and began directing traffic away from the scene. At some point at the scene of the shooting, Sebastian spoke with Sergeant Franko and Detective March. She spoke with March while standing outside of 813R, and March took notes during their conversation. Sebastian did not recall if Mondragon was present when she spoke with March. She did not view any video while at the scene.

27 OIG 15-0564 000567.

28 Sebastian did not know March’s name, but concluded from reports of the incident that he was the detective with whom she spoke.
2. Area Central

At some point, a supervisor at the scene of the shooting directed Sebastian to go to Area Central. Mondragon, Fontaine, Viramontes, McElligott, Gaffney, and Walsh were also present at Area Central. Sebastian heard that Van Dyke was also there, but did not see him. The officers did not discuss the McDonald shooting among themselves. Sebastian did not speak to March, or any other detective, at Area Central. Kris Kato, an FOP representative, was at Area Central and spoke to the officers as a group; they did not discuss anything substantive about the shooting. Someone showed Sebastian and others the Dunkin’ Donuts surveillance video at Area Central. Sebastian did not believe she viewed the dashcam video from her vehicle, 813R. Sebastian and Mondragon left Area Central after their IPRA interview.

3. Sebastian’s Statement to Detective March

Sebastian did not remember making this statement, and was not sure that it was accurate. She explained that “the way it’s written makes it sound like we were behind 845 Robert once we got onto Pulaski, and that’s inaccurate. . . What would be accurate was that we were southbound on Pulaski in the southbound lanes and that 845R was southbound on Pulaski somewhat in the northbound lanes.” Sebastian OIG Tr. 111:5-14.

“McDonald turned toward the two officers and continued to wave the knife. Sebastian heard the officers repeatedly order McDonald to “Drop the knife!”

Sebastian described these statements as “not inaccurate,” but believes they are out of chronological order. She was asked whether it was more accurate to say that “as Officers Walsh and Van Dyke were exiting their vehicle and drew their handguns, they McDonald ignored the verbal directions and continued to advance on the officers, waving the knife.”

Later in her interview, Sebastian said she could hear the order to “Drop the knife!” because her window was slightly open and Officer Walsh has a “very loud commanding voice.” Sebastian OIG Tr. 128:13.

“Officer Sebastian heard multiple gunshots, and McDonald fell to the ground where he continued to move.”

She later explained that she did not know which officer fired the shots because both Officers Van Dyke and Walsh had their guns drawn, and her attention was focused on McDonald for all 16 shots.

“She then saw Officer Walsh kick the knife out of McDonald’s hand.”

Sebastian affirmed that she made this statement to March and that it was accurate. Sebastian OIG Tr. 115:20-22.

Sebastian reviewed the allegations against her as set out in the Notification of Allegations served upon her by OIG, as relating to her statement to March. She responded, in relevant part, to the allegations as follows.

“It is alleged that on or about October 20, 2014, you made a false statement during an interview with Detective March when you stated that McDonald ignored Officers Walsh and Van Dyke’s verbal directions to drop the knife and continued to advance on the officers waving the knife.”

Referring to her earlier comments on the proper chronological order of events, Sebastian said: “I stand by this, but I will also stand by my clarification as I stated before. He continued to walk southbound. He continued to.” Sebastian OIG Tr. 118:21-23.

“It is alleged that on or about October 20, 2014, you made a material omission during an interview with Detective March when you failed to state that McDonald changed the direction in which he was walking prior to the shooting.”

Sebastian responded that McDonald “was walking in a southerly direction the entire time was what I saw. He didn’t turn and go back north. He didn’t turn and go directly east or directly west; his motion was in a southerly direction from what I saw that night.” Sebastian OIG Tr. 119:13-17.

5. Use of 813R’s In-Car Video System

Sebastian reviewed CPD Special Order S03-05 outlining the protocol for in-car video systems and said she “probably” had seen it “at some point.” Sebastian OIG Tr. 149:3. She later added that she had been trained on the materials in 2006. Since before October 20, 2014, and continuing until sometime after that date, Sebastian was unable to log into any in-car video system herself because of an error with her employee number. She notified supervisors of this problem twice. During the time that her login was not working, Sebastian would have her partner login. At some point after October 20, 2014, Sebastian’s login was enabled. Mondragon did have a working login for the in-car video system on October 20, 2014.

Sebastian did not remember whether, before October 20, 2014, she had ever had trouble with the in-car video system or with audio recording in vehicle 8779. When she and Mondragon began their shift on October 20, 2014, Mondragon logged into the system and Sebastian and Mondragon visually inspected the system equipment for damage. Sebastian did not obtain the remote transmitter audio recorder or ensure that it was securely attached to her person. When asked why she had not done this, she answered, “I don’t have an answer for that.” Sebastian OIG Tr. 158:17. When asked whether it was her regular practice to attach the audio recorder, she answered, “It is now,” but noted that, before October 20, 2014, “It was not.” Sebastian OIG Tr. 158:21-23.

Sebastian was shown Becvar’s notes having to do with vehicle 8779’s microphones being in the glove compartment, with their batteries inserted upside down. She did not know why the microphones were in the glove compartment, or why the batteries had been inserted upside down. When asked, “Did you purposefully disable the microphones?”, she answered, “No, I did not.” Sebastian OIG Tr. 163:3-5.

Sebastian was presented with the allegations against her as set out in the Notification of Allegations served upon her by OIG, as relating to her use of 813R’s in-car video system on October 20, 2014. She responded, in relevant part, to the allegations as follows.

“It is alleged that on or about October 20, 2014, you failed to audibly record events with CPD vehicle 8779’s in-car video system during your tour of duty.”

Sebastian said, “My response to that is that that’s correct. I did not immediately notify a supervisor.” Sebastian OIG Tr. 167:6-7. She then added, “I did fail to immediately notify the supervisor; however, I did not check the microphones. So I didn’t know that they were inoperable, damaged. I didn’t check them.” Sebastian OIG Tr. 167:16-20.

Sebastian said, “Again, I’ll repeat the fact that I didn’t inspect the microphones. I didn’t ensure that they were working. So I had no knowledge whether it would record it or not record it at the time of the incident.” Sebastian OIG Tr. 168:6-10.

V. ANALYSIS

OIG’s investigation established that Sebastian made false statements and material omissions in her interviews with CPD and IPRA regarding the McDonald shooting. Sebastian’s false statements all served a similar purpose: to materially exaggerate the threat McDonald posed to Van Dyke and Walsh. Sebastian’s statements and omissions go to establishing a false narrative that Van Dyke shot an oncoming McDonald in response to McDonald’s potentially deadly knife attack. In her OIG interview, Sebastian was given the opportunity to correct, clarify, or explain her false statements, but she nonetheless stood by them.

Sebastian’s actions, individually and collectively, constitute violations of CPD Rules. Each of Sebastian’s false statements constitutes a violation of Rule 14 (making a false report, written or oral). Her false statements also constitute violations of Rule 2 (engaging in any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department), and Rule 3 (failing to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy and accomplish its goals). An officer who has made false statements in an official investigation has irrevocably tainted not only her credibility, but also the credibility of CPD—and also fails to promote CPD’s goal of employing officers with personal integrity and professional devotion to law enforcement. Sebastian further violated Rule 6 (disobedience of an order, namely S03-05) and Rule 11 (incompetency in the performance of a duty) by failing to audibly record events with her in-car video system and failing to notify her supervisor about the status of the system’s audio component. Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD discharge Sebastian.
A. Sebastian’s False Narrative to Detective March

Sebastian made three false statements to Detective March on October 20, 2014, regarding the McDonald shooting that are clearly contradicted by the 813R and 845R dashcam video, the most objective and reliable evidence of the events that night. Most notably:

- Sebastian stated that McDonald turned toward officers Walsh and Van Dyke and continued to wave the knife.
- Sebastian stated that McDonald ignored Officers Walsh and Van Dyke’s verbal directions to drop the knife and continued to advance on the officers while waving the knife.
- Sebastian stated that, after he had been shot, McDonald continued to move after falling to the ground.

First, the 813R dashcam video evidences that there was no time at which McDonald turned toward Walsh and Van Dyke while waving the knife. Rather, it shows only that McDonald extended his right arm fully to his right side before Walsh and Van Dyke were out of their car, and that, after the officers were out of their car, McDonald moved his right hand behind his waist, then back to his right side as he was walking away from them. McDonald did not turn toward Walsh and Van Dyke while waving the knife. Sebastian’s comments on the “chronological order” of the events as she related them do not change the substance of her false statement. In her OIG interview, Sebastian ratified her position that McDonald “did turn towards them and in a motion with the knife.” Sebastian OIG Tr. 118:10-11. In light of the objective video evidence, this statement is false.

Second, Sebastian takes the materially false position that McDonald “advance[d] on” Walsh and Van Dyke. The video evidence clearly shows McDonald walking away from Walsh and Van Dyke, and the two officers moving toward McDonald.

Third, Sebastian’s statement that McDonald “continued to move” after being shot and falling to the ground is, at best, misleading. The video footage shows that, after McDonald fell to the ground, his lower body did not move at all. Small, intermittent movements are discernable in his upper body, as what appear to be puffs of smoke rise from his body. These minimal movements are not, however, any sort of continuation of movement from when McDonald was standing or walking. Sebastian’s statement to March, as ratified in her OIG interview, serves to exaggerate the threat posed by McDonald by suggesting that he continued to pose a danger to Van Dyke and Walsh as he lay on the ground, already having been shot.

In addition, Sebastian omitted certain material information; specifically, that McDonald changed the direction in which he was walking and was in fact walking away from Van Dyke and Walsh before he was shot. The footage recorded by 813R’s in-car video system, the very car in which 29 See summary of video footage, supra.

Sebastian was riding, shows precisely what was visible from her location at the scene; it clearly shows McDonald change his direction and begin to walk away from the officers. Sebastian claimed in her OIG interview that, as soon as she saw Van Dyke and Walsh exit their vehicle, she was wholly focused on McDonald. It is impossible, then, that she did not see McDonald’s actions. In the context of her false statements, Sebastian’s omission can be seen as a deliberate attempt to establish or further the false narrative that Van Dyke shot an onrushing McDonald in response to a potentially deadly knife attack. This narrative, and Sebastian’s statements which further it, are contradicted by the video footage of the shooting.

B. Sebastian’s False Narrative to IPRA

Sebastian repeated her false narrative of the McDonald shooting to IPRA during her October 21, 2014 interview with Investigator Killen. Specifically, she again stated that McDonald turned toward officers Walsh and Van Dyke and moved the knife “in a motion towards them.” Sebastian IPRA Tr. 10: 2-3. She again failed to state that McDonald was walking away from Van Dyke and Walsh prior to the shooting. As detailed above, however, Sebastian’s statement is contradicted by the video evidence, and her omission is shown to be intentional. Nonetheless, she stood by her statement to IPRA and asserted that she had provided a true and accurate account of the shooting.

C. Failure to Comply with Special Order S03-05

Sebastian also violated Rule 6 (disobedience of an order) and Rule 11 (incompetency in the performance of a duty) by failing to audibly record events with her in-car video system and failing to notify her supervisor about the audio component’s status as required by S03-05. As Sebastian acknowledged, CPD did not recover any audio from 813R’s in-car video system. Becvar, who recovered the video from 813R’s in-car video system, found that the system’s microphones were in the glove compartment with their batteries inserted upside down. If Sebastian had properly followed the pre-tour of duty in-car video system protocols, she would have identified all these issues. Yet, as Sebastian admitted, she never checked or reported on the status of 813R’s audio component. Becvar’s inspection revealed that, if the batteries were inserted correctly, 813R’s audio recording component would have been fully functional. Therefore, it was only Sebastian’s failure to operate the system correctly that precluded audio recording. Thus, the evidence demonstrates that Sebastian failed to follow the in-car video system procedures set forth in S03-05 on October 20, 2014.

VI. RECOMMENDATION

Sebastian’s false statements and material omissions raise significant concerns regarding her credibility and ability to perform her duties as a sworn officer. As a sworn officer, Sebastian’s reports are relied upon in criminal legal proceedings and her credibility is therefore critical to her position. An officer who has made false statements in an official investigation has irrevocably

30 Information supplied by Becvar suggests that, given that the microphones in 813R would have been fully functional if the batteries had been inserted correctly, they may have been intentionally disabled. Because different officers drive the same car, however, OIG is unable to establish who may have disabled them.
tainted her credibility and has wholly disqualified herself from effectively executing core police functions. Based on this conduct she may be the subject of cross-examination in any contested proceedings in which she may appear as a witness, see Fed. R. Evid. 608(b) (“Specific instances of conduct”), and her conduct and the findings resulting from this investigation would further qualify as impeachment material that should, in principle, be disclosed in any contested proceeding involving the official records or testimony Sebastian generates. See Giglio v. United States, 405 U.S. 150 (1972) (requiring disclosure in criminal case of information impeaching of government witness’s credibility). Illinois courts have repeatedly noted that “as the guardians of our laws, police officers are expected to act with integrity, honesty, and trustworthiness” and have found intentional false or misleading statements by police officers to be sufficient cause for termination. Rodriguez v. Weis, 408 Ill. App. 3d 663, 671 (1st Dist. 2011) (quoting Sindermann v. Civil Service Comm’n, 275 Ill. App. 3d 917, 928 (2nd Dist. 1995)). Further, Sebastian failed, without any explanation, to comply with Special Order S03-05, and her actions resulted in the loss of what would have been critical, objective evidence of the events surrounding the McDonald shooting.

OIG therefore recommends that CPD discharge Sebastian and refer her for placement on the ineligible for rehire list maintained by the Department of Human Resources.

VII. CPD RULE VIOLATIONS

Rule 2 Any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department.

Rule 3 Any failure to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy or accomplish its goals.

Rule 6 Disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral.

Rule 11 Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.

Rule 14 Making a false report, written or oral.
Appendix A
This report consists of a summary of the evidence set out in the attached investigative materials and the Office of Inspector General’s (OIG’s) analysis of that evidence. An index of the investigative materials is attached.

I. INTRODUCTION

An OIG investigation has established that Jason Van Dyke, a police officer for the Chicago Police Department (CPD), violated CPD Rules and Regulations during the subsequent investigations of the October 20, 2014 Laquan McDonald shooting. More specifically, and as detailed further below, Van Dyke made numerous false statements and material omissions during his subsequent interviews with CPD and the Independent Police Review Authority (IPRA). In addition, Van Dyke filed a false Tactical Response Report (TRR) and a false Officer’s Battery Report (OBR) regarding his encounter with McDonald. Van Dyke’s false reports, false statements, and material omissions all served to exaggerate the threat McDonald posed.\footnote{On November 24, 2015, the Cook County State’s Attorney charged Van Dyke with a single count of first degree murder in the shooting of McDonald. On December 15, 2015, it subsequently charged him with six counts of murder. OIG has not been involved with any criminal investigation related to the shooting and makes no findings regarding Van Dyke’s use of force.} In addition, OIG’s investigation established that Van Dyke failed to follow CPD Rules regarding the operation of CPD’s in-car video systems. Finally, Van Dyke failed to cooperate with OIG’s investigation, after being properly called upon to do so and in direct violation of a superior’s order, by refusing to answer OIG’s questions in his interview. Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD immediately discharge Van Dyke and refer him for placement on the ineligible for rehire list maintained by the Department of Human Resources.

II. APPLICABLE RULES, REGULATIONS, AND LAW

A. CPD Rules and Regulations

The “Rules and Regulations of the Chicago Police Department” set out the standards of conduct and duties of sworn members, as well as CPD goals. The Rules and Regulations state that sworn members must “conduct themselves at all times in such a manner as will reflect credit upon the Department with emphasis on personal integrity and professional devotion to law enforcement.”

Article V of the CPD Rules and Regulations, entitled CPD Rules of Conduct (the CPD Rules), sets forth specifically prohibited acts. In pertinent part, the CPD Rules include the following prohibitions:

Rule 2 Any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department.
Rule 3  Any failure to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy or accomplish its goals.

Rule 6  Disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral.

Rule 11  Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.

Rule 14  Making a false report, written or oral.

Rule 51  Failure to testify or give evidence before any grand jury, coroner’s inquest or court of law or before any governmental, administrative, or investigative agency (city, state or federal) when properly called upon to do so, and when there is no properly asserted constitutional privilege, or when immunity from prosecution has been granted.

B.  CPD General Order G08-01-02 (effective March 17, 2013)

CPD General Orders “are directives that establish critical policies directly related to the core values and functions of the Department or the broad organizational policies and key practices relating to those core values.” General Order G08-01-02 outlines CPD members’ responsibilities “when allegations of misconduct come to their attention.” Section II.A.2 states, “Members will cooperate with personnel from the Independent Police Review Authority (IPRA), the Bureau of Internal Affairs (BIA), or any other lawful investigatory entity conducting an investigation into a member’s misconduct.”

C.  CPD Special Order S03-05 (effective February 23, 2012 through February 24, 2016)

CPD Special Orders “are directives that establish protocols and procedures concerning specific CPD functions, operations, programs, or processes.” Special Order S03-05 outlines the protocols CPD members are to follow regarding in-car video systems.\(^2\) Section VI of the Special Order provides that at the beginning of their tour of duty, Department members assigned to a CPD vehicle equipped with an in-car video system are to:

(1) visually inspect the in-car video system equipment for damage;

(2) obtain the remote transmitter/audio recorder and ensure it is securely attached to the member’s person; and

(3) follow the start-up procedures for the in-car video system as trained and ensure the system is working properly.

The Special Order notes that members are to “immediately notify a supervisor if, at any time, the

\(^2\) The in-car video systems are also referred to as dash cameras or dashcams in this report.
in-car video system is inoperable, damaged, the equipped vehicle becomes inoperable, or the remote transmitter/audio recorder is missing.” During their tour, members are to “audibly and visually record events in accordance with this directive.” At the conclusion of a tour of duty, members are to “verify the in-car video system is working properly.”

D. City of Chicago Municipal Code

Chapter 2-56, establishing OIG, states the following: “It shall be the duty of every officer, employee, department, agency, contractor, subcontractor and licensee of the city, and every applicant for certification of eligibility for a city contract or program, to cooperate with the inspector general in any investigation or hearing undertaken pursuant to this chapter.” MCC § 2-56-090.

III. Officer Van Dyke Employment History

Van Dyke has worked as a CPD Police Officer since June 25, 2001. Van Dyke is a member of Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) Lodge 7.

IV. Summary of Investigation

A. Procedural History of OIG’s Investigation

By letter, dated December 8, 2015, IPRA Acting Chief Administrator Sharon Fairley requested that OIG conduct an administrative investigation “to determine whether certain police officers/witnesses made false statements on official reports prepared in connection with [Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald] and/or during the investigation of the incident.” IPRA further requested that OIG investigate “whether any of the involved Chicago Police officers committed any other violation(s) of Chicago Police Department rules, policies or procedures in their involvement with the incident, including, but not limited to, whether any officers’ conduct may have interfered with or obstructed the appropriate investigation and handling of this matter.”

Then, by letter, dated January 13, 2016, CPD Interim Superintendent John J. Escalante requested that OIG conduct an “administrative investigation into any and all allegations of police officer misconduct” arising out of the October 20, 2014 shooting death of McDonald. The Superintendent’s request asked OIG to investigate the following allegations: “whether any officer(s) made false statements on official reports submitted in connection with the shooting of Laquan McDonald on October 20, 2014; whether any officer(s) obstructed or interfered with the investigation of this incident, either individually or in collusion with others; and whether any officer(s) committed any violation of Chicago Police Department rules, policies, or orders in connection with their response and/or handling of this matter.” Escalante attached to the letter request a copy of Sergeant Sandra Soria’s Initiation Report, which raises allegations of misconduct related to the in-car video systems of the vehicles that were present during the McDonald shooting, and identified that Report as a basis for OIG’s administrative investigation.
On March 10, 2016, Kevin Kilmer (Star # 7518), Financial Secretary for the FOP, on behalf of all affected members, filed a grievance with CPD stating that OIG’s attempts to conduct CPD officer interviews violated Article 6 of CPD’s Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) with the FOP.³ On March 16, 2016, FOP on behalf of all impacted CPD officers filed a “Complaint for Injunction in Aid of Arbitration” in the Circuit Court of Cook County asking the court to enjoin OIG from conducting interviews until the grievance was decided in arbitration.⁴ The court dismissed the complaint and denied the injunction on March 22, 2016.

OIG’s administrative investigation of other CPD employees’ actions related to the McDonald shooting is ongoing. During the course of its investigation, OIG has gathered documents from CPD and IPRA, among other sources, and conducted numerous interviews, including interviews of thirteen CPD personnel who were at or responded to the scene of the shooting and seven civilian witnesses to the shooting. To date in its ongoing investigation, OIG has recommended disciplinary action against multiple CPD personnel, sustaining allegations that they each put forth a false narrative regarding the shooting.

B. The Events of October 20, 2014

The following sections detail Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald, as well as the relevant events that occurred directly before and after the shooting.⁵

and were parking a truck in a lot at 41st Street and Kildare Avenue when saw a black male, whom she subsequently identified as McDonald, attempting to steal property from certain vehicles parked in the lot. Barillas told McDonald to leave the lot. McDonald responded by making growling noises. After Barillas again told McDonald to leave the lot, McDonald pulled out a knife and swung it at Barillas. Barillas, who

³ Section 6.1, Paragraph I of the CBA states, “If the allegation under investigation indicates a recommendation for separation is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the statutory administrative proceeding rights, or if the allegation indicates criminal prosecution is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the constitutional rights concerning self-incrimination prior to the commencement of interrogation.” CPD General Order GO8-01-01, Paragraph K contains similar language.

⁶ The following account of and Barillas’s encounter with McDonald is taken from the March 16, 2015 case supplementary report (CSR) submitted by CPD Detective David March, which includes the statements that and Barillas provided to CPD on October 21, 2014, and October 22, 2014, respectively. had already called 911, then threw his cell phone at McDonald.7 McDonald ran from the lot, first northbound on Kildare and then eastbound on 40th Street.

2. Officers Thomas Gaffney and Joseph McElligott’s Encounter with McDonald8

Officer Thomas Gaffney and his partner Officer Joseph McElligott received a call over the radio that someone had broken into a truck at 4100 South Kildare and were dispatched to the scene.9 Gaffney was driving and McElligott was in the passenger seat of their assigned vehicle, 815R.10 When they arrived at 4100 South Kildare, they saw a Hispanic male and female standing by the gate to the truck yard. The two said that a black male wearing a black shirt, later determined to be McDonald, had been trying to steal the radio out of a semi-truck, and had subsequently headed north toward 40th Street.

Gaffney and McElligott drove north on Kildare, turned right onto 40th Street, and saw McDonald walking east on the south side of 40th Street. McElligott exited the vehicle and commanded McDonald to stop and turn around. Gaffney stayed in the vehicle in case McDonald attempted to flee. McElligott ordered McDonald to take his hands out of his pockets. McDonald, who had been facing McElligott, turned and walked away with one hand still in his pocket. McDonald then turned again and took both of his hands out of his pockets. He had a knife in his right hand. McElligott drew his weapon and told McDonald to drop the knife. McDonald started walking east again, going from the sidewalk to the street and back. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, shining his flashlight on him, while Gaffney followed in 815R, parallel to McDonald.

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Keeler, Gaffney reported to dispatch that McDonald was walking away with a knife in his hand.\(^{11}\) Gaffney and McElligott continued to follow McDonald as he headed east, with McElligott giving McDonald orders to drop his knife and stop. McDonald kept turning around and giving the officers a “weird glazed look.” Gaffney IPRA Tr. 11:20.\(^{12}\)

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Karlov, Gaffney turned his car toward McDonald to direct him down Karlov. Gaffney wanted to keep McDonald away from Pulaski, which was a more populated area. McDonald then swung his arm and popped 815R’s right front tire with his knife. McElligott was toward the back of 815R when McDonald popped its tire. After McDonald took a step back from the vehicle, Gaffney pulled up further in front of him to stop him from proceeding to Pulaski. McDonald then hit the right side of 815R’s windshield once with the knife in his right hand. The windshield did not break but, according to Gaffney, McDonald hit it as hard as he could. McDonald walked around the front of 815R and continued eastward on 40th Street. After McDonald had walked 10 to 15 feet, another squad car turned off of Pulaski onto 40th Street with its lights on, and McDonald began to sprint. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, and Gaffney followed McDonald in 815R. McDonald ran eastbound through a parking lot of a Burger King located at 40th and Pulaski and then headed southbound on Pulaski. Video footage from several cameras captured McDonald’s movements as he reached Pulaski.

3. Summary of the Relevant Video Footage

The below table contains a summary of the relevant video footage of the McDonald shooting, which includes the dashcam videos from 813R, 823R, and 845R, video from the “WNE fire exit” security camera from the Greater Chicago Food Depository, which is bordered by 40th Street to the north, Karlov Avenue to the east, and Keeler Avenue to the west, and the security camera video from the Dunkin’ Donuts, located at 4113 South Pulaski Road (the DD Camera).\(^{13}\)

4. CCSPD Officer Accounts of the October 20, 2014 McDonald Shooting\[19\]

While on patrol on October 20, 2014, CCSPD Officers Adam Murphy and Jeff Pasqua observed several CPD police vehicles pass by them. Both officers decided to follow the CPD vehicles. When they arrived at the scene, several CPD vehicles were already present—Pasqua estimated it was five or six. McDonald was lying on the pavement “gasp[ing] for his last breath of air.” Pasqua OIG Tr. 11:22-23. Meanwhile, the CPD officers were “standing around” and talking to each other. Murphy OIG Tr. 11:1. Murphy noted the CPD officers did not respond to him when he asked if they needed assistance. Murphy stated:

I see there’s blood all over the pavement. [McDonald] was kind of gurgling when he was sitting there. I remember his mouth was going open and closed like he was trying to gasp for air. And I looked for everybody else, and they were kind of standing there. I just started taking my gloves—my rubber gloves out to check for a pulse and to see if I could render aid.

Murphy OIG Tr. 12:18-13:2. He heard someone say an ambulance was en route. Both Officers Murphy and Pasqua recalled then watching McDonald take his final breaths.\[20\] It was “[m]aybe less than a minute before [McDonald] expired.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:15-16. At no time did any CPD officers attempt to provide aid or comfort McDonald—Murphy stated, “That’s why I felt that I needed to go up to him.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:11-12.

After McDonald passed away, Murphy got up from beside him and noticed the shooting officer, who he now knows to be Van Dyke, “pacing back and forth in front of his car.” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:7-8. Murphy approached him and told him to sit down and drink water. As he was speaking with Van Dyke, Murphy “heard several officers telling [Van Dyke] to ‘call your union rep, call your union rep.’” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:16-17.

Murphy and Pasqua departed after approximately ten minutes on the scene when a CPD sergeant told them CPD did not need their assistance. At the time they left, there was “[a] sea of CPD” on scene. Murphy OIG Tr. 38:3; Pasqua OIG Tr. 25:7-8.

\[19\] The following CCSPD Officer accounts are taken from OIG’s June 23, 2016 interview of Jeff Pasqua and its June 24, 2015 interview of Adam Murphy. Pasqua and Murphy are currently CCSPD investigators.

\[20\] The Medical Examiner’s Case Report states McDonald was pronounced dead “on view” at Mount Sinai Medical Center on October 20, 2014, at 10:42 p.m. OIG 15-0564 015029.
C. Officer Van Dyke’s Reports Concerning the McDonald Shooting

1. Tactical Response Report (TRR)\textsuperscript{21}

On October 21, 2014, at 4:44 a.m., Van Dyke submitted a TRR with the R.D. Number HX475653 and an Event Number of 1429315878, regarding his October 20, 2014 encounter with “Lequan [sic] McDonald.”\textsuperscript{22} Under the heading titled “Assailant: Assault,” Van Dyke marked the box labeled “Imminent Threat of Battery.”\textsuperscript{23} Under the heading titled “Assailant: Battery,” he marked the box labeled “Attack with Weapon.” Under the heading titled “Assailant: Deadly Force,” he marked the box labeled “Uses Force Likely to Cause Death or Great Bodily Harm” and “Weapon.” Van Dyke specified in the TRR that the “offender’s weapon was a knife in his hand.”

2. Officer’s Battery Report (OBR)\textsuperscript{24}

Van Dyke completed and submitted an OBR with the R.D. Number HX475653 regarding his October 20, 2014 encounter with McDonald. The OBR form states that an OBR is to be completed when “a sworn member is the victim of a murder, aggravated battery, battery, aggravated assault, or assault while performing a police function either on-duty or off-duty.”\textsuperscript{25} In the OBR, Van Dyke stated three officers were battered. Under the heading titled “Manner of Attack,” he marked the box labeled “Stabbed/Cut (Including Actual Attempt).” Under the heading titled “Type of Weapon/Threat,” he marked the boxes labeled “Knife/Other Cutting Instrument” and “Other/Specify.” He specified the type of weapon/threat as a “Swinging Knife.”

D. Officer Van Dyke’s Statements Regarding the McDonald Shooting

R.D. Number HX475653 that contains a summary of CPD’s investigation in the aftermath of the McDonald shooting. Lieutenant Anthony Wojcik approved the CSR on March 16, 2015. It includes March’s summaries of the statements he obtained from Van Dyke at the scene of the shooting and at the Area Central Police Headquarters, located at 5101 South Wentworth. The CSR summarizes Van Dyke’s October 20, 2014 statement in relevant part as follows:

McDonald ran out onto Pulaski Road and then turned southbound, running toward a Dunkin’ Donuts restaurant, on the east side of Pulaski, south of the Burger King. Walsh positioned the police vehicle between McDonald and the Dunkin’ Donuts to block his path towards that restaurant. When Walsh slowed the police vehicle alongside McDonald, Officer Van Dyke opened the right front door of the vehicle to exit and confront McDonald. Walsh told Van Dyke to stay in the vehicle as they were too close to McDonald to safely exit their vehicle. Walsh drove on southbound and stopped the police vehicle ahead of McDonald.

Officer Van Dyke exited the vehicle on the right side and drew his handgun. As Van Dyke stood in the street on Pulaski, facing northbound, toward McDonald, McDonald approached southbound. McDonald was holding the knife in his right hand, in an underhand grip, with the blade pointed forward. He was swinging the knife in an aggressive, exaggerated manner. Van Dyke ordered McDonald to “Drop the knife!” multiple times. McDonald ignored Van Dyke’s verbal direction to drop the knife and continued to advance toward Van Dyke.

When McDonald got to within 10 to 15 feet of Officer Van Dyke, McDonald looked toward Van Dyke. McDonald raised the knife across his chest and over his shoulder, pointing the knife at Van Dyke. Van Dyke believed McDonald was attacking Van Dyke with the knife, and attempting to kill Van Dyke. In defense of his life, Van Dyke backpedaled and fired his handgun at McDonald, to stop the attack. McDonald fell to the ground but continued to move and continued to grasp the knife, refusing to let go of it. Van Dyke continued to fire his weapon at McDonald as McDonald was on the ground, as McDonald appeared to be attempting to get up, all the while continuing to point the knife at Van Dyke. The slide on Van Dyke’s pistol locked in the rearward position, indicating the weapon was empty. Van Dyke performed a tactical reload of his pistol with a new magazine and then assessed the situation.

27 CPD reported its investigation of the McDonald shooting under record number HX-475653, and classified most reports as an investigation into an aggravated assault in which McDonald was the offender. In a few reports, CPD classified the case as an investigation into a justifiable homicide in which McDonald was the victim. CPD created an additional record number and classified the case as a justifiable homicide, apparently for recordkeeping purposes. In CPD’s investigative reports classified under the aggravated assault, CPD personnel drew conclusions about the propriety and lawfulness of Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald. This raises questions about CPD’s role in investigating a police-involved shooting in light of IPRA’s jurisdiction over the matter.

28 March completed two General Progress Reports (GPRs) relating to his interviews of Van Dyke that contain March’s handwritten notes of the interviews. OIG 15-0564 003239–41, 54. March’s handwritten notes of the interviews do not differ in any significant way from the summary of Van Dyke’s statements in the CSR.
McDonald was no longer moving and the threat had been mitigated, so Officer Van Dyke and Officer Walsh approached McDonald. McDonald was still holding the knife in his right hand. Van Dyke continued to order McDonald to “Drop the knife!” Officer Walsh told Van Dyke, “I have this.” Van Dyke then used his handgun to cover Walsh as Walsh walked up and forcibly kicked the knife out of McDonald’s right hand, thereby eliminating the threat to the officers.

The CSR summarizes Van Dyke’s October 21, 2014 statement in relevant part as follows:

Van Dyke additionally articulated the reasoning behind his decision to use deadly force against the offender in this incident, Laquan McDonald. Van Dyke was aware of the radio transmissions from Officer Thomas Gaffney, on Beat 815R, that McDonald was armed with a knife. Van Dyke was aware that McDonald had attacked the officers on Beat 815R by slashing the tire of their police vehicle.

As he confronted McDonald at 4112 South Pulaski Road, Van Dyke saw that McDonald was in fact, armed with a knife, a deadly weapon. Van Dyke was aware of a widely accepted teaching in law enforcement that an assailant armed with a knife was considered a deadly threat, if within 21 feet, because it was possible for such an assailant to close that distance and attack with the knife before a defensive shot could be fired from a handgun.29 Van Dyke was also aware of the existence of throwing knives, which can be thrown from a distance, as well as spring loaded knifes, which propel a blade through the air from the knife handle. Van Dyke also said he recalled a previously issued Chicago Police Department bulletin warning of a weapon which appeared to be a knife but which actually was capable of firing a bullet, making it a firearm.

March wrote in the CSR that a search was subsequently conducted for the bulletin Van Dyke referenced. An “Officer Safety Alert number 2012-OSA0297,” issued on December 4, 2012, was located.30 March wrote that “[i]t was a warning regarding a ‘revolver knife’ which was capable of firing .22 caliber cartridges.”

2. October 22, 2014, IPRA Interview31

On October 22, 2014, at 11:47 a.m., IPRA investigator Brian Killen interviewed Van Dyke at IPRA’s offices, located at 1615 West Chicago Avenue, regarding the McDonald shooting. Attorney Thomas Rebholz and FOP Field Representative Kriston Kato accompanied Van Dyke.

29 On April 29, 2016, OIG spoke with CPD Deputy Chief Director of Training Keith Calloway. Calloway is familiar with the “21-foot rule” as a law enforcement principle, but it has never been a part of CPD’s training process. Calloway characterized the 21-foot rule as “junk science” as the theory behind it has never been scientifically proven. See OIG Investigative Report of Call with Keith Calloway.

Prior to the interview, Killen informed Van Dyke that “any intentional falsification to any answer to any question would be in direct violation of Department rules and regulations,” and that his “failure to provide a complete and accurate account of th[e] incident could result in a finding of a violation of Rule 14 with discipline leading up to and including separation from the Chicago Police Department.” Van Dyke IPRA Tr. 3:16-28. Van Dyke stated he understood the potential disciplinary consequences of making a false statement to IPRA or providing a less than complete account of the shooting to IPRA. In summary, Van Dyke stated in relevant part as follows.

Van Dyke started work at 9:00 p.m. on October 20, 2014. Van Dyke is a relief officer and, as a result, he does not have a regular partner. Walsh was Van Dyke’s partner that night and they were assigned to beat 845R. Van Dyke and Walsh were both in full uniform. Walsh drove the vehicle. Van Dyke and Walsh were leaving a 7-11 on 59th and Pulaski when they heard Beat 815R requesting assistance. Van Dyke stated 815R requested a taser for an individual at around 40th or 41st and “one of the K streets.” Van Dyke IPRA Tr. 8:30-31. Van Dyke and Walsh then turned on their lights and sirens and drove to 40th and Pulaski. On the way, Van Dyke heard 815R still asking for a taser over the radio. He also heard them say the subject was armed with a knife and just slashed one of their tires. Van Dyke did not have a taser.

Van Dyke and Walsh drove westbound on 40th Street. Van Dyke saw McElligott on foot approaching the Burger King parking lot and McDonald running eastbound through the lot with a knife in his right hand. Van Dyke and Walsh entered the lot and cut McDonald off from going into the Burger King. Van Dyke saw another CPD vehicle approaching on their left. McDonald continued running eastbound toward Pulaski, and Van Dyke and Walsh continued to follow him on to Pulaski. At that point, McDonald started running southbound in the middle of Pulaski. Van Dyke stated that McDonald appeared to be running toward the Dunkin’ Donuts, so they cut him off. As another CPD vehicle approached, McDonald diverted back into the southbound lanes on Pulaski. Van Dyke and Walsh then went around the other CPD vehicles and got ahead of McDonald “by about five or six car lengths.” Van Dyke IPRA Tr. 13:22. Walsh parked their vehicle on an angle in the middle of Pulaski to keep McDonald from running down the road. Van Dyke then stated the following:

Van Dyke: Um I exit the vehicle. Uh I see ‘em runnin’ wavin’ this knife with his right hand you know under, it in an under position. I give ‘em verbal commands to drop the knife. I’m yellin’ at ‘em drop the knife.

IPRA: . . . And he’s still on Pulaski and he’s in the southbound lanes still runnin’ south though right?

Van Dyke: Yes.

IPRA: You said he was kinda makin’ that beeline between say Burger King and the Dunkin’ Donuts on the east side of Pulaski?
Van Dyke: Correct.

IPRA: So you, you stop. You get out, pistol drawn.

Van Dyke: Yes.

IPRA: And order ‘em to put the knife down.

Van Dyke: Yes I do.

IPRA: And you say he’s wavin’ it at, as best you can describe what were you doin’ with your hand there?

Van Dyke: He’s wavin’ it an, he’s clenchin’ it. Um with the blade forward underneath and he’s wavin’ it um from you know his right side towards his left in an upward fashion.

IPRA: Okay. Him doin’ that make you think he was gonna put the knife down?

Van Dyke: No.

IPRA: You took that to be a threatening –

Van Dyke: Yeah he was wavin’ it upwards –

Rebholz: Chest level.

Van Dyke: -- yea at my chest. Chest level.

IPRA: As if he wanted to he could stab you?

Van Dyke: Yes.

IPRA: Okay. And how far, so you get out and he’s doin’ this with the knife. How far are you from him at this point if you guess?

Van Dyke: I would say I was approximately ten to fifteen feet away from him.

IPRA: And he’s facin’ you?

Van Dyke: He’s, he’s comin’ towards me.

IPRA: Okay. So he’s closin’ the distance between you and him?

Van Dyke: He is and I’m back pedalin’.
IPRA: Okay. And he’s closin’ the distance between you and him and you’re back pedalin’ did you say?

Van Dyke: Yes I am.

IPRA: Is he runnin’ toward you?

Van Dyke: He’s walkin’ really fast almost like ah almost like a jog I think.

IPRA: Okay. And that’s when he’s doin’ the wavin’ with the knife?

Van Dyke: Yes.

IPRA: And what, what happens? So he’s closin’ the distance. You’re back pedalin’ and what happens?

Van Dyke: He’s getting’, he’s getting’ closer to me. I could see that there’s nobody to my right. There’s nothin’ in front a me. There’s nothin’ to my left. I keep on orderin’ ‘em to drop the knife, drop the knife, drop the knife. He doesn’t drop the knife. He’s still wavin’ the knife at me. I’m thinkin’ he’s, he’s goin’ do somethin’ to me.

IPRA: And whaddid [sic] you think was he was gonna do?

Van Dyke: I think he’s going to try and take my life away from me.

IPRA: And what happens?

Van Dyke: I shoot ‘em.

IPRA: Okay. And just goin’ back to when you discharged your firearm, do you remember, were you, were you standing still when you fired or were you movin’?

Van Dyke: I think I was moving.

IPRA: Do you think, do you think you were still movin’ backwards?

Van Dyke: Yes.

Van Dyke IPRA Tr. 14:8 to 21:3. Van Dyke stated he shot McDonald sixteen times. He was aware of the number of shots because he emptied his magazine. Van Dyke did a “tactical reload,” but did not fire more shots because he “felt that the threat was eliminated.” Van Dyke IPRA Tr. 18:22, 28. Walsh approached McDonald and forcibly kicked the knife out of his hand. At the end of his interview, Killen asked Van Dyke whether everything he stated was “a true and accurate account of what occurred.” Van Dyke IPRA Tr. 23:20-21. Van Dyke responded, “Yes sir.” Van Dyke IPRA Tr. 23:22.

G. Records and Interview Concerning 845R’s In-Car Video System

On October 21, 2014, CPD Sergeant Lance Becvar submitted a supplementary report for R.D. No. HX475653 concerning his retrieval of video from the in-car video systems of the five CPD vehicles that were on scene when Van Dyke shot McDonald.32 With respect to Vehicle 6412 (also referred to as Vehicle 845R), the vehicle in which Van Dyke was the passenger on October 20, 2014, Becvar noted “video recovered.” Becvar also completed a corresponding “In Car Camera Video Retrieval Worksheet” regarding his October 20, 2014 video retrieval, in which he made the following notation with respect to Vehicle 6412 (845R): “No mics; mic charger disconnected.”33

On July 17, 2015, Becvar sent an email summarizing his findings regarding his October 20, 2014 video retrieval from Vehicle 6412 and the other four CPD vehicles that were on scene when Van Dyke shot McDonald.34 With respect to Vehicle 6412, Becvar stated as follows: “Video recovered Titled PC0S571@20141020215250 view out of focus. Foucsing [sic] problem found to be related to a loose cable connection for the camera. No MICs in vehicle and the charging cradles disconnected from power.”

In a January 27, 2016 OIG interview with Becvar, he stated that the cable connector must have been pulled out of 845R’s in-car video system or loosened from vibration. He estimated the chances that the cable disconnected from vibration at 10 or 15 percent. With respect to the charging cradles, Becvar stated that they plug into the bottom of the chargers and “vibrate loose or people possibly take them out.” Becvar OIG Tr. 80:8.

Becvar also stated that if a vehicle’s microphones were synced and functioning, its car video display and the recovered video would both show an “M1” (driver mic) and an “M2” (passenger mic).35 Becvar’s statement is corroborated by the in-car video system user manual, which establishes that officers are able to see “M1” and “M2” displayed on their in-car video system in real time as it is recording if the microphones are properly connected.36 The user manual further

H. OIG’s Attempted Interviews of Officer Van Dyke

On February 24, 2016, pursuant to Section 6.1 of the CBA between CPD and FOP, OIG, through CPD’s Bureau of Internal Affairs, served Van Dyke with a Notification of Interview, Notification of Allegations, and copies of his prior statements, including: (1) his October 20, 2014 statement to March, contained in the March 16, 2015 CSR; (2) March’s GPR containing his handwritten notes of his interview of Van Dyke; and (3) Van Dyke’s October 22, 2014 statement to IPRA. In addition, OIG provided Van Dyke with the dashcam footage from 813R and 845R and the security camera footage from Dunkin’ Donuts.

Following communications with Dan Herbert, Van Dyke’s attorney, OIG rescheduled Van Dyke’s interview from the March 9, 2016 date listed in his Notification of Interview to March 22, 2016. Neither Van Dyke nor Herbert appeared for the interview on March 22. OIG contacted Herbert, who “acknowledged it was his mistake that Officer Van Dyke did not appear for the interview.” Van Dyke 3/22/16 OIG Tr. 5:3-5.

On April 4, 2016, pursuant to Section 6.1 of the CBA, OIG, through CPD’s Bureau of Internal Affairs, served Van Dyke with another Notification of Interview, an updated Notification of Allegations, and copies of the following: (1) his October 21, 2014 statement to March, contained in the March 16, 2015 CSR; and (2) March’s GPR containing his handwritten notes of his second interview of Van Dyke. At that time, Commander Brendan Deenihan of BIA, ordered Van Dyke to cooperate with the OIG investigation and gave Van Dyke General Order 08-01 and Rule 51 of CPD’s Rules and Regulations. Deenihan memorialized his conversation with Van Dyke, and the memorandum states that Van Dyke understood the order to cooperate.

On April 7, 2016, Van Dyke appeared at his scheduled OIG interview. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Van Dyke’s attorney, Dan Herbert, was also present for the interview. Van Dyke was placed under oath. OIG investigators presented him with his administrative advisements in writing. Van Dyke refused to sign OIG’s Advisement of Rights,

38 OIG’s Advisement of Rights presented to Van Dyke states, in part:

I understand that this interview is part of an official investigation and that I have a duty to cooperate with the Office of Inspector General, which includes answering all questions completely and truthfully.

I understand that I have no right to remain silent. I understand that I have an obligation to answer questions put to me truthfully. I understand that if I refuse to answer questions put to me, I will be ordered by a superior officer to answer the questions. I further understand and I have been advised that if I persist in my refusal to answer after an order to do so, such further refusal constitutes a violation of the Rules and Regulations of the Chicago Police Department and may serve as the basis for my discharge.

and, citing Section 6.1, Paragraph I of the Fraternal Order of Police CBA and CPD General Order GO8-01-01, objected to the fact that OIG did not advise him of his constitutional rights concerning self-incrimination prior to the interview.\textsuperscript{39} Commander Deenihan, by telephone, again directly ordered Van Dyke to cooperate in the administrative investigation. Van Dyke invoked his Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination.

Van Dyke further objected to the interview on the grounds that any statement made by him would violate a January 20, 2016 Decorum Order entered by Judge Vincent Gaughan in Van Dyke’s criminal case, 15-CR-20622.\textsuperscript{40}

Van Dyke stated that he read and understood the 34 allegations listed in the Notification of Allegations. He invoked his Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination when OIG asked for his response to the allegation that he provided a false narrative to Detective March on or about October 20, 2014, concerning the McDonald shooting through a series of false statements and material omissions. Van Dyke’s attorney then terminated the interview, and he and Van Dyke immediately left.

On June 3, 2016, pursuant to Section 6.1 of the CBA, OIG served Van Dyke with a Notification of Interview and Notification of Allegations regarding his failure to cooperate with OIG’s investigation. In response, Van Dyke’s attorney emailed OIG, stating Van Dyke would not speak about the case without a modification to the Decorum Order.

V. \textbf{ANALYSIS}

OIG’s investigation established that Van Dyke made numerous false statements and material omissions in his interviews with CPD and IPRA regarding the McDonald shooting. In addition, Van Dyke filed a false TRR and a false OBR regarding his encounter with McDonald. Van Dyke’s false reports, false statements, and material omissions all served a similar purpose—to exaggerate the threat McDonald posed. Further, OIG’s investigation established that Van Dyke failed to follow CPD orders regarding the operation of CPD’s in-car video systems. Finally, Van Dyke failed to cooperate with OIG’s investigation, after being properly called upon to do so and directly ordered by a superior officer, by refusing to answer OIG’s questions in his interview.

Van Dyke’s actions, individually and collectively, constitute violations of CPD Rules. Each of Van Dyke’s false statements constitutes a violation of Rule 14 (making a false report, written or oral). His false statements also constitute violations of Rule 2 (engaging in any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department) and Rule 3 (failing to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy and accomplish its goals). An officer who has made false statements in an official investigation has irrevocably tainted not only his credibility, but also the credibility of CPD—and also fails to promote CPD’s goal of employing officers with personal integrity and professional devotion to law enforcement. Van Dyke further violated Rule 6 (disobedience of an order, namely S03-05) and Rule 11 (incompetency in the performance of a duty) by failing to audibly record events with his in-car video system and failing to notify his supervisor about the system’s inoperability. Finally, Van Dyke violated Rule 6 and Rule 51 (failing to give evidence before an investigative agency) by refusing to answer questions posed by OIG during his properly noticed April 7, 2016 interview and by making clear he would refuse to answer any questions after receiving his June 3, 2016 notice. Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD immediately discharge Van Dyke.

A. Van Dyke’s False Statements

1. October 20-21, 2014 False Statements to Detective March

Van Dyke made multiple false statements to Detective March regarding the McDonald shooting that are clearly contradicted by the 813R dashcam video, the most objective and reliable evidence of the events that night. Most notably:

- McDonald did not advance toward Van Dyke after Van Dyke ordered him to “Drop the knife!”

As described in the Summary of Relevant Video Footage, Section III.C.3., by the time Van Dyke and Walsh exited their vehicle, McDonald was walking southwest away from Van Dyke and Walsh, who at all times were east of McDonald. At no time during the encounter between McDonald and Van Dyke and Walsh did McDonald advance toward the two officers. Rather, it was Van Dyke who moved in McDonald’s direction as he continued to walk southwest.

- McDonald did not raise his knife across his chest and over his shoulder and point his knife at Van Dyke.

The 813R dashcam video evidences that at no time during the period when Van Dyke and Walsh were outside their vehicle did McDonald raise the knife across his chest and over his shoulder and point the knife at Van Dyke. Seconds prior to the shooting, McDonald moved the knife from his right hip to the right side of his lower back, but this modest movement of the knife was not in the direction of Van Dyke and Walsh—Van Dyke and Walsh were in front of McDonald and to his left, and McDonald moved his knife behind his back, not in front of his body.

- Van Dyke did not backpedal before he fired his handgun at McDonald.

Van Dyke’s statement that he backpedaled prior to shooting McDonald is clearly refuted by the 813R dashcam video and the Dunkin’ Donuts security camera video, which show that Van Dyke takes approximately three steps northwest/west toward McDonald before shooting him. At no time does Van Dyke move in a way that increases the distance between himself and McDonald.
Rather, the video shows he either stayed still or moved toward McDonald.

- McDonald did not attempt to get up after he was shot and fell to the ground.

The 813R dashcam video reveals that McDonald did not attempt to get up after he fell to the ground. Upon being shot and falling to the street, McDonald never moved his legs or lower body. In addition, the video only shows McDonald’s upper body making small, intermittent movements as what appears to be puffs of smoke rise from his body. Those small movements are not suggestive of a person trying to get to his feet. Accordingly, Van Dyke’s statement that McDonald attempted to get up after he was shot is demonstrably false.

- McDonald was not attacking Van Dyke with the knife and attempting to kill Van Dyke.

For the reasons stated above, the objective evidence presented in the video cannot be squared with Van Dyke’s claim that McDonald was “attacking Van Dyke with a knife” and “attempting to kill” him.

In addition, Van Dyke made multiple material omissions in his statement to March, reinforcing the false narrative he provided to March. In particular, Van Dyke failed to state that McDonald was walking away from him prior to the shooting and that he and Walsh moved toward McDonald prior to the shooting.

2. October 22, 2014 False Statements to IPRA

During his IPRA interview, Van Dyke again put forth a false narrative of the McDonald shooting that exaggerated the threat McDonald posed. Most notably:

- McDonald was not waving the knife in an upward fashion at chest level as he was going south on Pulaski.

As described in the Summary of Relevant Video Footage, Section III.C.3., seconds prior to the shooting, McDonald moved the knife from his right hip to the right side of his lower back—Van Dyke and Walsh were in front of McDonald and to his left, and McDonald moved his knife behind his back, not in front of his body. McDonald was not “waving the knife” “in an upward fashion” at “chest level.”

- Van Dyke did not backpedal as McDonald was closing the distance between Van Dyke and McDonald, and he did not move backwards as he shot McDonald.

The video shows that McDonald was walking in a southwest direction away from Van Dyke and Walsh, and therefore was not “closing the distance” between himself and the officers. Van Dyke reiterated several times in his IPRA interview that he “backpedaled” prior to shooting McDonald. However, the 813R dashcam video shows Van Dyke take approximately three steps toward McDonald before Van Dyke shot him.
Finally, Van Dyke failed to tell IPRA that McDonald was walking away from him prior to the shooting and that it was Van Dyke and Walsh who approached McDonald. Van Dyke’s repetition of his previous false statements to CPD demonstrates the deliberate nature of Van Dyke’s testimony.

3. False Statements in Van Dyke’s TRR and OBR

Van Dyke also asserted his false narrative of the McDonald shooting in the official CPD reports he submitted regarding his encounter with McDonald. In his TRR, Van Dyke claimed that McDonald (1) used force likely to cause death or great bodily harm to Van Dyke; (2) attacked Van Dyke with a weapon; and (3) created an imminent threat of battery. As outlined above, however, McDonald, while in Van Dyke’s presence, never swung his knife in a manner to cause death or great bodily harm to Van Dyke. In addition, McDonald was never close enough to Van Dyke to stab him and, in fact, was walking away from Van Dyke during the vast majority of their encounter. Thus, Van Dyke’s TRR constitutes a false report and represents an additional attempt by Van Dyke to exaggerate the threat posed by McDonald.

Notably, all of Van Dyke’s false statements served to materially exaggerate the danger McDonald posed to Van Dyke and Walsh. In this context, Van Dyke’s statements can be seen as a deliberate attempt to establish the false narrative that a back-pedaling Van Dyke shot an onrushing McDonald in response to McDonald’s potentially deadly knife attack. 813R’s dashcam video puts a lie to Van Dyke’s narrative and proves it has little basis in reality.

B. Failure to Comply with Special Order S03-05

Van Dyke also violated Rule 6 (disobedience of an order, namely Special Order S03-05) and Rule 11 (incompetency in the performance of a duty) by failing to audibly record events with his in-car video system and failing to notify his supervisor about the system’s inoperability. Special Order S03-05 required Van Dyke, as a sworn member assigned to a vehicle equipped with an in-car video system, to audibly record events with 845R’s in-car video system during his tour of duty on October 20, 2014, and to notify his supervisor if the system was inoperable or damaged, or the audio recorder was missing.

Becvar, who recovered the video from 845R’s in-car video system, found that the system’s charging cradles were disconnected from their power source and that the video was out of focus due to a loose cable connection. In addition, 845R’s dashcam video reflects that Van Dyke and Walsh did not connect their microphones to 845R’s in-car video system because there is no “M1” or “M2” symbol visible at the top of the video footage from October 20, 2014, as there would have been if the microphones were connected. If Van Dyke had properly followed the pre-tour of duty in-car video system protocols, he would have identified all these issues. Thus, Van Dyke failed to follow the in-car video system procedures set forth in S03-05 on October 20, 2014.
C. Failure to Cooperate with OIG’s Investigation

Van Dyke violated CPD Rule 51, Rule 6, General Order G08-01-02, and the City of Chicago Municipal Code by refusing to answer questions posed by OIG during his properly noticed April 7, 2016 interview and by making clear he would refuse to answer any questions after receiving his June 3, 2016 notice. On April 7, Van Dyke violated a direct order from his superior, Commander Deenihan, and asserted that he could not be compelled to give a statement based on his Fifth Amendment rights and also referenced a Decorum Order in his current pending criminal case. In emails dated between June 8 and June 16, 2016, Van Dyke’s attorney reiterated that Van Dyke would not appear without a modification to the Decorum Order. Well-established case law demonstrates that Van Dyke’s claim that he should have been provided constitutional rights concerning self-incrimination prior to his administrative interview is without merit. Further, his argument that Judge Gaughan’s Decorum Order prevents him from providing information in a confidential OIG investigation is unfounded.

On April 7, 2016, when Van Dyke appeared for his properly-noticed interview, he refused to answer OIG’s questions, despite a superior’s order to do so, stating he was invoking his Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination. Van Dyke persisted in his refusal even after being presented with OIG advisements stating that any statements made by him during the OIG interview and the fruits thereof could not be used against him in a criminal proceeding. United States Supreme Court case law makes clear that a government employer can compel an employee’s statement so long as the employee is granted immunity from the use of such testimony at subsequent criminal proceedings. Most notably, in Garrity v. New Jersey, 385 U.S. 493 (1967), the Supreme Court held that statements made by government employees under a coercive threat of employment discipline for non-cooperation cannot be used in criminal proceedings against the employee, because those statements are considered to have been compelled. Garrity, 385 U.S. at 500. However, an employee may be compelled to testify in a disciplinary proceeding if he is granted immunity from the use of such testimony at subsequent criminal proceedings. See In re March, 71 Ill. 2d 382, 400 (1978); see also Lefkowitz v. Cunningham, 431 U.S. 801, 806 (1977) (Given “the important public interest in securing from public employees an accounting of their public trust[,] [p]ublic employees may constitutionally be discharged for refusing to answer potentially incriminating questions concerning their official duties if they have not been required to surrender their constitutional immunity.”).

In the present case, OIG’s advisement to Van Dyke clearly stated that OIG’s investigation was administrative and that any statements made by him during the interview could not be used against him in a criminal proceeding. Thus, under Garrity and its progeny, OIG was not required to advise Van Dyke of his right to remain silent because Van Dyke had no such right. Once OIG informed Van Dyke that his testimony could not be used against him at a subsequent criminal proceeding, Van Dyke, under the law, was obligated to answer OIG’s questions. Accordingly, Van Dyke’s refusal to answer OIG’s questions, in violation of a superior’s direct order, constitutes grounds for his discharge.

Additionally, Judge Gaughan’s Decorum Order did not bar Van Dyke from answering the questions OIG posed as part of its confidential administrative investigation. It is clear that Judge Gaughan entered his Decorum Order to shield the jury from public statements that could affect the fairness of the trial and did not mean to bar an employer—here, the City of Chicago—from conducting a confidential investigation into the alleged misconduct of a public employee. Thus, the Decorum Order does not apply to entities conducting confidential investigations such as OIG, and does not seek to limit Van Dyke’s statements in this context.

Accordingly, Van Dyke had no legitimate basis for refusing to answer OIG’s questions in his April 7, 2016 interview and in response to the June 3, 2016 notice. This failure serves as an additional basis for his discharge.

VI. RECOMMENDATION

Van Dyke’s false statements and material omissions raise significant concerns regarding his credibility and ability to perform his duties as a sworn officer. As a sworn officer, Van Dyke’s reports are relied upon in criminal legal proceedings and his credibility is therefore critical to his position. An officer who has made false statements in an official investigation has irrevocably tainted his credibility and has wholly disqualified himself from effectively executing core police functions. Based on this conduct he may be the subject of cross-examination in any contested proceedings in which he may appear as a witness, see FED. R. EVID. 608(b) (“Specific instances of conduct”), and his conduct and the findings resulting from this investigation would further qualify as impeachment material that should, in principle, be disclosed in any contested proceeding involving the official records or testimony Van Dyke generates. See Giglio v. United States, 405 U.S. 150 (1972) (requiring disclosure in criminal case of information impeaching of government witness’s credibility). Illinois courts have repeatedly noted that “‘as the guardians of our laws, police officers are expected to act with integrity, honesty, and trustworthiness’” and have found intentional false or misleading statements by police officers to be sufficient cause for termination. Rodriguez v. Weis, 408 Ill. App. 3d 663, 671 (1st Dist. 2011) (quoting Sindermann v. Civil Service Comm’n, 275 Ill. App. 3d 917, 928 (2nd Dist. 1995)). OIG therefore recommends that CPD immediately discharge Van Dyke and refer him for placement on the ineligible for rehire list maintained by the Department of Human Resources.

VII. CPD RULE VIOLATIONS

Rule 2 Any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department.

Rule 3 Any failure to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy or accomplish its goals.

Rule 6 Disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral.

Rule 11 Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.

Rule 14 Making a false report, written or oral.
Rule 51  Failure to testify or give evidence before any grand jury, coroner’s inquest or court of law or before any governmental, administrative, or investigative agency (city, state or federal) when properly called upon to do so, and when there is no properly asserted constitutional privilege, or when immunity from prosecution has been granted.
Appendix A
I. INTRODUCTION

An OIG investigation has established that Leticia Velez, a police officer for the Chicago Police Department (CPD) who was at the scene when Officer Jason Van Dyke shot Laquan McDonald on October 20, 2014, failed to follow CPD Rules regarding the operation of CPD’s in-car video systems. More specifically, and as detailed below, Velez failed to ensure that her vehicle’s in-car video system was capturing audio or video on October 20, 2014, and failed to notify her supervisor that the system was not operating properly. Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD impose discipline upon Velez commensurate with the seriousness of her misconduct, her discipline history, and department standards.

II. APPLICABLE RULES, REGULATIONS, AND LAW

A. CPD Rules and Regulations

CPD’s Rules and Regulations set out the standards of conduct and duties of sworn members. Article V of the CPD Rules and Regulations, entitled CPD Rules of Conduct (the CPD Rules), sets forth specifically prohibited acts. In pertinent part, the CPD Rules include the following prohibitions:

Rule 6 Disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral.

Rule 11 Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.

B. CPD Special Order S03-05 (effective February 23, 2012 through February 24, 2016)

CPD Special Orders are directives that establish protocols and procedures concerning specific CPD functions, operations, programs, or processes. Special Order S03-05, which was in effect at the time of the shooting, outlines the protocols CPD members are to follow regarding in-car video systems.1 Section VI of the Special Order provides that at the beginning of their tour of duty, Department members assigned to a CPD vehicle equipped with an in-car video system are to:

(1) visually inspect the in-car video system equipment for damage;

1 In-car video systems are also referred to as dash cameras or dashcams in this report.
obtain the remote transmitter/audio recorder and ensure it is securely attached to the member’s person; and

(3) follow the start-up procedures for the in-car video system as trained and ensure the system is working properly.

The Special Order notes that members are to “immediately notify a supervisor if, at any time, the in-car video system is inoperable, damaged, the equipped vehicle becomes inoperable, or the remote transmitter/audio recorder is missing.” During their tour, members are to “audibly and visually record events in accordance with this directive.” At the conclusion of a tour of duty, members are to “verify the in-car video system is working properly.”

III. Leticia Velez Employment History

Velez has worked as a CPD Police Officer since 2002. Velez is a member of Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) Lodge 7.

IV. Summary of Investigation

A. Procedural History of OIG’s Investigation

By letter, dated December 8, 2015, Independent Police Review Authority (IPRA) Acting Chief Administrator Sharon Fairley requested that OIG conduct an administrative investigation “to determine whether certain police officers/witnesses made false statements on official reports prepared in connection with [Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald] and/or during the investigation of the incident.” IPRA further requested that OIG investigate “whether any of the involved Chicago Police officers committed any other violation(s) of Chicago Police Department rules, policies or procedures in their involvement with the incident, including, but not limited to, whether any officers’ conduct may have interfered with or obstructed the appropriate investigation and handling of this matter.”

Then, by letter, dated January 13, 2016, CPD Interim Superintendent John J. Escalante requested that OIG conduct an “administrative investigation into any and all allegations of police officer misconduct” arising out of the October 20, 2014 shooting death of McDonald. The Superintendent’s request asked OIG to investigate the following allegations: “whether any officer(s) made false statements on official reports submitted in connection with the shooting of Laquan McDonald on October 20, 2014; whether any officer(s) obstructed or interfered with the investigation of this incident, either individually or in collusion with others; and whether any officer(s) committed any violation of Chicago Police Department rules, policies, or orders in connection with their response and/or handling of this matter.” Escalante attached to the letter request a copy of Sergeant Sandra Soria’s Initiation Report, which raises allegations of misconduct related to the in-car video systems of the vehicles that were present during the McDonald shooting, and identified that Report as a basis for OIG’s administrative investigation.

On March 10, 2016, Kevin Kilmer, Financial Secretary for the FOP, filed a grievance with CPD on behalf of all affected members stating that OIG’s attempts to conduct CPD officer interviews violated Article 6 of CPD’s Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) with the FOP. On March 16, 2016, FOP on behalf of all impacted CPD officers filed a “Complaint for Injunction in Aid of Arbitration” in the Circuit Court of Cook County, asking the court to enjoin OIG from conducting interviews until the grievance was decided in arbitration. The court dismissed the complaint and denied the injunction on March 22, 2016.

OIG’s administrative investigation of other CPD employees’ actions related to CPD’s handling of the McDonald investigation is ongoing. During the course of its investigation, OIG has gathered documents from CPD and IPRA, among other sources, and conducted numerous interviews, including interviews of several CPD personnel who were at or responded to the scene of the shooting and civilian witnesses to the shooting. To date in its ongoing investigation, OIG has recommended disciplinary action against multiple CPD personnel.

B. The Events of October 20, 2014

The following sections detail the shooting of McDonald, as well as the relevant events that occurred directly before and after the shooting.

1. and Rudy Barillas’s Encounter with McDonald

and Rudy Barillas, were parking a truck in a lot at 41st Street and Kildare Avenue when saw a black male, whom she subsequently identified as McDonald, attempting to steal property from certain vehicles parked in the lot. Barillas told McDonald to leave the lot. McDonald responded by making growling noises. After Barillas again told McDonald to leave the lot, McDonald pulled out a knife and swung it at Barillas. Barillas, who

3 Section 6.1, Paragraph I of the CBA states, “If the allegation under investigation indicates a recommendation for separation is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the statutory administrative proceeding rights, or if the allegation indicates criminal prosecution is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the constitutional rights concerning self-incrimination prior to the commencement of interrogation.” CPD General Order GO8-01-01, Paragraph K contains similar language.

4 Fraternal Order of Police, Chicago Lodge 7 v. City of Chicago, No. 2016 CH 03726 (Cir. Ct. of Cook County, Ill., Mar. 16, 2016).

5 On April 22, 2016, OIG obtained maps of the locations that are relevant to the shooting from Google Maps and included those maps in Appendix A. Those maps generally reflect the street layout and location of relevant businesses as they were on the night of October 20, 2014.

6 The following account of and Barillas’s encounter with McDonald is taken from the March 16, 2015 case supplementary report (CSR) submitted by CPD Detective David March, which includes the statements that and Barillas provided to CPD on October 21, 2014, and October 22, 2014, respectively. had already called 911, then threw his cell phone at McDonald. Officer Velez ran from the lot, first northbound on Kildare and then eastbound on 40th Street.

2. Officers Thomas Gaffney and Joseph McElligott’s Encounter with McDonald

Officer Thomas Gaffney and his partner Officer Joseph McElligott received a call over the radio that someone had broken into a truck at 4100 South Kildare and were dispatched to the scene. Gaffney was driving, and McElligott was in the passenger seat of their assigned vehicle, 815R. When they arrived at 4100 South Kildare, they saw a Hispanic male and female standing by the gate to the truck yard. The two said that a black male wearing a black shirt, later determined to be McDonald, had been trying to steal the radio out of a semi-truck, and had subsequently headed north toward 40th Street.

Gaffney and McElligott drove north on Kildare, turned right onto 40th Street, and saw McDonald walking east on the south side of 40th Street. McElligott exited the vehicle and commanded McDonald to stop and turn around. Gaffney stayed in the vehicle in case McDonald attempted to flee. McElligott ordered McDonald to take his hands out of his pockets. McDonald, who had been facing McElligott, turned and walked away with one hand still in his pocket. McDonald then turned again and took both of his hands out of his pockets. He had a knife in his right hand. McElligott drew his weapon and told McDonald to drop the knife. McDonald started walking east again, going from the sidewalk to the street and back. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, shining his flashlight on him, while Gaffney followed in 815R, parallel to McDonald.

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Keeler, Gaffney reported to dispatch that McDonald was walking away with a knife in his hand.\(^{11}\) Gaffney and McElligott continued to follow McDonald as he headed east, with McElligott giving McDonald orders to drop his knife and stop. McDonald kept turning around and giving the officers a “weird glaze[d] look.” Gaffney IPRA Tr. 11:20.\(^{12}\)

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Karlov, Gaffney turned his car toward McDonald to direct him down Karlov. Gaffney wanted to keep McDonald away from Pulaski, which was a more populated area. McDonald then swung his arm and popped 815R’s right front tire with his knife. McElligott was toward the back of 815R when McDonald popped its tire. After McDonald took a step back from the vehicle, Gaffney pulled up further in front of him to stop him from proceeding to Pulaski. McDonald then hit the right side of 815R’s windshield once with the knife in his right hand. The windshield did not break but, according to Gaffney, McDonald hit it as hard as he could. McDonald walked around the front of 815R and continued eastward on 40th Street. After McDonald had walked 10 to 15 feet, another squad car turned off of Pulaski onto 40th Street with its lights on, and McDonald began to sprint. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, and Gaffney followed McDonald in 815R. McDonald ran eastbound through a parking lot of a Burger King located at 40th and Pulaski and then headed southbound on Pulaski. Video footage from several cameras captured McDonald’s movements as he reached Pulaski.

3. Summary of the Relevant Video Footage

The below table contains a summary of the relevant video footage of the McDonald shooting, which includes the dashcam videos from 813R, 823R, and 845R, video from the “WNE fire exit” security camera from the Greater Chicago Food Depository, which is bordered by 40th Street to the north, Karlov Avenue to the east, and Keeler Avenue to the west, and the security camera video from the Dunkin’ Donuts, located at 4113 South Pulaski Road (the DD Camera).\(^{13}\)

exits the passenger side of 845R with both of his feet in Pulaski’s northbound left turn lane, his gun drawn and pointed at McDonald (813R). Walsh exits the driver side of 845R, just east of Pulaski’s northbound left turn lane, with his gun drawn, and moves north along the driver side of 845R until he is several feet north of 845R (DD Camera).

9:57:30 – 9:57:33 McDonald continues to walk southwest, from the middle of Pulaski to the lane markers that divide the west side of the road (or approximately one lane west of where McDonald was prior to changing course) (813R). While McDonald walks southwest, Walsh begins moving sideways in a west/southwest direction, approximately parallel to McDonald, and crosses over the east side of Pulaski’s northbound left-turn lane—his gun is pointed at McDonald (813R; DD Camera). Van Dyke takes approximately two steps northwest toward McDonald, with his left foot crossing into Pulaski’s yellow-painted median strip—his gun is pointed at McDonald (813R; DD Camera). 822 drives north on Pulaski, away from 845R (813R).

9:57:36 – 9:57:54 McDonald spins between 180 and 270 degrees in a clockwise direction and then falls to the ground with the top of his head pointing south on Pulaski, approximately one street lane east of Van Dyke and just south of Van...
Dyke (813R). As McDonald falls to the ground, Van Dyke takes another step west toward McDonald, moving his right foot from Pulaski’s median strip into the south-bound side of Pulaski; his gun remains pointed at McDonald (813R). Van Dyke subsequently takes an additional step or two south, toward McDonald. Other than those steps, Van Dyke’s feet are stationary (DD Camera). After McDonald is on the ground, his legs and feet do not move (813R). McDonald’s upper body makes small, intermittent movements as what appear to be puffs of smoke rise from McDonald’s body (813R).16

4. CCSPD Officer Accounts of the October 20, 2014 McDonald Shooting19

While on patrol on October 20, 2014, CCSPD Officers Adam Murphy and Jeff Pasqua observed several CPD police vehicles pass by them. Both officers decided to follow the CPD vehicles. When they arrived at the scene, several CPD vehicles were already present—Pasqua estimated it was five or six. McDonald was lying on the pavement “gasping for his last breath of air.”

16 OEMC records show that dispatch received notice to send an ambulance to the scene at 9:57:51. OIG 15-0564 003691.

17 The last time stamp visible on the 813R dashcam video is 9:58:55.

18 OIG identified the CCSPD officer as Officer Adam Murphy.

19 The following CCSPD Officer accounts are taken from OIG’s June 23, 2016 interview of Jeff Pasqua and its June 24, 2015 interview of Adam Murphy. Pasqua and Murphy are currently CCSPD investigators.
Pasqua OIG Tr. 11:22-23. Meanwhile, the CPD officers were “standing around” and talking to each other. Murphy OIG Tr. 11:1. Murphy noted the CPD officers did not respond to him when he asked if they needed assistance. Murphy stated:

I see there’s blood all over the pavement. [McDonald] was kind of gurgling when he was sitting there. I remember his mouth was going open and closed like he was trying to gasp for air. And I looked for everybody else, and they were kind of standing there. I just started taking my gloves—my rubber gloves out to check for a pulse and to see if I could render aid.

Murphy OIG Tr. 12:18-13:2. He heard someone say an ambulance was en route.20 Both Officers Murphy and Pasqua recalled then watching McDonald take his final breaths.21 It was “[m]aybe less than a minute before [McDonald] expired.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:15-16. At no time did any CPD officers attempt to provide aid or comfort McDonald—Murphy stated, “That’s why I felt that I needed to go up to him.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:11-12.

After McDonald passed away, Murphy got up from beside him and noticed the shooting officer, who he now knows to be Van Dyke, “pacing back and forth in front of his car.” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:7-8. Murphy approached him and told him to sit down and drink water. As he was speaking with Van Dyke, Murphy “heard several officers telling [Van Dyke] to call your union rep, call your union rep.” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:16-17.

Murphy and Pasqua departed after approximately ten minutes on the scene when a CPD sergeant told them CPD did not need their assistance. At the time they left, there was “[a] sea of CPD” on scene. Murphy OIG Tr. 38:3; Pasqua OIG Tr. 25:7-8.

C. Velez’s October 20, 2014 Statement Regarding the McDonald Shooting22

On March 15, 2015, Detective David March submitted a case supplementary report (CSR) with the R.D. Number HX475653 that contains a summary of CPD’s investigation.23 Lieutenant

20 In a January 22, 2016 OIG interview, CPD Area North Commander Kevin Duffin stated CPD police officers have a duty to render aid to injured civilians per general orders. Police officers render aid by calling dispatch and requesting that an ambulance be dispatched to the scene. According to Duffin, police officers are not required or expected to provide any more assistance than this. On March 30, 2016, CPD issued General Order G03-06 which requires that the involved member(s) “request medical attention for the injured, and also offer immediate medical aid commensurate with their training, experience, and available equipment.”

21 The Medical Examiner’s Case Report states McDonald was pronounced dead “on view” at Mount Sinai Medical Center on October 20, 2014, at 10:42 p.m. OIG 15-0564 015029.

23 CPD’s investigation in the aftermath of the McDonald shooting was reported under record number HX-475653, and most reports were classified as an investigation into an aggravated assault in which McDonald was the offender. In a few reports, the case was classified as an investigation into a justifiable homicide of which McDonald was the victim. An additional record number was also created and classified as a justifiable homicide, apparently for recordkeeping purposes. In CPD’s investigative reports classified under the aggravated assault, CPD personnel drew conclusions about the propriety and lawfulness of Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald. This raises questions about CPD’s role in investigating a police-involved shooting in light of IPRA’s jurisdiction over the matter.
Anthony Wojcik approved the CSR on March 16, 2015. Included in that CSR is a summary of the statement that March purported to have obtained from Velez at the scene of the shooting, which states in relevant part:

[Velez] stated she was a Chicago Police Officer assigned to the 008th District. Velez related the same facts as her partner, Officer Arturo Becerra [sic].

Officer Velez added that as they approached the scene she observed Laquan McDonald standing in the middle of the street, holding a shiny object in his right hand. She saw him waving the object in the air. Officer Becerra [sic] drove past McDonald and began to make a U-turn, when Velez heard multiple gunshots, without pause or delay. She then saw McDonald fall to the ground. Velez did not see who fired the shots. She did see an unknown officer kick the knife from McDonald’s hand after he was down on the ground.24

D. Records and Interviews Concerning 822’s In-Car Video System

1. October 20, 2014 Supervisor’s Management Log

Sergeant Sean Tully completed and signed a “Supervisor’s Management Log,” dated October 20, 2014, for the third watch officers under his supervision, which included Becerra and Velez. Under “Personnel and Assignments,” the log lists Velez and Becerra’s names, as well as their beat (822) and vehicle number (8765). Tully noted that the 822 vehicle had an in-car camera and that the camera was “Operable and Logged On” as of 16:30.25

2. Sergeant Becvar’s Reports and Interview

On October 21, 2014, CPD Sergeant Lance Becvar submitted a supplementary report for R.D. No. HX475653 concerning his retrieval of video from the in-car video systems of the five CPD vehicles that were on scene when Van Dyke shot McDonald.26 With respect to the beat 822 vehicle (also referred to as Vehicle 8765), the vehicle in which Velez was a passenger on October 20, 2014, Becvar noted “Not engaged—Officer reported power issue.” Becvar also completed a corresponding “In Car Camera Video Retrieval Worksheet” regarding his October 20, 2014 video retrieval, in which he made the following notation with respect to 822: “Mics in charging cradles, not sync’d to system.”27

24 Detective March completed a General Progress Report (GPR) relating to his interview of Velez that contains March’s handwritten notes of the interview. OIG 15-0564 003251. March’s handwritten notes of the interview do not differ in any significant way from the summary of Velez’s statement in the CSR.

25 With respect to beats 825 and 849, Tully noted that their vehicles’ in-car cameras were inoperable and listed a corresponding help desk ticket number for each vehicle’s camera.

On July 17, 2015, Becvar sent an email summarizing his findings regarding his October 20, 2014 video retrieval from 822 and the other four CPD vehicles that were on scene when Van Dyke shot McDonald.\(^{28}\) With respect to 822, Becvar wrote: “System not engaged, officer related no power. There was no open H[elp] D[esk] T[icket] called in on vehicle. MICs not sync’d to system even though they were in the charging cradles.”

In a January 27, 2016 OIG interview, Sergeant Becvar stated that when he checked 822’s in-car video system on October 20, 2014, it was not engaged and there was no video. In addition, 822’s mics were not synced to the system. Becvar had a conversation with Velez that evening, and she related that 822’s in-car video system had not been working correctly. Velez told Becvar that the system’s power had been going on and off. When asked what could cause the system to have no power, Becvar responded: “Is it an interface problem with the car, is it the CPU has a loose board or power supply, a damaged cable, some tampering, I wish I could answer that.” Becvar OIG Tr. 65:13-16. According to Becvar, if 822’s in-car video system was not powering up at the beginning of Velez and Becerra’s shift, “they should have notified their sergeant,” and obtained a help desk ticket. Becvar OIG Tr. 70:16-17. When Becvar returned to the Detective Division from the scene of the shooting, he checked to see if 822 had an open help desk ticket and determined that it did not.\(^{29}\)

E. OIG Interview of Velez

On September 15, 2016, pursuant to Section 6.1 of the CBA between CPD and FOP, OIG, through CPD’s Bureau of Internal Affairs, served Velez with a Notification of Interview, Notification of Allegations, and copies of her prior statements, including (1) her October 20, 2014 statement to Detective March, contained in the March 16, 2015 CSR, and (2) Detective March’s GPR containing his handwritten notes of his interview of Velez. In addition, OIG provided Velez with the dashcam footage from 813R and 845R and the security camera footage from Dunkin’ Donuts.\(^{30}\)

On September 21, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed Velez under oath after informing her of her administrative advisements orally and in writing. Velez provided oral and written acknowledgement of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Velez was accompanied by her attorney. In summary, Velez stated as follows.

1. October 20, 2014

On October 20, 2014, Velez was in the 822 vehicle with her partner Becerra. Velez and Becerra had been partners for over a year. Their shift began at 3:30 p.m. that day.

\(^{28}\) OIG 15-0564 000567.

\(^{29}\) CPD records reflect that no help desk tickets were opened concerning Vehicle 8765’s in-car camera system in the 30 days preceding or following Velez’s October 20, 2014 tour of duty.

\(^{30}\) During her September 21, 2016 interview, Velez acknowledged that she reviewed the 813R video in preparation for the interview.
a) Scene of McDonald Shooting

Just before Van Dyke shot McDonald, Becerra was driving northbound on Pulaski, and Velez was in the passenger seat. Velez saw McDonald “holding a shiny object” in his hand; “he was not waving it up over his head or in the air; it was to the side.  His hand was extended.” Velez OIG Tr. 81:14-17.  After Van Dyke and Walsh went around 822 in 845R, Becerra began making a U-turn on Pulaski between the Burger King and Dunkin’ Donuts.  According to Velez, Becerra made the U-turn to “mov[e] out of the way” because McDonald had already passed them. Velez OIG Tr. 87:13.  As Becerra made the U-turn, Velez heard shots fired.\(^3\) When Becerra completed the U-turn, which took seconds, 822 was facing south, and Velez could see McDonald from inside the vehicle. There were no vehicles between 822 and McDonald. Velez could not estimate how far their vehicle was from McDonald or 845R.

Velez then exited 822 and walked to the front of the vehicle. Becerra exited 822 at approximately the same time as Velez, but he was not standing next to Velez. Van Dyke was still firing at McDonald when Velez got out of the vehicle, but she was not sure at the time who was doing the shooting. Velez explained that both Van Dyke and Walsh were in a “ready stance position,” but her focus was on McDonald, who was on the ground. Velez OIG Tr. 23:7.  Velez did not know how many shots Van Dyke fired after she got out of the vehicle. While Van Dyke was shooting, Velez was “standing there watching.” Velez OIG Tr. 25:2. She had her holster unsnapped.

Velez said that seeing McDonald get shot while he was on the ground was “horrific to see.” Velez OIG Tr. 73:12.  Velez continued: “I kind of froze.  I’ve never witnessed that, and I will have 17 years [on the force] in January, and I’ve never seen anything, never witnessed a police shooting out of my years of experience.  So, yeah, it was horrific to see.” Velez OIG Tr. 73:12-16.

After the shooting stopped, Velez observed Walsh kick McDonald’s knife away. Velez subsequently attempted to contact FOP “to let them know there was a police-involved shooting.” Velez OIG Tr. 25:13-14.  When asked whether contacting FOP was protocol, Velez responded: “People were starting to make notifications.  There were officers that were on the radio requesting an ambulance, requesting a supervisor.” Velez OIG Tr. 25:16-19.  No one instructed Velez to call FOP.  Velez had FOP’s number on her cell phone.  Velez initially said that FOP’s line was busy that she “wasn’t able to make any type of notification.” Velez OIG Tr. 25:24-26:1.  She later said that she “called FOP.  Somebody answered, and they were like, ‘We’re already talking to somebody from the 8th District.’  ‘Okay.’  I hang up.” Velez OIG Tr. 27:14-17.

Velez then waited for a supervisor to arrive. Ultimately a sergeant, whose name Velez did not recall, told Velez and Becerra, “‘You guys are on video. You have to remain on scene. You’re going to have to go to the area.’” Velez OIG Tr. 31:19-22.  At some point, Becerra moved the 822 vehicle out of the northbound lane on Pulaski so the ambulance could come through.  Velez and Becerra also used their flashlights in an attempt to find shell casings.

\(^3\) Velez said that prior to the shooting she heard someone say “drop the knife.” Velez OIG Tr. 23:15-16.
While at the scene, Velez and Becerra discussed how neither of them had a taser, and Velez questioned why they responded to the scene if they did not have a taser. Velez denied having any conversations with Van Dyke, Walsh, Fontaine, Viramontes, or Sebastian at the scene. Velez asked Mondragon if her camera had been on, and Mondragon said yes.

Velez saw part of the 813R video while at the scene. Velez explained that Mondragon was in the process of saving the video, which required her to play the video. Velez was standing outside the 813R vehicle “peering in.” Velez OIG Tr. 45:8. Velez saw the shooting on the video. Velez’s reaction upon seeing the video was that “the angle of the vehicle didn’t catch the whole panoramic view of everybody that was there.” Velez OIG Tr. 46:21-23. Velez did not see any other video of the shooting that night.

Velez did not recall talking to a detective at the scene of the shooting and said she did not know who Detective David March was. She denied that anyone from CPD asked her to provide an account of the shooting while she was at the scene.

b) Area Central

Around midnight, Velez and Becerra drove to Area Central in the 822 vehicle. During the drive, Velez asked Becerra whether Walsh had shot McDonald, and he told her that Van Dyke had been the shooter. Velez and Becerra also talked about how “crazy it was to witness th[e] shooting.” Velez OIG Tr. 78:1-2. Velez and Becerra also questioned whether Van Dyke needed to fire all the shots he did; Becerra agreed with Velez that it was a lot of shots to be fired. When Velez and Becerra arrived, Van Dyke, Walsh, Mondragon and Sebastian were present. Fontaine and Viramontes arrived later. According to Velez, “[e]verybody was just milling around pretty much waiting to be spoken to and waiting for IPRA to speak to us.” Velez OIG Tr. 35:5-7. Velez denied talking to any of the other officers who were present.

While at Area Central, someone, who Velez presumed to be from CPD, asked Velez and Becerra if they saw what happened. The person asked: “‘Where were you? What did you guys see?’ You know, ‘Which one is your car?’” Like, we are in one of the vehicles that’s on camera, it’s in the video, and he asked us what we saw.” Velez OIG Tr. 36:3-7. She described the conversation as very brief and said it only lasted a few minutes. Velez did not recall what she or Becerra said in response to his questions. She said the person appeared Asian. This conversation took place in a small office on the second floor of Area Central. No one else was present during that conversation. Velez and Becerra were not asked questions by anyone else while they were at Area Central. At some point, Velez and Becerra were told—Velez did not recall by whom—that IPRA was not going to speak to anyone else and that they could leave.

c) HX475653 CSR

When shown the HX475653 CSR containing what purports to be Velez’s statement, Velez stated: “I don’t know who I spoke to, who took my statement, if there was somebody I spoke to concerning this shooting. So I obviously spoke to somebody, but who was it? I don’t know who took my statement.” Velez OIG Tr. 83:13-17. Velez added, “[T]his is not what I said or what I would have stated in terms of my statement.” Velez OIG Tr. 81:21-23.
More specifically, Velez claimed that she would not have said “She saw him waving [the] object in the air,” see supra § IV(C)(1), and said that that statement was not accurate. Velez OIG Tr. 38:2-4. For Velez, the word “waving” implied that McDonald had his knife above his head and that did not happen. When asked to characterize McDonald’s activities, Velez responded: “Holding the object in his right hand with his hand to the side, like extended to the side.” Velez OIG Tr. 66:6-8. Velez added that she had seen McDonald holding his left side and her statement did not reflect such an observation. Velez did not recall relating that observation to any CPD officers on the night of October 20, 2014. Velez further stated that when she initially saw McDonald, he was not standing; rather, “he [was] kind of approaching us too.” Velez OIG Tr. 64:20.

With respect to the statement that “She then saw McDonald fall to the ground,” Velez claimed she would have said that she saw “McDonald fall to the ground while he was still—you know, while the shots were still being, you know, shot.” Velez OIG Tr. 69:6-8. When asked whether she recalled telling anyone from CPD that she had seen McDonald get shot while he was on the ground, Velez stated: “I did not. I didn’t give a statement, didn’t know when I was giving a statement to give this information.” Velez OIG Tr. 72:5-7.

2. Vehicle 822’s In-Car Video System

Velez acknowledged that 822’s in-car video system failed to capture audio or video during her October 20, 2014 tour. When asked whether she followed the start-up procedures for 822’s in-car video system on October 20, 2014, Velez responded: “I don’t remember if I did it right away.” Velez OIG Tr. 100:20. She added: “[Y]ou’re supposed to.” Velez OIG Tr. 100:23. As of October 20, 2014, Velez was aware of the protocols set forth in S03-05 and had attended an all-day training at the Police Academy on how to use the in-car video systems.

Velez and Becerra did not sync their mics to 822’s in-car video system on October 20, 2014. Prior to 2016, it was not Velez’s practice to sync her mic with her vehicle’s in-car camera system. When asked whether she visually inspected 822’s in-car video system for damage on October 20, 2014, Velez responded: “It would be visible. The dash cam is right on—right in front of you. It was—but an actual, like, let me sit here and inspect thorough, no, sir.” Velez OIG Tr. 119:10-13.

Velez tried to log on to 822’s in-car video system throughout her tour on October 20, 2014, but “was not successful.” Velez OIG Tr. 101:4. Velez claimed that the system was “acting up” and that she could not get the startup screen to appear. Velez OIG Tr. 102:3. According to Velez, she and Becerra did not have their microphones on their person that day because they could not log onto the in-car video system.

While at the scene of the shooting, Velez spoke with the CPD “camera person,” who was there to obtain video from the CPD vehicles’ in-car video systems. Velez OIG Tr. 28:20-21. He was upset and asked Velez, “‘What happened with the camera?’” Velez OIG Tr. 29:21-22. Velez told him that she tried numerous times to log on. He responded: “‘[Y]ou tried so many times, it’s like slapping somebody on the back of the head, that you didn’t even give the camera the opportunity to think, to log on.’” Velez OIG Tr. 30:1-4.

Velez was aware that if officers have an issue with their in-car video system, they are supposed to notify their supervisor, who is to obtain a ticket number from the help desk. Velez acknowledged that during her October 20, 2014 tour she did not notify her supervisor that 822’s in-car video system was inoperable.32

OIG’s investigation established that Officer Leticia Velez violated CPD Rule 6 (disobedience of an order, namely S03-05) and Rule 11 (incompetency in the performance of a duty) by failing to visually and audibly record events with 822’s in-car video system and failing to notify her supervisor about the system’s inoperability. CPD records establish that 822’s in-car video system did not capture video or audio during Velez’s October 20, 2014 tour. Sergeant Lance Becvar, who attempted to recover video from 822’s in-car video system, found that the system was not engaged. Velez claimed that she unsuccessfully attempted to log in to 822’s in-car video system throughout her October 20, 2014 tour, but admitted that she never contacted her supervisor to obtain a help desk ticket regarding the inoperable system as required by S03-05.33 Velez further admitted that she did not visually inspect 822’s in-car video system for damage or sync her mic with the system at the beginning of her tour. Thus, the evidence demonstrates that Velez failed to follow the in-car video system procedures set forth in S03-05.

Velez’s failure to follow CPD’s in-car video system protocols prevented CPD from collecting potentially important, objective, technology-based evidence of the McDonald shooting. As a result, investigators have been forced to rely on Velez’s subjective, unrecorded, oral account of the shooting. Velez’s violation of CPD rules also served to harm the relationship between CPD and the residents it serves. A functioning in-car video system is critical to CPD’s efforts to maintain accountability for its officers. That accountability, in turn, fosters the public’s trust in CPD. When accountability mechanisms fail, as they did in the present case, where only one of the five CPD vehicles present at the shooting captured video of the actual shooting and none of those vehicles captured audio, the public can lose faith in CPD’s commitment to accountability. Thus, as CPD works to rebuild the relationship between its officers and the greater Chicago community, it must ensure that its personnel understand the importance of keeping all aspects of CPD’s accountability framework, including in-car video systems, functional.

32 OIG requested from OEMC the portable data terminal messages sent from the 822 vehicle on October 20, 2014. However, OEMC notified OIG that it only maintained those records for seven days and thus was no longer in possession of the records at the time of OIG’s request.

33 Sergeant Tully’s October 20, 2014 Supervisor’s Management Log reflects that 822’s system was “operable and logged on” one hour after Velez’s tour started. However, a lack of evidence regarding the actual mechanical state of 822’s dashcam during Velez’s October 20, 2014 tour, including the absence of October 20, 2014 PDT messages for 822, preclude any finding as to whether Tully’s log was true and accurate.
VI. RECOMMENDATION

OIG recommends that CPD impose discipline upon Velez commensurate with the seriousness of her misconduct, her discipline history, and department standards.

VII. CPD RULE VIOLATIONS

Rule 6
Disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral.

Rule 11
Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.
Appendix A
This report consists of a summary of the evidence set out in the attached investigative materials and the Office of Inspector General’s (OIG’s) analysis of that evidence. An index of the investigative materials is attached.

I. INTRODUCTION

An OIG investigation has established that Ricardo Viramontes, a police officer for the Chicago Police Department (CPD) who was present when Officer Jason Van Dyke shot Laquan McDonald on October 20, 2014, violated CPD Rules and Regulations during the subsequent CPD investigation. Viramontes was assigned to Beat 841R on October 20, 2014, and arrived at the scene with his partner, Officer Dora Fontaine, as Van Dyke was shooting McDonald. As detailed further below, Viramontes made false statements during his subsequent interview with CPD, which served to exaggerate the threat McDonald posed. Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD discharge Viramontes and refer him for placement on the ineligible for rehire list maintained by the Department of Human Resources.

II. APPLICABLE RULES, REGULATIONS, AND LAW

A. CPD Rules and Regulations

The “Rules and Regulations of the Chicago Police Department” set out the standards of conduct and duties of sworn members, as well as CPD goals. The Rules and Regulations state that sworn members must “conduct themselves at all times in such a manner as will reflect credit upon the Department with emphasis on personal integrity and professional devotion to law enforcement.”

Article V of the CPD Rules and Regulations, entitled CPD Rules of Conduct (the CPD Rules), sets forth specifically prohibited acts. In pertinent part, the CPD Rules include the following prohibitions:

Rule 2
Any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department.

Any failure to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy or accomplish its goals.

1 CPD’s investigation in the aftermath of the McDonald shooting was reported under record number HX-475653, and most reports were classified as an investigation into an aggravated assault in which McDonald was the offender. In a few reports, the case was classified as an investigation into a justifiable homicide of which McDonald was the victim. An additional record number was also created and classified as a justifiable homicide, apparently for recordkeeping purposes. In CPD’s investigative reports classified under the aggravated assault, CPD personnel drew conclusions about the propriety and lawfulness of Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald. This raises questions about CPD’s role in investigating a police-involved shooting in light of IPRA’s jurisdiction over the matter.
Rule 14  Making a false report, written or oral.

III. OFFICER VIRAMONTES’S EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

Viramontes has worked as a CPD Police Officer since October 27, 2003. He is a member of Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) Lodge 7.

IV. SUMMARY OF INVESTIGATION

A. Procedural History of OIG’s Investigation

By letter, dated December 8, 2015, Independent Police Review Authority (IPRA) Acting Chief Administrator Sharon Fairley requested that OIG conduct an administrative investigation “to determine whether certain police officers/witnesses made false statements on official reports prepared in connection with [Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald] and/or during the investigation of the incident.” IPRA further requested that OIG investigate “whether any of the involved Chicago Police officers committed any other violation(s) of Chicago Police Department rules, policies or procedures in their involvement with the incident, including, but not limited to, whether any officers’ conduct may have interfered with or obstructed the appropriate investigation and handling of this matter.”

Then, by letter, dated January 13, 2016, CPD Interim Superintendent John J. Escalante requested that OIG conduct an “administrative investigation into any and all allegations of police officer misconduct” arising out of the October 20, 2014 shooting death of McDonald. The Superintendent’s request asked OIG to investigate the following allegations: “whether any officer(s) made false statements on official reports submitted in connection with the shooting of Laquan McDonald on October 20, 2014; whether any officer(s) obstructed or interfered with the investigation of this incident, either individually or in collusion with others; and whether any officer(s) committed any violation of Chicago Police Department rules, policies, or orders in connection with their response and/or handling of this matter.” Escalante attached to the letter request a copy of Sergeant Sandra Soria’s Initiation Report, which raises allegations of misconduct related to the in-car video systems of the vehicles that were present during the McDonald shooting, and identified that Report as a basis for OIG’s administrative investigation.

2 On November 24, 2015, the Cook County State’s Attorney charged Van Dyke with a single count of first degree murder in the shooting of McDonald. On December 15, 2015, it subsequently charged him with six counts of murder. OIG has not been involved with any criminal investigation related to the shooting and makes no findings regarding Van Dyke’s use of force.

3 Section 6.1, Paragraph I of the CBA states, “If the allegation under investigation indicates a recommendation for separation is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the statutory administrative proceeding rights, or if the allegation indicates criminal prosecution is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the
On March 16, 2016, FOP on behalf of all impacted CPD officers filed a “Complaint for Injunction in Aid of Arbitration” in the Circuit Court of Cook County, asking the court to enjoin OIG from conducting interviews until the grievance was decided in arbitration. The court dismissed the complaint and denied the injunction on March 22, 2016.

OIG’s administrative investigation of other CPD employees’ actions related to the McDonald shooting is ongoing. During the course of its investigation, OIG has gathered documents from CPD and IPRA, among other sources, and conducted numerous interviews, including interviews of thirteen CPD personnel who were at or responded to the scene of the shooting and seven civilian witnesses to the shooting. To date in its ongoing investigation, OIG has recommended disciplinary action against multiple CPD personnel, sustaining allegations that each put forth a false narrative regarding the shooting.

B. The Events of October 20, 2014

The following sections detail the shooting of McDonald, as well as the relevant events that occurred directly before and after the shooting.

1. and Rudy Barillas’s Encounter with McDonald

 and , were parking a truck in a lot at 41st Street and Kildare Avenue when saw a black male, whom she subsequently identified as McDonald, attempting to steal property from certain vehicles parked in the lot. told to leave the lot. McDonald responded by making growling noises. After again told McDonald to leave the lot, McDonald pulled out a knife and swung it at Barillas. who had already called 911, then threw his cell phone at McDonald. McDonald ran from the lot, first northbound on Kildare and then eastbound on 40th Street.

5 On April 22, 2016, OIG obtained maps of the locations that are relevant to the shooting from Google Maps and included those maps in Appendix A. Those maps generally reflect the street layout and location of relevant businesses as they were on the night of October 20, 2014.

6 The following account of and Barillas’s encounter with McDonald is taken from the March 16, 2015 case supplementary report (CSR) submitted by CPD Detective David March, which includes the statements that and provided to CPD on October 21, 2014, and October 22, 2014, respectively. OIG 15-0564 003077.

7 OEMC recordings reflect that called 911 at 9:45 p.m. stating that he was holding “a guy right hear [sic] that stolen [sic] the radios” from trucks in a truck yard located at “41st and Kildare.” OIG 15-0564 003227.
2. Officers Thomas Gaffney and Joseph McElligott’s Encounter with McDonald

Officer Thomas Gaffney and his partner Officer Joseph McElligott received a call over the radio that someone had broken into a truck at 4100 South Kildare and were dispatched to the scene. Gaffney was driving, and McElligott was in the passenger seat of their assigned vehicle, 815R. When they arrived at 4100 South Kildare, they saw a Hispanic male and female standing by the gate to the truck yard. The two said that a black male wearing a black shirt, later determined to be McDonald, had been trying to steal the radio out of a semi-truck, and had subsequently headed north toward 40th Street.

Gaffney and McElligott drove north on Kildare, turned right onto 40th Street, and saw McDonald walking east on the south side of 40th Street. McElligott exited the vehicle and commanded McDonald to stop and turn around. Gaffney stayed in the vehicle in case McDonald attempted to flee. McElligott ordered McDonald to take his hands out of his pockets. McDonald, who had been facing McElligott, turned and walked away with one hand still in his pocket. McDonald then turned again and took both of his hands out of his pockets. He had a knife in his right hand. McElligott drew his weapon and told McDonald to drop the knife. McDonald started walking east again, going from the sidewalk to the street and back. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, shining his flashlight on him, while Gaffney followed in 815R, parallel to McDonald.

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Keeler, Gaffney reported to dispatch that McDonald was walking away with a knife in his hand. Gaffney and McElligott continued to follow McDonald as he headed east, with McElligott giving McDonald orders to drop his knife and stop. McDonald kept turning around and giving the officers a “weird glaze[d] look.”

Gaffney IPRA Tr. 11:20.

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Karlov, Gaffney turned his car toward McDonald to direct him down Karlov. Gaffney wanted to keep McDonald away from Pulaski, which was a more populated area. McDonald then swung his arm and popped 815R’s right front tire with his knife. McElligott was toward the back of 815R when McDonald popped its tire. After McDonald took a step back from the vehicle, Gaffney pulled up further in front of him to stop him from proceeding to Pulaski. McDonald then hit the right side of 815R’s windshield once with the knife in his right hand. The windshield did not break but, according to Gaffney, McDonald hit it as hard as he could. McDonald walked around the front of 815R and continued eastward on 40th Street. After McDonald had walked 10 to 15 feet, another squad car turned off of Pulaski onto 40th Street with its lights on, and McDonald began to sprint. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, and Gaffney followed McDonald in 815R. McDonald ran eastbound through a parking lot of a Burger King located at 40th and Pulaski and then headed southbound on Pulaski. Video footage from several cameras captured McDonald’s movements as he reached Pulaski.

3. Summary of the Relevant Video Footage

The below table contains a summary of the relevant video footage of the McDonald shooting, which includes the dashcam videos from 813R, 823R, and 845R, video from the “WNE fire exit” security camera from the Greater Chicago Food Depository, which is bordered by 40th Street to the north, Karlov Avenue to the east, and Keeler Avenue to the west, and the security camera video from the Dunkin’ Donuts, located at 4113 South Pulaski Road (the DD Camera).

4. CCSPD Officer Accounts of the October 20, 2014 McDonald Shooting\textsuperscript{19}

While on patrol on October 20, 2014, CCSPD Officers Adam Murphy and Jeff Pasqua observed several CPD police vehicles pass by them. Both officers decided to follow the CPD vehicles. When they arrived at the scene, several CPD vehicles were already present—Pasqua estimated it was five or six. McDonald was lying on the pavement “gasping for his last breath of air.” Pasqua OIG Tr. 11:22-23. Meanwhile, the CPD officers were “standing around” and talking to each other. Murphy OIG Tr. 11:1. Murphy noted the CPD officers did not respond to him when he asked if they needed assistance. Murphy stated:

\begin{quote}
I see there’s blood all over the pavement. [McDonald] was kind of gurgling when he was sitting there. I remember his mouth was going open and closed like he was trying to gasp for air. And I looked for everybody else, and they were kind of standing there. I just started taking my gloves—my rubber gloves out to check for a pulse and to see if I could render aid.
\end{quote}

Murphy OIG Tr. 12:18-13:2. He heard someone say an ambulance was en route. Both Officers Murphy and Pasqua recalled then watching McDonald take his final breaths.\textsuperscript{20} It was “[m]aybe less than a minute before [McDonald] expired.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:15-16. At no time did any CPD officers attempt to provide aid or comfort McDonald—Murphy stated, “That’s why I felt that I needed to go up to him.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:11-12.

After McDonald passed away, Murphy got up from beside him and noticed the shooting officer, who he now knows to be Van Dyke, “pacing back and forth in front of his car.” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:7-8. Murphy approached him and told him to sit down and drink water. As he was speaking with Van Dyke, Murphy “heard several officers telling [Van Dyke] to ‘call your union rep, call your union rep.’” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:16-17.

Murphy and Pasqua departed after approximately ten minutes on the scene when a CPD sergeant told them CPD did not need their assistance. At the time they left, there was “[a] sea of CPD” on scene. Murphy OIG Tr. 38:3; Pasqua OIG Tr. 25:7-8.

C. Officer Viramontes’s October 20, 2014 Statement to Detective David March\textsuperscript{21}

On March 15, 2015, Detective David March submitted a case supplementary report (CSR) with the R.D. Number HX475653 that contains a summary of CPD’s investigation in the aftermath of the McDonald shooting. Lieutenant Anthony Wojcik approved the CSR on March 16, 2015. Included in that CSR is March’s summary of the statement he obtained from Viramontes at the scene of the shooting. 22 The CSR summarizes Viramontes’s October 20, 2014 statement in relevant part as follows:

[W]hen [Viramontes] exited his police vehicle, at the scene, he observed a black male subject, now known as Laquan McDonald, walking southbound on Pulaski Road, in the middle of the street, holding a knife in his right hand. Viramontes heard Officer Jason Van Dyke repeatedly order McDonald to “Drop the Knife!” McDonald ignored the verbal direction and turned toward Van Dyke and his partner, Officer Joseph Walsh. At this time Van Dyke fired multiple shots from his handgun. McDonald fell to the ground but continued to move, attempting to get back up, with the knife still in his hand. Van Dyke fired his weapon at McDonald continuously, until McDonald was no longer moving.

D. OIG’s Interview of Officer Viramontes

On February 19, 2016, pursuant to Section 6.1 of the CBA between CPD and FOP, OIG, through CPD’s Bureau of Internal Affairs, served Viramontes with a Notification of Interview, Notification of Allegations, and copies of his prior statements, including: (1) his October 20, 2014 statement to March, contained in the March 16, 2015 CSR; and (2) March’s GPR containing his handwritten notes of his interview of Viramontes. In addition, OIG provided Viramontes with the dashcam footage from 813R and 845R and the security camera footage from Dunkin’ Donuts 23.

On March 18, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed Viramontes under oath after informing him of his administrative advisements orally and in writing. He provided oral and written acknowledgment of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Viramontes’s attorney, Jennifer Russell, was also present for the interview. In summary, Viramontes stated as follows.

As of October 20, 2014, Viramontes was assigned to CPD’s 8th District and was working the first watch on Beat 841R under the command of Sergeant Stephen Franko.

1. The Scene of the Shooting

On the evening of October 20, 2014, Viramontes was Fontaine’s partner. Viramontes and Fontaine were present when Van Dyke shot McDonald. Immediately following the McDonald shooting, one of the sergeants who arrived at the scene told Viramontes and Fontaine that they would be the “paper” car, meaning they would write the initial incident report. Viramontes OIG Tr. 64:21. In order to complete that report, Viramontes began walking around the perimeter of the scene and gathering information from the officers who were present, including their names, 22 March completed a General Progress Report (GPR) relating to his interview of Viramontes that contains March’s handwritten notes of the interview. OIG 15-0564 003253. March’s handwritten notes of the interview do not differ in any significant way from his summary of Viramontes’s statement in the CSR.

23 Viramontes’s car, 841R, recorded no video or audio that night.
star numbers, and assignments. Shortly thereafter, a different sergeant, over the radio, ordered Viramontes and Fontaine to accompany McDonald’s body to the hospital. While on the way to the hospital, Fontaine asked over the radio whether she and Viramontes should continue to the hospital or return to the scene to complete the case incident report. Fontaine and Viramontes were told to go back to the scene and complete the report, which they did.

Viramontes spoke to Detective March briefly at the scene of the shooting. Viramontes believed that conversation took place before he and Fontaine left for the hospital. March approached 841R and asked Viramontes for his name, star number, unit of assignment, and for “a quick brief of what happened.” Viramontes OIG Tr. 75:4-5. Viramontes was in the driver’s seat of 841R, with the windows open, when he spoke with March. Fontaine was in the passenger seat of 841R at the time. Viramontes told March that he “saw Mr. McDonald walking down the street swinging his arm very angrily, he looked very agitated. I saw him turn toward the officers, and Officer Van Dyke started shooting.” Viramontes OIG Tr. 78:9-14. March also spoke with Fontaine, but Viramontes did not recall what Fontaine told March or whether her account of events was the same as Viramontes’s account. March took notes of his conversation with Viramontes.

At some point, while he was collecting the names and star numbers of the detectives in the Dunkin’ Donuts near the shooting scene, Viramontes saw a “glimpse” of what he believed to be the Dunkin’ Donuts security camera video of the shooting. Viramontes OIG Tr. 80:11. Viramontes said the detectives were trying to watch the video on a laptop computer. Viramontes believed that was the only video of the shooting he saw at the scene that evening.

Viramontes did not have any substantive conversations with Van Dyke at the scene of the shooting. Viramontes had never worked with Van Dyke, and only spoke to him on rare occasions. The two had never socialized outside of work.

2. Area Central

Viramontes was not sure how long he was at the scene of the shooting, but at some point he was told to leave and go to Area Central, at 51st and Wentworth. He and Fontaine drove there together in 841R, but they did not discuss the shooting. When they arrived at Area Central, they ate pizza and waited to give statements to IPRA. Several other officers who had been at the scene of the shooting were at Area Central as well, but there was no substantive conversation among those officers about the shooting.

At some point, a detective, possibly March, showed Viramontes and Fontaine a video of the shooting. He believed that it was the in-car video from 813R. The detective did not ask any questions while the video was playing. Viramontes believed that what he saw on the video confirmed the statements he made to March on the scene. Viramontes did not know why the detective showed him and Fontaine the video; when Viramontes started to tell the detective about what happened in more detail, the detective “didn’t really want to listen to what I had to say, so 24 Viramontes did not know March’s name at the time of their initial conversation, but later learned from the documents he reviewed that March was the detective with whom he spoke at the scene of the shooting.

he moved to Officer Fontaine.” Viramontes OIG Tr. 97:17-18.

After leaving the room in which they watched the video, Viramontes waited until it was his turn to provide a statement to IPRA. IPRA never asked him to make a statement, though, and he was eventually told that he could leave.

3. Viramontes’s Statement to Detective March

Viramontes was asked to review the statements attributed to him in the March 16, 2015 CSR. Specifically, he was presented with the following statements and, when asked to review them, gave the following responses:

He then clarified that he made his initial observations of McDonald when he was inside his vehicle, approaching the scene. Viramontes was subsequently shown portions of 813R and 845R’s dashcam videos and the Dunkin’ Donuts security camera. Viramontes was asked again whether he arrived to the scene in time to hear Van Dyke repeatedly say “drop the knife.” Viramontes OIG Tr. 151:7. Viramontes stated that he heard Van Dyke give the directive after he, Viramontes, opened his vehicle door. Viramontes claimed that Van Dyke was saying “drop the knife” as he was shooting McDonald. Viramontes OIG Tr. 152:5-7. When Viramontes was asked whether he heard Van Dyke say “drop the knife” before he started shooting, Viramontes answered: “I couldn’t have, because I was still traveling.” Viramontes OIG Tr. 152:10-11.

Viramontes was then asked whether, in light of the video footage he just watched, he wanted to clarify the statement attributed to him in March’s CSR that after McDonald fell to the ground, he continued to move, attempting to get back up. Viramontes answered, “No.” Viramontes OIG
Tr. 155:18. Viramontes went on to say: “You know, this is the problem that I have about that video. You can keep showing me that video. I mean, you can show me and show me, but what I thought I saw when I got there is what I gave my statement to the detective. Now, the video, of course everybody is telling me different, but the video might show me differently, but I believe what I stated is what I thought I saw.” Viramontes OIG Tr. 156:10-19.

4. Viramontes’s Grand Jury Testimony

Viramontes testified before a grand jury regarding the McDonald shooting, but did not remember specific details about what questions he was asked. When asked about the statements he made to the grand jury, Viramontes said: “When I gave my testimony to the [g]rand [j]ury, I believed I was out of the car when the actual shooting happened. That was probably one thing I did remember saying . . . I found that later on that I was actually not even out of the car when it happened.” Viramontes OIG Tr. 47:2-10. He then stated he corrected himself in the grand jury, after he was shown video of the shooting during his testimony there and realized the discrepancy between his original recollection and the video evidence. He explained, “[T]he perspective that I had at that time was just my timing was distorted.” Viramontes OIG Tr. 49:20-22.

V. ANALYSIS

OIG’s investigation established that Viramontes made multiple false statements in his interview with CPD regarding the McDonald shooting. Viramontes’s false statements all served a similar purpose: to exaggerate the threat McDonald posed.25

Viramontes’s actions, individually and collectively, constitute violations of CPD Rules. Each of Viramontes’s false statements constitutes a violation of Rule 14 (making a false report, written or oral). His false statements also constitute violations of Rule 2 (engaging in any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department), and Rule 3 (failing to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy and accomplish its goals). An officer who has made false statements in an official investigation has irrevocably tainted not only his credibility, but also the credibility of CPD—and also fails to promote CPD’s goal of employing officers with personal integrity and professional devotion to law enforcement. Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD discharge Viramontes.

Viramontes made two clear false statements to Detective March on October 20, 2014, regarding the McDonald shooting that are clearly contradicted by the 813R and 845R dashcam video, the most objective and reliable evidence of the events that night. Most notably:

- Viramontes stated that, after McDonald fell to the ground, he attempted to get back up with the knife still in his hand.

25 OIG also examined the issue of Viramontes’s compliance with CPD rules and orders regarding the use of his in-car video system on October 20, 2014. OIG determined there is not a sufficient basis to conclude that Viramontes violated those rules or orders.
Viramontes stated that McDonald ignored Van Dyke’s verbal direction to “drop the knife” and turned toward Van Dyke and Walsh.

First, the 813R dashcam video clearly shows that McDonald did not attempt to get up after he fell to the ground. Upon being shot and falling to the street, McDonald never moved his legs or lower body. In addition, the video only shows McDonald’s upper body making small, intermittent movements as what appear to be puffs of smoke rise from his body. Those small movements are not suggestive of a person trying to get to his feet. Accordingly, Viramontes’s statement that McDonald attempted to get up after he was shot is demonstrably false. In his OIG interview, Viramontes was shown video footage of the shooting, and given several opportunities to clarify or correct this false statement. Instead of doing so, Viramontes acknowledged that his statement was inconsistent with the video, but continued to stand by it stating, “I believe what I stated is what I thought I saw.” Viramontes OIG Tr. 156:18-19. Viramontes offers no further explanation for why his statement differed so dramatically from the video footage, which does not show McDonald attempting to get to his feet. The starkness of the contrast between Viramontes’s statement and the video evidence, and Viramontes’s failure to offer any clarification or explanation, demonstrate the intentional nature of his false statement.

Second, Viramontes, by his own admission, could not have heard Van Dyke order McDonald to “drop the knife” before he began shooting McDonald, and therefore could not have seen McDonald “ignore” the verbal direction. The 813R dashcam establishes that Viramontes was opening the driver’s side door of 841R as Van Dyke began shooting McDonald. Viramontes admitted he did not hear Van Dyke give the “drop the knife” directive until after he opened his door. Viramontes further admitted that he “couldn’t have” heard Van Dyke say “drop the knife” before Van Dyke started firing because Viramontes “was still traveling.” Viramontes OIG Tr. 152:9-11. Thus, Viramontes’s statement to March that McDonald ignored Van Dyke’s “drop the knife” directive was false. Viramontes acknowledged that he could not have heard any orders issued by Van Dyke before Van Dyke started shooting. Nonetheless, when asked whether he stood by his statement to March, as recorded in the CSR, Viramontes answered, “Yes.” Viramontes OIG Tr. 133:16.

Viramontes’s original statements, as laid out in March’s CSR, suggest a clear sequence of events: that first, Van Dyke ordered McDonald to drop the knife, then McDonald ignored the directive, and then Van Dyke began shooting. While Viramontes corrected his statement to say that he was still inside his car before Van Dyke started shooting, he did not correct this essential sequence of events. By ratifying his statements to March, outside of the single clarification regarding whether he was inside or outside his car, Viramontes stood by a sequence of events which served to justify Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald, and which Viramontes cannot possibly have witnessed. If Viramontes did not hear Van Dyke order McDonald to “drop the knife” before shooting him, then it cannot be true that Viramontes witnessed McDonald ignore the order before Van Dyke shot him. At no time did Viramontes correct or clarify this false statement.

Viramontes’s false statements served to materially exaggerate the danger McDonald posed to Van Dyke and Walsh. In this context, Viramontes’s statements can be seen as a deliberate attempt to establish the false narrative that Van Dyke shot an oncoming McDonald in response to McDonald’s potentially deadly knife attack. That both of Viramontes’s false statements serve to establish this false narrative undermines any suggestion that they were the products of mistake or misapprehension. Far removed from any pressure or confusion surrounding rapidly unfolding events, in his OIG interview, Viramontes was given the opportunity to correct, clarify, or explain his false statements. He was shown video of the shooting which objectively contradicts his statements, and still he stood by them. The only available conclusion, then, is that Viramontes was not mistaken or confused, but rather that he intentionally made false statements.

VI. RECOMMENDATION

Viramontes’s false statements raise significant concerns regarding his credibility and ability to perform his duties as a sworn officer. As a sworn officer, Viramontes’s reports are relied upon in criminal legal proceedings and his credibility is therefore critical to his position. An officer who has made false statements in an official investigation has irrevocably tainted his credibility and has wholly disqualified himself from effectively executing core police functions. Based on this conduct he may be the subject of cross-examination in any contested proceedings in which he may appear as a witness, see FED. R. EVID. 608(b) (“Specific instances of conduct”), and his conduct and the findings resulting from this investigation would further qualify as impeachment material that should, in principle, be disclosed in any contested proceeding involving the official records or testimony Viramontes generates. See Giglio v. United States, 405 U.S. 150 (1972) (requiring disclosure in criminal case of information impeaching of government witness’s credibility). Illinois courts have repeatedly noted that “as the guardians of our laws, police officers are expected to act with integrity, honesty, and trustworthiness” and have found intentional false or misleading statements by police officers to be sufficient cause for termination. Rodriguez v. Weis, 408 Ill. App. 3d 663, 671 (1st Dist. 2011) (quoting Sindermann v. Civil Service Comm’n, 275 Ill. App. 3d 917, 928 (2nd Dist. 1995)). OIG therefore recommends that CPD discharge Viramontes and refer him for placement on the ineligible for rehire list maintained by the Department of Human Resources.

VII. CPD RULE VIOLATIONS

Rule 2 Any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department.

Rule 3 Any failure to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy or accomplish its goals.

Rule 14 Making a false report, written or oral.
Appendix A
This report consists of a summary of the evidence set out in the attached investigative materials and the Office of Inspector General’s (OIG’s) analysis of that evidence. An index of the investigative materials is attached.

I. INTRODUCTION

An OIG investigation has established that Joseph Walsh, a police officer for the Chicago Police Department (CPD) who was present when his partner Officer Jason Van Dyke shot Laquan McDonald on October 20, 2014, violated CPD Rules and Regulations during the subsequent investigations of McDonald’s shooting. More specifically, and as detailed further below, Walsh made numerous false statements and material omissions during his subsequent interviews with CPD and the Independent Police Review Authority (IPRA). In addition, Walsh filed a false Tactical Response Report (TRR) and a false Officer’s Battery Report (OBR) regarding his encounter with McDonald. Walsh’s false reports, false statements, and material omissions all served to exaggerate the threat McDonald posed. OIG’s investigation further established that Walsh failed to follow CPD Rules regarding the operation of CPD’s in-car video systems. Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD discharge Walsh and refer him for placement on the ineligible for rehire list maintained by the Department of Human Resources.

II. APPLICABLE RULES, REGULATIONS, AND LAW

A. CPD Rules and Regulations

CPD’s Rules and Regulations set out the standards of conduct and duties of sworn members, as well as CPD goals. The Rules and Regulations state that sworn members must “conduct themselves at all times in such a manner as will reflect credit upon the Department with emphasis on personal integrity and professional devotion to law enforcement.”

Article V of the CPD Rules and Regulations, entitled CPD Rules of Conduct (the CPD Rules), sets forth specifically prohibited acts. In pertinent part, the CPD Rules include the following prohibitions:

Rule 2 Any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department.

Rule 3 Any failure to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy or accomplish its goals.

Rule 6 Disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral.

Rule 11 Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.
Rule 14      Making a false report, written or oral.

B. CPD Special Order S03-05 (effective February 23, 2012 through February 24, 2016)

CPD Special Orders are directives that establish protocols and procedures concerning specific CPD functions, operations, programs, or processes. Special Order S03-05 outlines the protocols CPD members are to follow regarding in-car video systems.1 Section VI of the Special Order provides that at the beginning of their tour of duty, Department members assigned to a CPD vehicle equipped with an in-car video system are to:

(1) visually inspect the in-car video system equipment for damage;
(2) obtain the remote transmitter/audio recorder and ensure it is securely attached to the member’s person; and
(3) follow the start-up procedures for the in-car video system as trained and ensure the system is working properly.

The Special Order notes that members are to “immediately notify a supervisor if, at any time, the in-car video system is inoperable, damaged, the equipped vehicle becomes inoperable, or the remote transmitter/audio recorder is missing.” During their tour, members are to “audibly and visually record events in accordance with this directive.” At the conclusion of a tour of duty, members are to “verify the in-car video system is working properly.”

III. J OSEPH WALSH EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

Walsh has worked as a CPD Police Officer since June 29, 1998. Walsh is a member of Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) Lodge 7.

IV. S UMMARY OF INVESTIGATION

A. Procedural History of OIG’s Investigation

By letter dated December 8, 2015, IPRA Acting Chief Administrator Sharon Fairley requested that OIG conduct an administrative investigation “to determine whether certain police officers/witnesses made false statements on official reports prepared in connection with [Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald] and/or during the investigation of the incident.”2 IPRA further requested that OIG investigate “whether any of the involved Chicago Police officers committed

1 In-car video systems are also referred to as dash cameras or dashcams in this report.

any other violation(s) of Chicago Police Department rules, policies or procedures in their involvement with the incident, including, but not limited to, whether any officers’ conduct may have interfered with or obstructed the appropriate investigation and handling of this matter.”

Then, by letter dated January 13, 2016, CPD Interim Superintendent John J. Escalante requested that OIG conduct an “administrative investigation into any and all allegations of police officer misconduct” arising out of the October 20, 2014 shooting death of McDonald. The Superintendent’s request asked OIG to investigate the following allegations: “whether any officer(s) made false statements on official reports submitted in connection with the shooting of Laquan McDonald on October 20, 2014; whether any officer(s) obstructed or interfered with the investigation of this incident, either individually or in collusion with others; and whether any officer(s) committed any violation of Chicago Police Department rules, policies, or orders in connection with their response and/or handling of this matter.” Escalante attached to the letter request a copy of Sergeant Sandra Soria’s Initiation Report, which raises allegations of misconduct related to the in-car video systems of the vehicles that were present during the McDonald shooting, and identified that Report as a basis for OIG’s administrative investigation.

OIG’s administrative investigation of other CPD employees’ actions related to the McDonald shooting is ongoing. During the course of its investigation, OIG has gathered documents from CPD and IPRA, among other sources, and conducted numerous interviews, including interviews of thirteen CPD personnel who were at or responded to the scene of the shooting and seven civilian witnesses to the shooting. To date in its ongoing investigation, OIG has recommended disciplinary action against multiple CPD personnel, sustaining allegations that they each put forth a false narrative regarding the shooting.

3 Section 6.1, Paragraph I of the CBA states, “If the allegation under investigation indicates a recommendation for separation is probable against the Officer, the Officer will be given the statutory administrative proceeding rights, or if the allegation indicates criminal prosecution is probable against the Office, the Officer will be given the constitutional rights concerning self-incrimination prior to the commencement of interrogation.” CPD General Order GO8-01-01, Paragraph K contains similar language.

B. The Events of October 20, 2014

The following sections detail the shooting of McDonald, as well as the relevant events that occurred directly before and after the shooting.5

1. and Barillas’ Encounter with McDonald6

 and Barillas were parking a truck in a lot at 41st Street and Kildare Avenue when saw a black male, who she subsequently identified as Laquan McDonald, attempting to steal property from certain vehicles parked in the lot. Barillas told McDonald to leave the lot. McDonald responded by making growling noises. After Barillas again told McDonald to leave the lot, McDonald pulled out a knife and swung it at Barillas. Barillas, who had already called 911, then threw his cell phone at McDonald.7 McDonald ran from the lot, first northbound on Kildare and then eastbound on 40th Street.

2. Officers Gaffney and McElligott’s Encounter with McDonald8

Officer Thomas Gaffney and his partner Officer Joseph McElligott received a call over the radio that someone had broken into a truck at 4100 South Kildare and were dispatched to the scene.9 Gaffney was driving and McElligott was in the passenger seat of their assigned vehicle, 815R.10

5 On April 22, 2016, OIG obtained maps of the locations that are relevant to the shooting from Google Maps and included those maps in Appendix A. Those maps generally reflect the street layout and location of relevant businesses as they were on the night of October 20, 2014.

6 The following account of and Barillas’ encounter with McDonald is taken from the March 16, 2015 case supplementary report (CSR) submitted by CPD Detective David March, which includes the statements that and Barillas provided to CPD on October 21, 2014, and October 22, 2014 respectively. OIG 15-0564 003077.

7 OEMC recordings reflect that Barillas called 911 at 9:45 p.m. stating that he was holding “a guy right hear [sic] that stolen [sic] the radios” from trucks in a truck yard located at “41st and Kildare.” OIG 15-0564 003227.

8 The following account of Gaffney and McElligott’s encounter with McDonald is taken from (1) the audio-recorded statements Gaffney and McElligott provided to IPRA on October 21, 2014, OIG 15-0564 000482-98, 000610-30; and (2) the March 16, 2015 CSR submitted by Detective David March, which includes the statements that Gaffney and McElligott provided to March on the night of the McDonald shooting. OIG 15-0564 003067–69.

9 OEMC records reflect that Gaffney and McElligott received the call at 9:47 p.m. OIG 15-0564 003691.

When they arrived at 4100 South Kildare, they saw a Hispanic male and female standing by the gate to the truck yard. The two said that a black male wearing a black shirt, later determined to be McDonald, had been trying to steal the radio out of a semi-truck and had subsequently headed north toward 40th Street.

Gaffney and McElligott drove north on Kildare, turned right onto 40th Street, and saw McDonald walking east on the south side of 40th Street. McElligott exited the vehicle and commanded McDonald to stop and turn around. Gaffney stayed in the vehicle in case McDonald attempted to flee. McElligott ordered McDonald to take his hands out of his pockets. McDonald, who had been facing McElligott, turned and walked away with one hand still in his pocket. McDonald then turned again and took both of his hands out of his pockets. He had a knife in his right hand. McElligott drew his weapon and told McDonald to drop the knife. McDonald started walking east again, going from the sidewalk to the street and back. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, shining his flashlight on him, while Gaffney followed in 815R, parallel to McDonald.

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Keeler, Gaffney reported to dispatch that McDonald was walking away with a knife in his hand. Gaffney and McElligott continued to follow McDonald as he headed east, with McElligott giving McDonald orders to drop his knife and stop. McDonald kept turning around and giving the officers a “weird glaze[d] look.”

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Karlov, Gaffney turned his car toward McDonald to direct him down Karlov. Gaffney wanted to keep McDonald away from Pulaski, which was a more populated area. McDonald then swung his arm and popped 815R’s right front tire with his knife. McElligott was toward the back of 815R when McDonald popped its tire. After McDonald took a step back from the vehicle, Gaffney pulled up further in front of him to stop him from proceeding to Pulaski. McDonald then hit the right side of 815R’s windshield once with the knife in his right hand. The windshield did not break, but according to Gaffney, McDonald hit it as hard as he could. McDonald walked around the front of 815R and continued eastward on 40th Street. After McDonald had walked 10 to 15 feet, another squad car turned off of Pulaski onto 40th Street with its lights on, and McDonald began to sprint. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, and Gaffney followed McDonald in 815R. McDonald ran

3. Summary of the Relevant Video Footage

The below table contains a summary of the relevant video footage of the McDonald shooting, which includes the dashcam videos from 813R and 845R, video from the “WNE fire exit” security camera from the Greater Chicago Food Depository, which is bordered by 40th Street to the north, Karlov Avenue to the east, and Keeler Avenue to the west, and the security camera video from the Dunkin’ Donuts, located at 4113 South Pulaski Road (the DD Camera).

4. CCSPD Officer Accounts of the October 20, 2014 McDonald Shooting

While on patrol on October 20, 2014, CCSPD Officers Adam Murphy and Jeff Pasqua observed several CPD police vehicles pass by them. Both officers decided to follow the CPD vehicles. When they arrived at the scene, several CPD vehicles were already present—Pasqua estimated it was five or six. McDonald was lying on the pavement “gasping for his last breath of air.” Pasqua OIG Tr. 11:22-23. Meanwhile, the CPD officers were “standing around” and talking to each other. Murphy OIG Tr. 11:1. Murphy noted the CPD officers did not respond to him when he asked if they needed assistance. Murphy stated:

> I see there’s blood all over the pavement. [McDonald] was kind of gurgling when he was sitting there. I remember his mouth was going open and closed like he was trying to gasp for air. And I looked for everybody else, and they were kind of standing there. I just started taking my gloves—my rubber gloves out to check for a pulse and to see if I could render aid.

Murphy OIG Tr. 12:18-13:2. He heard someone say an ambulance was en route. Both Officers Murphy and Pasqua recalled then watching McDonald take his final breaths. It was “[m]aybe less than a minute before [McDonald] expired.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:15-16. At no time did any CPD officers attempt to provide aid or comfort McDonald—Murphy stated, “That’s why I felt that I needed to go up to him.” Murphy OIG Tr. 14:11-12.

17 The last time stamp visible on the 813R dashcam video is 9:58:55.

19 The following CCSPD Officer accounts are taken from OIG’s June 23, 2016 interview of Jeff Pasqua and its June 24, 2015 interview of Adam Murphy. Pasqua and Murphy are currently CCSPD investigators.

20 The Medical Examiner’s Case Report states McDonald was pronounced dead “on view” at Mount Sinai Medical Center on October 20, 2014, at 10:42 p.m. OIG 15-0564 015029.
After McDonald passed away, Murphy got up from beside him and noticed the shooting officer, who he now knows to be Van Dyke, “pacing back and forth in front of his car.” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:7-8. Murphy approached him and told him to sit down and drink water. As he was speaking with Van Dyke, Murphy “heard several officers telling [Van Dyke] to ‘call your union rep, call your union rep.’” Murphy OIG Tr. 15:16-17.

Murphy and Pasqua departed after approximately ten minutes on the scene when a CPD sergeant told them CPD did not need their assistance. At the time they left, there was “[a] sea of CPD” on scene. Murphy OIG Tr. 38:3; Pasqua OIG Tr. 25:7-8.

C. Walsh’s Reports Concerning the McDonald Shooting

1. Walsh’s October 21, 2014 Tactical Response Report

2. Walsh’s Officer’s Battery Report

Walsh completed and submitted an Officer’s Battery Report (OBR) with the R.D. No. HX475653 regarding his October 20, 2014 encounter with McDonald. The OBR form states that an OBR is to be completed when “a sworn member is the victim of a murder, aggravated battery, battery, aggravated assault, or assault while performing a police function either on-duty or off-duty.”

21 OIG 15-0564 003317–18.

22 According to CPD General Order G03-02-05, effective from October 1, 2002, to October 30, 2014, a TRR is used to document, among others, all incidents “involving the discharge of . . . a firearm,” or “which involve a subject fitting the definition of an assailant whose actions are directed against a Department member.”

23 Pursuant to the Illinois Criminal Code, a person commits battery when he or she knowingly and without legal justification “(1) causes bodily harm to an individual or (2) makes physical contact of an insulting or provoking nature with an individual.” 720 ILL. COMP. STAT. 5/12-3. A person commits assault when he or she, without lawful authority, “knowingly engages in conduct which places another in reasonable apprehension of receiving a battery.” 720 ILL. COMP. STAT. 5/12-1.

25 See also Special Order S04-13-01, issued on December 28, 2012, which outlines the procedures to be followed for the preparation of an OBR.
In the OBR OIG obtained from CPD, Walsh stated that three officers were battered.\(^{26}\) Under the heading titled “Manner of Attack,” Walsh marked the box labeled “stabbed/cut (including actual attempt).” Under the heading titled “Type of Manner/Threat,” Walsh wrote: “Swinging Knife.”

D. Walsh’s Statements Regarding the McDonald Shooting

1. Walsh’s October 20, 2014 Statement to Detective March\(^{27}\)

On March 15, 2015, Detective David March submitted a case supplementary report (CSR) with the R.D. Number HX475653 that contains a summary of CPD’s investigation.\(^{28}\) Lieutenant Anthony Wojcik approved the CSR on March 16, 2015. Included in that CSR is a summary of the statement that March obtained from Walsh at the scene of the shooting, which states in relevant part as follows:

As Laquan McDonald ran eastbound through the Burger King parking lot, Walsh used the police vehicle he was driving to block McDonald from entering the restaurant.

As McDonald ran southbound on Pulaski Road, from the Burger King, Walsh pursued McDonald in the police vehicle. Walsh drove southbound in the northbound lanes to get ahead of McDonald, keeping the police vehicle between McDonald and a Dunkin’ Donuts restaurant, on the east side of Pulaski. As their vehicle passed McDonald, Officer Van Dyke opened the right front door of their vehicle, to exit the truck and confront McDonald. Walsh, realizing that at this point they were too close to the armed McDonald to safely exit the vehicle, told Van Dyke to wait until they got further ahead of McDonald. Walsh drove further south on Pulaski. He stopped his vehicle south of McDonald and exited the driver’s door as Van Dyke exited the right side of the vehicle. Walsh drew his handgun when he exited the vehicle.

Officer Walsh came around the rear of the police vehicle and joined Officer Van Dyke on the right side of the vehicle. Walsh also stood in the street on Pulaski, facing northbound, as McDonald walked southbound toward the officers. Walsh

\(^{26}\) During Walsh’s March 8, 2016 interview, see infra § IV(F), Walsh produced an OBR containing the same information as the OBR OIG obtained from CPD, but which asked how many officers were “assaulted or battered.”

\(^{27}\) OIG 15-0564 003066–67.

\(^{28}\) CPD’s investigation in the aftermath of the McDonald shooting was reported under record number HX-475653, and most reports were classified as an investigation into an aggravated assault in which McDonald was the offender. In a few reports, the case was classified as an investigation into a justifiable homicide of which McDonald was the victim. An additional record number was also created and classified as a justifiable homicide, apparently for recordkeeping purposes. In CPD’s investigative reports classified under the aggravated assault, CPD personnel drew conclusions about the propriety and lawfulness of Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald. This raises questions about CPD’s role in investigating a police-involved shooting in light of IPRA’s jurisdiction over the matter.
ordered McDonald to “Drop the knife!” multiple times as McDonald approached the officers.

Officer Walsh also backed up, attempting to maintain a safe distance between himself and McDonald. McDonald ignored the verbal direction given by both Walsh and Officer Van Dyke, and continued to advance toward the officers. When McDonald got to within 12 to 15 feet of the officers he swung the knife toward the officers in an aggressive manner. Van Dyke opened fire with his handgun and McDonald fell to the ground. Van Dyke continued firing his weapon at McDonald as McDonald continued moving on the ground, attempting to get up, while still armed with the knife.

When the gunfire stopped and McDonald was not moving anymore, Walsh approached McDonald with Van Dyke. Walsh continued to order McDonald to “Drop the knife!” multiple times, as McDonald was still holding the knife in his right hand. Walsh forcibly kicked the knife out of McDonald’s hand and then notified the dispatcher on the police radio that shots had been fired by the police. An ambulance was also requested for McDonald.

As they waited for the ambulance to respond to the scene, Officer Walsh told McDonald to ‘hang in there,’ and that an ambulance was on the way.

Officer Walsh said he believed McDonald was attacking Walsh and Officer Van Dyke with the knife and attempting to kill them when the shots were fired. Walsh stated he did not fire his handgun because Van Dyke was in the line of fire between Walsh and McDonald. Walsh thought Van Dyke fired eight or nine shots total.29

2. Walsh’s October 21, 2014 IPRA Interview30

On October 21, 2014, at 5:47 a.m., IPRA investigator Brian Killen interviewed Walsh at Area Central Police Headquarters, located at 5101 South Wentworth, regarding the McDonald shooting. The interview took place at 5:47 a.m. Walsh was accompanied by attorney Dan Herbert and FOP Field Representative Kriston Kato. Prior to the interview, Killen informed Walsh that “any intentional falsification to any answer to any question would be in direct violation of Department rules and regulations,” and that his “failure to provide a complete and accurate account of th[e] incident could result in a finding of a violation of Rule 14 with discipline leading up to and including separation from the Chicago Police Department.” Walsh IPRA Tr. 3:10-21. Walsh stated that he understood the potential disciplinary consequences of making a false statement to IPRA and providing a less than complete account of the shooting to IPRA. Walsh stated in relevant part as follows.

Walsh started work at 9 p.m. on October 20, 2014. Van Dyke was Walsh’s partner that night, and they were assigned to beat 845R. Walsh and Van Dyke were both in full uniform and were assigned vehicle 6412, a marked Chevy Tahoe.\footnote{Walsh also referred to vehicle 6412 as 845R.} Walsh was the driver of the vehicle, and Van Dyke was the passenger.

Walsh and Van Dyke were at a 7-11 near 5900 South Pulaski when they received a call over the radio stating that 815R had requested assistance regarding a man with a knife near 40th and Pulaski. Walsh and Van Dyke left the 7-11 parking lot and drove to 40th and Pulaski. Walsh pulled into the Burger King parking lot because there was a civilian standing on the north side of 40th Street, pointing in the direction of the parking lot. Walsh then observed a black male in the Burger King parking lot running with a knife in his right hand and being followed by Officer McElligott. Walsh gave chase in the 845R vehicle and positioned the vehicle so that McDonald could not get into the Burger King. McDonald ran past the Burger King, across the sidewalk on Pulaski, and headed southbound on Pulaski in the southbound lanes. Walsh jumped the curb over the sidewalk in the 845R vehicle and headed southbound in the northbound lanes, ultimately passing McDonald:

\begin{verbatim}
IPRA: And what happens then?
Walsh: Um exit the my vehicle along with Officer Van Dyke. Uh I run uh to the back of my vehicle and um I drew my weapon and I began to give verbal commands yelling drop the knife numerous times.

IPRA: And whaddoes [sic] the offender do?
Walsh: Continues to run in my direction. Uh flailing a knife in his right hand. And um continue towards us.

IPRA: Does he close the distance?
Walsh: Yes he does.

IPRA: Okay. And how close does he get to you, to you I guess? If you had to guess.
Walsh: Uh I back up uh and retreat several feet while he was closin’ the distance approximately 12 to 15 feet.
\end{verbatim}

\footnote{Walsh also referred to vehicle 6412 as 845R.}
IPRA: If you had to guess distance between Officer Van Dyke and the offender?

Walsh: Ten feet.

IPRA: Does the offender continuously approach?

Walsh: Yes.

IPRA: Has the knife in his hand?

Walsh: Yes.

IPRA: You said he was flailing it?

Walsh: Yes.

Walsh IPRA Tr. 11:13-12:32.

Van Dyke then discharged his weapon, firing eight or nine times, causing McDonald to fall to the ground. Walsh did not fire because Van Dyke was in his line of fire. Walsh approached McDonald as he was on the ground and told him to drop the knife. McDonald refused so Walsh stepped on his hand and kicked the knife from McDonald’s clenched fist. Walsh then called on the radio to report shots fired by the police. When asked by IPRA whether everything he stated was “a true and accurate account of what occurred,” Walsh said, “Yes.” Walsh IPRA Tr. 15:8-10.

E. Records and Interviews Concerning 845R’s In-Car Video System

On October 21, 2014, CPD Sergeant Lance Becvar submitted a supplementary report for R.D. No. HX475653 concerning his retrieval of video from the in-car video systems of the five CPD vehicles that were on-scene when Van Dyke shot McDonald.32 With respect to 845R (also referred to as Vehicle 6412), the vehicle Walsh was driving on October 20, 2014, Becvar noted “video recovered.” Becvar also completed a corresponding “In Car Camera Video Retrieval Worksheet” regarding his October 20, 2014 video retrieval, in which he made the following notation with respect to 845R: “No mics; mic charger disconnected.”33

On July 17, 2015, Becvar sent an email summarizing his findings regarding his October 20, 2014 video retrieval from 845R and the other four CPD vehicles that were on scene when Van Dyke shot McDonald.34 With respect to 845R, Becvar stated as follows: “Video recovered

32 OIG 15-0564 004991.

33 OIG 15-0564 004992.

34 OIG 15-0564 000567.
PC0S571@20141020215250 view out of focus. Foucing [sic] problem found to be related to a loose cable connection for the camera. No MICs in vehicle and the charging cradles disconnected from power.”

In a January 27, 2016 interview with Sergeant Becvar, he stated that the cable connector must have been pulled out of 845R’s in-car video system or loosened from vibration. Becvar OIG Tr.
74:15-18. He estimated the chances that the cable disconnected from vibration at 10 or 15 percent. With respect to the charging cradles, Becvar stated that they plug into the bottom of the chargers and “vibrate loose or people possibly take them out.” Becvar OIG Tr. 80:8. Becvar also stated that if a vehicle’s microphones were synced and functioning, its in-car video display and the recovered video would both show an on-screen “M1” (driver mic) and an “M2” (passenger mic). Becvar’s statement is corroborated by the in-car video system user manual, which establishes that officers are able to see “M1” and “M2” displayed on their in-car video system in real time as it is recording if the microphones are properly connected. The user manual further reflects that the in-car video system display contains a “camera preview” that “displays the image as seen through the camera lens. The default image is set as the front facing camera.”

In OIG’s March 8, 2016 interview with Walsh, Walsh said he was driving 845R on the evening of October 20, 2014; that vehicle had an in-car video system. Walsh was generally not assigned 845R; each work day he drove a different vehicle.

As of October 2014, Walsh had worked in police vehicles with in-car video systems for approximately five years. Walsh was familiar with the in-car video system and the protocols that governed it. Walsh received a one-day in-service training course at the police academy regarding CPD Special Order S03-05, which governs CPD members’ use of the in-car video systems.

 Walsh was aware that police officers are supposed to visually inspect the in-car video system equipment for damage at the beginning of their tour of duty. Walsh was also aware that police officers (1) are required to follow the start-up procedures for the in-car video system as trained and (2) are to notify a supervisor if at any time the in-car video system becomes inoperable. The start-up procedures involve testing to see if the system is functional by turning the light bar on.
Once the light bar is on, the camera turns on and one can see if it is working. Officers are also supposed to sync the system’s mics by taking them and placing them into a station that is built into the vehicle.

35 The video recovered from 845R’s in-car video system on October 20, 2014 does not show an “M1” or an “M2.”

38 For a more detailed summary of OIG’s interview of Walsh, see infra § IV(F).
Walsh could not recall having any issues with 845R’s in-car video system prior to October 20, 2014. Walsh could also not recall what procedures he followed with respect to 845R’s in-car video system on October 20, 2014. More specifically, Walsh could not recall whether he (1) visually inspected 845R’s in-car video system for damage; (2) logged into 845R’s in-car video system after entering the vehicle; (3) synced 845R’s microphones; or (4) verified that 845R’s mics were synced and operational.

Walsh did not know why 845R’s in-car video system had a loose cable connection. He denied intentionally loosening or disconnecting cables connected to 845R’s in-car video system. Walsh also denied intentionally tampering with 845R’s in-car video system.

Walsh acknowledged that there was no audio accompanying the video that was recovered from 845R’s in-car video system on the night of October 20, 2014. Walsh did not know why 845R’s in-car video system did not capture any audio that night. Walsh conceded that 845R’s emergency lights were activated in the minutes prior to the McDonald shooting and therefore the vehicle’s in-car video system should have been capturing audio and video footage. Walsh denied disconnecting 845R’s microphone charging cable.

Walsh admitted that he did not call his supervisor to report that 845R’s in-car video system was not functioning properly. Walsh claimed that “normal practice” is to notify one’s sergeant of any in-car video system issues at 10:30 p.m., when the sergeant logs in, but acknowledged that he never notified his sergeant of the inoperability of 845R’s in-car video system at any time.

F. OIG Interview of Walsh

On February 22, 2016, pursuant to Section 6.1 of the CBA between CPD and FOP, OIG, through CPD’s Bureau of Internal Affairs, served Walsh with a Notification of Interview, Notification of Allegations, and copies of his prior statements, including (1) his October 20, 2014 statement to Detective March, contained in the March 16, 2015 CSR, (2) Detective March’s GPR containing his handwritten notes of his interview of Walsh, and (3) Walsh’s October 21, 2014 statement to IPRA. In addition, OIG provided Walsh with the dashcam footage from 813R and 845R and the security camera footage from Dunkin’ Donuts.39

On March 8, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed Walsh under oath after informing him of his administrative advisements orally and in writing. He provided oral and written acknowledgement of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Officer Walsh was accompanied by his attorney Colleen Daly.

At his March 8, 2016 OIG interview, Walsh, citing Section 6.1, paragraph I of the applicable CBA and CPD General Order GO8-01-01, objected to the fact that OIG did not advise him of his constitutional rights concerning self-incrimination prior to the interview. Walsh further objected to the interview on the grounds that OIG did not provide him with a copy of every statement he made previously to the FBI and U.S. Attorney’s Office, including his grand jury testimony. Walsh ultimately answered all questions posed by OIG after being ordered by a superior officer to do so. In summary, Walsh stated as follows.

As of October 20, 2014, Walsh was a relief officer, meaning he filled in for absent officers and did not have a regular partner. Walsh had partnered with Van Dyke on one previous shift. Walsh does not socialize with Van Dyke.

Walsh spoke with Detective March less than an hour after the shooting occurred. Walsh was on foot, by the passenger side of 815R. Walsh’s sergeant was also present. March informed Walsh he was going to be the lead detective and asked Walsh if he shot McDonald. Walsh did not recall whether March asked him any other questions at the scene of the shooting. Walsh also had a five-minute conversation with Deputy Chief David McNaughton following McNaughton’s walk-through of the scene with Van Dyke. Walsh and McNaughton discussed Walsh’s arrival to the scene and the location of the shooting. Later, while sitting in the 845R vehicle, Walsh told Van Dyke that he should call his family to let them know he may not be home in the morning. Walsh also had a conversation at the scene of the shooting with FOP representative Marlon Harvey while the two were in Walsh’s vehicle. Harvey told Walsh that Walsh would probably be talking to IPRA, going to Area Central to speak to detectives, and waiting on scene to do a walk-through with a street deputy.

Sergeant Franko drove Walsh and Van Dyke from the scene of the shooting to Area Central. Walsh did not have any conversations with Van Dyke during that trip. While at Area Central, Walsh spoke to Detective March alone in a small office. March asked Walsh about the shooting, but Walsh only had a vague recollection of their subsequent conversation. Walsh did not recall whether March took notes during that interview.

1. Walsh’s Statement to Detective March

Walsh said that the statement Detective March attributed to him in the March 16, 2015 CSR accurately reflected what Walsh told March on the night of October 20, 2014. When asked whether there were any statements attributed to him in the CSR that were inaccurate, Walsh noted with respect to the statement, “Walsh also stood in the street on Pulaski facing northbound as McDonald walked southbound towards the officers,” that he did not think he used the term “walk.” Walsh, however, was not sure what alternative word he used. Walsh considered all his other statements in the CSR to be accurate. According to Walsh, his statement in the CSR captured all the substantive details of the McDonald shooting that he provided to March.

Walsh stood by his statements to March that:

- McDonald ignored the verbal directive he and Van Dyke gave him to drop the knife and continued to advance toward Walsh and Van Dyke;
- McDonald swung a knife toward Walsh and Van Dyke when McDonald got within 12 to 15 feet of them;
McDonald was attacking and attempting to kill Walsh and Van Dyke when Van Dyke shot McDonald; and

McDonald was attempting to get up after Van Dyke opened fire and McDonald fell to the ground.

Walsh also made the following statement when asked about each of these statements: “That is how I recalled it.” Walsh OIG Tr. 140:12, 142:7, 143:13, 144:5, 146:9.

With respect to his statement to Detective March that Van Dyke fired eight or nine shots total, Walsh stated that he did not stand by his previous statement. Walsh subsequently learned that Van Dyke fired 16 shots. He learned that information at Area Central during the investigation the night of the shooting.

When asked why he did not tell March that (1) McDonald changed the direction in which he was walking prior to the shooting; or (2) he and Van Dyke moved toward McDonald prior to the shooting, Walsh stated that he did not intentionally leave anything out. Walsh added that, from his review of the video, he “did not move forward.” Walsh OIG Tr. 143:1-2.

2. Walsh’s October 21, 2014 IPRA Interview

OIG asked Walsh about several of the statements he made in his October 21, 2014 IPRA interview. Walsh stood by his statement to IPRA that McDonald continuously closed the distance between McDonald and Walsh and Van Dyke. Walsh also stood by his statement to IPRA that McDonald flailed a knife in his right hand while continuing to run in Walsh’s direction. However, Walsh noted that after looking at the video, McDonald appeared to be “trot[ting]” as opposed to running. Walsh OIG Tr. 76:4-6.

When OIG asked Walsh why he did not tell IPRA that McDonald changed the direction in which he was walking prior to being shot by Van Dyke, Walsh responded: “I did not intentionally leave out anything. That was my perception of what I recalled.” Walsh OIG Tr. 76:21-23. When asked whether he considered McDonald’s change of direction, away from Walsh and Van Dyke, relevant to IPRA’s inquiry, Walsh responded: “At the time it was my perception of what was occurring in my mind, and I thought that I gave an accurate statement.” Walsh OIG Tr. 77:5-7.

With respect to Walsh’s statement to IPRA that he backed up and retreated several feet from McDonald, Walsh stated: “I was in fear and that’s why I retreated.” Walsh OIG Tr. 79:7-8. Walsh later added that: “I came around my vehicle and passed the rear of my vehicle and realized that McDonald was advancing too closely, and then I retreated back.” Walsh OIG Tr. 80:13-16. Walsh claimed he retreated “several feet.” Walsh OIG Tr. 80:18.

When asked whether he stood by his statement to IPRA that he provided a true and accurate account of the McDonald shooting to IPRA, Walsh stated: “I never made any intentional false statements of any kind. I answered each question truthfully in response to how I recalled the incident.” Walsh OIG Tr. 82:8-11. With respect to the allegation that Walsh provided a false narrative to IPRA regarding the McDonald shooting, Walsh first noted that on page 14 of his IPRA interview transcript he stated that he called for an ambulance, but actually Officer Dora Fontaine called for the ambulance. Walsh then stated that other than that one correction, he stood by his prior statement to IPRA.

3. Walsh’s October 21, 2014 TRR

Walsh completed his October 21, 2014 TRR at a desk computer located on the second floor of the Detective Division at Area Central; Walsh was logged on to CPD’s CLEAR system. Walsh said that someone requested he complete the TRR, but he could not recall who. Sergeant Franko was present at Area Central when Walsh was completing the TRR and supplied Walsh with certain information, such as the RD number, the address of the incident, and the time of its occurrence. Walsh did not recall Franko supplying him with more substantive information regarding the incident. FOP representative Marlon Harvey was standing behind Walsh as he filled out the TRR in case he needed any assistance completing the form. Walsh denied that Harvey provided him any information that he put in the TRR. Walsh made the decision as to what boxes to check in the TRR based on what he experienced and the information he gathered. Prior to October 20, 2014, Walsh had completed nine TRRs.

Walsh said he stood by his checking of the box in the TRR marked “imminent threat of battery.” Walsh also stood by his checking of the box in the TRR marked “attack with weapon,” stating that his entry was based on the “totality of the circumstances of the entire incident,” and his knowledge that McDonald had punctured a tire on a vehicle. Walsh OIG Tr. 103:17-22. Walsh initially stated that he was not asserting in the TRR that McDonald attacked him or Van Dyke with a weapon. Rather, it was only McDonald’s attack on Officer Gaffney to which he was referring:

OIG: When you marked “attacked with weapon,” were you asserting that Laquan McDonald attacked yourself, Officer Walsh, with a weapon?

Walsh: No.

OIG: You weren’t. Okay. Were you asserting that Laquan McDonald attacked Officer Van Dyke with a weapon?

Walsh: No.

40 Franko, in his June 13, 2016 OIG interview, acknowledged that he might have provided Walsh certain factual information, such as the shooting location and time, but denied providing Walsh any more substantive direction regarding how to complete the TRR or OBR.

41 Harvey, in his June 10, 2016 OIG interview, stated that he did not recall assisting Walsh with the completion of his TRR or OBR.
OIG: It was only Officer—the attack on Officer Gaffney and McElligott’s vehicle that you were referring to there?

Walsh: Yes.

Walsh OIG Tr. 104:18-105:7.

However, Walsh subsequently acknowledged that when he marked the box on the TRR labeled “Did not follow verbal direction,” Walsh was referring to McDonald’s failure to follow his (Walsh’s) verbal direction, not Gaffney or McElligott’s. Walsh further acknowledged that he marked the box labeled “Member presence,” meaning Walsh was present at the scene of the attack. Walsh was not present when Gaffney and McElligott had their interaction with McDonald. When asked why he marked the member presence box when he was supposedly referring to Gaffney’s encounter with McDonald, Walsh stated that “at the final moment when [McDonald] had raised the knife and come across his body with the knife, that is an attack with a weapon.” Walsh OIG Tr. 108:17-19. Walsh explained that right before or at the time McDonald was first shot, McDonald raised his knife with his right hand across his body. Walsh considered that movement to be an attack with a weapon on him. Walsh then claimed it was that movement he was referring to when he checked the “imminent threat of battery” box in the TRR.

Walsh stood by his second explanation for marking the “uses force likely to cause death or great bodily harm” box in the TRR, and said that he was referring to “the very moment [McDonald] raised that knife and directed it in our direction while he was continuing to move and he was coming from south—going southbound on Pulaski.” Walsh OIG Tr. 110:16-19.

According to Walsh, he, Van Dyke, and Gaffney filled out TRRs because it was determined through the Detective Division’s investigation that they were all victims of assaults. Walsh did not know how that determination was reached and said he was not a part of that process.

4. Walsh’s October 21, 2014 OBR

After Walsh completed the TRR, he immediately began completing an OBR. An officer is to complete an OBR when he or she is a victim of an assault or battery. Walsh knew he had to complete an OBR with respect to the McDonald shooting because he was documented as a victim of an assault. Walsh completed the OBR on the same computer he completed the TRR. Walsh did not recall whether he consulted with Franko or Harvey during his completion of the OBR. After Walsh submitted the TRR and OBR electronically, he informed Franko in person that he had completed the forms. It is Walsh’s general practice to review the TRRs and OBRs he completes before sending them on to his sergeant for approval. Walsh was never contacted or asked any follow-up questions regarding the TRR or OBR he submitted.

Walsh acknowledged that he was not battered by McDonald on October 20, 2014. When asked about his statement in the OBR that three officers were battered on October 20, 2014, Walsh stated that the OBR form he completed on October 21, 2014, asked him to name the number of officers who were assaulted or battered.\footnote{During his interview, Walsh produced an OBR, containing the same information as the October 21, 2014 OBR Walsh completed, which required Walsh to identify how many officers were assaulted or battered.} Walsh claimed that McDonald committed an assault on him, Gaffney, and Van Dyke, and that the nature of his assault was “[b]eing an armed offender with a knife, displaying it, and swinging it in our direction while he was moving.” Walsh OIG Tr. 123:24-124:2.

Walsh stood by his selection of “stabbed/cut (including actual attempt)” on the OBR. When asked when McDonald attempted to stab Walsh and Van Dyke, Walsh responded: “the totality of the circumstances along with stabbing the tire and upon swinging the knife.” Walsh OIG Tr. 125:24-126:2. Walsh interpreted McDonald’s swinging of his knife as an attempted stabbing of him and Van Dyke.

V. \textbf{ANALYSIS}

OIG’s investigation established that Officer Joseph Walsh made numerous false statements and material omissions in his interviews with CPD and IPRA regarding the McDonald shooting. In addition, Walsh filed a false Tactical Response Report and a false Officer’s Battery Report regarding his encounter with McDonald. Walsh’s false reports, false statements, and material omissions all served a similar purpose: to exaggerate the threat posed by McDonald. Walsh’s actions embody the “code of silence” that has no legitimate place in CPD and are contradictory to CPD’s stated values and official policies. Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD discharge Walsh.

Walsh’s actions, individually and collectively, constitute violations of CPD Rules. Each of Walsh’s false statements constitutes a violation of CPD Rule 14 (making a false report, written or oral). His false statements also constitute violations of Rule 2 (engaging in any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department) and Rule 3 (failing to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy and accomplish its goals). An officer who has made false statements in an official investigation has irrevocably tainted not only his credibility, but also the credibility of CPD and fails to promote CPD’s goal of employing officers with personal integrity and professional devotion to law enforcement. Walsh further violated Rule 6 (disobedience of an order, namely S03-05) and Rule 11 (incompetency in the performance of a duty) by failing to audibly record events with his in-car video system and failing to notify his supervisor about the system’s inoperability. Accordingly, OIG recommends that CPD discharge Walsh.

A. \textbf{Walsh’s False Statements to Detective March}

Walsh made several statements to Detective March on the night of October 20, 2014, regarding the McDonald shooting that are clearly contradicted by the 813R and Dunkin Donuts videos, the most objective and reliable evidence of the events that night. Most notably:

- McDonald did not advance toward Walsh after Walsh exited his vehicle
As described in the Relevant Video Footage summary chart set forth above, see supra § IV(B)(3), by the time Van Dyke and Walsh exited their vehicle, McDonald was walking in a southwest direction away from Van Dyke and Walsh, who at all times prior to the shooting were east of McDonald. Thus, at no time during the encounter between McDonald and Walsh and Van Dyke did McDonald advance toward the two officers. Rather, it was the officers who moved northward or west/southwestward, toward McDonald, as he continued to walk in a southwest direction.

- Walsh did not back up several feet prior to Van Dyke shooting McDonald

The video evidence further reflects that Walsh did not back away from McDonald prior to the shooting. Rather, Walsh moved northward and then westward toward McDonald, and then moved parallel to McDonald, crossing almost the entire left-turn lane on Pulaski in a southwest direction as McDonald continued to walk in a southwest direction. Walsh never moved in a way that increased the distance between himself and McDonald. Rather, the video evidence shows that Walsh either moved toward McDonald, moved parallel to McDonald, or stayed still.

- McDonald did not swing a knife toward Walsh and Van Dyke

The 813R dashcam video also evidences that McDonald did not swing a knife in the direction of Walsh and Van Dyke. Seconds prior to the shooting, McDonald moved the knife from his right hip to the right side of his lower back, but this modest movement of the knife was not in the direction of Walsh and Van Dyke—Walsh and Van Dyke were in front of McDonald and to his left, and McDonald moved his knife behind his back, not in front of his body.

- McDonald did not attempt to kill Walsh and Van Dyke

For the reasons stated above, the objective evidence presented in the videos cannot be squared with Walsh’s claim that McDonald was attempting to kill Walsh and Van Dyke.

- McDonald did not attempt to get up after he was shot and fell to the ground

Finally, the 813R dashcam video reveals that McDonald did not attempt to get up after he fell to the ground. Upon being shot and falling to the street, McDonald never moved his legs or lower body. McDonald’s upper body only makes small, intermittent movements as what appear to be puffs of smoke rise from his body. Those small movements are not suggestive of a person trying to get to his feet. Accordingly, Walsh’s statement that McDonald attempted to get up after he was shot is demonstrably false.

During Walsh’s interview with OIG, when asked about the above false statements, he made some attempt to suggest that he may have unintentionally provided an inaccurate account of events to Detective March. See Walsh OIG Tr. 140:12, 142:7, 143:13, 144:5, 146:9 (repeatedly stating “That is how I recalled it” when asked about the above false statements). However, Walsh ultimately stood by the accuracy of those statements, even after reviewing the relevant Walsh’s ratification of his previous statements to March undercuts any claim that Walsh made those statements due to a misapprehension of quickly unfolding events.

Notably, all of Walsh’s false statements served to exaggerate the danger McDonald posed to Van Dyke and Walsh. In this context, Walsh’s statements can be seen as a deliberate attempt to establish the false narrative that a back-pedaling Van Dyke shot an onrushing McDonald in response to McDonald’s potentially deadly knife attack. The video evidence puts a lie to Walsh’s narrative. In addition, Walsh made multiple material omissions in his statement to March, reinforcing that false narrative. In particular, Walsh failed to state that McDonald was walking away from Van Dyke and Walsh prior to the shooting and that Van Dyke and Walsh moved toward McDonald prior to the shooting.

B. Walsh’s False Statements to IPRA

Walsh repeated his false narrative of the McDonald shooting to IPRA during his October 21, 2014 interview with Investigator Killen. Specifically, Walsh again stated that McDonald closed the distance between McDonald and Van Dyke and that Walsh backed up several feet while McDonald was closing in on him and Van Dyke. As detailed above, however, Walsh’s statements are contradicted by the video evidence. In addition, Walsh failed to state to IPRA that McDonald was walking away from Van Dyke and Walsh prior to the shooting and that Van Dyke and Walsh moved toward McDonald prior to the shooting. Walsh’s repetition of these false statements and material omissions to two separate investigative bodies demonstrates the deliberate nature of his false testimony.

C. False Statements in Walsh’s TRR and OBR

Walsh also asserted his false narrative of the McDonald shooting in the official CPD reports he submitted regarding his encounter with McDonald. In his TRR, Walsh claimed that McDonald (1) used force likely to cause death or great bodily harm to Walsh; (2) attacked Walsh with a weapon; and (3) created an imminent threat of battery. Walsh initially claimed that he was referring to McDonald’s encounter with Gaffney and McElligott, and not his own encounter with McDonald, when he checked the boxes marked “Attack with Weapon” and “Uses Force Likely to Cause Death or Great Bodily Harm,” effectively conceding that McDonald did not attack him with a weapon. See Walsh OIG Tr. 104:18-105:7. After OIG informed Walsh that his TRR stated that Walsh was present during the attack he identified, Walsh then asserted that McDonald raised his knife with his right hand across his body while he was in Walsh’s presence and that Walsh considered that movement to be an attack with a weapon on him. As outlined above, however, McDonald, while in Walsh’s presence, never swung his knife in a manner to cause

43 Walsh corrected certain aspects of his statement—he noted that he did not stand by his statement that Van Dyke shot McDonald eight or nine times and stated that he later learned that Van Dyke shot McDonald 16 times—but did not make, or seek to make, any such corrections with respect to any of the false statements referenced in this section.

44 As with his statement to Detective March, Walsh corrected certain aspects of his IPRA statement during his OIG interview. For instance, he noted that he incorrectly stated to IPRA that he called an ambulance when in actuality Officer Fontaine called the ambulance. However, Walsh did not make any such corrections with respect to the false statements referenced herein and, instead, stated that he stood by the accuracy of those statements.
death or great bodily harm to Walsh. In addition, McDonald was walking away from Walsh during the vast majority of the encounter. Thus, Walsh’s TRR constitutes a false report and represents an additional attempt by Walsh to exaggerate the threat McDonald posed.

In Walsh’s OBR, he similarly stated that McDonald attempted to stab him by swinging his knife at him. Accordingly, Walsh’s OBR also constitutes a false report.

D. Failure to Comply with Special Order S03-05

Walsh also violated Rule 6 (disobedience of an order) and Rule 11 (incompetency in the performance of a duty) by failing to audibly record events with his in-car video system and failing to notify his supervisor about the system’s inoperability as required by S03-05. As Walsh acknowledged, CPD did not recover any audio from 845R’s in-car video system. Sergeant Lance Becvar, who recovered the video from 845R’s in-car video system, found that the system’s charging cradles were disconnected from their power source and that the video was out of focus due to a loose cable connection. In addition, 845R’s dashcam video reflects that Walsh and Van Dyke did not connect their microphones to 845R’s in-car video system because there is no “M1” or “M2” symbol visible at the top of the video footage from October 20, 2014 as there would have been if the microphones were connected. If Walsh had properly followed the pre-tour of duty in-car video system protocols, he would have identified all these issues. Walsh also admitted that he never contacted his supervisor regarding the inoperability of 845R’s in-car video system. Thus, the evidence demonstrates that Walsh failed to follow the in-car video system procedures set forth in S03-05 on October 20, 2014.

VI. RECOMMENDATION

Walsh’s false statements and material omissions raise significant concerns regarding his credibility and ability to perform his duties as a sworn officer. As a sworn officer, Walsh’s reports are relied upon in criminal legal proceedings and his credibility is therefore critical to his position. An officer who has made false statements in an official investigation has irrevocably tainted his credibility and thus has wholly disqualified himself from effectively executing core police functions. Based on this conduct he may be the subject of cross-examination in any contested proceedings in which he may appear as a witness, see Fed. R. Evid. 608(b) (“Specific instances of conduct”), and his conduct and the findings resulting from this investigation would further qualify as impeachment material that should, in principle, be disclosed in any contested proceeding involving the official records or testimony generated by Walsh. See Giglio v. United States, 405 U.S. 150 (1972) (requiring disclosure in criminal case of information impeaching of government witness’s credibility). Illinois courts have repeatedly noted that “as the guardians of our laws, police officers are expected to act with integrity, honesty, and trustworthiness” and have found intentional false or misleading statements by police officers to be sufficient cause for termination. Rodriguez v. Weis, 408 Ill. App. 3d 663, 671 (1st Dist. 2011) (quoting Sindermann v. Civil Service Comm’n, 275 Ill. App. 3d 917, 928 (2nd Dist. 1995)). OIG therefore recommends that CPD discharge Walsh and refer him for placement on the ineligible for rehire list maintained by the Department of Human Resources.
VII. CPD RULE VIOLATIONS

Rule 2
Any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department.

Rule 3
Any failure to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy or accomplish its goals.

Rule 6
Disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral.

Rule 11
Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.

Rule 14
Making a false report, written or oral.
Appendix A
This report consists of a summary of the evidence set out in the attached investigative materials and the Office of Inspector General’s (OIG’s) analysis of that evidence. An index of the investigative materials is attached.

I. INTRODUCTION

An OIG investigation has established that Anthony Wojcik, a former Chicago Police Department (CPD) lieutenant who supervised CPD’s investigation of the events culminating in Officer Jason Van Dyke’s October 20, 2014 shooting of Laquan McDonald, violated CPD Rules and Regulations and brought discredit upon CPD by overseeing and participating in an untruthful, improperly documented, and unprofessional investigation of the shooting and by improperly disposing of material evidence during that investigation.

More specifically, and as detailed further below, Wojcik made false statements and misleading characterizations in CPD reports he authored and approved, which served to exaggerate the threat McDonald posed. Additionally, Wojcik improperly disposed of three original general progress reports containing CPD detectives’ handwritten notes of the statements three civilian witnesses made the night of the shooting. Prior to disposing of the original reports, which disposal he failed to document, Wojcik personally recreated the reports. However, Wojcik did not ask the detectives who had taken the statements to review the recreated reports for accuracy and did not inform them of his recreation of their original reports until several months after CPD officially closed its investigation of the shooting. In addition, Wojcik failed to ensure that the McDonald investigative team documented its loss of three additional original general progress reports, which also contained statements made by the three civilian witnesses. Wojcik’s actions brought discredit upon the department because they created the appearance of impropriety: namely, that Wojcik and the investigative team purposely destroyed evidence that ran counter to its findings.

Wojcik’s actions, individually and collectively, violated CPD Rules 2 (engaging in any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department), 3 (failing to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy and accomplish its goals), 6 (disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral), 11 (ineptitude in the performance of a duty), and 14 (making a false report, written or oral).

OIG would have recommended that CPD discharge Wojcik, but he resigned in May 2016 after OIG commenced this investigation. OIG therefore recommends that CPD issue a formal determination on OIG’s findings, and place this report in Wojcik’s personnel file for consideration in the event Wojcik applies for re-employment with the City. OIG further recommends that CPD, based on its findings, rescind Wojcik’s retirement identification card and retirement star, as Wojcik retired when he was the subject of an investigation that ultimately determined he engaged in misconduct warranting his discharge. In addition, OIG recommends that CPD communicate to the Illinois Retired Officer Concealed Carry (IROCC) program that Wojcik is not in “good standing” and should be removed from the program.

II. Applicable Rules, Regulations, and Law

A. CPD Rules and Regulations

The Rules and Regulations of the Chicago Police Department set out the standards of conduct and duties of sworn members, including supervisory members, as well as CPD goals. Article IV(C) of the Rules and Regulations states that sworn members must “conduct themselves at all times in such a manner as will reflect credit upon the Department with emphasis on personal integrity and professional devotion to law enforcement.” Article IV(B) provides that supervisory members “have the responsibility for the performance of all subordinates placed under them” and they “[r]emain accountable for the failure, misconduct or omission by their subordinates.”

Article V of the CPD Rules and Regulations, entitled CPD Rules of Conduct, sets forth specifically prohibited acts. In pertinent part, the CPD Rules of Conduct include the following prohibitions:

- Rule 2 Any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department.
- Rule 3 Any failure to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy or accomplish its goals.
- Rule 6 Disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral.
- Rule 11 Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.
- Rule 14 Making a false report, written or oral.

B. CPD Bureau of Detectives Special Orders

CPD Special Orders are directives that establish protocols and procedures concerning specific CPD functions, operations, programs, or processes.

Bureau of Detectives Special Order (BDSO) 14-13,\(^1\) titled “Reporting Guidelines,” which was in effect from November 13, 2014, to January 1, 2015, and was then re-issued on January 1, 2015, as BDSO 15-13, states that “[i]t is the policy of the Bureau of Detectives to comprehensively and

accurately document all steps taken during the course of an investigation.”2 The order further provides that “Bureau of Detectives supervisors are responsible for ensuring the timely submission and thorough review of all Supplementary Reports.”

BDSO 14-14, titled “Investigative Guidelines,” which was in effect from November 13, 2014, to January 1, 2015, and was then re-issued on January 1, 2015, as BDSO 15-14, states that it is “the responsibility of all members of the Bureau of Detectives to conduct thorough investigations into all criminal and certain non-criminal incidents, and to accurately document all interviews and investigative steps.”3 The order further states that “[a]ll evidence, whether inculpatory or exculpatory, will be identified, preserved, and documented.” Pursuant to the order, “Bureau of Detectives supervisors are responsible for ensuring the timely and comprehensive progression of all investigations and that all leads have been thoroughly pursued.”

BDSO 14-17, titled “Police Involved Shooting Guidelines,” which was in effect from November 13, 2014, to January 1, 2015, and was then re-issued on January 1, 2015, as BDSO 15-17, states that Area Violent Crimes Lieutenants are to, among other tasks, “oversee and direct all aspects of the investigation.”4

BDSO 14-22, titled “Justifiable Homicides,” which was in effect from December 8, 2014, to January 1, 2015, and was then re-issued on January 1, 2015, as BDSO 15-22, outlines the protocols that CPD members in the Bureau of Detectives are to follow regarding justifiable homicides.5 The order defines a justifiable homicide as either “the killing of a felon by a peace officer in the line of duty,” or “the killing of a felon by a private citizen during the commission of a felony.”6 Section III of BDSO 14-22 outlines reporting procedures for justifiable homicides and requires that:

A. “When an incident is determined to be a justifiable homicide, the assigned detective will obtain a second RD number. The first case will bear the classification of the crime the felon was committing. The second RD number

E. Detectives will state in their reports that no charges were placed at this time. They will not state that use of deadly force was justified.

III. LIEUTENANT WOJCIK’S EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

IV. SUMMARY OF INVESTIGATION

A. Procedural History of OIG’s Investigation

By letter, dated December 8, 2015, Independent Police Review Authority (IPRA) Acting Chief Administrator Sharon Fairley requested that OIG conduct an administrative investigation “to determine whether certain police officers/witnesses made false statements on official reports prepared in connection with [Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald] and/or during the investigation of the incident.” IPRA further requested that OIG investigate “whether any of the involved Chicago Police officers committed any other violation(s) of Chicago Police Department rules, policies or procedures in their involvement with the incident, including, but not limited to, whether any officers’ conduct may have interfered with or obstructed the appropriate investigation and handling of this matter.”

investigation of this incident, either individually or in collusion with others; and whether any officer(s) committed any violation of Chicago Police Department rules, policies, or orders in connection with their response and/or handling of this matter.” Escalante attached to the letter request a copy of Sergeant Sandra Soria’s Initiation Report, which raises allegations of misconduct related to the in-car video systems of the vehicles that were present during the McDonald shooting, and identified that Report as a basis for OIG’s administrative investigation.

On March 10, 2016, Kevin Kilmer, Financial Secretary for the FOP, filed a grievance with CPD on behalf of all affected members stating that OIG’s attempts to conduct CPD officer interviews violated Article 6 of CPD’s Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) with the FOP.8 On March 16, 2016, FOP on behalf of all impacted CPD officers filed a “Complaint for Injunction in Aid of Arbitration” in the Circuit Court of Cook County, asking the court to enjoin OIG from conducting interviews until the grievance was decided in arbitration.9 The court dismissed the complaint and denied the injunction on March 22, 2016.

During the course of its investigation, OIG has gathered documents from CPD and IPRA, among other sources, and conducted numerous interviews, including interviews of several CPD personnel who were at or responded to the scene of the shooting and civilian witnesses to the shooting. To date, OIG has recommended disciplinary action against multiple CPD personnel.

B. The Events of October 20, 2014

The following sections detail the shooting of McDonald, as well as the relevant events that occurred directly before and after the shooting.10

1. and Rudy Barillas’s Encounter with McDonald11

 and Rudy Barillas, were parking a truck in a lot at 41st Street and Kildare Avenue when saw a black male, whom she subsequently identified as McDonald, attempting to steal property from certain vehicles parked in the lot. Barillas told McDonald to leave the lot. McDonald responded by making growling noises. After Barillas again told McDonald to leave the lot, McDonald pulled out a knife and swung it at Barillas. Barillas, who had already called 911, then threw his cell phone at McDonald. McDonald ran from the lot, first northbound on Kildare and then eastbound on 40th Street.

2. Officers Thomas Gaffney and Joseph McElligott’s Encounter with McDonald

Officer Thomas Gaffney and his partner Officer Joseph McElligott received a call over the radio that someone had broken into a truck at 4100 South Kildare and were dispatched to the scene. Gaffney was driving, and McElligott was in the passenger seat of their assigned vehicle, 815R. When they arrived at 4100 South Kildare, they saw a Hispanic male and female standing by the gate to the truck yard. The two said that a black male wearing a black shirt, later determined to be McDonald, had been trying to steal the radio out of a semi-truck, and had subsequently headed north toward 40th Street.

12 OEMC recordings reflect that Barillas called 911 at 9:45 p.m. stating that he was holding “a guy right hear [sic] that stolen [sic] the radios” from trucks in a truck yard located at “41st and Kildare.” OIG 15-0564 003227.

13 The following account of Gaffney and McElligott’s encounter with McDonald is taken from (1) the audio-recorded statements Gaffney and McElligott provided to IPRA on October 21, 2014, OIG 15-0564 000482-98, 000610-30; and (2) the March 16, 2015 CSR submitted by Detective March, which includes the statements that Gaffney and McElligott provided to March on the night of the McDonald shooting. OIG 15-0564 003067–69.

McDonald then turned again and took both of his hands out of his pockets. He had a knife in his right hand. McElligott drew his weapon and told McDonald to drop the knife. McDonald started walking east again, going from the sidewalk to the street and back. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, shining his flashlight on him, while Gaffney followed in 815R, parallel to McDonald.

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Keeler, Gaffney reported to dispatch that McDonald was walking away with a knife in his hand.16 Gaffney and McElligott continued to follow McDonald as he headed east, with McElligott giving McDonald orders to drop his knife and stop. McDonald kept turning around and giving the officers a “weird glaze[d] look.” Gaffney IPRA Tr. 11:20.17

As McDonald approached the intersection of 40th and Karlov, Gaffney turned his car toward McDonald to direct him down Karlov. Gaffney wanted to keep McDonald away from Pulaski, which was a more populated area. McDonald then swung his arm and popped 815R’s right front tire with his knife. McElligott was toward the back of 815R when McDonald popped its tire. After McDonald took a step back from the vehicle, Gaffney pulled up further in front of him to stop him from proceeding to Pulaski. McDonald then hit the right side of 815R’s windshield once with the knife in his right hand. The windshield did not break but, according to Gaffney, McDonald hit it as hard as he could. McDonald walked around the front of 815R and continued eastward on 40th Street. After McDonald had walked 10 to 15 feet, another squad car turned off of Pulaski onto 40th Street with its lights on, and McDonald began to sprint. McElligott followed McDonald on foot, and Gaffney followed McDonald in 815R. McDonald ran eastbound through a parking lot of a Burger King located at 40th and Pulaski and then headed southbound on Pulaski. Video footage from several cameras captured McDonald’s movements as he reached Pulaski.

3. Summary of the Relevant Video Footage

The below table contains a summary of the relevant video footage of the McDonald shooting, which includes the dashcam videos from 813R, 823R, and 845R, video from the “WNE fire exit” security camera from the Greater Chicago Food Depository, which is bordered by 40th Street to the north, Karlov Avenue to the east, and Keeler Avenue to the west, and the security camera video from the Dunkin’ Donuts, located at 4113 South Pulaski Road (the DD Camera).18

16 OEMC recordings reflect that, at 9:53 p.m., 815R reported: “We’re at 40th and Keeler. This guy uh is walking away from us and he’s got a knife in his hand.” Approximately 30 seconds later, a dispatcher stated, “815R looking for a taser.” See OEMC Documents and CDs; see also OIG 15-0564 003691, 3228.

18 In addition to the videos cited in the summary, OIG obtained video footage from the security camera videos at Burger King and Focal Point, and the dash camera videos from Vehicles 815R and 821R. These videos do not contain footage relevant to this report.

C. CPD’s Reports Regarding the McDonald Investigation

1. Case Supplementary Report, “Sup ID” 10992767 CASR301

On March 16, 2015, Wojcik approved case supplementary report RD #HX-475653, with “Sup ID” 10992767 CASR301 (the “301 CSR”), that Detective March submitted on March 15, 2015. The report is titled as a “Field Investigation Exc. Cleared Closed (Other Exceptional) Report.” It lists the original and last “Offense Classification” as “Assault/Aggravated Po: Knife/Cut Instr.,” the “Date of Occurrence” as October 20, 2014, at 9:57 p.m., and the “Address of Occurrence” as 4112 S. Pulaski Rd. Further, it lists Van Dyke, Walsh, Gaffney, and McElligott as the victims, McDonald as the offender, March as the reporting officer and primary detective assigned, and Wojcik as the approving supervisor. It is signed as the “report of” March, Gallagher, and Wojcik of the Bureau of Detectives – Area Central.

The 301 CSR contains, among other information, summaries of the interviews March conducted of the officers who were present when Van Dyke shot McDonald, as well as summaries of the interviews CPD detectives conducted of civilian witnesses to the events of October 20, 2014.

a) Officer Statement Summaries

(1) Van Dyke

The 301 CSR includes summaries of the statements that Van Dyke provided to March on October 20, 2014, and October 21, 2014, respectively. The following is an excerpt of Van Dyke’s October 20, 2014 statement:

24 OIG 15-0564 003057-79.

25 CPD reported its investigation of the events that culminated in the McDonald shooting under record number HX-475653, and classified most of the reports as an investigation into an aggravated assault in which McDonald was the offender. In a few reports, CPD classified the case as an investigation into a justifiable homicide of which McDonald was the victim. CPD also created an additional record number, HX-486155, which it classified as a justifiable homicide.

26 On March 16, 2015, hours after Wojcik approved the CSR, CPD Lieutenant Osvaldo Valdez sent an email to Wojcik and Gallagher, copying Roy. OIG 15-0564 015738-41. The email was part of a chain of emails between Valdez and the FBI, and stated as follows:

All[] See attached spread sheet that was provided by the FBI. It is regarding L[aw]E[nsforcement]O[fficer]’s killed or assaulted and injured in the line of duty in which offenders used a knife/other cutting instrument. After a quick review of the report there were a couple things that stood out. These are incidents where an officer is assaulted and injured or killed by an assailant with a knife between the years of 2004 – 2013. 1. Out [of ] 382 incidents, there are 2 incidents that resulted in the officer being killed. Interesting to note would be to determine what the distance between the offenders and the officers were as the shots were fired that resulted in fatality. 2. There are only 32 incidents where assisting officer shot there [sic] weapon as well. This was a question that was brought up, ‘why didn’t the other officers shoot?’ I will ask if I can get more details.
Officer Van Dyke exited the vehicle on the right side and drew his handgun. As Van Dyke stood in the street on Pulaski, facing northbound, toward McDonald, McDonald approached southbound. McDonald was holding the knife in his right hand, in an underhand grip, with the blade pointed forward. He was swinging the knife in an aggressive, exaggerated manner. Van Dyke ordered McDonald to “Drop the knife!” multiple times. McDonald ignored Van Dyke’s verbal direction to drop the knife and continued to advance toward Van Dyke.

When McDonald got to within 10 to 15 feet of Officer Van Dyke, McDonald looked toward Van Dyke. McDonald raised the knife across his chest and over his shoulder, pointing the knife at Van Dyke. Van Dyke believed McDonald was attacking Van Dyke with the knife, and attempting to kill Van Dyke. In defense of his life, Van Dyke backpedaled and fired his handgun at McDonald, to stop the attack. McDonald fell to the ground but continued to move and continued to grasp the knife, refusing to let go of it. Van Dyke continued to fire his weapon at McDonald as McDonald was on the ground, as McDonald appeared to be attempting to get up, all the while continuing to point the knife at Van Dyke. The slide on Van Dyke’s pistol locked in the rearward position, indicating the weapon was empty. Van Dyke performed a tactical reload of his pistol with a new magazine and then assessed the situation.

McDonald was no longer moving and the threat had been mitigated, so Officer Van Dyke and Officer Walsh approached McDonald. McDonald was still holding the knife in his right hand. Van Dyke continued to order McDonald to “Drop the knife!” Officer Walsh told Van Dyke, “I have this.” Van Dyke then used his handgun to cover Walsh as Walsh walked up and forcibly kicked the knife out of McDonald’s right hand, thereby eliminating the threat to the officers.

The 301 CSR summarized Van Dyke’s October 21, 2014 statement in relevant part as follows:

[Van Dyke] related the same sequence of events as documented in his original interview at the scene of the incident.

Van Dyke additionally articulated the reasoning behind his decision to use deadly force against the offender in this incident, Laquan McDonald. Van Dyke was aware of the radio transmissions from Officer Thomas Gaffney, on Beat 815R, that McDonald was armed with a knife. Van Dyke was aware that McDonald had attacked the officers on Beat 815R by slashing the tire of their police vehicle.

As he confronted McDonald at 4112 South Pulaski Road, Van Dyke saw that McDonald was in fact, armed with a knife, a deadly weapon. Van Dyke was aware of the widely accepted teaching in law enforcement that an assailant armed with a knife was considered a deadly threat, if within 21 feet, because it was possible for such an assailant to close that distance and attack with the knife before a defensive shot could be fired from a handgun. Van Dyke was also aware of the existence of throwing knives, which can be thrown from a distance, as well as spring loaded knifes, which propel a blade through the air from the knife handle. Van Dyke also said he recalled a previously issued Chicago Police Department bulletin warning of a weapon which appeared to be a knife but which actually was capable of firing a bullet, making it a firearm.27

The 301 CSR notes that a search was subsequently conducted for the bulletin Van Dyke referenced and that an “Officer Safety Alert number 2012-OSA0297,” issued on December 4, 2012, was located. See OIG 15-0564 003074. March wrote that “[i]t was a warning regarding a ‘revolver knife’ which was capable of firing .22 caliber cartridges.”

(2) Walsh

The following is an excerpt of Walsh’s October 20, 2014 statement:

As McDonald ran southbound on Pulaski Road, from the Burger King, Walsh pursued McDonald in the police vehicle. Walsh drove southbound in the northbound lanes to get ahead of McDonald, keeping the police vehicle between McDonald and a Dunkin’ Donuts restaurant, on the east side of Pulaski. As their vehicle passed McDonald, Officer Van Dyke opened the right front door of their vehicle, to exit the truck and confront McDonald. Walsh, realizing that at this point they were too close to the armed McDonald to safely exit the vehicle, told Van Dyke to wait until they got further ahead of McDonald. Walsh drove further south on Pulaski. He stopped his vehicle south of McDonald and exited the driver’s door as Van Dyke exited the right side of the vehicle. Walsh drew his handgun when he exited the vehicle.

Officer Walsh came around the rear of the police vehicle and joined Officer Van Dyke on the right side of the vehicle. Walsh also stood in the street on Pulaski, facing northbound, as McDonald walked southbound toward the officers. Walsh ordered McDonald to “Drop the knife!” multiple times as McDonald approached the officers.

Officer Walsh also backed up, attempting to maintain a safe distance between himself and McDonald. McDonald ignored the verbal direction given by both Walsh and Officer Van Dyke, and continued to advance toward the officers. When McDonald got to within 12 to 15 feet of the officers he swung the knife toward the officers in an aggressive manner. Van Dyke opened fire with his handgun and McDonald fell to the ground. Van Dyke continued firing his weapon.

27 Detective March completed two GPRs relating to his interviews of Van Dyke that contains March’s handwritten notes of the interviews. OIG 15-0564 003239-41 & 003254. March’s notes do not differ in any significant way from the summary of Van Dyke’s October 20, 2014 statement in the CSR. March’s notes of Van Dyke’s October 21, 2014 statement state: “Same details. Added: Aware of radio transmissions (Gaffney)[;] armed w/knife[;] attacked 815R-slashed tire. Aware of – 21’ rule[;] throwing knives[;] spring loaded knife[;] previous bulletin[;] knife actually fires bullet. Officer safety alert #2012-05A-297 04 Dec 2012.”
at McDonald as McDonald continued moving on the ground, attempting to get up, while still armed with the knife.

When the gunfire stopped and McDonald was not moving anymore, Walsh approached McDonald with Van Dyke. Walsh continued to order McDonald to “Drop the knife!” multiple times, as McDonald was still holding the knife in his right hand. Walsh forcibly kicked the knife out of McDonald’s hand and then notified the dispatcher on the police radio that shots had been fired by the police. An ambulance was also requested for McDonald.

As they waited for the ambulance to respond to the scene, Officer Walsh told McDonald to ‘hang in there,’ and that an ambulance was on the way.

Officer Walsh said he believed McDonald was attacking Walsh and Officer Van Dyke with the knife and attempting to kill them when the shots were fired. Walsh stated he did not fire his handgun because Van Dyke was in the line of fire between Walsh and McDonald. Walsh thought Van Dyke fired eight or nine shots total.28

(3) Fontaine

The 301 CSR summarizes Fontaine’s October 20, 2014 statement in relevant part as follows:

The two officers responded to the request for assistance made by Beat 815R, regarding a man with a knife at 41st Street and Pulaski Road. Officer Viramontes drove northbound on Pulaski. When they arrived at the scene of this incident, in front of the Dunkin’ Donuts restaurant, Officer Fontaine saw a black male subject, now known as Laquan McDonald, walking southbound in the street, with a knife in his right hand. McDonald was walking sideways, with his body facing east, toward Officers Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh. These two officers were standing in the middle of the street, on the right side of their police vehicle, which was facing southbound. Fontaine heard the officers repeatedly order McDonald to “Drop the knife!” McDonald ignored the verbal direction and instead, raised his right arm toward Officer Van Dyke, as if attacking Van Dyke.29 At this time Van Dyke fired multiple shots from his handgun, until McDonald fell to the ground and stopped moving his right arm and hand, which still grasped the knife.

28 Detective March completed a GPR relating to his interview of Walsh that contains March’s handwritten notes of the interview. OIG 15-0564 003242–43. March’s notes do not differ in any significant way from the summary of Walsh’s statement in the CSR.

29 In her OIG interview, Officer Fontaine denied making this statement, and she declined to stand by it as accurate. Fontaine Tr. 34:23–35:1; 116:18.
gunshots were rapid fire, without pause. Officer Walsh then kicked the knife out of McDonald’s hand.

(4) Viramontes

The 301 CSR summarizes Viramontes’s October 20, 2014 statement in relevant part as follows:

[W]hen [Viramontes] exited his police vehicle, at the scene, he observed a black male subject, now known as Laquan McDonald, walking southbound on Pulaski Road, in the middle of the street, holding a knife in his right hand. Viramontes heard Officer Jason Van Dyke repeatedly order McDonald to “Drop the Knife!” McDonald ignored the verbal direction and turned toward Van Dyke and his partner, Officer Joseph Walsh. At this time Van Dyke fired multiple shots from his handgun. McDonald fell to the ground but continued to move, attempting to get back up, with the knife still in his hand. Van Dyke fired his weapon at McDonald continuously, until McDonald was no longer moving.

(5) Sebastian

The 301 CSR summarizes Sebastian’s October 20, 2014 statement in relevant part as follows:

Officer Sebastian observed a black male subject, now known as Laquan McDonald, running southeast bound through the parking lot of the Burger King restaurant. Beat 845R pursued McDonald in their police vehicle, through the parking lot, toward Pulaski. Sebastian told Officer Mondragon to drive back out onto Pulaski to assist in the pursuit. McDonald ran out onto Pulaski and continued to run southbound down the middle of the street. Beat 845R pursued McDonald in their vehicle, southbound on Pulaski, followed by Beat 813R. As McDonald ran southbound on Pulaski, Sebastian saw the knife in his right hand. McDonald was waving the knife.

Beat 845R stopped their vehicle ahead of McDonald, between McDonald and the Dunkin’ Donuts restaurant on the east side of Pulaski. Officers Joseph Walsh and Jason Van Dyke exited their vehicle and drew their handguns. McDonald turned toward the two officers and continued to wave the knife. Sebastian heard the officers repeatedly order McDonald to “Drop the knife!” McDonald ignored the verbal directions and continued to advance on the officers, waving the knife. Officer Sebastian heard multiple gunshots and McDonald fell to the ground, where he continued to move. Sebastian did not know who fired the shots, which were fired in one continuous group. She then saw Officer Walsh kick the knife out of McDonald’s hand.\(^3^2\)

(6) Mondragon

The 301 CSR summarizes Mondragon’s October 20, 2014 statement in relevant part as follows:

[Mondragon] stated she was a Chicago Police Officer assigned to the 008th District. Mondragon related the same facts as her partner, Officer Daphne Sebastian.

Officer Mondragon added that as she drove westbound on 40th Street, she saw Officer McElligott running eastbound through the Burger King parking lot. She made a U-Turn and drove back out onto Pulaski Road. Mondragon turned southbound onto Pulaski. She saw Laquan McDonald running southbound on Pulaski, in the middle of the street. As she got closer she could see McDonald was holding a knife in his right hand. He was waving the knife.

Officer Mondragon saw Officers Joseph Walsh and Jason Van Dyke outside of their police vehicle. She heard the officers repeatedly ordering McDonald to “Drop the knife!” as McDonald got closer and closer to the officers, continuing to wave the knife. As she was placing her vehicle transmission into Park, Mondragon looked down and heard multiple, continuous gunshots, without pause. Mondragon then saw McDonald fall to the ground. Mondragon did not know who fired the shots.\(^3^3\)

\(b)\) The 301 CSR Findings and Conclusions

The 301 CSR includes several findings and conclusions regarding the shooting. Specifically, it states that “[t]he recovered in-car camera video from Beats 845R and 813R was viewed and found to be consistent with the accounts of all of the witnesses.” OIG 15-0564 003075. It further states:

The above to-date investigation determined that Laquan McDonald was an active assailant who, while armed with a dangerous weapon, used force likely to cause death or serious injury to a private citizen when he attacked Rudy Barillas; threatened the imminent use of force likely to cause death or serious injury when he incised the tire and stabbed the windshield of a Chicago Police Department vehicle occupied by Officer Thomas Gaffney; and initiated imminent use of force likely to cause death or serious injury when he initiated an attack on Officers Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh. The above investigation concluded that Officer Jason Van Dyke’s use of deadly force, the discharging of his duty firearm, was within the bounds of the Chicago Police Department’s use of force guidelines, and in conformity with local ordinances and state law.

OIG 15-0564 003078. On March 15, 2015, at 5:33 p.m., less than an hour before March submitted the CSR, Wojcik emailed March a Microsoft Word document titled “Conclusion.” The word document contains language almost identical to the above-quoted paragraph.34

2. The 339 CSR’s Narrative and Findings

On March 16, 2015, Wojcik approved a second RD #HX-475653 CSR, submitted by March on March 15, 2015, with Sup ID 10988891 CASR339 (the “339 CSR”).35 The 339 CSR contains, among other information, an inventory of the evidence recovered and an identification of the personnel assigned to the case and the witnesses to the relevant events. Like the 301 CSR, the 339 CSR lists Van Dyke, Walsh, Gaffney, and McElligott as the victims, McDonald as the offender, March as the reporting officer and primary detective assigned, and Wojcik as the approving supervisor. It is signed as the “report of” March, Gallagher, and Wojcik of the Bureau of Detectives – Area Central.

The “Manner/Motive” section of the 339 CSR states as follows:

Laquan McDonald was shot and killed by Chicago Police Officer Jason Van Dyke while McDonald was committing an aggravated assault with a knife against Officer Van Dyke and his partner, Chicago Police Officer Joseph Walsh. McDonald also committed an aggravated assault with a knife against Chicago Police Officers Thomas Gaffney and Joseph McElligott, when McDonald stabbed the right front tire and windshield of their police vehicle, and an aggravated assault with a knife against civilian, Rudy Barillas, immediately prior to being confronted by Officers Van Dyke and Walsh. / Peace officer interceding in a felony, in the line of duty-Defense of life (Offender apparently attempting to defeat arrest).

34 On March 13, 2015, two days prior to March’s submittal of the 301 CSR, Wojcik sent an email to March with the subject line “Arrest Info.” Attached to the email was a Microsoft Word document titled “Arrest History Johnson,” that stated as follows: “Twenty-Six (26) total arrests with various charges lodged prior to this incident – including Aggravated Battery to Peace Officer, Battery, Assault, Reckless Conduct, Possession of Controlled Substance and Possession Cannabis, with some offenses having occurred during instruction on school grounds, while in state detention/custody, and during courtroom proceedings. During twelve (12) of the arrest incidents McDonald attempted to defeat arrest by fleeing on foot and/or actively physically resisting.” OIG 15-0564 010334-35. The document does not reflect why it is titled “Arrest History Johnson.”

3. HX-486155 Case Incident Report

On October 29, 2014, March submitted an Original Case Incident Report under RD #HX-486155, with the event number of 1430116812 and the “Case ID” of 9837884 CASR229. The report identifies March as the Reporting Officer and Detective/Investigator, and Gallagher as the Approving Supervisor. The report classifies the incident as “Assault – Aggravated; Knife/Cutting Instr,” and lists the “Occurrence Location” as 4101 S. Kildare Blvd. and the “Occurrence Date” as October 20, 2014, at 9:47 p.m. The report identifies Rudy Barillas as the victim, Gaffney, Van Dyke, and Walsh as additional victims, and McDonald as “Suspect # 1.” The narrative section of the report states as follows:

The offender in this incident, Laquan McDonald, committed an aggravated assault against the victim, Rudy Barillas, by attempting to cut Barillas with a knife. Barillas called 9-1-1. Chicago Police Officers Thomas Gaffney, Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh responded to Barillas’ call. McDonald committed aggravated assaults against the three officers, finally forcing Officer Van Dyke, in defense of his life, to shoot and kill McDonald. Details of this investigation are reported under the Homicide/Justifiable, recorded under Records Division number HX475653.

D. Civilian Witness Statements

Eric Gonzalez, Alma Benitez, and Robert Garcia, who were witnesses to the events of October 20, 2014, provided statements to CPD and OIG, among others, regarding what they witnessed. Below is a summary of those statements.

---

37 OIG 15-0564 003036.
38 OIG 15-0564 003299-300.
1. Eric Gonzalez

a) 301 CSR Summary

Eric Gonzalez provided a statement to CPD the night of October 20, 2014 that is summarized in the 301 CSR as follows:

[Gonzalez] stated he was at the Burger King restaurant drive-thru with Alma Benitez. He saw a black male subject, now known as Laquan McDonald, running from the trucks parked at the rear of the restaurant parking lot. McDonald ran eastbound in the parking lot, on the north side of the Burger King building. A police officer was chasing McDonald on foot, eastbound through the parking lot, then southbound on Pulaski Road. A Chicago Police Department, Chevrolet Tahoe sport utility vehicle pulled up on Pulaski. McDonald ran toward the police vehicle. A police officer exited the vehicle and fired multiple shots from a handgun at McDonald. [Gonzalez] thought there was video footage of the incident recorded on Benitez’ cellular telephone. As documented in the previous interview of Benitez, her telephone was examined with negative results.

b) OIG Interview

On February 16, 2016, OIG interviewed Gonzalez. Attorney Molly Armour was present for the interview. In summary, Gonzalez stated as follows. Gonzalez saw McDonald running south from the Burger King parking lot toward Pulaski. According to Gonzalez, McDonald was being chased by two officers, one of whom was driving and one of whom was on foot. Gonzalez subsequently heard multiple gunshots, but he could not see McDonald being shot because a construction fence was blocking his view. Gonzalez denied telling the police that McDonald ran toward a police vehicle and said that McDonald was running from the police not toward them.

2. Robert Garcia

a) 301 CSR Summary

Robert Garcia provided a statement to CPD the night of October 20, 2014 that is summarized in the 301 CSR as follows:

[Garcia] stated he was sitting in a truck, parked in the Burger King restaurant parking lot, on the south side of the restaurant building. He was completing some logs. Garcia observed a black male subject, now known as Laquan McDonald, running southbound on Pulaski Road. The police were pursuing McDonald. Garcia heard approximately three gunshots. He did not see who fired the shots. Garcia exited the cab of his truck and climbed up on top of it. He saw a Chicago

Police Department, Chevrolet Tahoe sport utility vehicle, and many police officers on Pulaski Road.

b) OIG Interview

On February 16, 2016, OIG interviewed Garcia. Attorney Michael Robbins was present for the interview. In summary, Garcia stated as follows. Garcia saw McDonald running south on Pulaski with an officer in pursuit on foot behind him. Garcia, while half inside his truck cab completing truck logs, heard three shots, looked up, but could not see McDonald anymore. According to Garcia, he climbed to the top of his truck cab and was able to “see the officer right in front of his Tahoe and just unloading the other 13 shots.” Garcia Tr. 17:23-18:1. Garcia said that McDonald was “permanently down” after the first set of shots. Tr. 22:7. Garcia said that he described McDonald’s shooting as an “execution” to CPD detectives, but could not remember if he did so at the scene or at Area Central. Tr. 44:19, 77:19-78:5. Garcia said that the GPR of his interview, which stated that he did not see McDonald get shot, was a misrepresentation of his statement because he told detectives that he did see shots fired and that they were “unnecessary.” Tr. 91:15.

3. Alma Benitez

b) 301 CSR Summary

Alma Benitez provided a statement to CPD the night of October 20, 2014 that is summarized in the 301 CSR as follows:

[Benitez] stated she was in the Burger King restaurant parking lot. She saw a subject, now known as Laquan McDonald, running southbound on Pulaski Road. Benitez saw many police officers on the street. She was trying to get her cellular telephone to work, to record video. Benitez heard eight gunshots fired continuously. She did not see who fired the shots. Benitez then saw a police officer pointing a handgun at McDonald as he was lying on the ground. With her permission, Benitez’ telephone was examined for any recorded video footage with negative results.

c) OIG Interview

On February 16, 2016, OIG interviewed Benitez. Attorney Shannon Lynch was present for the interview. In summary, Benitez stated as follows. While Benitez was outside of her car, she saw a CPD officer come out of a squad car and try to grab McDonald. The officer pulled away when he got near McDonald. According to Benitez, she then got back in her car, parked it, and got out of the car again. She subsequently heard gun shots, looked up and saw McDonald fall to the ground. Benitez heard more gunshots and yelled, “Stop shooting! He’s dead already.” Benitez Tr. 21:18-19. CPD officers heard her yelling and told her to leave the scene. Benitez said that she did not give CPD permission to examine her phone and further stated that she told CPD detectives that a CPD officer tried to grab McDonald.
4. GPRs

There are three General Progress Reports (GPRs) that relate to the CPD interviews of Gonzalez, Benitez, and Garcia. Each of those GPRs has Lieutenant Anthony Wojcik’s name and star number listed under “Reporting Officer’s Signature – Star No.” OIG 15-0564 003284-86. The handwritten notes contained in those GPRs do not differ in any significant way from the summary of their statements in the CSR.

On the GPR that relates to the Eric Gonzalez interview, dated October 20, 2014, there are two notations stating that the GPR is a copy of Detective Thomas Curran’s GPR. One of the notations has what appears to be Wojcik’s signature and star number next to it.

On the GPR relating to the Benitez interview, dated October 20, 2014, there are two notations stating that the GPR is a copy of Detective Thomas Curran’s GPR. One of the notations has what appears to be Wojcik’s signature and star number next to it.

On the GPR relating to the Robert Garcia interview, dated October 20, 2014, there are two notations stating that the GPR is a copy of Detective Pete Torres’s GPR. One of the notations has what appears to be Wojcik’s signature and star number next to it.

E. CPD Interviews

1. March

On April 26 and April 27 of 2016, OIG investigators interviewed March under oath after informing him of his administrative advisements orally and in writing. He provided oral and written acknowledgment of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Attorney James McKay was present for the interview. In summary, March stated as follows.

As of October 20, 2014, March was a CPD detective assigned to Area Central. March worked on a homicide team supervised by Gallagher. That team had two lieutenants, Wojcik and Osvaldo Valdez. Their commander at the time was Eugene Roy.

40 BDSO 11-01, titled “Investigative Files,” which was in effect until January 1, 2015, defines “General Progress Report” as follows: “A General Progress Report will be used by all Division members and is designed to standardize the recording of handwritten notes and memoranda including witness or suspect interviews, on-scene canvasses, written inter-watch communications that are investigative and not administrative in nature, or any other written notes generated during the course of an investigation.” OIG 15-0564 009118.

41 March resigned from City employment in response to the SRI OIG issued on July 29, 2016, which arose out of this same case.
a) The Scene of the Shooting

On the night of October 20, 2014, March was on-duty at Area Central headquarters when he received a call from Gallagher. Gallagher informed him that there had been a police-involved shooting and that the case was going to be assigned to March. March then drove to the scene of the shooting by himself.

While at the scene, March spoke to the ten officers who were present when Van Dyke shot McDonald, including Van Dyke and Walsh, but he did not recall the order in which he did so.

After March had his initial conversation with Walsh, he went to 813R and saw the dashcam video captured by 813R’s in-car video system on a small monitor in the vehicle. March estimated that he ultimately watched the 813R video three to five times at the scene of the shooting. March also watched the Dunkin’ Donuts video at the scene of the shooting.42

March did not recall having much contact with Wojcik at the scene. According to March, Wojcik arrived at the scene quite a bit later than March did because Wojcik was coming from his home.43 March left the scene of the shooting “well after midnight” and drove to Area Central. March 4/26/16 Tr. 155:22.

b) Area Central

Once March arrived at Area Central, he collected documentation from the police personnel involved in the investigation, including the original case report authored by an 8th District beat car, the reports concerning the activities of the forensics services people, and the other detectives’ GPRs. March did not recall whether he saw Wojcik at Area Central.

c) Post-Area Central Investigative Activities

On October 29, 2014, March submitted an Original Case Incident Report with the RD number HX486155. With respect to the new RD number, March explained that pursuant to the FBI’s Uniform Crime Reporting guidelines, once a detective concludes that an incident is a justifiable homicide, he or she must generate a second reporting number. With respect to the McDonald investigation, it was originally reported as an assault on a peace officer with a knife because Van Dyke and Walsh were saying that McDonald had assaulted them with a knife. The investigation continued under that designation “until we became confident that it was – you know, the justifiable homicide and then we created the second [number].” 4/27/16 Tr. 108:3-5.

42 Former CPD Deputy Chief David McNaughton, who responded to the scene of the shooting, stated in his May 25, 2016 OIG interview that Wojcik saw the 813R dashcam video of the shooting several times while at the scene on October 20, 2014.

43 CPD Lieutenant Osvaldo Valdez stated in his July 12, 2016 OIG interview that while he was at the scene of the shooting he was informed by one of the sergeants that Wojcik had responded to a CPD notification and would be taking over the investigation.
With respect to jurisdiction, March stated that, at the time of the shooting, for any incident where a police officer fires his handgun, CPD would conduct the “underlying criminal investigation,” and IPRA would investigate whether the officer’s use of the firearm or deadly force was appropriate. 4/27/16 Tr. 108:23. At the time of the McDonald investigation, “the Department’s policy was to never make a statement of – as to the justifiability as to the use of force because IPRA was conducting their investigation. We would just, you know, draw conclusions based on our investigation but not make a final statement as to whether or not the officer was justified.” 4/27/16 Tr. 117:1-9. March added: “it’s not our responsibility to make that determination as far as justifiable, and we really aren’t permitted to.” 4/27/16 Tr. 118:3-5.

During the course of the investigation, there were multiple meetings involving March and some combination of the following individuals: Wojcik, Gallagher, Detective Richard Hagen, Valdez, and Roy. According to March, “[a]t some of those meetings, we actually played the video again and reviewed to get, you know, everyone’s – weigh in with their opinion. And everyone was in agreement with the investigation and the conclusions reached as documented in this report.” 4/27/16 Tr. 72:8-13.

In November and December 2014, March worked on the drafting of the CSRs “as much as [he] could.” 4/26/16 Tr. 250:24-251:1. March described the investigation as a “major case” and said: “They don’t get much bigger in terms of priority.” 4/26/16 Tr. 250:23-4.

In January 2015, March and Wojcik learned that police officers with involvement in the McDonald shooting were being subpoenaed by the Cook County State’s Attorney’s Office and the FBI. March did not recall where or from whom he received this information. As a result, Wojcik told March to “hold off on doing anything” until they got some answers from their chain of command regarding the additional investigation. 4/26/16 Tr. 251:19. The investigation was put on hold from the beginning of January to the beginning of March. In March, around the time the City was negotiating a settlement with McDonald’s family, Commander Roy ordered that the reports be done right away. Roy gave that order to Wojcik, and Wojcik communicated it to March. March believed that directive was prompted by the legal settlement.

Upon receiving the order, March created the original draft of the 301 CSR, and then Gallagher and Wojcik reviewed it. March explained: “Gallagher and Wojcik and I worked together, you know, to—rather than dumping it all on one guy, the three of us worked together.” 4/26/16 Tr. 260:12-15. March noted that Wojcik conducted an analysis of McDonald’s arrest record and also “drafted a suggestion, if you will, for the conclusions for the investigation.” 4/26/16 Tr. 260:18-20. With respect to the conclusion, March explained: “Our conclusion was we didn’t find anything wrong with what Jason Van Dyke did and, therefore, the way we stated – when I say, ‘we,’ Gallagher agreed with me, Wojcik agreed with me. We found that his actions were in conformity with the Department – or within the bounds of the Department’s use of force guidelines and in conformity with local laws and state law.” 4/27/16 Tr. 117:18-118:2.
When asked whether anyone else was involved in the decision-making regarding the findings contained in the 301 CSR, March said that Valdez and Roy, after attending executive management meetings in which the McDonald case was discussed, each told Wojcik, Gallagher, and March that they agreed with their findings. No one other than Wojcik, Gallagher or March reviewed the 301 CSR prior to its final approval by Wojcik. Wojcik was the person “that actually went in the computer and actually approved the report.” 4/26/16 Tr. 266:1-3.

2. Gallagher

On June 8, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed Gallagher under oath after informing him of his administrative advisements orally and in writing. He provided oral and written acknowledgment of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Attorney Thomas Needham was present for the interview. In summary, Gallagher stated as follows.

On October 20, 2014, Gallagher was working as the sergeant of an Area Central homicide team. He received a phone call saying that there had been a police-involved shooting at 4100 S. Pulaski. He assigned the case to March and responded to the scene. While at the scene, Gallagher had several conversations with CPD supervisors, including Wojcik, regarding what information they knew at the time. According to Gallagher, Wojcik was coordinating CPD’s effort to locate McDonald’s family.

Gallagher said that Wojcik subsequently oversaw the McDonald investigation and would let the investigative team know “if there [was] anything that need[ed] to be done.” Gallagher Tr. 118:24-119:2. According to Gallagher, Wojcik received updates on the case “if there was anything new.” Tr. 119:6.

With respect to his November 2, 2014 email to Wojcik, Gallagher said that he was asking Wojcik to find out why Van Dyke’s police powers were stripped and why the investigative team was not informed regarding that decision. Gallagher said that nothing ever came of his email, and the investigative team never met with then-CPD Chief of Patrol Gulliford as Gallagher had suggested.

According to Gallagher, the investigation was later put on hold when CPD officers began being called to testify before a grand jury. The investigation was on hold until March 8, 2015, when Roy sent an email to Gallagher, Wojcik, Valdez, March, and possibly Hagen, who was also under Gallagher’s command, to set up a meeting to go over the facts of the case. With respect to 44 Gallagher resigned from City employment in response to the SRI OIG issued on July 29, 2016, which arose out of this same case.

45 On November 2, 2014, Gallagher sent Wojcik an email with the subject “Police Shooting,” stating: “I think at some point we need to sit down with [former Chief of Patrol Wayne] Gulliford [sic] and explain some of this to him.” Gallagher then proceeded to characterize the events of October 20, 2014, concluding that “Officer [Van Dyke] did exactly what he was trained to do. We should be applauding him not second guessing him.” Gallagher’s email further states: “Offender chose his fate. Possibly suicide by police.” OIG 15-0564 014570-71.
the meeting, Gallagher noted that “nobody throughout the chain said there was any issues with this case, this was deemed a justified shoot from day one.” Tr. 99:1-5.

The following day, Valdez and Roy met with attorneys from the City of Chicago Department of Law. After that meeting, Roy ordered the investigative team to finalize the reports for the case, because “it sound[ed] like they [were] going to settle this case.” Tr. 99:19-20. Gallagher was confused as to why the City was settling when the shooting had been deemed justified. When asked whether Wojcik shared his confusion, Gallagher stated: “I would say that all of us were dumbfounded. If you are saying that it is lawful, then why are we treating it different than any other shooting.” Tr. 135:1-5.

March drafted the CSR on the case, and Wojcik was the final approver of that report. Gallagher denied drafting any section of the CSR. After March prepared the CSR, Gallagher made grammatical corrections, but he did not recall making any substantive changes to the report. At some point, Wojcik told Gallagher that he was planning to draft the conclusion paragraph of the CSR. Gallagher believed that Wojcik added that conclusion after Gallagher reviewed the draft CSR.

3. Roy

On July 6 and 7, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed Roy under oath after informing him of his administrative advisements orally and in writing. He provided oral and written acknowledgment of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Attorneys Laura Morask and Dean Morask were present for the interview. In summary, Roy stated as follows.

As of October 20, 2014, Roy was Commander of the Area Central Detective Division. That night he received a phone call from the Area Central homicide desk, notifying him that there had been a police-involved shooting at 40th and Pulaski. Roy responded to the scene, arriving at around 11:00 p.m. McDonald was no longer at the scene when Roy arrived. Roy said he spoke with March and Wojcik at the scene, but could not recall the specifics of those conversations.

Sometime after 1:00 a.m. on October 21, 2014, Roy left the scene of the shooting and drove to Area Central. When he arrived there, he “checked with Sergeant Gallagher to see about the progress of the case.” Roy 7/6/2016 Tr. 91:19-20. Gallagher told Roy that three civilian witnesses had been transported to Area Central from the scene of the shooting to be interviewed. Detectives Thomas Curran and Pete Torres, who interviewed the civilian witnesses at Area Central, subsequently briefed Roy as to “the substance” of those interviews. 7/6/2016 Tr. 109:14.

On October 22, 2014, Roy attended a meeting at which McNaughton briefed then-Superintendent Garry McCarthy on the “facts and circumstances surrounding the shooting.” 7/6/2016 Tr. 126:14-15. Roy said it was typical to have that sort of briefing after a police-involved shooting. During McNaughton’s presentation, he showed the 813R video of the shooting. McCarthy raised concerns “about the number of shots that had been fired.” 7/6/2016 Tr. 131:21-22. Roy did not have any concerns about the number of shots Van Dyke fired.

After the October 22, 2014 shooting briefing, Roy told Wojcik, March, and Gallagher that “McNaughton briefed the Superintendent, and there were no questions regarding the appropriate use of deadly force.” 7/6/2016 Tr. 140:8-10. According to Roy, that conversation took place in November after Van Dyke was stripped of his police powers. Roy later added that he told Wojcik, March, and Gallagher in that conversation that he agreed that Van Dyke’s shooting of McDonald was lawful.

Roy further recalled that during that conversation March “was concerned that there appeared to be a disconnect between the fact that Officer Van Dyke had been stripped and, you know, the feedback that I had provided regarding the shooting briefing.” 7/6/2016 Tr. 144:19-22. In response to March’s concerns, Roy said that he would “look into it.” 7/6/2016 Tr. 145:24. Roy made some inquiries and learned that a number of officers had been interviewed by the Cook County State’s Attorney’s Office and the FBI, and that IPRA was investigating the incident.

As a result, in November 2014, Roy “told Wojcik, March, and Gallagher to stand down, that IPRA had the lead on the investigation and I didn’t want them doing anything.” 7/6/2016 Tr. 159:6-8. According to Roy, CPD did not take any investigative action with respect to the McDonald investigation from December 2014 through February 2015.

In March of 2015, Roy received a “request from our general counsel that the City corporation counsel wants the reports and wants to see the video” relating to the McDonald shooting. 7/6/2016 Tr. 182:6-8. Roy also learned that the City’s corporation counsel wanted a briefing on the case, and told March, Gallagher, and Wojcik that they needed to finish the investigative reports. Roy, along with Valdez, met with CPD general counsel and representatives from the City’s Department of Law. Either Roy or Valdez gave a presentation on the McDonald shooting and showed some video of the shooting.

Roy believed that March drafted the 301 CSR and submitted it to Wojcik and Gallagher for comments. Roy did not play a role in the drafting of the CSR. Roy initially stated he did not discuss the findings contained in the 301 CSR with Wojcik, March, and Gallagher prior to Wojcik’s approval. He later said that he “related to [Wojcik, March, and Gallagher] that there were no problems from the command structure of the police department with the shooting. If you want to take that as participating in the decision-making process, I don’t know that it is. Did I sit down with the three of them and convene a meeting to review it? No.” 7/7/2016 Tr. 51:8-15.

During the course of CPD’s investigation, Wojcik, Gallagher, and March were under Roy’s general supervision. Wojcik gave Roy updates “[w]henever something came up that merited attention.” 7/6/2016 Tr. 163:1-2. Roy said that March may have given him updates as well, but that he generally received his information regarding the case from Wojcik or Gallagher.
4. Torres

On November 9, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed Torres under oath after informing him of his administrative advisements orally and in writing. He provided oral and written acknowledgment of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Attorney James McKay was present for the interview. In summary, Torres stated as follows.

As of October 20, 2014, Torres was a CPD detective assigned to Area Central’s Special Victims Unit. Wojcik was one of his lieutenants. On the night of October 20, 2014, Torres and Curran were on their way back to Area Central when they heard over the radio an officer asking for a Taser. Torres later heard over the radio that someone had stabbed the wheel of a car. When Torres and Curran arrived at Area Central, they heard that police had fired shots and went to the scene to assist with the call.

Torres and Curran arrived at the scene of the shooting between 10:30 and 11 p.m. When they arrived, the area was cordoned off with yellow tape, and there were police vehicles blocking access to Pulaski. Torres and Curran walked over to the other CPD detectives and sergeants who were present and waited to be told what to do.

At some point, Curran told Torres that some potential witnesses to the shooting had been identified. Curran and Torres went over to the witnesses (later identified as Benitez, Gonzalez, and Garcia), and Torres was approximately ten feet away from them while Svec interviewed them. Torres could not hear Svec’s conversation with the three witnesses, which took less than ten minutes. Torres did not remember if Svec took notes during the conversation. The witnesses then got into Svec’s vehicle and headed to Area Central. Torres and Curran got into their vehicle and drove to Area Central.

Torres estimated that they arrived at Area Central between 11 and 11:30 p.m. Subsequently, Svec arrived with the witnesses. Svec placed Benitez and Gonzalez in a video office and Garcia in Wojcik’s office. Torres introduced himself to Garcia and told him that he would be sitting close by if Garcia needed anything. Torres also told Garcia that the lead detectives were going to be speaking to him, and potentially a State’s Attorney and IPRA investigators as well.

After approximately 90 minutes at Area Central, Torres advised Garcia that he was free to leave, and Garcia said he wanted to leave. Sergeant McGavock then directed Torres to obtain Garcia’s contact information and take a brief statement from him so the lead detectives could follow up with him later.

Torres subsequently interviewed Garcia in Wojcik’s office. No one else was present. Torres asked Garcia what he had seen. According to Torres, among other details, Garcia said that he saw the police chasing McDonald, heard three shots and then jumped onto the cab of his truck. Torres claimed that Garcia “didn’t say that he saw anybody – anybody still shooting or who shot or anything like that.” Torres Tr. 93:17-19. Torres also denied that Garcia told him that he heard more than three gunshots or that certain of the shots Van Dyke fired were unnecessary.
Torres took notes on a GPR during the interview, which took less than ten minutes. Torres put that GPR on a desk at Area Central where the other detectives were placing their GPRs. Curran interviewed Benitez and Gonzalez but did not brief Torres as to what they said. Ten minutes after Torres’s interview with Garcia concluded, Torres and Curran took Garcia, Benitez, and Gonzalez back to the scene of the shooting.

When shown the GPR related to the Garcia interview, see supra IV(D)(4), Torres said that he first saw the GPR in 2015 “when the FBI came to Area Central to question [CPD] about the shooting.” Tr. 98:14-15. The FBI gave him a copy of the GPR. Prior to Torres’s interview by the FBI, Wojcik informed Torres via telephone that Torres’s original GPR “had gotten damaged by coffee, so that [Wojcik] had to rewrite it and that the original was destroyed.” Tr. 101:15-17. Wojcik added that he had left the GPRs out to go eat and when he came back “there was coffee spilled all over the GPRs.” 105:1-2. Wojcik told Torres that he rewrote the GPR himself based off the coffee-damaged GPR. Wojcik did not tell Torres what he did with the coffee-damaged GPR.

Wojcik never asked Torres to review the GPR that he rewrote and did not inform Torres of the damage to his original GPR at the time it occurred. When asked whether he found it unusual that Wojcik did not give him a chance to review the GPR, Torres responded: “Well, this was a year later down the road, so, I mean, I – I didn’t think about asking him can I see the – that GPR now that, you know – at the time we were at like over a year ago.” Tr. 104:11-15. Torres was not aware of another instance where someone else had rewritten a GPR originally written by him.

Torres’s assessment of the rewritten GPR was that it was “pretty much accurate from what I recalled from taking [Garcia’s] statement that night.” Tr. 108:16-17. However, Torres did not know whether Wojcik’s GPR was a word-for-word re-write of Torres’s GPR. When asked whether he recalled any statements that Garcia made to him during the interview that were not contained in Wojcik’s re-written GPR, Torres responded: “Without having my original GPR, I – I’m – this is pretty fair and inaccurate [sic] as far as I can tell, but without having my, you know, original GPR, I just can’t [tell].” Tr. 126:11-14.

5. Curran

On October 19, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed Curran under oath after informing him of his administrative advisements orally and in writing. He provided oral and written acknowledgment of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Attorney James McKay was present for the interview. In summary, Curran stated as follows.

a) The Scene of the Shooting

As of October 20, 2014, Curran was a CPD detective assigned to Area Central’s Special Victims Unit. That night, Curran and Detective Torres were monitoring the radio while on duty and eating dinner in the 8th District. As they were heading back to Area Central, they heard a radio call asking for assistance and requesting officers with Tasers. As they neared Area Central, they heard over the radio that shots had been fired by the police. Upon arriving at Area Central, they were told that any available detective should go to the scene and provide assistance. Curran and Torres then left Area Central and went to 41st and Pulaski.

When Curran arrived on the scene, McDonald was no longer present. At some point, Gallagher asked Curran to bring some witnesses to Area Central “so that the lead detectives at the time could speak to [the witnesses] later.” Curran Tr. 41:15-17. Specifically, Curran recalled that “[t]here was a TV camera out there, and who we later found out to be Alma Benitez, she was talking about what was going on or something along those lines, so that obviously drew the attention of the police to possibly having a witness there.” Tr. 43:12-17.

Gallagher asked Curran, Torres, and Detective Svec to “go over there and find out if she is a witness and if there [were] any other witnesses.” Tr. 47:21-23. The detectives went to the Burger King parking lot, where they found Benitez and two men. Svec spoke to the three witnesses and eventually brought them back to Area Central.

While at the scene of the shooting, Svec did most of the speaking with the three witnesses. Curran “wasn’t really part of that conversation.” Tr. 51:24. When asked whether the witnesses said that they had seen the shooting, Curran responded, “I mean, I can’t be specific, because like I said, I didn’t take any notes on it. It was two years ago, so I don’t really remember if they said they actually physically saw it, but they were definitely there, heard it for sure. I could say that for sure.” Tr. 53:3-8.

Curran and Torres were at the scene of the shooting for approximately 30 to 40 minutes, after which they returned to Area Central.

b) Area Central

Curran and Torres arrived at Area Central shortly after leaving the scene of the shooting. At that point, neither March nor Wojcik had returned to Area Central.

The three witnesses from the scene of the shooting were put into rooms at Area Central. Garcia was put in Wojcik’s office. Curran and Torres were responsible for keeping the witnesses happy while they waited for the lead detectives on the case to return to Area Central and conduct interviews. Tr. 68:15-16.

At some point, the witnesses stated that they wanted to leave. Curran asked if the witnesses would “mind doing a quick statement and then we will get you back, and they agreed no problem.” Tr. 73:2-4.

Curran took statements from Gonzalez and Benitez. He took notes on a GPR during those interviews. However, when OIG showed him the Garcia and Benitez GPRs, Curran said, “This is not my GPR.” Tr. 76:8. Curran noted that, “as you can see at the bottom of the person who authored it, [I] later found out it was Tony Wojcik, the lieutenant, and I believe that’s his star number.” Tr. 76:11-15. Curran added, “I wrote the GPR out, and then at some point after the interviews were done and all that stuff, at some point during the night, they were handed in with other GPRs onto a desk. . . . That was the last time I saw it.” Tr. 77:12-17.

Curran believed that, as of the time of his OIG interview, his original GPRs did not exist:

As it was explained to me, and this was just about a year ago. So this was a year after this happened and a year prior to this. I was told by Lieutenant Wojcik that he was typing up – helping type out the Supplementary Detectives Report, and that at some point when he left his office to go to lunch or whatever it was, when he came back, my GPRs along with Pete’s, and there may have been another one on there, was soaked in coffee; that there was actually like spilled coffee and that they had been sitting there basically drenched, and I was told that he took the – what he could read over, and I guess he had possibly have [sic] typed up the Supp already so he was looking at that to put down what was on the GPR. . . . So it was coffee, and that’s why mine cannot exist, because I guess it was thrown away at that point. . . . So yeah, these are definitely not my GPRs or Pete’s.”

Tr. 78:21-79:20.

Curran did not recall the exact times when he interviewed Garcia and Benitez, and did not know whether the times on Wojcik’s recreated GPR accurately reflected the interview times. When asked whether Wojcik’s recreated GPR differed from his recollection of his original GPR, Curran said, “I can’t say same word-for-word, but I don’t see any glaring differences, if that’s what you are asking.” Tr. 94:2-4.

Curran believed he first learned what happened to his original GPR in September 2015. He learned about the coffee spill from Wojcik himself, but Wojcik did not tell him exactly when the spill had happened. Wojcik told Curran that:

[O]bvously it was damaged and that it couldn’t be saved and that he tried to copy it to the best of his ability, and he just explained to me, he is like, he goes, I tried to copy it the best I could so. . . . Obviously, he goes that’s why I put my name at the bottom so there is no inconsistency. He is like, I didn’t sign your name that’s why I put my name. So basically he told me this is now my GPR, so yeah, no. He was not trying to make it my GPR if that’s what you are asking.

6. Svec

On December 19, 2016, OIG investigators interviewed Svec after informing her of her administrative advisements orally and in writing. She provided oral and written acknowledgment of the reading of those advisements. The interview was transcribed by a certified court reporter. Attorney William Fahy was present for the interview. In summary, Svec stated as follows.
As of October 20, 2014, Svec was a CPD detective assigned to Area Central. While at Area Central that evening, she heard that there was a police-involved shooting and drove to the scene of the shooting by herself. Upon arriving at the scene, Svec walked over to a gathering of sergeants and detectives and overheard that an officer had shot a person who had been armed with a knife and stabbed a tire. Svec could not identify the individuals who were part of that gathering.

A few minutes after Svec arrived at the scene, she saw three people up on a semi-truck in the Burger King parking lot. Svec walked over to the semi-truck, obtained contact information from the individuals, and took a statement from each of them as to what they had witnessed. Svec said she took notes of the interviews on GPRs. She completed a separate GPR for each of the three people. According to Svec, “none of the three specifically saw the shooting.” Svec Tr. 36:15-16. The interviews collectively lasted at least ten minutes. No one else was present when Svec was conducting the interviews.

After Svec completed the interviews, she went over to Sergeant Gallagher and informed him that she had identified “three people that didn’t actually witness the shooting, but witnessed the individual being chased by police.” Tr. 48:9-12. Gallagher told her to see if the witnesses would come to Area Central. Svec told the witnesses that the lead detective would like to interview them and asked them to come to Area Central. The witnesses agreed and Svec drove them to Area Central, stopping for food along the way. Svec estimated that she was at the scene of the shooting for 30 to 60 minutes.

After arriving at Area Central, Svec took Garcia to one office and Gonzalez and Benitez to another. Svec then went back to her desk, gathered her things, and told the witnesses that she was leaving and that the lead detective would be coming in shortly. After she walked out of the room Benitez and Gonzalez were in, she saw Curran going into the room and told him: “‘Hey, listen, I already GPRed them. You don’t need to do GPRs on them.’” Tr. 97:4-5. Svec said she handed in her GPRs before she let the witnesses know she was leaving. She did not have a specific recollection of where she placed the GPRs, though. Svec estimated she was at Area Central for less than an hour before she left.

At least a week after October 20, 2014, March, while at Area Central, informed Svec that she had not signed one of the GPRs she completed at the scene of the shooting. March handed her the GPR and asked her to sign it. Svec explained that March sat behind her at Area Central at the time of this conversation.

In September 2015, when Svec was at Area Central to meet with the FBI or U.S. Attorney’s Office regarding the McDonald case, Wojcik told Svec that the GPRs relating to her October 20, 2014 civilian witness interviews had been lost. Wojcik assured her that the GPRs would be found, but Svec never subsequently received any indication that CPD found the GPRs. Svec never received an explanation as to how her GPRs could have gone missing, and she described the missing GPRs as “odd.” Tr. 102:10.
Curran was also present during the meeting between Svec and Wojcik, which took place in an Area Central office. According to Svec, Wojcik told Curran that coffee had been spilled on the GPRs Curran and Torres had completed and that he had rewritten them. Svec did not remember if Torres was present during the meeting.

Wojcik never communicated with Svec again regarding the missing GPRs. This was the only time in Svec’s career as a detective in which her GPRs had gone missing.

7. OIG Attempts to Interview Wojcik

On May 13, 2016, pursuant to Section 6.1 of the CBA between the City of Chicago and FOP, OIG provided CPD’s Bureau of Internal Affairs with a Notification of Interview and Notification of Allegations, among other documents, to serve upon Wojcik. However, on May 18, 2016, BIA informed OIG that when BIA attempted to serve the notifications on Wojcik, he told BIA that he retired effective May 15, 2016.47

Accordingly, on June 20, 2016, OIG sent a subpoena to Wojcik via certified mail, requesting that Wojcik provide testimony to OIG on July 8, 2016. In response, by letter dated June 30, 2016, Wojcik’s attorney, Darren O’Brien, objected to the subpoena, claiming that OIG’s subpoena power did not extend to former City employees.

OIG subsequently contacted O’Brien, informed him that the objection to the Subpoena was without merit, explained the extent of OIG’s subpoena power, and asked him to reconsider his position. After multiple unsuccessful attempts to resolve the matter with O’Brien, on December 8, 2016, the City’s corporation counsel, through special assistant corporation counsel, filed a complaint on behalf of OIG in the Circuit Court of Cook County to enforce the subpoena. On May 23, 2017, Judge Thomas Allen denied Wojcik’s motion to dismiss OIG’s complaint, holding that OIG’s subpoena power extends to former City employees. On July 6, 2017, the court entered judgment in favor of OIG and ordered Wojcik to comply with OIG’s lawful and enforceable subpoena.

By letter dated August 2, 2017, Wojcik’s counsel informed OIG that Wojcik would invoke his Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination and would not appear for an interview with OIG: “As a result of the Court’s ruling on [OIG’s] complaint and as a special grand jury remains in session, I have advised Mr. Wojcik to remain silent pursuant to the constitutional right of every U.S. citizen to do so. Mr. Wojcik has elected to follow my advice and will remain silent.”

V. ANALYSIS

OIG’s investigation established that Wojcik made false statements and misleading characterizations in CPD reports related to the McDonald shooting that he later approved as a supervisor. These false statements each served a similar purpose: to materially exaggerate the threat posed by McDonald. Additionally, Wojcik improperly disposed of Curran and Torres’s 47 CPD records reflect that Wojcik initiated his retirement on April 15, 2016, approximately one month after OIG conducted its first subject interview of a CPD police officer as part of its McDonald investigation.

GPRs, which contained their handwritten notes of Benitez, Garcia, and Gonzalez’s statements, and failed to document that disposal. Moreover, Wojcik did not ask Curran and Torres to review for accuracy the GPRs he recreated and did not inform them that he recreated their original GPRs until several months after CPD officially closed its investigation of the shooting. In addition, Wojcik failed to ensure that the McDonald investigative team documented its loss of Svec’s GPRs, which also contained statements made by Benitez, Garcia, and Gonzalez the night of the shooting.

Wojcik’s actions, individually and collectively, constitute violations of CPD Rules. Each of Wojcik’s false statements, including those in the CSR for which he is listed as a reporting officer and approver, constitutes a violation of Rule 14 (making a false report, written or oral). His false statements and failure to perform and supervise a thorough and properly documented investigation also constitute violations of Rule 2 (engaging in any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department), Rule 3 (failing to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy and accomplish its goals) and Rule 11 (incompetency in the performance of a duty). Wojcik’s failure to preserve material evidence and document the loss of that evidence violates Rule 2, Rule 6 (disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral), and Rule 11.

A. Wojcik’s False Statements in the 301 Case Supplementary Report

Wojcik is directly responsible for the false statements contained in the March 16, 2015 301 CSR. Not only was the CSR submitted by a detective under Wojcik’s supervision and command, it was submitted as the report of Wojcik, himself. Wojcik’s March 15, 2015 email, in which he sent March the conclusory paragraph of the 301 CSR, stating that Van Dyke’s use of force was lawful, confirms that Wojcik played a key role in the drafting of the 301 CSR. In addition, both March and Gallagher made clear in their OIG interviews that Wojcik was directly involved in the creation of the report and that Wojcik was responsible for approving the report.

The 301 CSR includes at least two false statements. First, it falsely states that the “recovered in-car camera video from Beats 845R and 813R was viewed and found to be consistent with the accounts of all of the witnesses.” OIG 15-0564 003075. Second, the CSR contains the false statement that “McDonald initiated the imminent use of force likely to cause death or serious injury when he initiated an attack on Officers Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh.” OIG 15-0564 003078.

Contrary to the conclusion reached in the 301 CSR, the dashcam videos of the McDonald shooting are not consistent with the accounts attributed to witnesses. The 301 CSR contains the following statements attributed to witnesses:

- Van Dyke: “When McDonald got to within 10 to 15 feet of Officer Van Dyke, McDonald looked toward Van Dyke. McDonald raised the knife across his chest and over his shoulder, pointing the knife at Van Dyke.” OIG 15-0564 003065-66.
Van Dyke: “In defense of his life, Van Dyke backpedaled and fired his handgun at McDonald to stop the attack.” OIG 15-0564 003066.

Van Dyke: “Van Dyke continued to fire his weapon at McDonald as McDonald was on the ground, as McDonald appeared to be attempting to get up, all while continuing to point the knife at Van Dyke.” OIG 15-0564 003066.

Walsh: “Walsh ordered McDonald to ‘Drop the knife!’ multiple times as McDonald approached the officers.” OIG 15-0564 003067.

Walsh: “Walsh also backed up, attempting to maintain a safe distance between himself and McDonald.” OIG 15-0564 003067.

Walsh: “McDonald ignored the verbal direction given by both Walsh and Officer Van Dyke and continued to advance toward the officers.” OIG 15-0564 003067.

Walsh: “When McDonald got to within 12 to 15 feet of the officers he swung the knife toward the officers in an aggressive manner.” OIG 15-0564 003067.

Fontaine: “McDonald ignored the verbal direction and instead, raised his right arm toward Officer Van Dyke, as if attacking Van Dyke.” OIG 15-0564 003071.

Viramontes: “McDonald fell to the ground but continued to move, attempting to get back up, with the knife still in his hand.” OIG 15-0564 003071.

Each of these statements is refuted by the dashcam video footage of the shooting. The video footage of the shooting shows that, before Van Dyke shot McDonald, McDonald was walking in a southwest direction, away from Van Dyke and Walsh, and that it was in fact Walsh and Van Dyke who were moving toward McDonald. The 813R video further establishes that McDonald did not raise the knife he was holding over his shoulder, did not raise his arm toward Van Dyke as if attacking Van Dyke, and did not swing the knife toward Van Dyke and Walsh in an “aggressive” manner. In addition, the videos demonstrate that Van Dyke and Walsh never backpedaled prior to the shooting, but rather either moved toward McDonald or stayed still. Finally, the video makes clear that, upon being shot and falling to the street, McDonald never attempted to get up. The video shows that McDonald, once on the ground, did not move his legs or lower body. McDonald’s upper body made small, intermittent movements as what appear to be puffs of smoke rose from his body, but those small movements are demonstrably not suggestive of a person trying to get up or get to his feet. Thus, the 301 CSR’s conclusion that the video evidence is consistent with the witness accounts is a materially false statement.

The 301 CSR’s finding that McDonald “initiated the imminent use of force likely to cause death or serious injury when he initiated an attack on Officers Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh,” is similarly belied by the video evidence. As summarized, supra, the video footage shows McDonald moving away from Van Dyke and Walsh during the entire period of time for which Van Dyke and Walsh were outside of their car and does not show him making any movement. toward them which could appropriately be characterized as “initiat[ing] an attack.” Accordingly, that finding is also materially false.

B. Wojcik’s Disposal of Material Evidence

Wojcik also violated CPD Rules by disposing of material evidence during the McDonald investigation and by failing to ensure that that disposal was documented in the reports he approved. BDSO 14-14, later re-issued as BDSO 15-14, directs that “[a]ll evidence, whether inculpatory or exculpatory, will be identified, preserved, and documented.” With respect to the GPRs that Curran and Torres completed at Area Central the night of the shooting regarding their interviews of Gonzalez, Garcia, and Benitez, the evidence reflects that Wojcik disposed of the original GPRs while they were in his possession. See Curran Tr. 78:21-79:20, Tr. 124:2-4 (stating that Wojcik told him that coffee was spilled on Curran’s GPRs while they were on Wojcik’s desk and that they were “damaged” and could not be saved). According to Curran and Torres, it was not until they were called for interview by the FBI in or about September 2015 (nearly a year after the original GPRs had been generated and approximately six months after the CPD investigation of the incident was officially closed) that Wojcik told them that he had rewritten their GPRs without consulting them, signed the reports with his own name, and had not preserved the originals. Wojcik’s alleged purported ability to accurately recreate Curran and Torres’s GPRs from the originals belies Wojcik’s statement to Curran that spilled coffee destroyed the originals.

Other than Wojcik’s handwritten notations on the recreated GPRs, which state that the GPRs are copies of Curran and Torres’s GPRs, the investigative file does not reflect that Wojcik disposed of the detectives’ original GPRs. In addition, Curran and Torres’s testimony demonstrates that, absent the FBI’s investigation, Wojcik would likely never have disclosed his role in the destruction of material evidence.

OIG sought to interview Wojcik, thus providing him with an opportunity to explain his actions. Rather than submit to interview, he filed a legal action in the Circuit Court of Cook County raising specious arguments challenging OIG’s subpoena power. Notably, after losing that legal challenge, Wojcik invoked his Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination and remained silent.

48 For similar reasons, the statement in the 339 CSR that “Criminal Attacked Officer That Officer Killed Criminal,” is also a false statement.

49 The HX-486155 Case Incident Report, also produced under Wojcik’s supervision, contained the false statement that “McDonald committed aggravated assaults against the three officers, finally forcing Officer Van Dyke, in defense of his life, to shoot and kill McDonald.” OIG 15-0564 003300. As set forth above, the objective evidence belies the factual assertion that McDonald “forc[ed]” Van Dyke to shoot him. To the extent that the report makes a legal conclusion regarding Van Dyke’s use of force, pursuant to the BDSOs, such a conclusion was not procedurally appropriate. See BDSO 15-22 (prohibiting detectives from stating that the use of deadly force was justified). In addition, contrary to the requirements of BDSO 15-22, the details of the investigation related to the McDonald shooting were reported under the RD number classified as an aggravated assault (HX-475653), rather than the RD number classified as a justifiable homicide (HX-486155).
C. Wojcik’s Failure to Ensure the McDonald Investigative Team Documented its Loss of Material Evidence

Under Wojcik’s supervision, the McDonald investigative team also lost the GPRs Detective Svec completed at the scene of the shooting regarding her interviews of Gonzalez, Garcia, and Benitez. Wojcik was aware of the lost GPRs, as he was the person who informed Svec in an in-person meeting that her reports were missing and then assured her that CPD would find the reports. According to Svec, though, CPD never located her GPRs, and those GPRs were not included in the materials that CPD provided to OIG.

Wojcik violated CPD Rules and Regulations by failing to ensure that the investigative team documented the loss of Svec’s GPRs. See BDSO 14-14 & 15-14 (stating that “[a]ll evidence, whether inculpatory or exculpatory, will be identified, preserved, and documented”); see also CPD Rules and Regulations, Article IV(B) (stating that supervisory members “have the responsibility for the performance of all subordinates placed under them” and they “[r]emain accountable for the failure, misconduct or omission by their subordinates”). Specifically, Wojcik approved the 301 CSR, even though it made no mention of Svec’s GPRs or the fact that CPD had lost those reports. As a result, there is no record in the McDonald investigative file of Svec conducting witness interviews at the scene of the shooting. That omission is particularly egregious because Garcia, one of the witnesses Svec interviewed, claimed he told CPD that night that he saw the shooting and further described it as an “execution.” Garcia Tr. 44:19. Thus, Wojcik allowed his investigative team to violate the Bureau of Detectives Special Orders by failing to document its loss of material, potential inculpatory evidence that may have contradicted its investigatory findings.

Therefore, under Wojcik’s watch, the McDonald investigative team lost or failed to preserve all six of the original GPRs that documented Gonzalez, Garcia, and Benitez’s statements to CPD on the night of the shooting and failed to document the circumstances through which those reports were lost. Given that Gonzalez, Garcia, and Benitez were all to some extent critical of CPD’s actions on the night of October 20, 2014, Wojcik’s actions bring discredit upon the department because they create the appearance of impropriety: namely, that Wojcik and the McDonald investigative team purposely destroyed evidence that ran counter to its investigative findings. Cf. Svec Tr. 102:10 (stating that she found the loss of her GPRs “odd” and that in her career as a detective she had never had a GPR lost). Because of Wojcik’s actions, specifically his failure to document the loss of that evidence, it is difficult for CPD to definitively refute such allegations.

For Wojcik’s numerous violations of CPD Rules and Regulations, OIG recommends that CPD issue a formal determination on OIG’s findings, and place this report in Wojcik’s personnel file for consideration in the event Wojcik applies for re-employment with the City. OIG further recommends that CPD, based on its findings, rescind Wojcik’s retirement identification card and retirement star, as Wojcik retired when he was the subject of an investigation that ultimately determined he engaged in misconduct warranting his discharge. In addition, OIG recommends that CPD communicate to the IROCC program that Wojcik is not in “good standing” and should be removed from the program.
VI. CPD RULE VIOLATIONS

Rule 2
Any action or conduct which impedes the Department’s efforts to achieve its policy and goals or brings discredit upon the Department.

Rule 3
Any failure to promote the Department’s efforts to implement its policy or accomplish its goals.

Rule 6
Disobedience of an order or directive, whether written or oral.

Rule 11
Incompetency or inefficiency in the performance of duty.

Rule 14
Making a false report, written or oral.

TRANSCRIPT OF INTERVIEW of DETECTIVE DAVID MARCH, taken before MICHELLE M. MR. NEUMER: As a preliminary matter, I am providing the following information. An independent certified court reporter is present today to provide a verbatim transcript of this interview.

To aid in the accuracy of the transcript, it is the custom and practice of court reporters to audio record the interview. The recording is the confidential work product property of the court reporter and will not be provided to any party including the OIG. If you request, the audio recording will be discontinued.

MR. McKAY: I do not request that the audio recording be discontinued if it's only being used for the court reporter's benefit to prepare the transcript. As soon as this statement is completed, if the court reporter is going to share this audio recording with neither side, I'm fine with the audio recording happening as is because it's my understanding that only the court reporter is using this and no one else. Is that correct?

MR. NEUMER: That is correct.
MR. McKay: Then I have no objection.

MR. NEUMER: Let the record reflect today's date is April 26th, 2016. The time is 10:04 a.m. We are located at Amicus Court Reporters, 300 West Adams, Suite 800.

My name is Peter Neumer, N-e-u-m-e-r, the court reporter is Michelle Yohler, and I'd ask that the other individuals present identify themselves and spell their name for the record.

MR. BROWN: Kristopher Brown, B-r-o-w-n, City of Chicago, Office of Inspector General.

MR. McKay: My name is James P. McKay, Jr. I'm an attorney, and I represent Detective David March.

THE WITNESS: Detective David March, Star number -- last name is spelled M-a-r-c-h, Star No. 20563 of the Chicago Police Department.

MR. NEUMER: There are no other individuals present. We are here today pursuant to an investigation being conducted under Chapter 2-56 of the Municipal Code of the City of Chicago. We are here for an interview of Detective David March.

Detective David March, would you please raise your right hand.

(WHEREUPON, the witness was duly sworn.)

MR. NEUMER: I am now going to show you a document entitled Advisement, and I would ask that you read this document along with me. I'm going to read it out loud, and I'm going to ask after each paragraph whether you have reviewed the paragraph that I just read aloud.

(WHEREUPON, OIG Exhibit No. 1 was tendered to the witness.)

MR. NEUMER: So the Advisement of Rights states, "I, Detective David March, understand that I am being interviewed by Peter Neumer and Kristopher Brown from the City of Chicago, Office of Inspector General. I understand that this interview is part of an official investigation and that I have a duty to cooperate with the Office of Inspector General, which includes answering all questions completely and truthfully."

Detective, do you see the paragraph that I just read aloud to you?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

MR. NEUMER: "I understand that I have no right to remain silent. I understand that I have an obligation to answer questions put to me truthfully. I understand that if I refuse to answer questions put to me, I will be ordered by a superior officer to answer the questions."

"I further understand and I have been advised that if I persist in my refusal to answer after an order to do so, such further refusal constitutes a violation of the rules and regulations of the Chicago Police Department and may serve as the basis for my discharge."

Detective, do you see the paragraph
that I just read aloud to you?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

MR. NEUMER: "I understand and have been advised that my statements and responses may constitute an official police report. I understand that Rule 14 of the Chicago Police Department's rules and regulations prohibits making a false report, written or oral, and I further understand that making such a false report, whether written or oral, may result in my separation from the Chicago Police Department."
Detective, do you see the paragraph that I just read aloud to you?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

MR. NEUMER: "I understand that any statement made by me during this interview may be used as evidence of misconduct or as the basis for disciplinary action up to and including removal or discharge."

Detective, do you see the paragraph I just read aloud to you?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

MR. NEUMER: "I understand that any statement made by me during this interview and the fruits thereof cannot be used against me in a criminal proceeding."

Detective, do you see the paragraph that I just read aloud to you?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

MR. NEUMER: "I understand that I have the right to have a union representative or legal counsel of my choosing present at the interview to consult with and that I will be given a reasonable time to obtain a union representative or legal counsel as long as the interview is not unduly delayed."

Detective, do you see the paragraph I just read aloud to you?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

MR. NEUMER: "I understand that a refusal to answer any question or any false, inaccurate, or deliberately incomplete statement by me would constitute a violation of Chicago Municipal Ordinance 2-56 and may serve as the basis for my discharge."

Detective, do you see the paragraph I just read aloud to you?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

MR. NEUMER: "I acknowledge that this statement of my administrative rights has been read aloud to me and I have been allowed to review this document."

Detective, do you see the paragraph that I just read aloud to you?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

MR. NEUMER: At this time I would ask that you sign the Advisement of Rights.

MR. McKay: Before we do that, Mr. Neumer, can I put something on the record and then ask you a question on the record?

MR. NEUMER: Sure.

MR. McKAY: Detective David March is here pursuant to the Inspector General's Notification of Interview, whereby he is required to appear here this morning. And he is being alleged to be an accused. And he is here for a statement.

And regarding this statement, a number of allegations have been made. Allegations 1(a), subsections 1 through 16; allegation 1(b), subsections 1 and 2; allegation number 2, allegation number 3, allegation number 4, allegation number 5, allegation number 6, allegation number 7, and allegation number 8; is that correct?

MR. NEUMER: If you're working off the Notification of Allegations, I assume --

MR. McKAY: Yes, sir.

MR. NEUMER: -- that is correct.

MR. McKAY: Let me ask this, Mr. Neumer: On behalf of the Inspector General for the City of Chicago, do you believe these allegations indicate that a criminal prosecution is probable against Detective March?
MR. NEUMER: So we are conducting an administrative investigation, and we are not working with any other bodies and take no view as to the question whether criminal charges are probable against Detective March. This is an administrative investigation.

MR. McKAY: Mr. Neumer, what do you mean you take no view regarding whether criminal charges are probable?

MR. NEUMER: This is an administrative investigation. We're not working with any other bodies on this investigation.

MR. McKAY: Your allegations, sir, include language such as, "witness tampering, obstruction of justice, and providing false statements." This language is consistent with violations of Illinois criminal law. As such, I'm advising my client not to answer this -- strike that -- not to answer your questions unless ordered to do so by a superior officer.

Further, Mr. Neumer, I'm asking that you, as the Assistant Inspector General conducting this statement, advise Detective March of his Constitutional rights pursuant to Miranda versus Arizona. Will you do that?

MR. NEUMER: No. This is -- again, as this is an administrative investigation, it's not a criminal investigation, and OIG is under no obligation to provide Detective March with any sort of Constitutional rights advisement.

MR. McKay: Thank you.

Mr. Neumer, I note in your Advisement of Rights that you just read to Detective March that the Inspector General may consider that Detective March's statements may constitute an official police report.

Can you please reconcile for me how you may consider Detective March's statements to be possibly a police report, yet, at the same time, you deny the existence that criminal charges could be probable against Detective March?

MR. NEUMER: Sure. Again, this is an administrative investigation, and as is set forth in the Advisement, it says that any statement made by Detective March during this interview and the fruits thereof cannot be used against him in a criminal proceeding.

MR. McKay: Thank you. I just have a few more matters before we begin.

Mr. Neumer, I have in my possession a letter that was sent by the Inspector General for the City of Chicago, specifically Deputy Inspector General William Marback dated December 29, 2015, to Ralph Price, general counsel for the Chicago Police Department, requesting a number of items. Some of them even named Detective March.

Do you intend -- -- strike that.

Did your office receive any of these items Mr. Marback requested from the Chicago Police Department, and, if so, do you intend to use any of these items during this statement of Detective March today?

MR. NEUMER: Well, honestly, I can't say specifically everything that we received in response to that document request. We have provided Detective March with a list of documents, which we'll go through, and there will be likely a couple of additional exhibits... that we plan to show Detective March.

Whether they were produced in response to the December 29th, 2015, request, I cannot say with 100 percent certainty.

What I can say is that any document we will put in front of Detective March today as an exhibit, you will be given an opportunity to review that document in full, and you will be able to take as much time as you need to review and analyze that document. So that's what I can say.

MR. McKay: Thank you.

With that said, we are in receipt of a number of documents that was tendered to Detective March that he signed for, I believe, on April the 7th of this year. So there's no surprise there.

You just indicated that there may be other exhibits in addition to those listed in the receipt signed by Detective March that you may present today?

MR. NEUMER: That's correct.

MR. McKay: Can you tell me what they are now?
MR. NEUMER: Well, I think it depends on the course of the interview. We try and plan these things out, but I honestly -- I can't say, again, with 100 percent certainty every document that we will or won't show.

So, again, there's not going to be any hiding of the ball. We want Detective March to understand every document that we put in front of him, where it's from, what it states, what it purports to be, and will be given an opportunity to comment if maybe something isn't what it seems to be. So -- but I think it's premature to go through every document that we may show to Detective March throughout the course of this.

Again, the bulk of what we will go through has already been provided and it's -- you know, maybe three or four, two, some additional exhibits that we would put on the record today. So, again, the bulk of it has certainly been already provided to Detective March.

MR. McKAY: Besides any of the police reports that Detective March drafted in this case, do you have any documents prepared or signed by Detective March not listed on the items that was presented to him of which he signed a receipt for?

MR. NEUMER: I don't believe that -- I think every report that Detective March drafted or that we think Detective March drafted should have been provided to him.

MR. McKAY: Very good. Thank you.

Not counting the statements of witnesses taken in this case by Detective March and other police officers at that time back in October of 2014, do you have any statements your office has recently obtained that you intend to use against Detective March today?

MR. NEUMER: In terms of statements from witnesses or something like that?

MR. McKAY: Yes.

MR. NEUMER: We will discuss information that has been provided to us during the course of this investigation so -- and our investigation began in December of this year.
So there will be information that came to us during the course of our investigation we'll discuss with Detective March.

MR. McKay: Prior to today I had e-mailed you, Mr. Neumer, to request some specificity regarding allegations that are made against Detective March.

You were kind enough to respond to my e-mail by stating, among other things, that the Inspector General for the City of Chicago has been provided with broad authority to investigate any violation Chicago Police Department rules arising out of the Laquan McDonald shooting which encompasses all of the specific allegations set forth in the Notification of Allegations, the Office of Inspector General provided to Detective March.

The complaints -- the complaint, I should say -- the allegations, I should say, against Detective March list Interim Superintendent John J. Escalante as the complainant and references Superintendent Escalante's letter to the Inspector General dated January the 13th, 2016. That letter has been provided to Detective March. Thank you very much, Mr. Brown.
That letter references a report -- strike that -- a memo prepared by Sergeant

S. Soria, S-o-r-i-a, a memo Sergeant Soria drafted that refers only to inattention to duty, the inoperation of the audio mics attached or affixed to or part of the video dash cameras in some of the police vehicles on the night of this particular shooting.

Nowhere in Sergeant Soria's memo indicates anything whatsoever arising to the level of providing false statements, witness tampering, obstruction of justice, anything even remotely connected to the allegations that are lodged against Detective March today.

In addition, Sergeant --

Superintendent Escalante's letter asks the Inspector General Inspector General to conduct this investigation and determine if there was any misconduct by the police officers. I ask you again, Mr. Neumer, on the record, does the Inspector General have any specific sources that support the specific allegations against Detective March separate and apart from Sergeant Escalante's letter?
If so, Detective March is entitled to know who these people or persons are — person or persons are. If they are not sworn officers, Detective March is entitled to an affidavit by these person or persons who are providing these allegations, and, absent that, Mr. Neumer, I can only assume that the true complainant in this case is not Superintendent Escalante or, to a lesser degree, Sergeant Soria; the true complainant in this case is the Inspector General and his agents. And if that's the case, Mr. Neumer, we object to the Inspector General for the City of Chicago conducting an investigation of its own allegations.

Can you correct me if I'm wrong? Are there other people your office is relying on to support these allegations you make against Detective March?

MR. NEUMER: Sure. Interim Superintendent Escalante asked the Office of Inspector General to investigate whether any officers committed any violation of Chicago Police Department rules, policies, or orders in connection with their response or handling of the investigation. of the Laquan McDonald shooting.

Escalante attached Sergeant Soria's initiation report, which speaks for itself.

Escalante's letter gives the Office of Inspector General authority to conduct an investigation into the Laquan McDonald shooting and the investigations of that shooting, which encompasses all and any rule violation arising there out of.

And all of the allegations included in the Notice of Allegations that the Office of Inspector General provided to Detective March via the Bureau of Internal Affairs fall under the authority provided by Interim Superintendent Escalante.

To answer your question, the Office of Inspector General is not in possession of any signed affidavits or complaints other than the complaints referenced in Paragraph 1 of the complainant section of the Notice of Allegations -- Notification of Allegations that OIG provided to Detective March.

MR. McKay: Thank you, Mr. Neumer. It just seems odd that Sergeant Soria's memo only references the non-use of audio during the video-taking of the incident we are -- you are investigating, the McDonald shooting.

To jump from that memo to Superintendent Escalante's general request to your office to conduct an investigation to see if there's any misconduct is one thing, but then to allege specific things against Detective March that include, among other things, that he didn't conduct a complete, thorough, and properly documented and professional investigation; that he, among other things, tampered with witnesses; that he, among other things, obstructed justice; and that he, among other things, made false statements in the reporting of the shooting is too much without somebody supplying information, truthful or otherwise, to your office to support these allegations.

He is not waiving any affidavit. He is entitled -- strike that. You are precluded from conducting an investigation based on any anonymous complaint pursuant to the contract between the City of Chicago and the Fraternal Order of Police Lodge 7, his union representatives in this particular case. So, again, where are these allegations coming from, Mr. Neumer? He has an absolute right to know who his accusers are and to confront those accusers. If they are the Inspector General or his agents, just say so. Just say so, okay?

If not, then we object to this statement being taken in light of the due-process rights that are being violated by your office. Nothing personal against you two gentlemen, but the manner in which this statement is being taken and these allegations that have been made are far too specific to just come from some general letter by Mr. Escalante. So that's our objection.

In addition to that, Mr. Neumer, I sent a letter to you and to your boss, Mr. Ferguson, asking respectfully that Mr. Ferguson and his office recuse themself from this investigation.

Simply put, Mr. Ferguson is prejudiced against Detective March, and I submit other police officers in this particular case, because of his presence and his participation on the Police Accountability Task Force. He is the technical advisor of the task force according to the list of task force members in this particular organization.
The chairperson of this task force is Lori Lightfoot who just happens to be the president of the Chicago Police Board.
Now, with respect to Mr. Ferguson being a part of this task force, coupled with the recent report that his task force issued -- specifically this report that was released on April 13th of 2016 -- clearly indicates a position of Mr. Ferguson and Ms. Lightfoot.
They, through their report, which consists of two reports, a full report well over 160-plus pages and an executive summary, both of which clearly indicate that the Task Force has made some conclusions in this matter regarding the McDonald shooting long before they heard the sworn testimony of Detective March, long before they know the totality of the evidence in this case, and, furthermore, without considering the totality of all of the Illinois law applicable to this case.

Mr. Ferguson has prejudged Detective March without you and Mr. Brown hearing one word from Detective March. And I'm not making this up because the report clearly indicates the statements the Task Force came up with regarding the McDonald shooting under the section in the report they call "The Tipping Point."

You know what these statements are because I referenced these statements made by the Task Force in the letter I sent to Mr. Ferguson and both of you gentlemen prior to today.

I'm asking again, sir, that the Inspector General's Office recuse themself from this investigation. Detective March is entitled to a fair, impartial, and independent investigator. He's not getting it, sir, from Mr. Ferguson and his agents when Mr. Ferguson has put his name on that report that clearly indicates conclusions.
We disagree with those conclusions, but that's not the point. Mr. Ferguson has made judgements on this matter without the benefit of knowing all the evidence. That is wrong. That is prejudice to Detective March, and I respectfully request that you recuse yourself and other agents of the Inspector General from conducting this investigation.

MR. NEUMER: OIG's position is there is no conflict that impairs our office's ability to conduct a fair, impartial investigation, and, accordingly, there's no basis for our office to recuse itself.

MR. McKAY: I'm not certain that we would call it a conflict per se. I'm clearly stating Mr. Ferguson has prejudged Detective March and other police officers in this case.

Can you reconcile for me and Detective March how Mr. Ferguson can put his name on a report indicating that reports of the shooting were superficial and false, that certain activity happened that we -- and the evidence shows did not take place, a conclusion that on-scene officers repeated the same false narrative they allege Officer Van Dyke made, and that these officers uniformly said that McDonald posed an imminent threat immediately before Van Dyke shot him?

Your boss and others, including Ms. Lightfoot, suggest that's not true. So can you tell me, sir, how can this office -- how can your office reconcile these statements your boss is owning up to and, yet, being fair, impartial, and independent in this case?

Unless, sir, are you saying the Inspector General is not duty-bound to be a fair, impartial, and independent investigator in this case?

MR. NEUMER: OIG's position is that our office's ability to conduct a fair and impartial investigation has not been impaired and,
therefore, there's no reason for our recusal.

MR. McKAY: All right. You know, sir, that a grievance has been filed by the Fraternal Order of Police. That grievance is pending before an arbitrator. The grievance issues were raised in regards to this investigation.

The Fraternal Order of Police had filed a grievance and injunction regarding this investigation and, yet, the Inspector General for the City of Chicago refused to postpone this investigation. Is that correct?

MR. NEUMER: There has been a grievance filed.

MR. McKAY: I am prepared to begin, but I must state for the record, as Detective March's legal counsel, I am advising Detective March to refuse to answer any questions without a direct order from one of his superior officers.

MR. NEUMER: Okay. As we talked about previously -- correct me if I'm wrong -- you agreed to have that order from a superior officer come via telephone; is that correct?

MR. McKAY: I have no objection to that.

MR. NEUMER: And at this time I am going to call Commander Robert Klimas of CPD.

MR. McKAY: Can you spell Mr. Klimas' name for the record, please.

MR. NEUMER: Sure. It's K-l-i-m-a-s.

MR. McKAY: Thank you.

(PHONE RINGING)

COMMANDER KLIMAS: Bob Klimas.
MR. NEUMER: Bob, this is Peter Neumer from the City of Chicago Inspector General's Office.

COMMANDER KLIMAS: Yes. How are you?

MR. NEUMER: Good. I am here in a room with Detective David March, an attorney, Investigator Kris Brown, and a court reporter, and we are conducting an interview of Detective March.

Having provided proper notice of that interview and proper notice of the allegations against him, Detective March is declining to answer our questions concerning the shooting of Laquan McDonald absent an order from a superior officer, so I am asking you to order Detective March to answer the OIG's questions concerning the shooting of Laquan McDonald.

COMMANDER KLIMAS: This is Commander Robert Klimas, K-l-i-m-a-s, Bureau of Internal Affairs, Chicago Police Department.

Detective March, I am giving you a direct order to answer all the questions posed to you today from the Office of Inspector General and answer them truthfully, okay?

THE WITNESS: Okay.
MR. NEUMER: Thank you, Commander.

COMMANDER KLIMAS: Thank you.

(WHEREUPON CALL WAS ENDED)

MR. McKAY: Thank you, Mr. Neumer.

MR. NEUMER: So first the advisement. I believe we read that to you, and we had asked you to sign that advisement prior to the statements Counsel made on the record.

Do you want to witness?

MR. McKAY: No. I'd just like a copy of that at some point.

MR. NEUMER: At some point. So none of the exhibits we put before you can go out of the room today, but you will be getting a copy of the transcript.

And, again, as we talked about, is it acceptable that we provide a copy of the transcript within two business days of our receipt of that transcript?

MR. McKAY: No, I thought what we talked about is that whenever the court reporter would prepare it, we would both get it at the same time.

MR. NEUMER: We would be --
MR. McKAY: The rule asked the court reporter to have it prepared within 72 hours of today.

MR. NEUMER: Exactly.

MR. McKAY: If she needs more time, I have no objection to her taking time to get it done and get it done right. I just want it -- and I believe Detective March is entitled to it at the same time the Inspector General's Office gets it.

MR. NEUMER: Well, he's entitled to it within 72 hours of today, so if he wants, he can get it within 72 hours of today.

What I was asking is if it would be acceptable for us to, instead, after our receipt of that transcript, provide it to you within two business days. But if you prefer to do -- to just have us give it to you within 72 hours, we can do that. It was just sort of as a convenience to the court reporter and our office --

MR. McKAY: I am being convenient to the court reporter. I want her to take as much time as she needs. You asked me if we could wait until two days after you get it, and I'd like to know why.

MR. BROWN: And maybe I could speak to that part because this is my portion. I typically do the copying and the receipts related to the transcripts that go to the relative officers. We usually have asked for three days, but I can prepare it that day whenever I receive it.

So if I receive it from the court reporter's office, let's say on a Monday, 9:00 a.m., I can have it turned around to you in a couple hours. That just takes me a little time to copy and get it to you.

MR. McKay: That's fine. Just -- I think what's fair is fair. We get it the same day you guys get it.

MR. BROWN: So it's fair, I can make that copy and provide it to you the same day.

MR. NEUMER: And the reason I was asking for 48 hours, sometimes Investigator Brown has to leave the office, so we might get the transcript or we might get it at the end of the day or something like that.

So if it's like two business days, we will strive to get it to you within hours of when we get it. We want it in your hands as quickly as possible. That said, sometimes family issues come up, sometimes folks are out of the office, and it makes it difficult to do -- to have an immediate turnaround. And so that's why we asked for the 48 hours, the two business days, with the hopes we can get it to you the same day we can get it.

MR. McKay: So the court reporter only prepares one transcript?

MR. Brown: That's the normal course, that we receive one transcript from the court reporter.

MR. McKay: If you can get it to me the same day you receive it, call me. I can pick it up from you.

MR. Brown: If I get it at 4:55, it's going to be difficult to make the copy and do all the other administrative stuff. But if I get it 12:00, 1:00, that's reasonable for me to get it down.

MR. McKay: That's fine.

MR. Brown: Okay.
MR. NEUMER: All right. So we've got our Advisement of Rights marked as Exhibit 1 signed and witnessed.

And now what I'm going to do is mark a series of documents, put them on the record, and present them to Detective March to confirm that he received these exhibits on April 7th, 2016.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. So what has previously been marked Exhibit 2 is a Notification of Interview for Detective March and it's dated April 7th, 2016.

MR. BROWN: And, Mr. McKay, before we go on to Exhibit 2, can we have the copy of the Advisement back.

MR. MCKAY: The one you just gave me?

MR. BROWN: Yes.

MR. MCKAY: Here.

MR. BROWN: Thank you.

MR. MCKAY: Before you begin your questioning, gentlemen, Detective March has something to put on the record.

THE WITNESS: Upon advice of counsel, I am refusing to answer any questions without the direct order of a superior officer.

I would like to preface this statement with the following: I believe I am entitled to be informed of my Constitutional rights to remain silent. I have received no assurances from the Office of Inspector General that criminal charges are probable. Proceeding with this statement is in violation of the applicable Collective Bargaining Agreement, but I have been advised that I will lose my job if I refuse to provide a statement.

I am not giving this statement voluntarily but only because I am required to do so by a direct order of Commander Robert Klimas. I know that if I refuse to participate in this interview or refuse to answer certain questions, I can be disciplined or even fired; therefore, this statement is being compelled.

I'm asserting all of my rights under the Supreme Court case of Garrity versus New Jersey, and I am specifically objecting to any sharing or disclosure of this statement or its contents with any prosecutor's office such as the Cook County State's Attorney's Office or... the United States Attorney's Office. I also object to the sharing or disclosure of this statement or its contents directly or indirectly with anybody else including but not limited to any other federal, state, or city agency and the media.

I am objecting that this interview is taking place before an arbitrator has decided the issues that were raised in regards to this investigation. The Fraternal Order of Police has filed a grievance and injunction regarding this investigation, and the Inspector General has refused to postpone this investigation.

Also, on the advice of counsel, I am making the following additional objections: I am objecting to the fact that the City of Chicago Inspector General's Office has refused to identify all of my complainants if they exist.

Under City ordinance, Collective Bargaining Agreements, and my due process rights, I am entitled to notice of the nature of the allegations against me and the identity of all complainants prior to any interview.
The Inspector General's Office has only advised me that Interim Superintendent John J. Escalante and, to a lesser degree, Sergeant S. Soria are the only complainants against me. This can't possibly be true because Escalante's letter to the Inspector General dated January 13, 2016, does not specifically allege or even suspect me of any misconduct.

Further, the letter refers to Sergeant Soria's memo of July 15th, 2015, which only alleges inattention to duty because of possible tampering with in-car camera mics and improper use of equipment, none of which applies to me, a detective assigned to investigate this police shooting.

I am left to wonder who is the source of the allegations now pending against me. I shouldn't have to do this because I have a right to know and confront my accusers. The Inspector General is violating my rights of due process by not specifically informing me of the person or persons making these specifics allegations. As such, I can only assume the true complainant is the City of Chicago's Inspector General.
I am entitled to an affidavit of any complainant who is not a sworn officer. I have not received one in this case. I am not waiving the requirement of an affidavit, therefore, I am objecting to the City of Chicago Inspector General's Office making allegations against me and conducting an investigation into its own allegations.

Finally, I am objecting to the Inspector General's Office conducting any investigation of this shooting because the Inspector General of Chicago is prejudiced against me.

This prejudice is evidenced by his participation on the Police Accountability Task Force and their report released April 13th, 2016. This report includes findings made without the benefit of hearing my sworn testimony, considering all of the evidence in this case, and considering all of the applicable law in this case.

The Inspector General has prejudged this case. As such, he and his agents cannot be fair, impartial, and independent investigators.
in this matter.

This objection also applies to

Lori E. Lightfoot, president of the Chicago Police Board, who served as the chair of the Police Accountability Task Force.

MR. McKAY: Thank you, Mr. Neumer.

MR. NEUMER: Having responded previously to the objections raised in Detective March's statement, we'll continue with the marking of exhibits.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. I think we were at what has previously been marked as Exhibit 2, which is a Notification of Interview to Detective March dated April 7th, 2016.

(WHEREUPON, OIG Exhibit No. 2 was tendered to the witness.)

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. I would ask Detective March, have you seen Exhibit 2 previously prior to today?

A. Yes.

Q. And did BIA provide you with this Exhibit 2 document on or about April 7th, 2016?

A. Yes.
Q. I am now going to hand you what has been previously marked as Exhibit 3. This is a Notification of Allegations, name of accused, David March.

(WHEREUPON, OIG Exhibit No. 3 was tendered to the witness.)

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Have you seen this Exhibit 3 document prior to today?

A. Yes.

Q. And did BIA provide you with this document on or about April 7th, 2016?

A. Yes.

Q. And is that your signature on the last page, Page 4 of Exhibit 3?

A. Yes.

Q. And also I'd ask, was your signature at the bottom of the only page of Exhibit 2?

A. Yes.

Q. And we will have to ask for all these exhibits back, so if you could keep them separate from everything else.

I am now going to hand you what has been previously marked Exhibit 4. This is a Receipt Form dated April 7th, 2016.

(WHEREUPON, OIG Exhibit No. 4 was tendered to the witness.)

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Detective March, have you seen this Receipt Form prior to today?

A. Yes.

Q. And did BIA provide you with this Receipt Form on or about April 7th, 2016?

A. Yes.

Q. And is your signature on -- is that your signature on Page 2 of the Exhibit 4 Receipt Form?

A. Yes.

Q. I am now going to hand you a copy of what has previously been marked Exhibit 5. This is a copy of a March 16, 2015 Case Supplementary Report with an RD number of HX475653 and a supplementary ID of 10992767, CASR301.

MR. McKay: What number is this,

Mr. Neumer?

MR. NEUMER: This is Exhibit 5.

MR. BROWN: I apologize. This is going to take a minute. Things got kind of out of whack here.

MR. McKAY: Take your time.

(WHEREUPON, OIG Exhibit No. 5 was tendered to the witness.)

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. So we're handling you a Case Supplementary Report with a sup ID of 10992767 CASR301.

Detective March, have you seen this Exhibit 5 document prior to today?

A. This does not -- I've got at least one missing page and duplicates of some other pages.

MR. McKAY: My copy is missing a number of pages as well.

MR. NEUMER: Okay. Why don't we go off the record. The time is 10:52.

(WHEREUPON, a recess was had.)

MR. NEUMER: The time is 10:57 a.m. We're back on the record.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Detective March, if you could look through that Exhibit 5 now and see whether it is a full and complete copy of the document you were provided on or about April 7th, 2016 by BIA.

A. I have two Page 10s, so I think maybe somebody is missing a Page 10.

MR. NEUMER: We'll take back the Page 10.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Other than the duplicate Page 10, does that appear to be a full and complete copy of the document you were provided by BIA on April 7th, 2016?

A. Yes.

MR. McKay: I have a question, Mr. Neumer.

MR. NEUMER: Sure.

MR. McKay: This exhibit in the right-hand has a log number and an attachment number. That was not placed there by Detective March. Can you identify what those markings are?

MR. NEUMER: I believe that is a stamp that was placed there by the Independent Police Review Authority.

MR. McKay: Okay. Thank you.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. I am now going to be handing you what is previously marked Exhibit 6, which a copy of a March 16, 2015 --

A. Should this go in the pile that's going back --

Q. Yes. Yes.

A. -- are we going to be referring back to --

Q. Well, we will. We will be referring to --

A. Right now it just goes in the pile?

Q. Right now it goes in the pile --

MR. BROWN: We'll give it back to you later.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Yeah, and we will be referring to that one.

So I'll be handing you a copy marked Exhibit 6 of a March 16, 2015 Case Supplementary Report for RD number HX475653 with a supplementary ID 10988891 CASR339.

(WHEREUPON, OIG Exhibit No. 6 was tendered to the witness.)

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Have you seen the document marked Exhibit 6 prior to today, Detective March?
A. Yes.

Q. And did BIA provide you with the Exhibit 6 document on or about April 7th, 2016?
A. I believe that was on the disk that they provided me.

Q. I'm now going to be handing you what's previously been marked Exhibit 7. This is a copy of Case Incident Report for RD Number HX486155 with the case ID 9837884 CASR229.

(WHEREUPON, OIG Exhibit No. 7 was tendered to the witness.)

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Have you seen this Exhibit 7 document prior to today, Detective March?
A. Yes.

Q. And was this one of the documents that BIA provided you with on or about April 7th, 2006?
A. Yes, I believe it was on the disk.

Q. I am now going to be handing you what has previously been marked as Exhibit 8, which is a copy of your October 20th, 2014, General Progress Report for RD Number HX475653, concerning your October 20th, 2014, interview of Officer Dora Fontaine.

(WHEREUPON, Exhibit OIG No. 8 was tendered to the witness.)

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Have you seen this Exhibit 8 document prior to today?
A. Yes.

Q. And did BIA provide you with a copy of this document on or about April 7th, 2016?
A. Yes, I believe that was on the disk.

MR. McKay: This is your Exhibit Number 8, sir?

MR. NEUMER: Exhibit 8. Yes.

MR. McKay: Thank you.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. And I am now going to be handing you what is marked as exhibit -- previously been marked as Exhibit 9, which is a copy of your October 20th, 2014, General Progress Report for RD Number HX475653 concerning your October 20th, 2014, interview of Officer Janet Mondragon.

(WHEREUPON, OIG Exhibit No. 9 was tendered to the witness.)
BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Have you seen this Exhibit 9 document prior to today, Detective March?
A. Yes.

Q. And did BIA provide you with a copy of this document on or about April 7th, 2016?
A. Yes, I believe this was on the disk also.

Q. I am now going to be handing you what's previously been marked as Exhibit 10, which is a copy of your October 20th, 2014, General Progress Report for RD Number HX475653 concerning your October 20th, 2014, interviews of Officer Jason Van Dyke.

(WHEREUPON, OIG Exhibit No. 10 was tendered to the witness.)

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Have you seen the document marked as Exhibit 10 prior to today?
A. Yes.

Q. And did BIA provide you with this document on or about April 7th, 2016?
A. Yes, I believe these were on the disk.
MR. MCKAY: I don't have an objection to how you mark your exhibits -- you're entitled to do that -- just so the record is clear that your Exhibit 10, sir, actually consists of two separate GPRs. One was three pages that was drafted on or about October 20th, 2014, and the other, the remaining page, is a separate GPR that was drafted on or about October 21st of 2014. You're including all these GPRs into one exhibit; is that correct?

MR. NEUMER: I believe if that's all in Exhibit 10, that is correct.

MR. MCKAY: All right. Thank you.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. And, Detective March, you received both of those GPRs on April 7, 2016; is that correct?

A. All four pages, correct.

Q. All four pages. Thank you.

I am now going to be handing you what has previously been marked as Exhibit 11, which is a copy of Evidence Submission Form 54818.E for incident RD Number HX475653.
(WHEREUPON, OIG Exhibit No. 11 was tendered to the witness.)

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Have you seen a copy of the Exhibit 11 document prior to today, Detective March?

A. Yes.

Q. And did BIA provide you with a copy of this document on or about April 7th, 2016?

A. Yes, I believe this was on the disk.

Q. I am now going to be handing you what has been previously marked as Exhibit 12, which is a copy of Evidence Submission Form 54818.F for incident number RD Number HX475653.

(WHEREUPON, OIG Exhibit No. 12 was tendered to the witness.)

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Have you seen this Exhibit 12 document prior to today, Detective March?

A. Yes.

Q. And did BIA provide you with a copy of this document on or about April 7th, 2016?

A. Yes.

Q. And, lastly, I will be handing you what has been previously marked as Exhibit 13, which is a copy of a Major Incident Notification Detail for incident number 73204.

(WHEREUPON, OIG Exhibit No. 13 was tendered to the witness.)

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Have you seen a copy of this document prior to today, Detective March?

A. Yes.

Q. And did BIA provide you with a copy of this Exhibit 13 document on or about April 7th 2016?

A. Yes.

Q. And I think -- if you could just put those off to the side -- we'll get them back and then we will, at the appropriate time, provide you with the relevant documents so that way it will make things just go a little smoother.

In order to prepare for today's interview, did you review the materials that BIA provided you on or about April 7th 2016?

A. Yes.

Q. And the materials that BIA provided you on April 7th 2016, those also included video from the in-car video systems of Vehicles 813 Robert and 845 Robert; is that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And that I think it was a DVD also included video from a Dunkin' Donuts security camera as well; is that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And did you review those videos, the 813 Robert, 845 Robert dash cam videos, and the Dunkin' Donuts security video prior to today's interview?
A. Yes.
Q. Since receiving our Notice of Interview, did you review any materials other than the materials we provided you?
A. Yes.
Q. What did you review other than the materials we provided you?
A. I looked through most of the official investigative file of the Chicago Police Department regarding this incident.
Q. So you looked through CPD's file on the Laquan McDonald shooting?
A. Yes.
Q. Anything else that you recall?
A. I did some searching on the internet to find some relevant statutes, the language of the Illinois revised statutes -- or Illinois compiled statutes, and I think that's about it.

Q. Aside from your attorney --
A. Oh, excuse me.

Q. Go ahead.
A. I also reviewed some written Chicago Police Department directives regarding policy and procedure.

Q. Do you recall what policy and procedure directives you were reviewing?
A. Basically the subject matter was use of force.

Q. Aside from your attorney, who did you speak to in preparation for this interview?
A. No one.

Q. We're going to start off with a little background. Could you state for the record your name, star number, and current unit of assignment.
A. My name is Detective David March. My star number is 20563, and I'm assigned to Unit 610, which is called the Bureau of Detectives Area Central.

Q. What was your unit of assignment on October 20th, 2014?
A. The same as it is today.

Q. And were you on the same watch then as you are today?
A. Well, today I'm working days to accommodate this interview.

Q. Okay.
A. I normally work afternoons.

Q. And were you working afternoons as of October 20th, 2014?
A. Yes.

Q. And what was your general work hours?
A. From 4:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m.

Q. What was your chain of command as of October 20th, 2014?
A. I was on what's called a homicide team that was supervised by Sergeant Daniel Gallagher. Our unit has two lieutenants, Lieutenant Anthony Wojcik and Lieutenant Osvaldo Valdez and then --

Q. Before you -- is it possible for you to spell those names for the record if you know them?

A. Sure. Daniel Gallagher is G-a-l-l-a-g-h-e-r; lieutenant Anthony Wojcik is W-o-j-c-i-k; Lieutenant Osvaldo Valdez is V-a-l-d-e-z. And then our commander at that time was Commander Eugene Roy, R-o-y.

Q. Who was the deputy chief of the Bureau of Detectives at that time?

A. Anthony Riccio, R-i-c-c-i-o.

Q. And who was the bureau detective chief?

A. John Escalante.

Q. Is that E-s-c-a-l-a-n-t-e?

A. I believe that's correct.

Q. Okay. Do you know who the District 8 commander was as of October 20th, 2014?

A. I don't recall.

Q. Was it James O'Donnell?

A. It could have been.

Q. Okay. Who was the Area Central deputy chief?

A. Of patrol?

Q. Uh-huh.
A. David McNaughton,
M-c-N-a-u-g-h-t-o-n.

Q. And who was the bureau patrol chief?
A. I don't recall at that time.

Q. Does Wayne Gulliford sound right?
A. He was the chief of patrol at one time. If -- it could be that day, I don't recall.

Q. What's your personal cell phone number?

MR. McKay: Objection, relevance.

MR. NEUMER: If Detective March had any communications with folks.

MR. McKay: Do you have records that Mr. Marback may have requested in December of 2015? If so, we'd like to see them now.

BY MR. NEUMER:
Q. Now, I mean, we're -- the question's a good question. We're asking for your personal cell phone number. You can refuse to answer, but --

MR. McKay: He is not going to refuse a direct order. He has been ordered. He will comply with your questions. I'm just stating for the record that I object to the relevance of this question. His personal cell phone? Are you talking about today? Are you talking about October 2014?

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Both. The personal cell phone today, and then the next question will be is that the same cell phone number you had as of October 20th, 2014.

MR. McKay: I object to the relevance of that.

BY THE WITNESS:

A. 312-735-6630.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. And is that the same cell phone number you had as of October 20th, 2014?

A. Yes.

Q. I want to talk to you about grand jury proceedings. Were you summoned to give testimony before a grand jury regarding the McDonald shooting?

A. I did receive, I believe, a subpoena for the federal grand jury in this matter.

Q. And did you end up giving testimony before a federal grand jury?
   A. No, it was postponed.
   Q. So you have not been before a federal grand jury in this matter?
   A. No.
   Q. No state grand jury either?
   A. No.
   Q. Have you been interviewed by the FBI in connection with the McDonald shooting?
   A. No.
   Q. I want to talk to you about the night of October 20th, 2014. So I'm going to ask you to walk us through your actions that night in terms of your response to the shooting of Laquan McDonald.
   A. I --
   MR. McKay: Object to the vagueness of the question, Mr. Neumer. Walk us through your actions. When, where, who? He is -- you know from your review of his reports, his role in this case as a responding detective assigned to investigate, correct?
   MR. Neumer: Mm-hm.
   MR. McKay: So I would ask that unless Detective March understands the question, if you could be more specific, that's all I'm asking.

MR. NEUMER: Sure. And we're just looking to get a narrative --

MR. McKay: All right.

MR. NEUMER: -- so I'm happy to provide some prompts --

MR. McKay: If he's comfortable with your question, he should --

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. I'll start out very -- like where were you when you first got notice of the shooting?

A. I would also like to add in that reading some of the things that are coming out of the Inspector General's Office, there's allegations regarding intentional omissions.

Now you're asking me to recall in general what I did a year and a half ago, and if I don't recall anything, that does not indicate an intentional omission. And if I remember different things that I did and out of order, you know, I'm not -- I don't want to be accused later on under oath that I said I did this first.
and that first and now it turns out that I did this first, that second.

Q. Right, I think -- I understand what you're saying, and so I'm happy to provide some prompts. We're not looking to play gotcha and, you know, you didn't say this or you put it out of order or anything like that.

And also if you want to refer to any of the exhibits at any time that we provide you to refresh your recollection, we're just looking to sort of get the basic understanding of your whereabouts, your actions on the night of October 20th, 2014.

So if you don't recall, you don't recall. And you if you want to take a moment in response to any questions that are asked, that's totally fine, too.

So I'll start it this way and say where were you on the night of October 20th, 2014, when you first got notice of the shooting of Laquan McDonald?

A. I think I was in the office at my unit.

Q. And where is that office located?
1 A. 5101 South Wentworth Avenue.

2 Q. So you're at Area Central, can I say, headquarters?

3 A. Yes.

4 Q. So you were at Area Central headquarters. You were on duty?

5 A. Yes.

6 Q. And so how did you receive this notice of the shooting?

7 A. I believe Sergeant Gallagher called me on the telephone.

8 Q. On your work phone or...

9 A. I don't recall.

10 Q. So you think --

11 A. And I don't have a work phone.

12 Q. Okay.

13 A. My cell phone is my phone. I pay for it. It's entirely mine.

14 Q. Okay. So you have no like --

15 A. It's not required equipment that's required by the police department. It's not supplied to me by the police department.

16 Q. And so do you have a desk phone at -- 17 A. There are phones in the office. I don't recall if Gallagher called the office or called my cell phone, I don't recall.

Q. But you're pretty sure it was Detective -- sorry, pretty sure it was Sergeant Gallagher who --

A. To the best of my recollection, I got a -- Sergeant Gallagher notified me of the assignment by telephone.

Q. Okay. And do you recall what he said
to you?

A. Something to the effect of that there was a police officer-involved shooting and that you was going to be -- that it was going to be assigned to me.

Q. So after you get that phone call,
what do you do?

A. I proceeded to the scene.

Q. So you proceed in a CPD vehicle to 40th and Pulaski, approximately?

A. Correct.

Q. Was anyone with you when you drove to the scene of the shooting?

A. No, I drove there myself.

Q. Did you go immediately once you got that phone call to the scene of the shooting?
   A. Yes.

Q. And once you get to the scene, what's the first thing you do?
   A. I believe I saw Sergeant Gallagher at the scene, so I went and checked in with him.

Q. Did you have a conversation with Sergeant Gallagher?
   A. Just very briefly.

Q. What did he -- did he give you any details, or what did he say to you?
   A. The main -- my main interest at that time was where were the major participants of the incident, if you will, where were they located at.

Q. Sure.
   A. Because as the detective assigned, I wanted to identify them and then start from there. Because when I arrived to the scene, I had no idea what happened or where to start the investigation.

Q. And just to back up really quickly. How long do you think it took you to drive to the scene of the shooting from Area Central?
A. I don't recall. I mean, a guess would be 20 minutes or so.

Q. Was there any documentation of when you arrive, like what time you arrived at the scene of the shooting?

A. There might be a General Progress Report where I noted the time I arrived.

Q. Do you have any independent recollection of what time you arrived at the scene of the shooting?

A. No.

Q. So you get to the scene. Where did you park your vehicle?

A. On Pulaski Road.

Q. Do you recall whether it was on the east side or the west side, north of 40th, south of 40th?

A. Initially when I arrived I parked the police vehicle on the west side of the street at the west curb of the southbound lanes.

Q. West curb of the southbound lanes on Pulaski. Okay. So is it near the intersection of Pulaski and 40th then?

A. I think I parked a short distance north of the Burger King restaurant building.

Q. Okay. So you get there, you go to -- you find Sergeant Gallagher, and you have a brief conversation with him. And then after that conversation, what's the next thing do you?

A. I located the officer involved in the incident, Officer Jason Van Dyke.

Q. And did you speak to Officer Van Dyke then?

A. Yes.

Q. And just to back up again. When you arrived at the scene, do you know if Laquan McDonald was still at the scene?

A. I really don't remember seeing an ambulance at the scene, so I think the ambulance may have already left with him on the way to the hospital.

Q. Can you just describe the scene when you first arrived as best you recall it. So you're pulling up, you're parking close to the Burger King. What does the scene look like when you arrive?

A. There are a lot of police personnel present and police vehicles at the scene.
Officers were -- if they hadn't already, they were in the process of establishing a perimeter to isolate the scene and protect it. I believe crime scene tape was being utilized as well as police vehicles. I mean, Pulaski was a wide street, so, again, there was a lot of police personnel and a lot of police vehicles.

Q. So after you talked a Sergeant Gallagher, you located Officer Van Dyke and fairly to say you have a conversation with Officer Van Dyke?

A. Yes.

Q. What's the nature of that conversation?

A. First I introduced myself to him and told him who I was and that I was the detective assigned to do the immediate follow-up investigation. I asked him if he was okay, and once he answered that he was okay, I began to talk to him about what had occurred.

Q. And so he was providing a narrative of what occurred prior and during the shooting?

A. Yes.
Q. Were you taking notes during that conversation?
   A. At times I was, yes.

Q. I'm going to direct your attention to what was previously marked as Exhibit 10, and then I'm going to ask you to look at the first three pages of Exhibit 10. And this is a General Progress Report. The date of the original case report -- we'll just give you this to keep everyone on the same page here.

   And, again, asking you to look at the first three pages of that General Progress Report -- the Exhibit 10, General Progress Report.

   A. Right.

Q. Are these notes in this Exhibit 10 document that you were taking during your conversation -- the conversation you just described with Officer Van Dyke?
   A. No.

Q. Did you take these notes later on at the scene?
   A. Yes.
Q. So during this initial conversation with Officer Van Dyke, you mentioned you were taking notes intermittently at some points during that conversation?
A. Yes.
Q. Were you taking those on a notepad, or how were you taking those notes?
A. On a pad of General Progress Reports.
Q. On a pad of General Progress Reports.
Okay. So those notes of your initial conversation with Officer Van Dyke, did those get put into a General Progress Report?
A. Yes, that's where I was writing those notes.
Q. But those notes aren't the notes that are in Exhibit 10, right, the first three pages?
A. Correct.
Q. So where would we find those notes that you were taking during that initial conversation with Officer Van Dyke?
A. The same place I assume you found these in the investigative file where all of the General Progress Reports are.
Q. So there should be a separate General
Progress Report of your initial conversation with Officer Van Dyke?

A. There is at least one additional General Progress Report regarding Officer Van Dyke. I'm pretty sure.

Q. So -- and now I'll ask you to look through all Exhibit 10. There's four pages. There's a report dated October 20th, 2014, and one dated October 21st, 2014.

You believe that there is another General Progress Report reflecting notes of your initial conversation that -- with Officer Van Dyke that's not included in these Exhibit 10 documents?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. Do you recall what Officer Van Dyke told you in that initial conversation?

A. It was basically the same thing he said all along that evening. He and his partner, Joseph Walsh, responded to a call for assistance from another unit regarding a subject with a knife, who was armed with a knife.

A unit with a Taser had been requested. And subsequent to that, that unit was following the subject west -- or eastbound on 40th Street, and at one point the subject popped the tire of that police vehicle, meaning that he had slashed the tire with the knife causing it to go flat.
And then subsequently to that -- subsequent to that, Officer Van Dyke and Walsh, in their police vehicle, they were proceeding northbound on Pulaski, turned westbound onto 40th Street. And at that point they saw a black male subject who's now known as Laquan McDonald running eastbound through a -- the Burger King parking lot on the north side of the Burger King building. He was being pursued by, I believe it was, Officer Gaffney in the police vehicle with the flat tire and Officer McElligott on foot.
Officer Walsh was driving their police vehicle. He was able to get closer to Laquan McDonald, and they actually became then the primary or the first pursuit vehicle.

Officer Walsh positioned their police vehicle between Laquan McDonald, who would have been on the left of the vehicle, and the Burger
King restaurant on the right to keep him from running into the Burger King where there were civilians present.

McDonald ran out onto the street onto Pulaski Road and then began to run and then subsequently walk southbound in the southbound lanes of Pulaski Road.

Q. And just to pause you here. Is this all information that Officer Van Dyke provided you in that initial conversation at that scene of the shooting?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. Continue.

A. Officer Walsh, again driving their police vehicle -- pursued McDonald southbound on Pulaski Road. McDonald was more or less in the southbound lanes. Walsh drove across the median into the northbound lanes.

And now there was a Dunkin' Donuts restaurant on the east side of Pulaski Road. And, again, Walsh positioned the police vehicle between McDonald and their police vehicle to prevent him from going towards the Dunkin' Donuts restaurant, which, again, there were
There was another police vehicle coming northbound which was either in the left-hand northbound lane or maybe it had even gone into the median. I don't remember exactly where he said it was. They drove to the left of that vehicle and McDonald -- they went east of that vehicle, and McDonald went west of that vehicle, again, continuing to proceed southbound.

Before they passed that vehicle, when they -- prior to -- when Walsh had positioned the vehicle between McDonald and the Dunkin' Donuts, Van Dyke said he had actually opened the right front passenger door of their police vehicle to exit and confront McDonald. And Walsh told him something to the effect that they were too close; wait until they get further ahead of him.

So Walsh then drove around the second police vehicle further south of McDonald and then stopped the police vehicle. They both, Van Dyke and Walsh, exited their vehicle, drew their weapons.
Van Dyke mentioned to me that from the first time he saw McDonald in the Burger King parking lot running eastbound, he observed a knife in McDonald's right hand and that's when they exited their police vehicle as McDonald was now coming -- continuing southbound in the southbound lanes of Pulaski Road, he still had that knife in his right hand.

Both Van Dyke and Walsh had their weapons drawn. They pointed them at McDonald, and Van Dyke said he shouted to McDonald multiple times, "Drop the knife. Drop the knife." McDonald never made any kind of movement that indicated he was going to drop the knife or surrender.

He continued walking generally in a southbound direction, and when he got approximately -- I'm guessing here. I don't recall. I'm not reading his statement. I think somewhere between 10 and 15 feet from Van Dyke, Van Dyke said McDonald turned directly towards Van Dyke and began to bring the knife in his right hand up and point it at Van Dyke.

Van Dyke said it was at that moment that he felt McDonald was beginning to attack him with the knife. He felt his life was in danger and so he fired his handgun at McDonald in defense of his life.

Q. And so that's -- that was the narrative that Officer Van Dyke provided you during your initial conversation with him on the scene?

A. Correct.

Q. When did you speak with Officer Van Dyke when you were taking notes, the notes that are in Exhibit 10, the first three pages of the Exhibit 10, the GPR dated October 20th, 2014, when did that conversation occur?

A. Again, when I first arrived at the scene, I had no idea what had happened, what had occurred, so I had no idea where to start the investigation, where to look for evidence, where to look for witnesses.

So I was just trying to get a quick read on the situation from Van Dyke so I would know where we want to look for evidence, witness, whatever -- to get some direction for the investigation.

So I didn't take the time to write down everything he was telling me. I took a few quick notes identifying who he was so I could answer all the questions, what's the officer's name, because in this day and age, everybody from the lowest level supervisors up to the superintendent want information immediately. So I have to have that -- you know, "I don't know yet" is not an acceptable answer.

So I took down some basic notes initially, and then I kind of rushed Van Dyke through the story again so I could get our investigative efforts moving in whatever direction they needed to go.

Q. I got you --
A. And it was later on, once we had most of the facts, that I took the time to stand there with him and actually, you know, write down the story so I accurately had what he remembered.

Q. Okay. So how much later do you think it was that you had a second conversation with Officer Van Dyke at the scene of the shooting wherein you took the notes that are reflected in the Exhibit 10 October 20th GPR?

A. I have no idea how much time went by between the initial interview and when I actually had the time to actually stand there and write the information down.

Q. Where did your first conversation with Officer Van Dyke occur?

A. Right near the -- where their police vehicle was sitting in the street.

Q. So was he still in his vehicle?

A. He was standing outside of it.

Q. And you were standing as well?

A. Yes.

Q. So you have your initial conversation with Officer Van Dyke, you take a couple notes, and he provided the narrative you just described to us; is that correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And then after you talk to Officer Van Dyke, what happens next? Who do you talk to next?

A. I then spoke with Officer Walsh.

Q. And was this -- well, let me first ask you, when you first talked to Officer Van Dyke, was anyone else present during that conversation?
   A. No.
   Q. So just you and Officer Van Dyke.
Then you speak to Officer Walsh?
   A. Yes.
   Q. And where did that conversation
occur?
   A. Nearby, near their police vehicle
there.
   Q. Was Officer Walsh sort of in the area when you were talking to Officer Van Dyke, or do you recall what he was doing when you were talking --
   A. No, I don't know what Walsh was doing when I talked to Van Dyke.
   Q. When you talked to Walsh, was Van Dyke present?
   A. No.
   Q. And so tell us about your conversation with Officer Walsh.
   A. He relayed information that was basically similar to what Van Dyke had just told
Q. And were you taking notes during your interview of Officer Walsh?
A. Again, I took some initial cursory notes.
Q. And so did he provide -- so he provided a narrative to you during that initial conversation?
A. Yes.
Q. And did you later come back to talk to Officer Walsh again?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. And during that second conversation, you took notes that became a GPR; is that fair to say?
A. Yes.
Q. After you talked to Officer Walsh, who did you speak to next?
A. I spoke -- again, this is where I have no idea what happened step by step, first, second, third.
Q. Okay.
A. I spoke -- a number of times I consulted with my sergeant, Sergeant Gallagher, to make sure he was aware of everything I learned, and he was telling me things that he learned like what hospital Laquan McDonald had been taken to --

Q. Let me pause you there. So as you're conducting your investigation at the scene of the shooting, you're having a series of conversations with Sergeant Gallagher; is that fair to say?

A. Yes.

Q. And so you were -- before I cut you off, you were walking me through some of those conversations. Can you continue on about what you were communicating with Sergeant Gallagher about.

A. I was letting him know what I had found out. He was letting me know what other personnel were doing or had learned. We had personnel looking for and attempting to recover video from any sources nearby, whether they be public or private.

We had other personnel conducting a canvass to find any possible witnesses, and then we were identifying, you know, what officers were -- as I said, when I first got to the scene, there were a lot of police personnel on the scene. They weren't all there when this incident happened, so we were trying to weed out, if you will, who were the people that were present when this incident occurred versus assisting units that responded after the fact and were just involved in crowd control and traffic control and crime scene protection.

Q. Yeah. So let me back up a little bit and ask you about your assignment as lead detective.

So Sergeant Gallagher informed you you would be lead detective over the phone prior to your arrival at the scene of the shooting; is that fair to say?

A. Yes.

Q. And did he give you any instructions at that time like sort of the nature and scope of your investigation?

A. I believe all he told me was that there was a police officer-involved shooting incident.

Q. And when you were at the scene, did you learn like who the personnel were that were going to comprise the detective team assigned to the shooting?

A. Normally in a major incident, if you will, like this, every detective who's working in the unit at the time that's not already occupied with other investigative duties, if they're available, they're either asked to or assigned to respond to the scene.

Q. Okay.

A. And once, depending on who gets there first, second, the supervisor, which primarily was Sergeant Gallagher who was subsequently joined by other supervisors, will assign tasks to the different detective personnel that arrive. As I said before, locate video, recover video, locate witnesses, interview witnesses, whatever.

So it's really an ad hoc kind of situation where depending on what personnel shows up, they become part of the investigative team. People that are there first are more likely to become major role players in the investigative process versus people who get there later when most primary important issues are covered and then there's only minor details that need to be addressed.

Q. I got you. So is it fair to say that Sergeant Gallagher, on the night of October 20th, 2014, was the one assigning tasks to the detectives who arrived?

A. To the best of my knowledge. But that doesn't mean he was the only supervisor that was assigning tasks.

Q. Who -- do you know of any other supervisors who were assigning tasks?

A. I don't know who did what, but I do know eventually and ultimately Lieutenant Valdez and Lieutenant Wojcik both responded to the scene, as did Commander Roy.

Q. Okay.

A. But I don't know exactly at what time or at what point these people got there or what, if any, supervisory direction they gave.

Q. And you mentioned you were having sort of a series of conversations with Sergeant Gallagher as you were acquiring information; is that fair to say?
A. Correct. We were coordinating the effort between the two of us.

Q. Were you also having conversations with Lieutenant Wojcik?

A. Eventually he got to the scene, but I don't think he got to the scene until quite a bit later.

Q. Did you give him a briefing as to what was -- what you had learned when he got to the scene?

A. Wojcik?

Q. Mm-hm.

A. No, I don't recall really having much contact with him at the scene at all.

Q. Do you recall any, what I'll call, substantive conversations with Lieutenant Wojcik at the scene of the shooting?

A. No, I'm not sure I talked to him at all at the scene, actually. I may not have talked to him until later on at the office.

Q. Okay. How about Eugene Roy; do you recall having any conversation with him at the scene of the shooting?

A. As you said, nothing substantive.
You know, he showed up at the scene. He, you know -- again, he was present because it was a major incident. The follow-up investigation, him being the area commander was ultimately his responsibility.

Again, I'm not sure at what time or at what point he arrived at the scene, but I think he was briefed on everything from other supervisory personnel at the scene, and I really didn't have too much contact with him either at the scene.

Q. How about Deputy Chief McNaughton;
did you have any conversations with him?
A. I did.

Q. Okay. Tell us about those conversations.

MR. McKay: Objection, foundation. When and where, Peter?

MR. Neumer: At the scene of the shooting.

By the Witness:

A. When Deputy Chief McNaughton arrived at the scene, being the area deputy chief he was what was called at that time the on-call incident commander, which would be the incident commander for the -- for this incident.

When he arrived at the scene, I don't recall at what point that was. He learned -- or I assume he learned that I was the primary detective assigned to the investigation. And he came to me and -- he was like me, he arrived at the scene, he had no idea what had occurred, so he was looking for information on what we, the Chicago Police Department, had learned up to that point. So I gave him a very quick briefing on what I was aware of at that point.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Okay. And was that the extent of your conversations with Deputy Chief McNaughton at the scene of the shooting?

A. The whole -- the entire incident happened over the course of over four city blocks. And as I became aware of all this information, you know, being the primary detective, I was kind of the focal point where information was coming to.

And, again, with my supervisor Gallagher, we were coordinating the investigation, I told McNaughton -- to the best of my memory, I told -- I gave McNaughton a quick brief verbal summary of what had occurred over the four blocks, and he suggested that we get in his police vehicle so that he could actually drive the route that this incident had taken so that he could get a better understanding of what happened and where it happened.

Q. And so did you take a tour of the -- sort of the relevant sites and locations --

A. Yes.

Q. -- that night?

A. Yes.

Q. You and Deputy Chief McNaughton?

A. Right.

Q. And you drove in his vehicle or your vehicle?

A. He drove in his vehicle.

Q. Okay. Do you recall the different streets or different locations you went to?

A. We went to where this incident started. The incident started with a call to 911 from a civilian, and so we went to that location where that all started. And I -- Q. Was that the truck lot?

A. The trucking lot at -- I think it was around 41st and Kildare.

Q. Yeah. Okay. So that was the first spot you went to. Did you get out of the vehicle at that point?

A. I don't remember if we got out or not.

Q. Where did you go after you went to 41st and Kildare?

A. I showed him where the path Laquan McDonald had taken northbound on Kildare then eastbound on 40th Street. I showed him approximately where Officers Gaffney and McElligott had indicated they had first encountered McDonald.

I then showed him the intersection where McDonald stabbed the tire of the police vehicle. And then we, again, followed the path eastbound on 40th Street. I showed him about McDonald having run through the Burger King parking lot out on the -- Pulaski Road and then southbound on Pulaski to the final --

Q. So --
A. -- location where the incident ended.

Q. Got you. Was -- did you visit these locations after you had finished all your interviews at the scene of the shooting?

A. No, it was right in the middle of the whole process.

Q. But it sounds like you had already talked to Officers Gaffney and McElligott prior to going and taking the tour?

A. I had probably done, again, a brief verbal interview with them.

Q. Okay.

A. But I don't know if I had actually written down the notes that I took -- ultimately took of their interviews.

Q. So I know it's difficult to, you know -- with complete precision say when one interview happened or another, but I want to kind of go back to after your initial interview with Officer Walsh.

You were walking us through the other steps that you had taken, and I want to ask -- so now you finished up your initial interview with Walsh and generally tell us like what are the next investigative steps that you undertake.

A. After my interview with Walsh?

Q. After your initial conversation with Officer Walsh. So you have your initial conversation with Officer Van Dyke and then you have your initial conversation with Officer Walsh.

A. Right, as I began to -- before -- at different times I had multiple consultations with Sergeant Gallagher because him being my sergeant, me being the primary detective, we needed to coordinate the efforts of the police department basically, so I had multiple conversation with him at different times.

I believe it was after I spoke to Officer Walsh that I went back to, I believe it was, 813 Robert's police vehicle, and for the first time I saw the video that we're all very familiar with now.

Q. Okay.

A. So I went -- I sat in the vehicle, the driver's seat in the vehicle, and on the small monitor in the vehicle I saw the video.

Q. Was Sergeant Becvar at the scene at that point?

A. The first time I saw the video, I don't think he had arrived yet.

Q. So did you just sort of queue the video up yourself when you were in -- how did that process work?

A. At that point in time I as a detective don't use that equipment regularly, so I really didn't know how to work it. So I believe one of the officers at the scene -- I don't know what officer it was -- leaned into the car, queued up the video, hit play, and then let me watch it.

Q. Okay. Were you able to watch it multiple times, or did you just -- like how many -- did you watch it once or --

A. I saw it that one time initially. I mean subsequently that night, I don't know how many times I saw it because as I learned different information, I would go back, refer to the video to compare notes, if you will.

Q. So after -- when you got new information, you might -- did you -- do you think you watched it five times that night? Is it possible?

A. This investigation -- the incident occurred just before 10:00 p.m., and I worked well into the next morning with this investigation.

So between -- at the scene on the small monitor in the police vehicle, I didn't look at it all that many times. But then subsequently, once Sergeant Becvar got on the scene, once the investigation moved into the area, Sergeant Becvar uploaded the video into the permanent system and we had it up on one of the computer monitors in the office. I couldn't tell you how many times ultimately I viewed that video.

Q. But is it fair to say you watched the video multiple times at the scene of the shooting?

A. I would guess somewhere between three to five times at the scene.

Q. Okay. So now you're at the 813 Robert vehicle. An officer who you don't recall queues up the video for you and you watch the video. In its entirety, or do you recall like if when he started up the video or did you --

A. Well, in its entirety is -- I mean, the recording that's permanently stored begins well before this incident. I mean, it's the vehicle occupied by the officers assigned to Beat 813 Robert.

At some point in time they heard the request for assistance regarding a person with a knife, and they respond to that scene. And it's when they turn their emergency equipment on, the blue lights on the police vehicle, that the camera begins recording. Or maybe there's a short buffer period before -- I don't know the technical information involved there.

But that recording starts, I mean, literally miles away, and it basically just shows their path coming to the scene.

At the scene, I didn't view all of that. The officer who had queued it up basically had it queued up to the point where 813 Robert -- I don't even know if they had it to the point where they were first arriving at the scene near the Burger King. They may have had it queued up to just immediately prior to the confrontation between McDonald and Van Dyke.

Q. Okay.
A. And I may have just watched that small portion.

Q. Sure.
A. Because everything else was -- I mean, not that it's not important, but it didn't directly affect what occurred between those two individuals.

Q. Did you see the actual shooting the first time you viewed the video?
A. Van Dyke firing his weapon?

Q. Yes. Yes.
A. Yes.

Q. Okay. So you watched the video in the 813 Robert vehicle. What happens next?
A. And, again, now I have no idea what order.

Q. Okay.
A. Ultimately it was determined that there were five police units each containing two officers present at -- present or near the scene at the time the interaction between Jason Van Dyke and Laquan McDonald occurred. And I had already spoke to Van Dyke and Walsh.

Ultimately and eventually I spoke to the other eight officers that were present at or near the scene, but I have no recollection of what order that occurred in.

Q. And do you recall -- so Officer Walsh and Van Dyke you spoke to multiple times at the scene of the shooting; is that fair to say?

Well, let me go one at a time.

Officer Van Dyke you spoke to at least twice at the scene of the shooting; is that fair to say?

A. I can say that it's probably the same for all of the officers. There were two primary interviews, one was the initial first verbal interview to find out what that officer's involvement was. And then ultimately I went back and actually, when I had the time, once things slowed down a little bit and I had the time, I took a more detailed GPR of what each of those officers told me.

Again, I have no idea what the order was, and the order I talked to them the first time was not necessarily the order I talked to them the second time. And as different -- I'm getting asked questions -- Sergeant Gallagher and myself are getting asked questions up the chain of command, and as different questions come up, I may have gone back to this officer or that officer to ask a follow-up question.

But there were basically two primary interviews, the first is the initial verbal. The second one is the one where I had time to actually write the GPR down. But I did have other contact with the officers during the course of the investigation at the scene.

Q. And a question I should have asked you earlier, what is a GPR?

A. It's called a General Progress Report. That's just a title that the police department assigned to it. It's basically a sheet which comes on a pad, and it's a bunch of blank lines. It's got a little heading at the top that you fill out, signature boxes at the bottom, a little box where you can put the RD number for the case on it. And the majority of the report is just blank lines.

And it's basically formalized scratch paper. I'm sure there was a time -- people joke about the old-fashioned detectives taking their notes on matchbook covers. It's long before my time, but at some point in time it was decided that that needed to be formalized, so all the notes that were taken became part of the permanent investigative file. And, again, that was before I started on the police department, probably this form existed.

And it basically -- there's no requirement that you use them, but if you are going to take notes, they are supposed to be taken on a General Progress Report, and then that sheet of paper that -- any time you take notes on one of those documents, one of those pages, it's supposed to be submitted and become a permanent part of the file.

Q. And are there -- is there a General Order or Special Order that governs GPRs or has any reference to GPRs?
A. I certainly can't say all, but I have actually read most of the Department directives that I'm aware of, and I don't recall a specific directive that addresses the use of General Progress Reports. It's just when I got promoted, I was sent back to the academy for training regarding a detective, and I was told what I just told you.

Q. So other than the officers that were at the scene of the shooting when it occurred, did you interview anyone else at the scene? And I'm not talking about conversations with Gallagher or conversations with McNaughton, but interview anybody in an investigative capacity.

A. Well, I had conversations with some of the other detectives that were conducting the canvass and the search for video.

Q. Okay.

A. But I didn't interview any other witnesses, whether they be police officers or civilians.

Q. And maybe --

A. I just had conversations with other police personnel regarding the conduct of the investigation, if you will.

Q. Would it help if we -- and this is not specific to this question, but we put the Exhibit 5 Case Supplementary Report before you?
Would that assist you in answering any of these questions at all or refresh your recollection as to --

A. I mean, that report is a summary of the investigation, and so it contains major developments in the case at that time, but it doesn't include every conversation I had with every person that I talked to.

Q. I just wanted to know if that -- again, I want to give you all the information so that you can refresh your recollection so you're not going to say, oh, there was someone else or something.

So your recollection is that you --

A. I mean, are -- do you have -- do you think there's someone else that's in the report that I'm not remembering? I'll be happy to look at the report. I don't want get accused of lying here.

Q. Let's just give you the report. Do we have the Exhibit 5 report here? And, again, just so you go through and if there's anything -- sometimes I don't ask all the right questions. I try to, but if there's anything you see that refreshes your recollection, then it helps all parties.

THE WITNESS: Mind if I take a break to go to the bathroom?

MR. NEUMER: Sure. Sure. The time is 11:59, and we'll go off the record.

(WHEREUPON, a recess was had.)

MR. NEUMER: The time is 12:09, and we are back on the record.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. So we just provided you, Detective March, with the Exhibit 5 CSR as reference throughout this whole line of questioning, in case you see anything in there that refreshes your recollection.

And we were asking you about the interviews you conducted at the scene, and I think you stated that you interviewed eight officers; is that correct?

A. Total of ten.

Q. Total of ten. Okay.

So it was Officer Walsh and Van Dyke and then the two members of the four other vehicles that were at the scene, correct?
A. Correct.

Q. And then as you look through that CSR, you'll see that it has statements from ten police officers who were at the scene; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Is it fair to say that those -- the summaries of those statements that are included in the Exhibit 5 CSR were the product of a second interview with each of those individual officers?

A. They were a product of two interviews --

Q. Product --

A. -- first the verbal interview and then the second follow-up with the GPR.

Q. And it was in the second interview of those individuals that you took notes that became a GPR?

A. Correct.

Q. And then did you base the summaries of those statements that are in the Exhibit 5 CSR off of those GPRs?

A. Yes.
Q. For each of those officers, you would base the summary off the GPR, your handwritten notes that you took during the second interview of those officers?

A. Yes.

Q. With respect to the video, I know you mentioned watching the video multiple times at the scene, including the first time was in the 813 Robert vehicle. Do you have a specific recollection of watching the video of the McDonald shooting with anyone else present?

A. No.

Q. Did you show the 813 Robert dash cam video of the shooting to any of the officers you interviewed?

A. I did not show it to any officer. I was aware that police personnel at the scene were viewing the video in the police vehicle and then subsequently at the area office.

Again, that was why it was -- someone had pulled it up on the computer so that if anybody needed to refer to it, it was there.

Q. Okay.

A. But I did not specifically tell anybody to view it or take anybody in there and show it to them. I may, at some point at the Area, mentioned to the officers involved that once the video was up on the computer, that it was there in case they wanted to look at it.

Q. Do you recall being present at the scene of the shooting now while any of the officers that you interviewed viewed the video?

A. No, I was not present. I couldn't tell you -- I don't know that any of them or all of them viewed the video at the scene.

Q. Okay. Do you know whether Deputy McNaughton watched the 813 Robert video of the McDonald shooting?

A. I'm sure he did, but I was not present for that.

Q. How about Sergeant Gallagher, do you know whether he saw the 813 Robert dash cam video of the McDonald shooting?

A. Again, I'm sure he did, but I don't -- I was not present. I couldn't tell you when.

Q. How about Lieutenant Wojcik; do you know if he saw the video of the 813 Robert video of the McDonald shooting?

A. At the scene?

Q. At the scene.

A. I don't know. I don't -- I couldn't tell you if he saw it at that point or not.

Q. How about Sergeant Franko, do you know whether he saw the video of the McDonald shooting, the 813 Robert video?

MR. McKay: What was the name?

MR. Neumer: Sergeant Franko.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Are you familiar with Sergeant Franko?

A. Could you tell me who he is?

MR. Brown: F-r-a-n-k-o.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. He's a sergeant for Officer Van Dyke and Walsh. He's their sergeant.

A. So he's an 8th District sergeant?

Q. Yeah.

A. I can't tell you if he viewed it or not. I --

Q. You're not familiar with the name Sergeant Franko?
A. No, I don't even remember that name.

Q. Okay. Okay. Did you talk to any FOP representatives at the scene of the shooting?

A. I know FOP representatives came out that night. I know they were present in the office later. I don't recall if I talked to anybody from FOP at the scene, though. I don't believe I did.

Q. How about, were you aware of any Cook County officers being at the scene of the shooting?

A. I never saw any Cook County police officers at the scene, and no one ever told me that there were Cook County officers at the scene. I only learned of the -- their alleged existence from a news report months later.

Q. Did you ever find out the identity of those officers?

A. No.

Q. So I assume there -- you did not interview those officers?

A. No, I didn't know they existed.

MR. NEUMER: Before we move on to some of the allegations contained in the Notification of Allegations, I want to give my colleague, Mr. Brown, an opportunity to sort of ask any cleanup questions of this section. And I know the provision in the CBA --

MR. McKay: Yes, for the record, I have to object to this procedure -- I have no objection to Mr. Brown asking questions at the end of all your questions, Mr. Neumer.

Pursuant to Section 6.2, Paragraph C, I would presume, based on your questions, you're the designated primary interviewing officer, and Mr. Brown would be the designated secondary interviewing officer. And under the contract between the City of Chicago and the police unit and FOP Lodge 7, the primary officer is to conduct the main interview.

The secondary interviewer may participate in the interview provided that the secondary interviewer shall present for the entire interview. Mr. Brown has.

The secondary interviewer will not ask any questions until the primary interviewer has finished asking questions and invites the secondary interviewer to ask questions.
And, finally, the secondary interviewer will ask follow-up questions for clarification questions.

The primary interviewer will not ask any question until the secondary interviewer has finished asking questions and invites the primary interviewer to ask follow-up questions.

So I interpret that to mean that, Mr. Neumer, with all due respect, you finish your questioning and then you hand it off to Mr. Brown. And after Mr. Brown is finished, you can ask follow-up questions to Mr. Brown's questions. That's how the procedure is pursuant to the contract.

MR. NEUMER: And that's fine. We've found that it moves things along quickly -- or more quicker -- more quickly if we do it section by section, but if you want to do it all at the end, that's fine, too. So that's the reason --

MR. MCKAY: Maybe I don't have an objection.

(WHEREUPON, private discussion was had between Counsel and his client.)

MR. MCKAY: We have no objection at this point. If Mr. Brown wants to ask questions regarding what you just asked, no objection.

MR. NEUMER: Exactly. That's what we'll try and do is break it down section by section --

MR. MCKAY: Fair enough.

MR. BROWN: The thought is that it's still fresh in everybody's mind.

MR. BROWN: I don't have any questions.

BY MR. BROWN:

Q. You mentioned detectives being -- actually, you mentioned yourself that you were not issued, I guess, a department cell phone. Are other detectives issued CPD cell phones?

MR. MCKAY: I object to the relevance, and also that assumes that this officer knows. So you're asking this officer to speculate on other officers, so, for those two bases, I object to this question.

BY MR. BROWN:

Q. If you know.
A. I don't know who, if anyone, has a department-issued cell phone.

Q. And when you say, "anyone," do you mean your fellow detectives?

A. I'm talking about detectives. I know supervisors use cell phones, but I couldn't even tell you who's using their personal phone and who's using a department phone. I have no idea.

Q. My follow-up to that was, there's absolutely nothing out of the ordinary to see that yourself or other CPD officers are using their cell phone related to, I guess, official business?

MR. MCKAY: I object to the form of that question. I don't understand the question. I don't know if my client does. Could you either repeat the question or rephrase it?

MR. BROWN: Sure. Sure.

BY MR. BROWN:

Q. I wanted to ask, as far as you know, is there any issue with using your personal cell phones as it relates to official Chicago Police Department business?

MR. MCKAY: I object. How is that relevant to the investigation of the shooting, Mr. Brown?

MR. BROWN: Well, it sounds like that there isn't an issue --

MR. McKay: Assuming there is a policy that you're asking about. I don't know that there is, but go ahead.

MR. BROWN: Right. That was going to be my next question, is there a policy on the use of cell phones for your official business. If there isn't, that's fine, and he can let me know. But I'm trying to get it on the record that there's nothing out of the ordinary that he used his cell phone in relation to official CPD business.

MR. McKay: That assumes facts he did use his cell phone, and I don't know that's been established either for this investigation or any other investigation.

MR. BROWN: I thought he mentioned to us earlier that he used his cell phone.

MR. McKay: The record speaks for itself. I don't recall that answer.

BY MR. BROWN:

Q. Okay, Detective March, have you ever used your personal cell phone as it relates to CPD business?

MR. McKay: I object to that question, you know, "ever." Regarding this investigation, perhaps that's relevant, but regarding any investigation, I would object to that as being irrelevant.

The Witness: Do I answer now?

MR. McKay: If you can. If you understand the question.

By The Witness:

A. Okay, specifically what is your question at this point?

By Mr. Brown:

Q. Is there any issue with using personal cell phones for official CPD business?

A. I'm not sure what you mean by, "issue."

Q. Seeing that the official notification you mentioned you said might have been on your desk phone, possibly could have been on your cell phone --

MR. McKay: He said he didn't have a desk phone. Object to that statement made by you. A desk phone.

MR. BROWN: A desk phone, right.

BY MR. BROWN:

Q. I'm sorry, a desk phone at the area.

Is there any policy that you know of that prohibits detectives or other CPD personnel from using their personal cell phones as it relates to official CPD business?

A. No.

Q. We've learned that patrol officers are issued radios pursuant to their work. Are detectives also issued radios pursuant to their work?

A. There are radios available in the unit. As with most equipment, there aren't enough, so sometimes there aren't any available.

Q. Would it be a standard course to receive the notifications for -- that you're going to be assigned for an investigation via, I guess, the area radio that's available to everyone?

MR. McKAY: I have to object. Here's my objection: It seems to me -- I don't know about Detective March. It seems to me the question is kind of confusing. So unless he can answer this -- and I am instructing him to answer it if he understands the question. If he doesn't understand your question, Mr. Brown, I ask that you rephrase it.

BY THE WITNESS:

A. What's the question again?

BY MR. BROWN:

Q. Do you receive notifications as it relates to the assignment, as the lead detective on the area, I guess, pool radio?

A. Do I receive assignments in that manner?

Q. Mm-hm.

A. No.

Q. What is the general method that's used to inform you of your assignment on an investigation as the lead detective?

A. Well, there's no written department directive establishing a policy for the use of personal cell phones on police business, but I've learned when I was promoted to detective back in 1990, okay, at that time cell phones were not everywhere like they are today. At that time, everyone had a pager.

When I was promoted, I was told -- again, the Department didn't provide us with pagers then; they don't provide us with cell phones now. And I was told then that I needed to get a pager for myself or else I would have to be available on the police radio all the time.

Which is not a practical policy because you go into a business or something, they don't want the police radio blaring, so you have to turn it down or turn it off, and so you can't be available all the time.

So unofficially, the Department works, back then it was off pagers, now would've graduated from cell phones, but there is no department policy.

And if there is an issue, it's probably most members would have an issue that I have to use my cell phone for department business but I have to pay for it.

If the Department wants to operate either on cell phones or back when it was pagers, they should have provided us with that equipment. They didn't, so the reality of the situation is, yes, I use my personal cell phone for business, for police business. Everybody in the Detectives Bureau does. And it's not mandated by any written directive of the Department, but the reality of the situation is that the Department mandates that we have to be available. They want us to be available by cell phone but they don't want to pay for cell phones, so in order to make this department work, we have to provide our own cell phones and use them for police business.

Q. Understood.

A. And in addition to with the police radio, I'm sure the City and the Department's policy would be that we provide them radios; they don't have to go out and buy a cell phone. But, as I pointed out before, it's not practical to always would be available on the radio.

         And, on top of it, most of us take a radio out when we go out on the street for safety purposes, so that if we need to call -- number one, if you need to call for help, the quickest way to call for help is to get on the radio and call the closest police car to come get you.

And even for that safety purpose, we don't have enough radios in the unit. So the flip side is that -- of that is we also don't have enough radios to have every detective available by radio.

Q. I see. Had you worked as the lead detective on other police-involved shootings?
A. Yes.

Q. Do you recall generally how many?
A. I've been a detective for 25 years, so I would guess -- I don't keep a running tab.
You're asking about being the primary or lead detective?

Q. Yes, sir.
A. Because I've assisted on many more obviously.

Q. Just you as the lead detective.
A. In those 20 years I would guess probably at least 30, maybe.

Q. Was there anything about the McDonald investigation that differed substantially in protocol or procedure related to those other, let's say, approximately 30 investigations where you were the lead investigator -- I'm sorry, lead detective?

A. You're asking if there was anything --

Q. Substantially different in procedure in how you would go about, you know, pursuing your investigation or, you know, protocol and what --

A. No, this investigation was conducted pretty much the same way the Department has been conducting the investigation of police incidents for -- because I've been a detective for 25 years -- decades. Up until this year, obviously, because, as of January 1st, the law has changed, so now the investigation of police-involved shooting incidents is much different.

Q. And I know you mentioned that on the scene you would speak with Sergeant Gallagher as far as a direction. I was wondering, as the lead detective, are you empowered to direct the other detectives as to what to do?

A. There is no formal authority that I have over any other detective. They are of equal rank, but as -- we are all part of a team.

And normally what happens -- I mean, there is the exceptional person that doesn't work like everyone else does, but, for the most part, most of us take the attitude of, if whoever's been designated as the lead detective, I'm there to help him. So if he asks me to do a job, it doesn't matter how hard it is, it doesn't matter how easy it is, it doesn't matter how unpleasant it might be. Most of us don't have the attitude that that's not important enough for me to do or that's below my --

Q. Sure.

A. -- we're all there to help -- the team of detectives is there to help the primary or lead detective accomplish the tasks he needs to accomplish.

So I don't direct anybody, but I will ask people to do this or that, and normally they say okay.

Q. Are those documented anywhere, the orders or requests that are made of the other detectives as to their assignments?
A. No.

Q. Would you have to follow up with them at some point if they, I guess, didn't follow through on your request?

A. Well, I would follow up with them, of course. I mean, if they're doing something that's part of the investigation, I would follow up with them to find out what the results are of their efforts, so of course there's going to be follow-up.

Q. Earlier you mentioned the GPR that wasn't included in the documents that we provided to you. I was trying to think through the investigative file and just wanted to ask if that GPR you spoke of -- I believe I have an idea of it -- is it a GPR that notes officers' names and their status as either the passenger or driver of the vehicle, I believe maybe their star number and possibly their uniform status; is that the document you were speaking of?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. I just wanted to make sure we're on the same page with that.

You mentioned that it's possible that officers on the scene might have viewed the video?

A. Yes.

Q. Does that concern you at all that they might have viewed the video?

MR. McKAY: Objection to the form of that question and to the relevance of that.

BY MR. BROWN:

Q. As it relates to them giving you their accounts and their understanding as to what happened that night, would it concern you if any of the officers had seen the video before they spoke with you or spoke with someone else?

A. No. There's no policy against it.

Q. There's no policy against it?

There's no concern that they could -- instead of using their own independent recollection, they could just tell you what they saw on the video?

A. No.

Q. No? Okay.

You mentioned that you learned of the Cook County officers being on the scene sometime, I guess, way post-October 20th, 2014?

A. Yes.
Q. Did you learn of those Cook County officers being on the scene, was it after you completed your CSR?

A. It very well may have been. I don't remember exactly the timing, but it may very well have been after I completed all these reports.

Q. I see. If you would have learned of those Cook County officers being on the scene after you completed the CSR, would it be, I guess, standard practice to reopen the CSR and include information related to them, or how would you handle that type of information?

A. Well, the information I became aware of about these Cook County officers was from a news report that appeared to show video from, I'm guessing, one of -- a Chicago Police Department dash cam video of a car that got on the scene after the incident was all over -- not one of the initial five cars with the ten officers that I spoke to -- someone came to assist with crowd control, traffic control, crime scene protection and showed -- the video I saw showed someone in what appeared to be a Cook County Deputy Sheriff's uniform walking up to the scene near where McDonald was, and then -- I don't recall if he spoke to -- it looked like maybe he spoke to an officer or not and then he walked away.

And, again, my information was that they -- I had the -- what I thought had occurred there was that it seemed to be represented that they saw all the activity with all the flashing police lights and everything and were nearby and came over to see what was going on.

Came over, were basically told the incident was contained, everyone present was there; it wasn't like there was an offender that had escaped and we were searching for. And they left.

I'm not aware they did anything substantial other than coming there, finding out that their services were not needed, and leaving.

Q. Do you know if any of those officers might have had any conversation with McDonald?

A. As I said, when this incident occurred, I talked to ten CPD officers who were at the scene at the time, and none of them mentioned the arrival of Cook County Sheriffs personal arriving at the scene much less having any interaction with Laquan McDonald.

Q. Did any of those officers mentioned to you about the Cook County Sheriff's Office, would you try to follow-up with them?

MR. McKay: Well, I have to object to that.
There is no evidence based on what this witness has testified that these Cook County Sheriff's county officers were there before he arrived.
He received no information from those officers he did talk to that these Cook County Sheriffs were there.

You're asking this man to speculate about something that, unless you have something that you're prepared to give us, there's no evidence of whatsoever.

Do you have something regarding any Cook County Sheriff's Police to indicate they were there before Detective March was?

MR. Brown: I could be mistaken, but I thought Detective March mentioned he saw video where they were -- what appeared to be Cook County Sheriff's officer came into view and spoke with --

MR. McKAY: He saw a news report what could have been a long time after he completed these reports. And these reports are dated in the middle of March 2015.

So where this news report got this video, it could very well be, as Detective March testified, a responding unit that had a dash cam video that arrived after the shooting occurred.

Other than that, is there any evidence that you have to provide Detective March that somehow there were Cook County Sheriff's police officers there at the scene and did some type of an investigation or talk to anyone, including but not limited to Mr. McDonald, as you put it?

MR. BROWN: No, my knowledge comes from I believe we're speaking of the same video where the Cook County officer was shown walking into view. That video was from a responding unit that was there on the scene.

I'm just wondering would there have been any interview in speaking to those officers to see what their -- you know, maybe one of them spoke to McDonald, maybe they had some other information that could be relevant to your investigation, so I wanted to ask about that.

BY THE WITNESS:

A. If someone had informed me that at some point in time they had some kind of substantial encounter with Laquan McDonald that night, I would have followed up on it.

To my knowledge to this date, their only activity at the scene was to respond to all the activity that they saw. My impression is that they got to the scene after the incident was all over. And I'm not aware that anybody had any contact with Laquan McDonald.

So if a Cook County Sheriff's deputy had arrived on the scene, had no involvement with anyone, and left the scene, just the fact that he was there would not make me think I needed to follow up anything with them, just him showing up on the scene after the fact.

BY MR. BROWN:

Q. Sure. That's a reasonable answer, but we don't know -- there's a -- we don't know what that officer did. There was a point where he went out of the frame of the video. Maybe he spoke to McDonald, maybe he didn't. I just wanted to ask you was that something you might have followed up on, but it sounds like your response is no?
A. My -- I never received -- I certainly never received any specific information to that effect, and I had no impression that this officer ever had any interaction with Laquan McDonald.
Q. Okay.
MR. BROWN: That concludes my questions. I will toss it back to Peter.

BY MR. NEUMER:
Q. Kris was talking about videos, and I wanted to ask, at any time while you were at the scene of the shooting that night, did you see videos other than the 813 Robert dash cam video?
A. Can you repeat the question?
Q. Sure. Sure. So you had mentioned that you had seen the 813 Robert dash cam video while you were at the scene of the shooting.
And I was wondering if you saw any other dash cam videos while you were at the scene of the shooting?

A. No, I don't recall seeing any other dash cam videos at the scene.

Q. Did you see any other video of the shooting while you were at the scene?

A. I saw the Dunkin' Donuts video once it was recovered.

Q. And where were you when you watched that video?

A. Out there on the street on Pulaski.
The detective who had recovered it from the Dunkin' Donuts had it on the laptop computer, and he was playing it on that.

Q. Was anyone else present when you were watching the Dunkin' Donuts video?

A. I'm sure there were other people around. I couldn't tell you who they were.

Q. Okay.

A. I know at one point in time Deputy Chief McNaughton saw it.

Q. He saw the Dunkin' Donuts video?

A. The Dunkin' Donuts video, yes.

Q. Do you recall the officer who had recovered the video from Dunkin' Donuts?

A. Detective Richard Hagen, H-a-g-e-n.

Q. In terms of -- we were talking earlier about the -- all the individuals who comprised the investigative team for the McDonald shooting -- I want to show you a document that I believe was not prepared -- well, I don't think it was prepared by you.

Okay, we'll hold off on that.

So we also talked earlier about the -- in Exhibit 5, the CSR, I know you said that you talked to a lot of people and you don't know necessarily in what order. Do you think the order you interviewed people is reflected by the order of the interviews in the CSR or the summary of their statements?

MR. McKay: I object, Mr. Neumer. You're asking this witness to guess. He's already stated he doesn't recall the order of the witnesses, and now you're asking do you believe the order might have been as it's indicated in his report.

MR. NEUMER: Yeah, if he knows.
BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. If you don't know, then that's --

MR. McKAY: My objection is he already testified he doesn't recall the exact order, so now you're asking him to guess what it --

MR. NEUMER: No, I'm asking him to refer to Exhibit 5.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. And I'm asking you, does that refresh your recollection as to the order in which you conducted these interviews?

A. No.

Q. Okay.

A. Aside from Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh.

Q. So you know that --

A. They were the first two, I know that. After that, I have no idea.

Q. Okay. And your CSR would not necessarily -- the order in which those interviews appear in the CSR does not necessarily accord with the order in which you conducted these interviews?

A. No.
Q. With respect --
A. It could be by chance it does, but I can't tell you one way or the other.
Q. Sure. Sure. That's all I'm looking for.

With respect to your -- the second interview you conducted of Officer Walsh and Officer Van Dyke when you took the notes that you used to create a summary of their statements in the Exhibit 5 CSR, was anyone else present during those interviews?
A. No.
Q. It was you and Officer Walsh for the second interview of Officer Walsh?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. And you and Officer Van Dyke for the second interview of Officer Van Dyke?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. I'm going to go into some of the Notice of Allegations. I'll read the allegation -- if you want me to identify which one it is?
MR. McKay: I appreciate that.
BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. On Page 2, Roman numeral VIII. And I will -- and I'll do a little foundation here just to set us up.

Officer Dora Fontaine, you spoke to her at the scene of the shooting; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And she's one of the ten officers you interviewed at the scene of the shooting?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you have a specific recollection of where that interview took place?

A. Out there on the street, probably somewhere near her police vehicle.

Q. Do you recall whether you spoke to her alone or with her partner?

A. I spoke to her alone.

Q. Do you know who her partner is -- or was on that night?

A. Officer Viramontes.

Q. Any recollection of how long -- so did you speak with Officer Fontaine on two occasions at the scene of the shooting?
1. A. Yes.

2. Q. Okay.

3. A. At least.

4. Q. At least.

5. A. If not more with follow-up.

6. Q. And you took the notes that you took of that interview, you took those -- the more substantive notes that you took of your interview of Officer Fontaine occurred in the second time you spoke to remember?

7. A. Correct.

8. Q. About how long do you recall that conversation lasting, the second conversation with Officer Fontaine?

9. A. I don't recall.

10. Q. It is alleged that Officer Fontaine never said to you that McDonald raised his right hand toward Van Dyke as if attacking Van Dyke. What is your response to that allegation?

11. A. It's not true.

12. Q. Did you, during your interview of Officer Fontaine, include any statements in your GPR or the CSR that Officer Fontaine did not make to you the night of October 20th, 2014?
A. You're asking me if there's anything in the General Progress Report or in the summary of her interview in the report that she didn't tell me?

Q. (Nodding.)

A. No, everything that's in those two reports, she told me.

Q. And you took notes of your conversation with Officer Fontaine?

A. Yes.

Q. At the scene of the shooting?

A. Yes.

Q. I'm going to hand you what's been previously marked as Exhibit 8. This is a GPR of your -- containing your handwritten notes of your interview of Officer Fontaine; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you take these notes contemporaneously to your interview with Officer Fontaine; that is, when she was providing you information, were you writing it down at the same time?

A. Yes.
Q. And, again, let me ask you, is there any -- any of the statements that you have attributed to Officer Fontaine in the Exhibit 8 GPR that she did not make to you?

MR. McKay: I have to object to the form. Mr. Neumer, are you asking if these are exact quotes of Officer Fontaine, or do you understand that this is a summary prepared by Detective March of what he learned from Officer Fontaine?

MR. Neumer: Well, certainly I think we understand that other than -- I think there's one phrase that's in quotes that it's not a direct --

MR. McKay: Not a verbatim --

MR. Neumer: Not a verbatim --

MR. McKay: -- word for word.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. I guess what I'm asking is, are any of the statements attributed to Officer Fontaine in this Exhibit 8 GPR did you include those statements even though she did not make them to you that night?

A. No.
Q. I'll take Exhibit 8 back. You spoke to an Officer Janet Mondragon at the scene of the shooting; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you recall where you were when you spoke to Officer Janet Mondragon?

A. Somewhere out there on Pulaski Road on the street near her police vehicle.

Q. And, as with Officer Fontaine, you spoke to Officer Mondragon twice?

A. At least twice.

Q. At least twice. There was a first initial conversation with Officer Mondragon?

A. Yes.

Q. And then you had a more substantive conversation later on at the scene of the shooting?

A. Well --

Q. Do you object to the word "substantive"? Strike the word, "substantive."

Let me ask a better question.

You had a second conversation with Officer Mondragon at the scene of the shooting, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And during that conversation, you took notes, more substantial notes that would later become included in your CSR, the Exhibit 5 CSR?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you recall whether anyone else was present when you spoke to Officer Mondragon either the first occasion or second occasion or any other subsequent occasion?

A. No, no one else was present.

Q. It is alleged -- Page 2, Roman numeral IX. It is alleged that Officer Mondragon never said to you that McDonald continued to waive a knife as he got closer to Van Dyke -- Officers Van Dyke and Walsh. What is your response to that allegation?

A. It's not true.

Q. And what's your basis for saying it's not true?

A. She told me those things.

Q. Now I will hand you what has previously been marked Exhibit 9, which is a GPR reflecting your interview of Officer Janet Mondragon.

And I'd ask you, were there any statements in that Exhibit 9 GPR that you have attributed to Officer Mondragon that she did not make to you?

A. No.

Q. And, again, did you take the notes that are -- your handwritten notes in Exhibit 9, did you take these notes as you were interviewing Officer Mondragon at the scene of the shooting?

A. Yes.

MR. McKay: Before we continue, Mr. Neumer, for clarification of the record, you addressed specifically for the record allegations 1(a)(viii) and 1(a)(ix).

MR. NEUMER: Correct.

MR. McKay: Which refers to Detective March's Supplementary Report. You asked him to identify your Exhibits 8 and 9, which are the General Progress Reports he prepared of his two respective interviews of these two ladies, Fontaine and Mondragon, which I believe are the allegations specified in allegation 7 and 8. Have we covered those two allegations then with your questions referencing those exhibits?

MR. NEUMER: You are correct and I thank you for pointing it out. I was not trying to mislead. You're right, we covered 7 and 8.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. And what I will ask you, Detective March, now referring to Exhibit 5 and your CSRs -- you know what I'm going to do is, just for the record and for clarity, I want to go -- I'm going to read in -- even though we covered this, I'm just going to read in 7 and 8 to the record here.

MR. McKAY: That's fine. And please understand I'm not suggesting in any way you're misleading Detective March. It is for my benefit as I'm reading theses allegations that you are addressing some allegations with exhibits that pertain to others and just want the record to be clear.

MR. NEUMER: And I honestly appreciate the clarification. It's my fault.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. So it is alleged, Detective March, that the General Progress Report you completed on or about October 20th, 2014, concerning your interview of Officer Fontaine falsely stated that Fontaine heard POs repeatedly drop the knife, O ignored, raised arm toward V.D. as if attacking V.D.

What is your response to that allegation?

A. That is not true.

Q. Did Officer Fontaine make the statement to you that she heard -- on the night of October 20th, 2014, that she heard police officers repeatedly say, "Drop the knife," that offender ignored, raised right arm toward Van Dyke as if attacking Van Dyke, did Fontaine make that statement to you on October 20th, 2014?

A. Not verbatim, but yes.

Q. Generally speaking, she made that statement. Okay.

A. Yes, aside from the quote, "Drop the
Q. It is alleged that the General Progress Report you completed on or about October 20th, 2014, concerning your interview of Officer Mondragon falsely stated that Mondragon stated that she heard police officers repeatedly drop the knife as O got closer and closer to POs continuing to wave knife.

Did officer Mondragon make that statement to you or something substantially similar to that statement?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. And, again, in the Exhibit 5 Case Supplementary Report -- I think we've covered that.

Okay. I'm now going to move on to Page 2, Roman numeral X of the Notification of Allegations.

It is alleged that in the Exhibit 5 CSR --

A. What's the number?

Q. Roman numeral X on Page 2 of the Notification of Allegations.

It is alleged that in your Exhibit 5
CSR you falsely stated that Officer Walsh related the same facts to you as his partner, Officer Van Dyke.

What is your response to that
allegation?

A. That is -- that allegation is a misrepresentation of what is stated in the report.

Q. Okay. I guess let's -- do you have Exhibit 5 in front of you, or do you need a copy of Exhibit 5?

If we go to Page 10 of Exhibit 5 -- and I'm looking at the middle of the page, right under the name Walsh, Joseph J. There's a paragraph begins, "Stated he was a Chicago Police Officer assigned to the 8th District.
Walsh related the same facts as his partner, Officer Jason Van Dyke."

So, again, the allegation is that Walsh did not relay the same facts as his partner Officer Jason Van Dyke, and we'd like to know what your response is to that allegation.

A. What is the allegation?

Q. So the allegation is that in your CSR -- in Page 10 of your CSR, you falsely stated that Officer Walsh related the same facts as his partner Officer Jason Van Dyke.

A. Okay.

Q. Okay?

A. Okay, that's the allegation.

Q. That's the allegation. And we --

A. Which I assume misrepresentation --

Q. -- response to that allegation?

A. Well, the report has eight additional paragraphs of what Walsh said that were unique to him.

Q. Okay.

A. So when I use the terminology that he related the same facts as his partner, I'm talking about the fact that he was on duty, working in the 8th District, assigned to Beat 845 Robert. I didn't see any point in repetitively documenting that information.

Q. Okay. So walk me --

A. That's why the report says -- it starts out -- all that foundation information is the same thing Walsh added, and I go on to describe what Walsh said that is unique to him.
Q. So walk me through what -- and we can be pretty specific here. When you say, "the same facts," what facts are you referring to in that paragraph?

A. Everything that gets us up to the point where Walsh says, "McDonald ran eastbound." So what their assignment was that they were working together, who was driving, who was the passenger, they responded to the call for assistance, and they drove northbound on Pulaski. Now when they get to the scene, the unique statement of Officer Walsh is documented.

Q. So let me ask you a different question. If you go to Page 9 of Exhibit 5 CSR and at the top is the name Van Dyke, Jason D., so then his statement -- the summary of his statement takes up all of Page 9 and then the top half of Page 10.

Which of these facts -- or these paragraphs on Page 9 and the top of Page 10 fall under the same facts -- that, "same facts"?

A. Well, I told you, up until the point where Walsh added that Laquan McDonald ran eastbound through the Burger King parking lot.
So from the point that they got into the Burger King parking lot and observed Laquan McDonald, then I --

Q. Okay.

A. -- then that's where the two statements diverge.

Q. And now we can get -- maybe we can get a little more specific. So as you look at Page 9, where do you think that the statements diverge? And take a moment if you need to.

A. Okay, on Page 9, the second paragraph of Jason Van Dyke, at the point where Van Dyke says, "As Officer Walsh drove westbound on 40th Street from Pulaski, Van Dyke observed a black male subject now known as Laquan McDonald running eastbound in the parking lot of the Burger King restaurant on the southwest corner of 40th Street and Pulaski."

And that's the point where Walsh adds that as Laquan McDonald ran eastbound through -- so that's where the two statements --

Q. So when you say you related the same facts, you're referring to the first two paragraphs on Page 9 of Officer Van Dyke's statement?

A. Yes.

Q. Is there any way that someone reading this report would know that you were only referring to those two paragraphs and not any of the other paragraphs?

MR. McKAY: I object. He can't possibly speculate on what a reader is supposed to know or not.

MR. NEUMER: Well, I mean, maybe there's something that we're not aware of that would indicate what -- which paragraphs he's referring to when he talks about same facts.

MR. McKAY: Well, if he understands the question of course he will answer the question, it just seems to me that you're question is a bit unfair.

This is a summary. And are you asking this officer if he is supposed to put directions in the report to the reader as to where to go and where to stop and where to pick up?

That, to me, Mr. Neumer, I think that is just an unfair question, and you're asking him to speculate about what a reader is supposed to follow in a summary report.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. I guess I -- is there anything in this report that would indicate, when you refer to those same facts, that it's the first two paragraphs of Van Dyke's same statement?

A. I can tell you that I've used this technique in reports for years and have gone to 26th and California and testified in criminal court, and no one has ever had any problem understanding what my intent is when I write these reports.

It would seem apparent to me and -- or certainly my intent was that at the point where Walsh's statement diverge from Van Dyke's, that is where they no longer are stating the same facts.

Q. So is it your practice to use the statement, "related the same facts as his partner," is that a phrase that comes up from time to time in your report-drafting?

A. Yes.

Q. And so --
A. It could be two civilians witnesses that say essentially the same thing. It could be two police officers.

Q. And that’s something that you’ve done for years?

A. When I was promoted in 1990, I was taught that it was acceptable that if you have multiple witness -- because these are not formal statements like what we are doing here today. These are summaries of what a person told us during an interview. And you have multiple -- some of these investigations we talk to many, many people, and rather than typing the same thing over and over again, if you have people that say substantially the same facts, it's perfectly acceptable to say this witness said the same as that witness instead of typing it all over again.

Q. Do you know if other detectives use this technique of interview --

A. Yes.

Q. -- summarization?

A. -- over the years I've seen it done
many times by many different people.

Q. So we're going to move on to Roman numeral XI on Page 2. And it is alleged that in your Exhibit 5 CSR you falsely stated that Officer Fontaine related the same facts to you as her partner Officer Viramontes --

A. Wait --

MR. Neumer: Apologies. We'll keep --

MR. McKay: Accepted.

MR. Neumer: -- it at Roman numeral XI and let me strike my last allegation and state --

MR. McKay: Thank you.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. It is alleged that in your Exhibit 5 CSR, you falsely stated that Officer McElligott related the same facts to you as his partner, Officer Gaffney. What is your response to that allegation?

A. Again, as in the previous allegation, number 10, that is a false statement, and it's a misrepresentation of what the report says.
Q. And if I could direct your attention to Page 12 of the Exhibit 5 CSR, bottom third or quarter of the page, you'll see the phrase right under the name McElligott, Joseph P., "McElligott related the same facts as his partner, Officer Thomas Gaffney."

Could you look at Page 11 and 12 of the Exhibit 5 CSR and like we did previously, tell us where those two accounts diverged. Or, put differently, tell us exactly what the same facts you're referring to in Officer Gaffney's summary.

A. Okay, referring to Officer Gaffney's summary, the facts that McElligott stated were the same is the first paragraph, the second paragraph, and the third paragraph up to the point, the third line where it says, "Officer McElligott exited his police vehicle."

Because in McElligott's statement, the second paragraph begins, "Officer McElligott added that after he exited the police vehicle."
So that is the point were the two statements separate or diverge, whatever term you want to use.
Q. Okay. So now we will go to Roman numeral XII on Page 13. It is alleged in your CSR you falsely stated that Officer Mondragon related the same facts to you as Officer Sebastian. What is your response to that allegation?

A. That allegation is false. And, again, it's a misrepresentation of what is stated in the report.

Q. And if I could direct your attention to Page 13 and 14. At the top of Page 14, the very first -- very top line says, "Mondragon related the same facts as her partner, Officer Daphne Sebastian."

If you could review Page 13, Officer Daphne Sebastian's summary, the summary of the statement she provided on the night of October 20th, 2014, and tell me again where those accounts diverge and, more specifically, what exactly those, quote, same facts are that you're referring to Daphne Sebastian's account.

A. In Officer Sebastian's account, the first -- it's basically the first and second paragraphs that are the same for both officers.
The second paragraph ends with, "Mondragon turned westbound onto 40th Street behind Beat 845 Robert."

On Officer Mondragon's interview, in her second paragraph it begins, "Officer Mondragon said that as she drove on westbound on 40th Street," so that is the point where the two statements diverge.

It is alleged in your Exhibit 5 CSR you falsely stated that Officer Valez related the same facts to you as her partner, Officer Bacerra."

What is your response to that allegation?

A. That allegation is false, and it misrepresents what is stated in the report.

Q. And if I could refer you to Page 14 of the Exhibit 5 CSR. About four-fifths of the way down the page right, under the name Velez, Leticia it says, "Velez related the same facts as her partner, officer Arturo Bacerra."

Could you please review the statement of Arturo Bacerra, which is just above on Page 14, and identify for the record what the
"same facts" you were referring to are in Bacerra's account.

A. In Bacerra's account, the first paragraph and the beginning of the second paragraph up to the third line where it -- the new sentence begins, "As he approached the scene," it's at that point in the second paragraph of Officer Velez's interview where it states, "Officer Velez added that as they approached the scene she observed." So that's the point where the two statements separate.

Q. Roman numeral XIV, it is alleged in your CSR you falsely stated that Officer Fontaine related the same facts to you as her partner Officer Viramontes.

What is your response to that allegation?

MR. McKay: I have to object. You misstated your own allegation. Allegation 14 reads differently. You reversed the names of the officers.

MR. Neumer: Let me take a look at the -- I'll strike that.

Last allegation.
BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Again, we're at Roman numeral XIV. It is alleged in your CSR you falsely stated that Officer Viramontes related the same facts as his partner Officer Dora Fontaine. What is your response to that allegation?

A. That allegation is false and is a misrepresentation of what is stated in the report.

Q. And if I could direct your attention to Pages 14 and 15 of the Exhibit 5 CSR, could you please identify what specifically the "same facts" you're referring to in Officer Fontaine's summary?

A. Okay, the first paragraph, and then at the beginning of the second paragraph. And on the second paragraph it's the first sentence really is the end of the same facts.

Q. So ending with, "Pulaski Road"?

A. Or actually it's the -- it's the entire second line there, "Officer Viramontes drove north on Pulaski."

Q. Okay.

A. The third line of the second paragraph, when they arrived at the scene, that's where the statements diverge.

Q. Okay.

MR. NEUMER: Kris, with respect to those allegations, do you have anything to add?

MR. BROWN: I do not.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. We're going to move on to Area Central. I don't know if you want to take a break or if you want to just keep --

MR. McKay: Are you fine?

MR. NEUMER: If we were to take a break, this would be a decent stopping point.

THE WITNESS: I was just thinking, I don't know how long you intend to go. Would this be a good time to stop for a lunch break?

MR. NEUMER: The time is 1:15. We'll go off the record.

(WHEREUPON, discussion was had off the record and a recess was had for lunch.)

*** *** ***

MR. NEUMER: The time is 1:47 p.m., and we are back on the record.
BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. We're going to get to Area Central in just a second. I wanted to ask you, you mentioned riding around the scene of the shooting with Deputy Chief McNaughton. I wanted to know, did you have any discussions regarding the 813 Robert dash cam video with Deputy Chief McNaughton while you were doing the ride-around of the scene?

A. No, I don't believe he saw it yet.

Q. Okay.

A. I don't think.

Q. Did you have any conversations with any of your superiors at the scene of the shooting regarding the 813 Robert dash cam video or the Dunkin' Donuts video?

A. No, I mean, just to become aware that it existed. I believe it was Sergeant Gallagher that told me the squad car video existed and then Detective Hagen when he recovered the Dunkin' Donuts video.

Q. What's Detective Hagen's first name?

A. Richard.

Q. And I know we talked a little bit about the team of the detectives that were out there, and you spoke about how different folks took on different assignments. Which detectives played the most prominent role at the scene of the shooting? In terms of the investigation, who played the lead roles?

A. Well, I mean, I interviewed all the police officers. Detective Hagen recovered the Dunkin' Donuts video. The squad car video was recovered by Sergeant Becvar. I think those are the most important elements of the investigation.

There were no other eyewitnesses that we were able to identify to be interviewed that night.

Q. Was there a detective in charge of like Dunkin' Donuts and getting -- so that was Detective Hagen who got the --

A. Right, he went to Dunkin' Donuts, right.

Q. And then Burger King, was there a detective in charge of Burger King?

A. I don't believe there was anybody in charge. I believe there were a few detectives that went there.

Q. Do you recall their names?
A. Not off the top of my head.

Q. So from your perspective, Detective Hagen, obviously yourself, and Sergeant Gallagher was helping coordinate?
A. As the first-line supervisor of the -- you know.

Q. Right. And then any other detectives?
A. I mean, there were many people, you know, performing support functions, but, you know, nothing substantial.

Q. So those were the people who were playing the most prominent role?
A. I mean, the investigation basically is Laquan McDonald, Jason Van Dyke, the witness officers, and the video.

Q. Okay.
A. I mean, we haven't talked about them, but the personnel from Forensic Services came out and processed the crime scene. So they took video of the scene after the fact, not any video of the incident.
Q. Right.

A. Photographs, still photographers. I believe they prepared a plat and they recovered all the evidence.

Q. Was anyone in charge of coordinating with forensics?

A. I'd have to read through the report. I believe there was a forensic supervisor on the scene.

Q. Okay. Is that a detective, or is that...

A. They're -- they have -- the people who actually do the work have two ranks, forensic investigator, which are -- received a little more training -- you know, have more extensive training, and then evidence technicians, and they're supervised by sergeants.

Q. Okay. So when do you leave the scene of the shooting? Do you know approximately what time?

A. It was well after midnight. I couldn't tell what time.

Q. And then did you go directly from the scene of the shooting to Area Central?

A. I believe I did.

Q. How did you get there?

A. Get where?

Q. To Area Central. Did you drive your vehicle?

A. Drove my car.

Q. Was anyone in the car with you?

A. At that point, I don't know how Detective Hagen got to the scene, but it wasn't with me, but I think by that time, I think he and I were the last two to leave the scene, and I think he might have rode back to the office with me.

Q. Okay.

A. I don't remember for certain, but I think he did.

Q. Do you recall having any conversations with Detective Hagen on your way over to Area Central?

A. Not about the investigation.

Q. No discussion of like preliminary thoughts or anything like that?

A. No.
Q. Okay.
A. By that time, we had spent a lot of time at the scene, we were starting to get tired. And the reason we were there as long as we were is, we were pretty much done what we needed to do at the scene; we were waiting on the forensics guys to finish all of their things because we needed to be there to witness anything in case there was any new developments regarding the evidence.

Q. Got you. So how long did that forensics process take?
A. Hours.

Q. Hours. Okay. And so is it fair to say that you completed your interviews prior to forensic work being done, or did those overlap a little bit?
A. There was a little overlap. I mean, they got there when the interviews were still going on, but they -- I finished the interviews at the scene long before they finished their work.

Q. And then did -- so you and Hagen -- you and Detective Hagen were some of the last people on scene?

A. Right, I think the forensic guys were just, you know, finishing up odds and ends of what they were doing, and I don't know that the street was actually reopened yet, but it was close to it.

Q. You mentioned civilians. Was there a detective in charge of identifying civilian witnesses at the scene?

A. There were a number of detectives that participated in the canvass of the scene -- of the area near the scene to attempt to identify and locate witnesses.

Q. Who were the detectives participating in the canvass?

A. I don't know off the top of my head. I'd have to refer to all the, you know, general progress reports because --

Q. So whatever --

A. -- involved with the canvass submit GPRs, but they're documenting their efforts.

Q. Okay. Do you recall coordinating with those folks at all throughout the -- your time at the scene of the shooting?
A. Only to the point that they -- I mean, I spoke with them all, and they all informed me that they had -- none of them had interviewed anybody that was making themselves a witness to the actual shooting of Laquan.

They may have seen part of it or they didn't see anything, but they're -- obviously if there was an eyewitness who actually saw the interaction between Jason Van Dyke and Laquan McDonald, then they would have brought that person forward to me to interview, and -- you know, to get the full picture.

But if it's just people that -- like there were a couple people at the Burger King who saw McDonald run by the restaurant maybe and that was it, but they didn't see the actual encounter between Van Dyke and McDonald. So they were -- you could call them circumstantial witnesses, you know, but they didn't see the actual encounter so...

Q. Right. And what does that phrase, "circumstantial witness" mean like for you?

A. Well, in my mind, circumstantial witness is just that, they're a witness to some circumstance of the event. Like they saw a -- a couple of people at Burger King saw McDonald run by the restaurant chased by a police officer, but they're not eyewitnesses to the actual encounter between McDonald and Van Dyke.

Q. So no -- throughout the time at the scene, you never got a report, Oh, we got an eyewitness, Detective?

A. I was informed that there were three people that were potential witnesses, and they were transported into Area Central. But they were interviewed by other people, and they didn't want to stay around.

So whatever detectives interviewed them did GPRs, and when those people requested that -- you know, they said, We're not going to stay any longer, they were driven to wherever they wanted to go.

Q. And did you learn about those individuals while you were still at the scene of the shooting?

A. I learned that there were three people. I had no idea who they were or what they were saying, and by the time I got into the office, they had asked to leave, and they were gone.

Q. Do you recall who told you about those three individuals?
A. No, I don't.

Q. So you and possibly Detective Hagen drive to Area Central from the scene of the shooting?
A. I think he may have ridden in my car.

Q. And what happened when you -- what's the first thing that happened when you arrived at Area Central?
A. We continued with the investigation, with what needed to happen.

Q. So what was the -- I think -- what was the first step that you took from an investigatory perspective?
A. Well, the main thing at that point, I had already interviewed all the officer witnesses. There were no civilian witnesses present at the area, so there really wasn't anybody for me to interview in that manner.

People from Forensic Services, somebody came in to recover Jason Van Dyke's weapon. All of the four primary officers involved in the incident, Gaffney, McElligott, Walsh, and Van Dyke were photographed, just to document how they looked that night.

The offender in this particular case was deceased, he wasn't in custody, so we weren't calling Felony Review to seek charges on anybody. So that aspect of an investigation, which often happens, didn't exist.

And basically the main thing happening at that point was IPRA was at the area to take whatever statements that they deemed necessary.

Q. Do you have any recollection as to what time you arrived at Area Central?
A. All I could tell you, like I said, it was well after midnight.

Q. And you said that by the time you arrived at Area Central, the civilian witnesses had already left?
A. Right, those three people that had been brought into the office, right, they were gone.

Q. Did someone -- how did you learn that information?

A. Someone informed me, but I -- I couldn't -- I don't remember who.

Q. Do you remember who conducted the interviews of those three civilians?

A. I'd have to look at the GPRs.

Q. Do you recall getting briefed on those -- the interview -- and so I think we can put Exhibit 5 in front of you just as like a constant reference again.

I think the names are Alma Benitez, Robert Garcia, and Eddie Garcia. Do you recall being briefed about what those individuals stated at Area Central?

A. From the GPRs that were produced as a result of their interviews.

Q. So how does that -- how does that work? How do you incorporate another detective's GPR into your -- can I call it a CSR; is that fair? Does anyone call them a CSR?

A. We call them Supplementary Report or just Report if you want.

Q. Okay. We'll call them Supplementary Reports.
How do you go about incorporating another detective's GPR into your Supplementary Report?

A. It's pretty much a standard practice.

Other assisting detectives will go out and assist you with the investigation. They document what they do on their General Progress Reports, or GPRs. And then subsequently they turn them into me, and they become parts of the investigative file and documented as part of the report.

Q. Do they hand them to you? Is it a computer system? How does that function?

A. They just turn them in, you know.

Q. Do they -- I mean, I guess, like, is there like an inbox where you just like turn in --

A. There's no formal --

Q. -- GPRs --

A. There's no formal procedure.

Q. Okay.

A. Generally somebody who is in the office will usually pull out a new file folder and they'll start putting all the GPRs in that file folder for whoever the primary detective is.

Q. And they'll make sure that the primary detective gets those GPRs?

A. Right, ultimately they get to the primary detective.

Q. So when you are drafting the Exhibit 5 Supplementary Report, are you working solely off those GPRs?

Let's take those civilian witnesses for example. Is that what you're working off of to draft the narrative that's in the Exhibit 5
CSR?

A. Well, what is documented in the General Progress Reports and then what I recall on my own.

Q. Okay. Do you recall -- like do you ever, once you get a GPR say, Man, I need to talk to this detective or officer, whoever, to -- or I guess detective to get a little bit more of the story here?

A. Sometimes there might be a follow-up question. More likely than -- most often, the most frequent reason why I would -- why I find myself going back to a detective is I can't read their handwriting so, What does this say?

Q. That makes sense. So with respect to the Benitez GPR, the Robert Garcia and Eddie Garcia GPR, do you recall whether you had any follow-up questions for the detectives who conducted those interviews?

A. I don't recall having any follow-up questions, no.

Q. Do you recall having any conversations with those detectives regarding those GPRs or their interviews?

MR. MCKAY: I have to pose an objection at this point. There are no allegations alleged against Detective March regarding the interview taking -- strike that -- the interviewing of these three civilian witness and the reporting of these three witnesses. So how is this questioning of these three civilian witnesses to Detective March relevant?

MR. NEUMER: Without like commenting specifically here, in general some of the questions we're asking today are relevant to our investigation and not necessarily directly tied -- not each and every question we ask here is tied to one of the Notice of Allegations.

So I'm not talking specifically here because I don't want to get into this question goes here, this question goes there, but generally I think we can certainly all agree that questions regarding the interviews of these witnesses is relevant to what we're looking at, what the Inspector General's Office is looking at.

MR. McKay: I'll agree with you at this point. You have accused Detective March. You have not labeled him as a witness, you have accused him, and we're here regarding the allegations made against him. Regarding general investigations and who may have interviewed other witness, I suggest you talk to those detectives.

MR. Neumer: No doubt. I mean, this is all -- I mean, like all this is so intertwined, that there's no way we can extricate every question and make sure -- I mean, some of it's background, some of it's relevant in general, and it all ties in together.
So, I mean, obviously we only ask questions that we feel are relevant, and we're just trying to get to, just as we did at the scene of the shooting, we're trying to determine every step along the way that happened with respect to interviews that occurred at Area Central. And we have to learn what Detective March knew or didn't know or who he talked to there. It all is relevant.

MR. McKay: Well, you allege that Detective March did not conduct a complete, thorough, and properly documented and professional investigation. And he's been on record now several times telling you that there were other detectives involved in this case that did interviews or did other aspects of this investigation that were documented either by way of a GPR or perhaps a Supplementary Report, I don't know.

So, over my objection, Detective March will answer these questions, but I just don't see the relevance of this unless you're alleging some type of misconduct regarding these civilian witnesses on Detective March.

MR. NEUMER: Well, we'll just try to go through as efficiently as possible here.

MR. McKay: Thank you.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Detective March, when you first arrived at Area Central, you said the civilian witnesses were no longer present, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Who was present? Who was still present when you arrived at Area Central? Let's start with the detectives that were working on this investigation. Who do you recall that was still at Area Central?

A. I don't know how to answer that question. I -- I mean --

Q. I don't want you to guess. If you remember have you had detectives that were still at Area Central when you arrived, certainly give us those names. I don't want you to guess at who might have been. If you don't know, you don't know.

A. I couldn't tell you specifically what detectives. I mean, I did not keep a running log of who was present at this location or that location or when they clocked out for the day or -- I wouldn't know where to begin to even try to answer that question.

Q. I'm just trying to see what your independent recollection was. If you had -- sometimes if you remember having conversations with a particular detective, you can place them. Do you recall which of the officers who had been present during the shooting were at Area Central when you arrived?

A. I believe all ten of them were still present at the area when I got to the area.

Q. And where were they when you arrived? Like where in the Area Central headquarters?

A. Different parts of the office.

Q. Were they all on the second floor?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. And understanding that you don't recall the individual detectives who were there, do you recall where the detectives were who were participating in the investigation of the shooting?

A. Somewhere on the floor. I mean, it's
Q. And IPRA was -- some IPRA representatives were present?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you recall any of the names of the IPRA employees who were present?

A. I believe they're documented in my report.

Q. Off the top of your head do you recall anyone's name?

A. I know Investigator Killen was one of the investigators involved. I'm pretty sure he was present at the scene, and he may have also been present at the office, but I can't swear to it.

Q. And IPRA was conducting interviews of the officers -- were they -- or I'll ask you, were they conducting interviews of the officers when you arrived at Area Central?

A. I don't remember if they were already conducting them when I arrived there or if they were in the middle of it. At some point in time they were conducting -- taking statements from the officers.
Q. Okay.

A. They didn't take statements from all of the officers. The ones that they thought -- they determined were more -- most important to them, I guess. And the other officers, they just scheduled them for normal business hours, their interviews or statements.

Q. With respect to detectives, I just want to throw a couple names at you. Do you recall having any conversations with a Detective Torres while you were at Area Central the night of the shooting?

A. I remember Detective Torres was involved in the investigation. I do not recall specifically speaking with him that night.

Q. Detective Curran, are you familiar with that name?

A. Yes, same thing, he was involved in the investigation. I do not recall specifically speaking with him that night.

Q. Do you know what role Detective Torres played with respect to the investigation?

A. I believe he interviewed one of the -- at least one of those civilian witnesses.
Q. And do you know what role Detective Curran played with respect to the investigation?
A. Same thing. I believe he interviewed at least one of those civilian witnesses.

Q. Do you know whether those civilian witnesses were shown video of the McDonald shooting?
A. I had -- don't have any personal knowledge of that.

Q. Did you ever instruct any detectives that were working on the investigation not to show video of the shooting to any civilian witnesses?
A. No.

Q. Did you ever hear from anyone, whether at Area Central or scene of the shooting, that civilian witnesses had been threatened with arrest if they didn't come to Area Central?
A. No, I never heard that.

Q. Are there circumstances where it's appropriate to arrest witnesses to a shooting to ensure you can obtain their testimony?

MR. McKAY: Object. What are you -- can you rephrase your question? I don't understand that question.

MR. NEUMER: Okay.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. In your experience, are there times where it is appropriate to threaten or arrest witnesses to a shooting in order to obtain a statement from them?

MR. McKay: I object. There's no evidence that was done in this case, so how is questioning regarding any other cases, whether this gentleman knows or not, relevant to the investigation of the shooting here today?

MR. NEUMER: What I'm looking for is like sort of policies and procedures, if that would violate policies and procedures, or if that's accepted in terms of something that might have to be done.

Can we read back the question.

(WHEREUPON, the record was read by the reporter.)

MR. McKay: I object.

BY THE WITNESS:

A. Am I aware if there's situations or instances where that would be appropriate, that's your question?

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Yes.

A. No, I'm not aware of such things.

Q. Did you ever hear at any time, whether at Area Central on the night of the shooting or subsequently, that civilian witnesses were being denied lawyers?

A. Never heard that.

Q. Did you ever hear at Area Central or subsequently that civilians were being told by detectives that their account of the shooting, McDonald shooting were incorrect?

MR. McKAY: I have to object. You're asking an accused whether he heard anything on the street, so to speak, about some alleged misconduct, if it is misconduct, by some mystery person. That's not fair.

Do you have any evidence that this detective or anybody this detective has knowledge of was doing any of these things to any of these people?

MR. NEUMER: Counsel, I think the question is eminently fair. All I'm asking is --

THE WITNESS: I don't. I don't.

MR. NEUMER: -- whether he at any time at Area Central --

MR. McKAY: For example, let me just say this, Peter: You asked Detective March if did he ever hear if witnesses were threatened with arrest. He says no. You asked him did he ever hear if witnesses were denied lawyers, okay? He said, no, he doesn't know. Did he hear this; he said no.

Are you going to ask him if he even heard witnesses were asking for lawyers? I mean, we could go on and on and on just speculating with this stuff, but your allegations are pretty specific against this detective. None of your allegations mention anything that you're asking about now and asking this gentleman to speculate about it.

MR. NEUMER: We're trying to determine Detective March's knowledge. I mean, I don't want -- if there's a better way to ask the question, I'm all ears --

MR. McKAY: He told you he did not speak to these civilian witness; they were gone when he arrived. You want to pose these questions to Torres and Curran, who I believe the evidence has shown they may have talked to civilian witnesses, that's up to you.

MR. NEUMER: I don't want to argue, but if Detective March learned of it, then we need to know.

And I think it's a broad question.

It could be -- I mean, it's a broad question, but I think it's a completely fair question because the answer is going to be either yes or no. And if it's yes, we'll follow up; and if it's no, it's no.

MR. McKAY: Well, again, Pete, you're assuming that these things happened and whether this gentleman who is here under oath heard about these things.

MR. NEUMER: I am asking. And the only way we can determine is by asking.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. So, Detective March, at any time --

THE WITNESS: Can we take a break?

MR. NEUMER: Sure. The time is 2:15 p.m.
(WHEREUPON, a recess was had.)

MR. NEUMER: Time is 2:17 p.m. and we'll go back on the report.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Detective March, at any time on the night of October 20th, 2014, or thereafter did Detective Curran or Detective Torres inform you that they were telling civilians their accounts of the shooting, the witnesses' accounts were incorrect?

MR. MCKAY: I have to object. Again, based on the letter by Interim Superintendent John Escalante and the reference memo by Sergeant Soria, none of this, none of this that you are asking right now, Mr. Neumer, is supported by that letter or by Sergeant Soria's memo.

And none of the allegations you have given to this detective mention anything regarding witnesses' accounts to other detectives, whether there were threats, whether lawyers were asked for or denied. None of this has been served notice on this particular detective, and I'm objecting to all of these questions.
This man is an accused and -- your office has accused this man based on Escalante's and Soria's letter and memo respectively and none of this makes mention of any of this stuff.

He is entitled to notice, and he isn't given. And now you're asking him to speculate about things that you don't even know exist. That's not the purpose of this statement. He's going to answer all your questions because he's been given a direct order by a supervisor, but it is unfair and it prejudices him if he's asked to speculate about things that you are fishing for. Do you agree?

MR. NEUMER: I will interpret this as a standing objection to this line of questioning.
If there's anything more you want to add to the record, the floor is yours, but then I'll proceed with my line of questioning.

MR. McKAY: I made my record.

MR. NEUMER: Okay.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Detective March, at any time on the night of October 20th, 2014, or thereafter, did Detective Curran or Detective Torres inform you
that they were telling civilians their accounts

of the shooting were incorrect?

A. No, I don't recall anything like that happening.

Q. At any time on the night of October 20th, 2014, or thereafter, did you learn that civilians were claiming that the account of the McDonald shooting they provided CPD was different than the account attributed to them in the Exhibit 5 CSR?

A. No, I don't recall that.

Q. Did you ever see any news accounts regarding the civilian witnesses who were at Area Central the night of October 20th, 2014?

MR. McKAY: Wait, I have to object. Are you suggesting that a news account of a witness is evidence?

MR. NEUMER: I'm asking my question. I'm asking if he's aware of --

MR. McKAY: I asked you earlier, Peter, if you had any people that you could identify to this detective who you have accused who had provided affidavits and are the sources of any allegation against this detective. And you said there were none. You said that Inspector General Ferguson had brought authority based on Escalante's letter.

And we asked for and demanded that if there were any additional accusers that were not sworn officers, provide them to us now -- identify them and provide us their affidavits to support any of these allegations.
And now I ask again, provide us with any sworn affidavits by any civilian witnesses that are supporting even these questions to this detective regarding alleged witnesses he never talked to. Do you have them now?
MR. NEUMER: We have provided the letter,
the affidavit that's required under the CBA.
MR. McKay: What affidavit?
MR. NEUMER: Sergeant Soria's.
MR. McKay: Sergeant Soria is a sworn officer. He doesn't have to provide an affidavit.
MR. NEUMER: You know, again, objections, please put them on the record --
THE WITNESS: I am.
MR. NEUMER: -- I'm trying to get through this --

MR. MCKAY: We are on the record.

MR. NEUMER: Okay. If there's any additional questions --

MR. MCKAY: Yeah, I'm asking do you have affidavits from civilian witnesses or affidavits from other non-sworn police officers supporting these questions and these allegations?

MR. NEUMER: We do not have sworn affidavits from individuals not named as our complainants.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. So Detective March, at any time did you become aware of news accounts in which civilians claimed the account they provided of the McDonald shooting was different than the account attributed to them in the Exhibit 5 CSR?

A. I don't recall.

Q. You don't recall?

A. I don't recall news reports like that.

Q. When you first arrived at Area Central, who did you speak to first?

A. I don't recall.
Q. What was your first investigative activity that you engaged in once you arrived at Area Central?

A. I don't recall what the first thing I did or the second thing I --

Q. Okay. Can you walk us through some of the investigatory steps you took while you were at Area Central. Understanding that maybe you can't place them in the exact order they occurred.

A. I collected whatever documentation I could from all of the police personnel involved in the investigation, including the original case report that was authored by an 8th District beat car; the Forensic Services people, reports of their activities; the GPRs from any other detectives that had submitted GPRs.

I conferred with Sergeant Gallagher, again, multiple times just coordinating the activities at the office there.

Q. Was Lieutenant Wojcik at the scene at Area Central when you were there?

A. I believe at some point he arrived at the area, but, again, I don't remember when.
Q. Did you conduct interviews while you were at Area Central on the night of the shooting?

A. Ultimately or eventually I did do -- I did reinterview Officer Van Dyke.

Q. Okay. Did you interview anyone else at Area Central that night?

A. No, I don't recall conducting any other reviews at the area.

Q. Were you present -- well, so I think you mentioned earlier that the 813 Robert dash cam video was being shown to certain individuals or was being made available to be viewed -- walk me through that so I don't misstate your words.

A. The video had been uploaded by Sergeant Becvar from the vehicle up -- into the system, server, whatever you want to call it. And someone had pulled it up on one of the computers in the office so that it was available that anyone who wanted to or needed to refer to it for whatever reason, it was available. I know I looked at it on more than -- more than one time I looked through it just to make sure I had a good comprehension of what was shown on the video. I may have personally told the police officers, once I was aware it was on the video -- or up on the computer, that if they needed to, it was there as a reference for them.
And I know a number of people viewed it.

Q. Who do you know viewed the video at Area Central that night?
A. Well, I know I viewed it. I know Gallagher viewed it. Past that I couldn't say with absolute certainty who else, but I know a number of people went into that office to -- I'm assuming the only reason to go into that office at that point in time was to view the video.
That was the only thing going on really at that point in time.

Q. Okay. And was this a side office on -- on the second floor? Or tell me where that is.
A. Yeah, there's a large work area on the second floor, and there's offices along the side, and this was one of the side offices.

Q. And there was a laptop in that office or --
A. A --
Q. -- was it a desktop?
A. A desktop.
Q. So could anyone walk in there at any time and kind of click on the video and watch it for themselves?
A. Well, any police personnel.
Q. Any police personnel, sorry. Yeah.
That's how it was?
A. I mean, it's not -- it's not a public area --
Q. No. No, I just meant that there wasn't a locked door to this office that you recall?
A. No.
Q. And a police officer -- say one of the police officers on the scene, they wouldn't have needed like an escort to this room or someone to guide them through watching this video?
A. I mean, I -- they wouldn't need an escort to get to the office. Not everyone has the same technical expertise with computers, so, I mean, if someone didn't know how to play the video or what to click on, they might have to ask somebody to do that. But it wasn't like access was restricted that, no, you can't see it.

Q. I understand. Was a detective in the room with -- was there a detective in the room at all times where that video was being -- was made available?

A. No.

Q. Okay. So at times maybe the room was empty?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. Were you present for any showings of the video with other individuals, or did -- let me phrase it differently.

Every time you watched the video, were you alone at Area Central?

A. On some occasions there might have been someone standing behind me that was curious -- standing behind me who was curious that was also watching it, but I did not specifically go in there with anyone to watch it or anything.

When I had a question come up where I felt I needed to view it, I went in there. If there was someone in the office, I didn't ask them to leave. If someone followed me in there or, like I said, if somebody was curious and wanted to see the video, they might have been looking over my shoulder.

Q. Do you recall having any communications with individuals the night of the shooting at Area Central while they were watching the video of the shooting?
A. No, I don't recall that.

Q. Did you document anywhere in the Exhibit 5 CSR where individuals watched -- not where. Whether individuals watched the 813 Robert dash cam video?
A. No.

Q. I'm going to go to the Notice of Allegations. Page 3, number two near the bottom, it is alleged that on or about October 20th, 2014, and October 21st, 2014, you engaged in witness tampering by showing witnesses to the McDonald shooting a video of the shooting and attempting to influence the testimony of those witness as they viewed the video.
What is your response to that allegation?

MR. McKAY: Before he answers, I would object to the lack of foundation in this allegation. Nowhere in this allegation does it refer to who these witnesses or witness may be, what, if anything, is being said to these witnesses, assuming things were being said to the witness. It assumes -- there's no allegation as to where because it shows both the date of October 20th and October 21st, and are we talking about at the scene of the shooting or at Area Central.

So there's a complete lack of foundation for that allegation of which, without, Detective March's incapable of answering completely. And he's trying to answer all of your questions honestly and completely, but because the way the allegation is phrased and the lack of foundation, the question is unfair and inappropriate.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Well, let me rephrase --

MR. McKAY: Thank you.
BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. -- and say at Area Central. And the reason it's on or about October 20th, 2014, and 21st is because there's a little -- it's a little difficult to know when exactly things happened. So it might have been late on the night of October 20th, could have been early on the night of October 21st, 2014?

At Area Central it is alleged you engaged in witness tampering by showing witnesses the McDonald shooting, the video of the shooting any attempting to influence the testimony of those witness as they viewed the video.

What is your response to that allegation?

MR. MCKAY: My further objection is the foundation lacks as to whom? Who are you talking about, Mr. Neumer? And when you say attempt to influence, how?

MR. NEUMER: The question stands.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. So it's your opportunity to respond to the allegation.
A. I will be happy to answer your question, but I would just like to raise a point of my own. This is the United States of America. I'm United States citizen. The Department has very specific rules and regulations regarding the conduct of any disciplinary investigations, not to mention the Collective Bargaining Agreement. And you're saying this conduct is alleged. Am I -- are you saying I'm not allowed to know who is alleging this?

Q. No, I'm simply posing the question.

MR. MCKAY: The question, I would respectfully suggest to you, is that -- this is just a conclusion you or your boss has made or some other agent here in the Inspector General has made.

He's entitled to know who, if anyone, supports this conclusion that the Inspector General is making only it's just phrased in the form of a question.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. I'm going to give you -- I'm going to read the allegation one more time and give you one more opportunity to respond to the allegation. I can't force you to respond to the allegation --

A. The answer to your question is that, no, I did not engage in this behavior that's being alleged.

My question to you still stands, though: Am I not permitted -- am I not entitled to know who is making this very specific allegation?

Q. We have provided notice pursuant to the CBA, pursuant to our authority, and that's the answer.

MR. McKAY: And you know, Peter, that we object to that notice. We don't believe that that notice is sufficient.

Your allegation number two is alleging that this man engaged in witness tampering by showing witnesses to the shooting a video and attempting to influence the testimony of those witnesses.

We are asking, again, who are these witnesses and what, if anything, do you mean when you say attempting to influence the testimony of these witnesses?

We ask that you be more specific, that's all. He is answering your questions. He is following this direct order, but he has a right to know exactly specifically who supports this allegation.

What do you mean by witnesses, plural? Who are they, and what do you mean by "attempts to influence the testimony of these witnesses"?

MR. NEUMER: Yeah, I mean, I think the influencing testimony I think is pretty specific, but Detective March has denied the allegation --

MR. McKay: Categorically denies the allegations. If you can be more specific, he will provide further statements that will deny it.

But, again, I can only assume -- and I'm only acting as his advocate. He's here to answer your questions, Peter. Without any specificity, he can only say this didn't happen. And that should be good enough, I guess, but, again --
MR. NEUMER: Well, then --

MR. McKAY: -- he's being asked to defend against generalizations not supported by any specific facts.

MR. NEUMER: The question has been asked and the question has been answered.

BY THE WITNESS:

A. And I would just like to ask one more time, Sergeant Soria, I did not see anything in writing that says Sergeant Soria is alleging I engaged in this conduct, and I have not seen anything in writing saying that John Escalante, the Interim Superintendent, is alleging this specific allegation. So I ask once again, could I please know who is making this specific allegation of criminal conduct against me, and are you saying I have no right to know that, who that person is?

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. As I stated before, the Inspector General's Office has provided Notice of Allegations to you pursuant to the Collective Bargaining Agreement and has followed all applicable law.
A. I don't believe that's true.

Q. Okay. You mentioned you interviewed Officer Van Dyke at Area Central; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. What was the purpose of that second interview -- sorry, not second interview. What was the purpose of that Area Central interview?

A. He was the principal member involved in this incident, and I wanted to make sure I had all of the details from him that I needed to be thorough and complete.

Q. Did you interview any of the other officers who were present at the scene at Area Central?

A. No.

Q. Did you request that he speak to you for an interview? How did that -- did you say, Officer Van Dyke, I'd like to speak with you again? Or how did you let him know that you wanted to interview him again?

A. Yes, something along those lines. I had the GPRs that I had prepared out at the scene, so I wanted to go through those again to make sure I had recorded everything correctly and accurate.

Because I talked to him shortly after the incident occurred, it was a traumatic incident. People in general -- and police officers are just like people in general -- everyone responds in a different manner. And after a traumatic incident, people are stressed out so maybe they don't always remember everything. Sometimes their thoughts are flying through their head, you know.

I wanted to sit down with him now hours later, after everything had calmed down, and make sure that what I had heard on the scene and what I had -- the notes I had taken on the scene were accurate in terms of his recollection of the incident and if there was anything else he had -- he had recalled that needed to be documented.

Q. Where did that interview take place?
A. It was in Area Central up on the second floor.

Q. Was it in one of the side offices or --
A. Yes, one of the side offices.

Q. Was anyone else present during that interview?

A. Sergeant Gallagher was present for most of the interview. I believe he got called out a couple of times because of his other responsibilities, but he was present for most of that interview.

Q. Anyone else other than Sergeant Gallagher?

A. No, it was just the three of us.

Q. And did you ask him to provide a narrative of the shooting incident?

A. Yes.

Q. And did he provide a narrative?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you take notes when he was providing that narrative?

A. As I said, I had the notes I had taken before, and I was comparing them to what he was saying now to make sure I had them accurately down, and then anything he added in addition to that, I created a new GPR with those notations.
Q. So I'm going to hand you what has been previously marked as Exhibit 10. And this contains the October 20th, 2014, GPR as well as the October 21st, 2014, GPR.

(WHEREUPON, the document was tendered to the witness.)

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. And looking at Page 4 of Exhibit 10, is that the GPR that you prepared -- or that you made at Area Central?

A. Yes.

Q. And at the top it says, "same details"?

A. Yes.

Q. Is that what you wrote when he was providing his narrative of the shooting to you?

A. Yes.

Q. Did Officer Van Dyke introduce any new facts when he was providing that narrative to you, new facts compared to the October 20th GPR, the first three pages of Exhibit 10?

A. Yes.

Q. Did he provide any new facts regarding -- okay. And so those new facts are what's on Page 4, "aware of radio transmission," "armed with knife," and the information that's below there?

A. Correct.

Q. With respect to the three pages -- the first three pages, the October 20th, 2014, GPR in Exhibit 10, did anything he said at Area Central differ?

Put aside the new facts that are on Page 4 of that GPR. Did any of the facts that he initially stated to you at the scene of the shooting, did his account differ at all from those facts?

A. No.

Q. Did you purposely not take notes when he was relating his narrative of the shooting in order to prevent him from making inconsistent statements?

A. No.

Q. Did you show Van Dyke the video, the 813 Robert dash cam video at Area Central?

A. I did not.

Q. Do you know if he saw the 813 Robert dash cam video while he was at Area Central?
A. I can't say specifically that I know he did.

Q. Do you think that -- did you consider showing him the video?

A. The video was available for anyone who wanted to if they felt they needed to. I had no need to show him the video and ask him any questions based off of the video itself.

Q. Do you think that would have assisted him in recollecting the events that occurred on the night of the 20th?

MR. McKAY: I have to object. It calls for this man to speculate about somebody else's state of mind.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. I'm just looking for your investigatory process. You could have shown him the video, right, if you had wanted to?

A. Yes, and if I thought there was a reason to, I would have.

Q. You just thought -- you didn't see a reason to show him the video?

A. Right. If he had needed -- if he felt he needed to see it, it was available to him. I didn't see any need for me to show it to him.

Q. He didn't request at any time to see the video?
A. Not during his talk -- not during any discussions he had with me.

Q. In your GPR, in the October 21st GPR and also in the Exhibit 5 CSR that summarizes the GPR, there's mention made of a 21-foot rule.
What is the 21-foot rule?
A. Well, as I understand it, use of force experts, defensive tactics instructors made me aware of this -- and I don't know the technical terms or the name or anything -- but there's basically a teaching in law enforcement that a subject who's armed with a knife, if he is within 21 feet of you and your weapon is holstered, he is considered a deadly threat because it is very possible for him to close that distance of 21 feet and attack you with the knife before you can draw your weapon and fire a defensive shot. That's my understanding of the so-called 21-foot rule.

Q. Were you aware of the 21-foot rule prior to your Area Central interview of Officer Van Dyke?

A. Yes, I was.

Q. Did you at any time in your Area Central interview of Officer Van Dyke provide Officer Van Dyke any information about the 21-foot rule?

A. No.

Q. That was information that he related to you?

A. Yes.

Q. Did he say where he became aware of the 21-foot rule?

A. No.

Q. Did Officer Van Dyke mention the 21-foot rule to you at any time at the scene of the shooting?

A. No.

Q. Did you find it odd that he failed to mention the 21-foot rule at the scene of the shooting but then brought it up at Area Central?

A. No, in fact, as I said before, that was the purpose of this new interview at the office was in case there was anything -- now that time had gone by for him to decompress and calm down, to see if there was anything else he remembered.

Q. And what he was saying to you was that he was aware of the 21-foot rule during his encounter with Laquan McDonald; is that correct?
A. Correct.

Q. Okay. Did you ever think that he was, by mentioning the 21-foot rule, trying to justify his shooting?
A. No, I never thought of that. I thought his -- the shooting was justified from shortly after speaking to him and watching the video in the squad car myself.

Q. Did you ever have any doubts as to whether Officer Van Dyke was aware of the 21-foot rule when he shot Laquan McDonald?

MR. McKay: I have to object to that question in that, again, you're asking this man to speculate about another man's state of mind.
So over my objection, if the witness understands.

BY THE WITNESS:
A. Can you repeat the question, please.
MR. NEUMER: Sure. Can we read the question back.

(WHEREUPON, the record was read by the reporter.)

BY THE WITNESS:

A. Did I ever have any doubt that he was aware at the time he fired his shots?

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. (Nodding.)

A. No, I had to reason to doubt it. I know that's a very wide theory, if you will, or teaching in law enforcement.

Q. Did you ever receive any indication that someone had told Officer Van Dyke to reference the 21-foot rule?

A. No.

Q. In your -- in the GPR that contains your notes of the Area Central interview and the CSR there's made mention of revolver knives I think. Prior to your Area Central interview of Officer Van Dyke, were you aware that there were knives capable of firing bullets?

A. You're asking me if before this interview was I aware?
Q.   (Nodding.)
A.   I would have to say, no, I can't say I was aware of that before -- prior to this interview.

Q.   Were you aware of Safety Alert 2012-OSA-297 prior to your Area Central interview of Officer Van Dyke?
A.   No, not prior to that interview, no.

Q.   At any time during your Area Central interview or prior to did you provide information to Van Dyke about knives capable of firing bullets?
A.   Well, if I didn't know about them, I don't think I could provide that information to anyone, including Jason Van Dyke.

Q.   Did you ultimately track down the Officer Safety Alert 2012-OSA-297?
A.   Right, someone in our office went and ultimately did a search of the -- they're called -- it's the Administrative Message Center where Officer Safety Alerts are distributed nationwide for officer's safety, and they were able to find the alert that I cited.

Q.   Did Officer Van Dyke at the scene of the shooting make any reference to safety alert number 2012-OSA-297?

A. No.

Q. Did he make any reference at the scene of the shooting to you regarding knives capable of firing bullets?

A. At the scene?

Q. Yeah.

A. No.

Q. Did you find it odd at all that immediately following the shooting Van Dyke made no mention of revolver knives but hours later he did?

A. No, as I said, I've been involved with a number of police officer-involved shootings, and it's very common for officers to remember more things after some time has gone by and they've had time to decompress.

Q. Did you have any suspicions that someone told Officer Van Dyke to mention that safety alert?

A. No, there was nothing to make me suspect that.

Q. We're going to go to the allegations.
It is alleged that on or about October 21st, 2014, you and Officer Van Dyke created a false justification for the shooting of Laquan McDonald and included that false justification in the Case Supplementary Report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, with the sup ID 10992767 CSR 301.

What is your response to that allegation?

MR. McKAY: I have to object to this allegation for lack of specificity. Again, we'd like to know where is the evidence supporting this mere conclusion the Inspector General has made in subsection 7 of allegation 1(a)?

MR. NEUMER: You can -- I mean, I think what we've just been talking.

MR. McKAY: Are we talking about the knife firing bullets and this bulletin? Is that the sum and substance of this allegation contained in subsection 7?

MR. NEUMER: What we have is, we've given the GPR, we've given the CSR. Question stands.
BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. It is alleged that on or about October 21st, 2014, that you and Officer Van Dyke created a false justification for the shooting of Laquan McDonald and included that false justification in the Case Supplementary Report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015. What is your response to that allegation?

MR. MCKAY: Again, I -- he'll answer your question, Peter, but my objection is, what specific facts support this allegation, which is a mere conclusion? What. What did -- what do you allege Detective March and Officer Van Dyke did specifically to create this false justification as your office has alleged?

If you mean this knife that shoots bullets and the bulletin in the GPR which is the fourth page of Exhibit 10, then he's on notice, okay? Is it just this, or is it anything more than this? That's the essence of my objection now.

MR. NEUMER: I understand your objection, and obviously it's on the record and the question stands.

BY THE WITNESS:

A. My response is the allegation is false.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Other than your -- you mentioned several investigative activities that you engaged in at Area Central, which included an interview of Officer Van Dyke. That was the only interview you conducted at Area Central, the Officer Van Dyke interview; is that correct?

A. I believe that's correct, yes.

Q. Are there any other significant investigative activities that you undertook while you were at Area Central on the night/morning of October 21st, 2014?

A. No, I don't believe -- I don't believe there are.

Q. Do you recall what time you left Area Central on October 21st, 2014?

A. As I said, it was well into the morning, the following morning. I don't recall the exact time.
Q. Do you recall who was still present when you left Area Central in terms of folks who were on the investigative team, officers who were present at the shooting?

A. I don't know for certain, but I would guess that myself and Sergeant Gallagher were probably just about the last people to leave the office.

Q. Did you have any substantive conversations with Sergeant Gallagher while at Area Central regarding your impressions -- initial impressions based on your preliminary investigative results?

A. If you could be a little more specific about what you mean by substantive.

Q. Sure. Had you discussed your thoughts or any initial conclusions you had reached based on the investigative work you had conducted that night?

A. I mean, we communicated to each other that we both thought the shooting was, you know, justifiable.

Q. Was Deputy Chief McNaughton at Area Central at any time on the night of the 20th, morning of the 21st?

A. Yes, he was.

Q. Did you have communications with him while you were at the scene -- or at Area Central, rather?

A. Yes, not anything I'd call substantial except for the fact that he thought, from everything he was aware of, that everything was fine also with the incident and the investigation and the use of force.

Q. And is it correct you didn't recall whether you saw Lieutenant Wojcik at Area Central; is that fair to say?

A. I can't say for certain that I saw him there or know, if he was there, specifically what time. I really can't say. I don't recall.

MR. NEUMER: I think we're nearing the end of the Area Central section. I'm going to give my colleague an opportunity to ask some questions.

BY MR. BROWN:

Q. Detective March, is there a reason why times aren't noted on the GPRs, like times of the interviews?
A. I mean, there's no -- your question is, is there a reason why there aren't times?
No, there's no reason why there aren't times on the GPRs, no.

Q. Is there any CPD policy governing the GPRs on how they should be -- what should be noted on them?
A. No, like I said, GPRs are basically scratch paper, and you're not required to use them. The only requirement is that, if you are going to take any notes, they're supposed to be -- they must be on a General Progress Report that then gets submitted.
There's no -- absolutely no directive, if you will, on what is supposed to go on the GPR or what's not supposed to go on the GPR. It's whatever you think you need to -- whatever notes you feel you need to take.

Q. Okay. Is it your general practice not to note the times of interviews on GPRs?
MR. McKAY: I have to interpose an objection. Kris, I mean no disrespect, but I've been a big pain in the ass today because I'm asking for specificity in your allegations.
against Dave.
Now you're asking Dave about the absence of times on some these GPRs. If you think it's necessary for times on his GPRs, then why don't you think it's necessary that he be specifically informed who, what, where, when are things happening regarding witnesses or him and Van Dyke falsely justifying the shooting? You see what I'm saying here? I find it ironic. With that said, I have no -- nothing further to add at this point.

BY THE WITNESS:

A. Is there a --

MR. McKay: Could you repeat the question.

BY MR. BROWN:

Q. Is it your general practice to not note times on the GPRs?

A. I generally do not note times of specific interviews. I will, over the course of an investigation keep general -- a general time, but just in -- you know, like just to kind of keep an order of when important things happen to keep them in the proper order, first, second, third.
The one place where I do get more specific in terms of times is when we have a suspect under arrest because there are often motion hearings in court where the actual time that actual steps occurred is much more --

Q. Relevant.
A. -- relevant and it needs to be documented.

But in terms of witness and victims and police officers, generally the question never really comes up, Well, exactly what time did this interview or that interview occur?

Q. All right. Now, your detectives that were part of your team on the scene as part of their, I guess, duties to figure out who the witnesses were to the event, did they have to speak with the police officers on the scene?
A. Did they have to?
Q. Mm-hm.
A. No.
Q. I only ask that because I was just wondering, had any of the detectives or any of the police officers told you or your fellow teammates that they weren't able to, I guess, identify any of the witnesses to the event or that they shooed away a witness and on second thought they might have been like, Oh, I should have got that information from that person, did you ever hear anything about that or anything related to that?
   A. No, I didn't hear anything along those lines.
   Q. Do you know if the detectives that conducted the interviews at the area, do you know if they completed their GPRs while they were interviewing the witness?
   A. I couldn't tell you specifically.
   Q. The detectives that completed the witness interviews, if they were to complete their GPRs until, I don't know, a week later, would they need to inform you of that?
   Like if they don't -- sounds like the GPRs are completed pretty much the day of whenever the interview happens. If something outside that norm occurs, do detectives need to tell you, Hey, I didn't get to do my GPR notes until two days later, three days later, four days later?
A. That would be very unusual. What I would think would be more likely is if a detective had -- like let's say in this particular case, a detective conducts an interview in the office and I'm not back from the scene yet and then he got sent out on a new assignment and he forget to leave them with somebody in the office to turn them over to me and we got separated, and then the next day or the day after he looks in his notebook and says, Oh, I still have the GPRs from the Laquan McDonald incident, then he would get them to me. Something like that could happen --

Q. But relates --

A. -- in general GPRs are pretty much done --

Q. That day.

A. -- before you go home and turned in.

Q. And, as far as you recall, the GPRs of those witnesses, you saw them that night while you were at the area?

A. The following morning.

Q. The following morning. Okay.

A. Sometime -- you know, might have still been dark out, but it was after midnight.

Q. Got you.

A. I wouldn't have seen those GPRs until I got back to the office from the scene, and that was well after midnight. And I don't remember exactly what time I got handed them and got to take -- actually got to take a look at them.

Q. That's fair. Did you have a chance to review the GPRs that the detectives wrote up related to those witness interviews?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you have any follow-up questions for the detectives?

A. No.

Q. Generally if a witness requests to review a police video, are the detectives allowed to show the witnesses those police videos?

A. That's entirely up to the detective.

Q. There's no rule preventing them from doing that?

A. There's no department directive specifying that you must show a witness the video or that you cannot show a witness. If you think it serves some investigative purpose if there's a reason -- if you feel it's reasonable, then you can, but you don't have to show the video.

Q. In your experience, if a witness requests to see a video and you determine like, oh, it's not relevant that the witness see the police video, would you note that on your GPR?

A. Just note the fact that they wanted to see the video?

Q. Mm-hm.

A. I might but not -- not necessarily --
I wouldn't in every case make sure I make a note of it.

Q. As it relates to when you spoke to Van Dyke at the area, did you do your GPR while you were talking to Van Dyke?

A. Yes.

Q. You made mention that the 21-foot rule is a well-known part of law enforcement teaching. I wanted to ask you, is that 21-foot rule part of CPD's teaching?

A. I can't say specifically, but I believe I do recall it coming up during some training within the Department.

Q. Okay.

A. I can't tell you at what time or what specific training class, but --

Q. You recall that at some point --

A. -- it seemed -- I think I have heard that, not just outside the police department but in department training.

Q. Do you know if Van Dyke spoke to anyone between the time of your second on-scene interview and when you spoke with him at the Area?

A. I don't know for certain, but it's entirely possible. We're talking about a period of hours.

Q. Hours, right. Did you ask him who he spoke with in that period of hours?

A. No.

Q. Do you have any idea if he spoke with the FOP during that period of hours?

A. Again, I know specifically -- I don't know specifically, but I do know that they responded, they were at the Area and he, as I said, was the principal member involved, so it would seem likely, but I don't have personal knowledge of that.

MR. BROWN: That's all my questions. I'll toss this back to Peter.

THE WITNESS: Would this be a good time for a break?

MR. NEUMER: Sure. The time is 3:08 p.m. we'll go off the record.

(WHEREUPON, a recess was had.)

MR. NEUMER: The time is 3:20. We'll go back on the record.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. For this next group of questions, you may want to refer to the Exhibit 5 CSR.

So following -- actually, I did mean to ask you, where did you go after you left Area Central on the morning of October 21st, 2014?

MR. McKay: How is that relevant?

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. If you recall.

MR. McKay: Well, how is it relevant?

MR. NEUMER: I don't know, maybe he goes out to dinner with detectives and they talk about the case. Come on, man.

MR. McKay: Then ask him.

MR. Neumer: I'm saying where did he go --

MR. McKay: Well, my point is --

MR. Neumer: I'm not trying --

MR. McKay: -- it sounds like it's a --

MR. Neumer: -- through --

MR. McKay: -- fishing expedition.

MR. Neumer: It's a reasonable question.

MR. McKay: I disagree.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. If you recall.

A. I believe I went home.

Q. Was anyone with you on your car ride home?

A. No.

Q. After the night of October 20th, 2014, we've walked through the investigative steps you took at the scene. We've walked through the investigative steps you took at Area Central. Walk us through the investigative steps you took after Area Central.

A. Again, not in any particular chronological order, but from what I can remember off the top of my head, we had attempted that night to locate the original 911 caller. We were unsuccessful in that endeavor. The following day, the afternoon or the evening of the 21st, some detectives from my office were able to locate the wife of the caller and she was interviewed.

Subsequently the following day the -- her husband, at the request of those detectives, they left information and he called me the following afternoon or evening on the 22nd -- I believe it was the 22nd, and I interviewed him.

Sometime after this incident a major case review was conducted at the Illinois State Police Crime Lab regarding the processing of evidence in this case. And based on that meeting, I prepared an Evidence Submission Report requesting that the evidence be analyzed by the State Police Crime Lab.

Other than that, basic, if you will, housekeeping tasks, making sure I was collecting all the documentation, the reports, like that so that I would have everything that I needed for the file.
Q. Okay.
A. Oh, and the following day I know some additional video was recovered.

Q. I'm going to direct you to Page 22 of the Exhibit 5 CSR, the third paragraph starting, "The assigned personnel."

It says, "The assigned personnel also became aware an around article written by Craig Futterman citing the existence of an unknown witness to this incident."

It says, "Futterman was contacted on Thursday, March 12, 2015, in an attempt to interview this witness."

Did you contact -- was that you who attempted -- or who contacted Futterman on March 12, 2015?

A. Sergeant Gallagher made the call, left a message, and Futterman called him back later that day, and Gallagher talked with Futterman.

Q. Okay. It says, "Futterman said he would contact the witness and provide contact information for the assigned personnel."

Did you or anyone else at CPD ever have contact with the witness identified by Futterman?

A. No.

Q. Did you follow up with Professor Futterman at any time after Sergeant Gallagher's initial call?

A. No, he made it quite clear to Sergeant Gallagher that the witness -- that he was not going to cooperate with putting us in touch with this victim -- or with this witness and that he was -- he firmly believed that the witness was not going to talk to us.

Q. Okay.

A. We were also aware of an internet article on, I believe, the website is called "The Slate," which referenced Craig Futterman, and I believe it's the same witness.

And in that article when the author is speaking about this alleged witness, he says he -- he declines to identify the witness in his article because his article said something to the effect of the witness didn't want him using his name because he feared reprisals from the police.
Q. So --

A. And both Futterman and the author of the article indicated that this witness -- this alleged witness had spoken with IPRA.

Q. Did you note that in a -- was that noted in a -- did Sergeant Gallagher, would he do a GPR for a conversation with Professor Futterman?

A. Yes, he did a GPR, and that's where the reference in the report comes from, from Sergeant Gallagher's GPR.

Q. And the article -- when it says the assigned personnel became aware of an article, is that the article that was on "The Slate" that you were referencing?

A. I believe so. And I didn't -- I don't know how to characterize this. I didn't have the article in front of me. I saw the article on the internet, and I remember that Craig Futterman was mentioned.

And in the report it says the article was written by Craig Futterman, but obviously the article -- now I have seen the article again and I know that it's -- the author is named Jamie Kalven, who works with Futterman, and he mentions Futterman and this witness.

Q. So, again, it was that article that prompted Sergeant Gallagher to reach out to Craig Futterman?

A. I know we -- I know I was aware of that article. I'm not sure if specifically Gallagher was aware of that article or if there were any other articles.

Q. You submitted your -- the Exhibit 5 CSR three days after Sergeant Gallagher contacted Professor Futterman; is that correct?

A. It appears that way from the times on the computer-generated report. I don't specifically remember, but looking at the report, it appears that way.

Q. Did you have any concerns that Futterman's witness would contradict the account that you had presented in the Exhibit 5 CSR?

MR. McKAY: Well, I have to object that that assumes facts not in evidence that this witness who was never talked to by the police would provide an account that would contradict what was already known during Detective March's investigation.

And at this time I have to inject another standing objection and also a question to you, Peter, and that is this: Part of the Police Accountability Task Force includes Craig Futterman who is listed on their website as a working group member. And in addition to Mr. Futterman, Mr. Futterman and Jamie Kalven
K-a-l-v-e-n, are listed on the Police Accountability Task Force are people that are interviewed.

So I object to this office and Inspector General Joseph Ferguson conducting this investigation with those two men a part of this task force and interviewed by this task force coming up with these findings that were made long before Detective March came into this room this morning.

And I ask you, Mr. Neumer, is Craig Futterman and/or Jamie Kalven the source or source of the allegations you made against Detective March today?

MR. NEUMER: You know, we've been over this five or ten times --
MR. MCKAY: Not specifically regarding Mr. Futterman and Mr. Kalven --

MR. NEUMER: And nor are we going to give any -- we have a duty of confidentiality and we can't give out details of our investigation so whether we -- we can speculate --

MR. MCKAY: I have to object. Peter, you believe you have a duty of confidentiality and I respect that; however, under the Collective Bargaining Agreement that the City of Chicago reached with the Chicago Police Department through FOP, this man and any accused has a right to know who his complainants are.

And if the complainant is a non-sworn officer -- for example, like Craig Futterman or Jamie Kalven -- they must submit affidavits to support any allegations they make against any accused, and you, sir, as the investigative agency must provide those affidavits to the accused.

I ask you again, is Mr. Futterman and Mr. Kalven the source or sources of your allegation against Detective March? And, if so, please provide us with their affidavits now.
MR. NEUMER: Our Notification of Allegations speaks for itself. I'll ask the court reporter to read back the question, the last question I posed. (WHEREUPON, the record was read by the reporter.)

BY THE WITNESS:

A. I didn't know what kind of concerns to have regarding this alleged witness because I had no idea what he was saying.

I made every attempt -- I made every effort I could think of to try to identify and locate and interview this person so that I would know firsthand what his statement would be, what he saw, what he heard, what he witnessed.

As I said before, Futterman and Kalven both made it abundantly clear that they were not going to provide the identity of this witness, and both of them stated they -- that he did not want to be involved with the police, and both stated that he had already spoken with IPRA.

Therefore, for two reasons, number one -- that was the end of my efforts for two reasons: Number one, by the time this all came to light, I was already personally being accused of wrongdoing in this investigation, and I didn't want to compound the allegations against me by being accused of harassing a potential witness who had already spoken to IPRA.

And, number two, I figured if both of these people are saying that he spoke to IPRA, then there should be an official record of what this witness is alleging to have witnessed.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. What were the allegations of wrongdoing you mentioned?

A. Well, first of all, there was an attorney Jeffrey Neslund who was -- who contacted the City threatening a lawsuit, and during his communications with the City, he made allegations about the incident and the follow-up
investigation.

Most specifically there was some very wild and unsubstantiated allegations which got a wide range of play in the news media regarding missing video from the Burger King restaurant video system, which the police were specifically accused of deleting. Which, subsequently, to my knowledge, the FBI did a forensic analysis of the hard drive of that video system and determined -- or at least could not find any evidence of any deleting or tampering with the video files.

So these are the kinds of allegations
I'm talking about.

Q. And what steps --
A. At the time that I became aware of the alleged witness that Futterman knew, these allegations were already being made.

Q. And what steps did you take to track down the Futterman witness?
A. We contacted -- Sergeant Gallagher contacted Futterman who did not provide the information and said the witness would probably not cooperate.

I re-examined the Jamie Kalven article and saw that he said that he was not using the witness's -- the alleged witness's name because the witness feared reprisals from the police, which was a clear indication that he was not going to cooperate with the police.
And, as I said, both Kalven and Futterman indicated that this alleged witness had already spoken to IPRA.

Q. So I'm going to direct you to Page 3 of the Notification of Allegations, Subsection B, Roman numeral I(1).

It is alleged you failed to pursue relevant material and reasonable investigative leads including but not limited to failing to take reasonable steps to identify and interview material witnesses including but not limited to the witness to the McDonald shooting identified by law professor Craig Futterman.

What is your response to that allegation?

A. That allegation is false for the reasons I just stated. I told you I did take every reasonable step that I thought prudent at that particular point in time.

Q. Okay. Directing your attention to --

MR. McKAY: For the record, I'm going to have to object to the allegation containing the description of the witnesses as material. There's no evidence to support that any witnesses talked about by Professor Futterman were material.

Thank you.

BY THE WITNESS:

A. I would also like to add one other point. Having become aware of the existence of this alleged witness, I went back personally and re-examined all of the video evidence in this case, the two -- the video from the two squad cars and the Dunkin' Donuts video.

And if one looks at the video of all three sources, it covers a wide range of area surrounding the scene, the location where the encounter between Laquan McDonald and Jason Van Dyke occurred. And it is clear in the video there were no pedestrians anywhere near to have a credible view of what occurred, and there was no vehicular traffic that drove by as this encounter occurred.

So it seemed very unlikely from the video evidence that there would be any other credible witness to this incident that could be called material.
BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. When did you conduct that review of the video?

A. Shortly after -- you know, around the same time that we were trying to identify this witness.

Q. Oh, so around March 12, 2015?

A. Correct.

Q. Okay.

A. I specifically went back and looked at the video for that one reason, to try and see if there was any possibility that there was a witness that could have seen anything anywhere near where the incident occurred.

In my opinion, the video shows very clearly there is no one anywhere near -- no one walking by or driving by close enough to see what occurred between Jason Van Dyke and Laquan McDonald.

Q. Directing your attention to Page 3 of the Notification of Allegations, Section B, Roman numeral I(2).

It is alleged that you failed to pursue relevant material and reasonable investigative leads including but not limited to failing to take reasonable steps to identify and interview material witnesses including but not limited to the employees of the Dunkin' Donuts store that was located in proximity to the McDonald shooting.

What is your response to that allegation?

A. That allegation is false. We obviously had detective personnel go to the Dunkin' Donuts to canvass for witnesses and video. That is how we, in fact, did recover the Dunkin' Donuts video.

Detective Rich Hagen, I know for certain -- there may be other detectives that went there also, but I know for certain that Detective Hagen went to the Dunkin' Donuts. He did a GPR documenting the fact that he went to the Dunkin' Donuts and recovered the video.

And he specifically told me that night that the people in the Dunkin' Donuts didn't know what happened at all until he walked in the door and told them there was an incident outside and he was following up on it.
Q. So he reported to you that the Dunkin' Donuts employees hadn't witnessed the shooting?

A. Correct. And this is corroborated by the Dunkin' Donuts video itself, which, if you look at it, the point of -- perspective of the video is the camera is mounted on the outside of the restaurant building looking westbound towards Pulaski Road.

And you do see the final encounter -- well, as good as you can see on this video the final encounter between Jason Van Dyke and Laquan McDonald, but the video is at a distance. The police officer's vehicle, the individual people, Officers Walsh, Van Dyke and Laquan McDonald are very small, basically stick figures on the video.

And anyone who was inside the restaurant, whether it be an employee or a potential customer were even further away, and their view would have been obstructed by the walls and whatever else of the business itself. So that lent credibility to the fact that there was no one in the Dunkin' Donuts -- you know, when Hagen told me they said they didn't know what occurred out there, that seemed reasonable to me.

Q. With respect to Detective Hagen's conversations with the Dunkin' Donuts employees, did he do -- or create GPRs with respect to those conversations?

A. He did one GPR about his activities in the Dunkin' Donuts. I believe it concentrates on his recovery of the video. I believe he does identify the manager, I believe it is, of the establishment, and then he focused his efforts on the recovery of the video.

Q. Do you have any idea how many employees Detective Hagen talked to at the Dunkin' Donuts?

A. We're all kind of familiar with Dunkin' Donuts. I believe he said there were two people in there at the time, so I'm assuming that manager and one other employee.

Q. Okay.

A. Again, I believe that's what he told me.

Q. And that was at the scene of the shooting?

A. Right.

Q. I'm going to have to -- for the sake of thoroughness, I have to backtrack a little bit and direct your attention to Page 3 of the Notification of Allegations, section B, Roman numeral II.

And it is alleged you failed to pursue relevant, material, and reasonable investigative leads including but not limited to failing to properly and thoroughly document the statement Officer Van Dyke made to you October 21st, 2014, at Area Central in the General Progress Report you completed regarding that interview.

What is your response to that allegation?

MR. McKay: Are you referring to a specific exhibit that you have marked --

MR. NEUMER: Yes, Exhibit 10, Page 4.

MR. McKay: Thank you.

BY THE WITNESS:

A. My response to this allegation is it is completely and thoroughly false. And as I noted in our previous discussion on General Progress Reports or GPRs, there is no improper way to document whatever you put on a GPR. It is strictly scratch paper for whatever notes you deem necessary.

The allegation says I failed to properly and thoroughly document the statement of Officer Van Dyke. There is no way to properly and thoroughly fill out a GPR. It's whatever notes the detective deems necessary.

MR. NEUMER: Regarding this line of questioning, Kris, do you have any follow-up or cleanup questions?

MR. BROWN: I do.

BY MR. BROWN:

Q. In regards to IPRA, did you reach out to anyone at IPRA related to the witness you were speaking about?

A. As I've said before, I've been doing this for a while. I've been a detective for 25 years, and I've been involved in police officer-involved shooting investigations.

The relationship between IPRA and the police department is a one-way street. We are expected to provide them with everything we learn, and they provide us with nothing.

In this particular investigation, I know for a fact that within the first couple of weeks of the investigation, Sergeant Gallagher contacted Scott Ando, the head of IPRA, making inquiries regarding other issues on this investigation. And Scott Ando would provide Sergeant Gallagher with no information. So I saw no reason at all to contact IPRA again.

Q. Do you know if Sergeant Gallagher reached out to Ando regarding witnesses?

A. I don't know specifically -- I know he spoke -- I know they spoke about video, but I don't know if they spoke about any other possible -- potential witnesses.

I don't know any other issue -- I know specifically they talked about video, but I don't know if they talked -- what other issues they may have talked about.

Q. Were you in on that phone call with Ando --

A. No, Sergeant Gallagher informed me of it after the fact.
Q. Did he memorialize that phone call in any way?

A. There was nothing to memorialize. He made an inquiry, got no response and...

Q. I mean, did he say like Ando didn't respond to the question or did Ando just say, I'm not going to give you anything?

A. I don't know what Ando's exact words were, but it was basically to the effect that he wasn't going to provide us with any information.

Q. Have you personally made requests from IPRA in the past for other cases where they've denied you, I guess, information?

A. I don't recall specifics.

Q. Have you ever sent an official document request on CPD letterhead to IPRA requesting information that could be helpful to your investigations?

A. I don't recall.

Q. So if you needed information that IPRA might have had, what would be the best vehicle you would use to try to get that information?

A. I don't know that that's possible.
Q. Is that because of the relationship you mentioned between IPRA and CPD?

A. Exactly.

Q. Because of that sour relationship, was there any thought to send an official request to IPRA so as to cover, you know, your interests so that you'd have their denial to --

MR. McKAY: Object to the form of the question. You mentioned sour relationship.

That's your take, Mr. Brown.

MR. BROWN: I'm sorry. I probably misrepresented what Mr. March said.

BY MR. BROWN:

Q. I know you told me something about the relationship between IPRA is like a one-way street or something to that effect. It's not the best, I guess; is that fair to say?

A. Information flows one way. We are expected to provide them with everything. If we withhold anything, then we're considered obstructing their investigation and, yet, they provide us with nothing.

Q. So they make requests of you helpful to their investigations?
A. Absolutely.

Q. And when they do that, do they send you document requests, or do they make phone calls?

A. Could be either.

Q. And you make an official response?

A. If it's a question I can answer over the phone, I answer it over the phone.

MR. MCKAY: Mr. Brown, can I ask you something: Can you provide us now statements you have in your possession from Mr. Futterman, Mr. Kalven, or IPRA and the taking of any statements by IPRA of any witnesses in this case, or is this a one-way street, too?

MR. NEUMER: We've provided all materials as required under the CBA.

MR. MCKAY: Thank you, Mr. Neumer. But, again, with respect to both you gentlemen, I find it ironic that Mr. Brown is asking this detective whether he did certain steps with regard to IPRA and whether or not they interviewed anybody and shared any information with the Chicago Police Department in this case when, for the entirety of this statement, we are asking you gentlemen if you could share with us any statements or any information you may have in your possession that we suspect, if it exists, is supporting these allegations that we are trying to defend against today.

Okay. Please continue.

BY MR. BROWN:

Q. I'm just trying to get further information on IPRA's, I guess, possible reluctance to give you information that could be helpful for your investigation.

We don't have to recount it, but it sounds like Sergeant Gallagher didn't memorialize whatever the conversation was between him and Scott Ando?

A. No, I don't believe he did.

Q. Do you know if Sergeant Gallagher at least learned the identity of the witness in the conversation with Scott Ando?

A. The conversation that I'm aware of that he had with Ando happened within a couple weeks of the incident. I know they spoke about video. I don't know what, if anything else, ye they spoke about.
Q. Okay.
A. And when we found out about this witness at that point in time for those two reasons I cited, my previous experience and also the previous experience with IPRA in this particular investigation, I didn't see any point.

Q. Had the relationship with IPRA been better, would you have liked to have gotten information about that statement, like maybe a written copy of it?
A. Absolutely.

Q. Okay.
A. But just like you're telling us today, they will cite a privacy concern and not provide it to us. We're expected to conduct a thorough investigation and professional investigation, yet, we are handcuffed because other agencies use this wall of -- what was the word?

MR. McKay: Confidentiality.

BY THE WITNESS:
A. Confidentiality as a reason to not provide us with information.
BY MR. BROWN:

Q. And as it relates to Futterman, you mentioned that you had the impression that the witness probably wouldn't want to speak to CPD anyway even if you knew who the witness was?

A. Both Futterman and Kalven both made that clear.

Q. When a detective deals with that type of scenario, do you have any tools that you can use to try to make a witness speak to you?

A. In my experience, I have never seen -- I've seen many different strategies employed, and I've never seen -- the ultimate outcome is that I've never seen the police department able to compel a witness that was reluctant to be a witness and participate in the investigative process to be a witness.

We have to depend on people's sense of right and wrong and good citizenship to, quote/unquote, do the right thing. If they see something, they should say something and cooperate with the police. Unfortunately for us, there's no way to compel that cooperation.

Q. Lastly, you mentioned, after Gallagher spoke with Futterman, you reviewed the video to see if there was any possible eyewitnesses that maybe that might have been missed; is that accurate?

A. I knew what the result of this inquiry would be, but because these statements were being made by these people, I went back and checked again. And, as I told you, there's nothing in the video that indicates there is any potential witness anywhere near this incident.

Q. Could you have considered any witness that might have been on Pulaski Road that --

A. I looked at vehicular traffic. Once the police vehicles started to converge, traffic northbound and southbound all kind of like stopped and stayed where they were.

There was no -- there were no cars -- the police -- Laquan McDonald was in the southbound lanes, and the police basically had the southbound lanes blocked. So southbound traffic was at a standstill from almost a block behind us -- the incident.

And in the dash cam video, you can see the traffic that already passed and
shooting, the closest car is almost a block away.

Q. And that kind of gets to my question that --

A. And from the Dunkin' Donuts video looking across Pulaski, you see there's no traffic going across, either pedestrian or vehicular.

Q. I would agree with you on the Dunkin' Donuts video. My question is more so about the video that shows maybe the vehicle that's a block away, is there a chance that that vehicle might have seen the incident?

A. Again, in looking at that video, at the time the shots are fired, that vehicle is almost a full city block away from.

From the squad car cam, if you look at it closely, you can see the brake lights on that vehicle, looks like it's a car -- not an SUV or truck or van, it looks like it's a car, some kind of automobile, it's driving southbound. It's in the right-hand lane or curb lane, and you can see -- the driver has not stopped and he's pumping the brakes. You see the brakes go on and off, and you can see the car continue to move.

So maybe this person has seen the blue lights and he's looking in his rear-view mirror. Maybe he's looking out the driver's door window. We can't tell in the video. But he's continuing to drive southbound, and, as I said, if you look at the video closely, he is almost a full block away at the time the shots are fired, which does not make it likely that he could see anything. He certainly didn't hear anything that transpired.

MR. BROWN: That's all my questions.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Directing your attention to Exhibit 5

CSR --

A. And to take it one step further, if it was possible to identify and talk to that person, yes, I would love to talk to that person, but we didn't have the license plate off the car, Kalven and Futterman weren't identifying him, so I didn't see any other reasonable effort I could make to try to identify this person and try to talk to them.

Q. Exhibit 5 CSR, I want you to walk us through your process for drafting this document.

When did you first start drafting it?

A. The incident happened near the end of October. Unfortunately due to the workload at the Chicago Police Department, I don't get to conduct an investigation and then take myself out of the lineup, if you will, and just spend as much time as I need to to complete my reports. The very next day I could get sent out on a brand new investigation, so something's got to give.

When a new incident occurs, when an arrest is made and they need detectives to handle the follow-up, the sergeant has to send someone. He can't say, I don't have anybody to send out there because everyone has paperwork to do. So the paperwork is the thing that has to get sacrificed.

So during the next couple months, November, December, whenever I have time. This is a major case. They don't get much bigger in terms of priority. I worked on it as much as I could.

In January we became aware of the fact that police officers involved in this incident were being subpoenaed to the courthouse at 26th and California and they were being interviewed, by my understanding, by the Cook County State's Attorney's office and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

My supervisor, Lieutenant Wojcik, when he became aware of this, he started to ask questions, Well, if there's additional investigation being done, since we're charged with this investigation, shouldn't we be part of that?

And he asked questions up the chain of command about this, other involvement and what to do, and, to my knowledge, he never got a response from the chain of command, and so Wojcik told me to hold off on doing anything until we get some answers to what he was trying to find out.

Subsequent to that, there was the negotiations, if you will, regarding the settlement with McDonald's family, and then all of the sudden in March we were ordered to get the reports done right away.

Q. Who ordered you in March to get the reports done right away?
A. Commander Eugene Roy at Area Central Command, our commander.

Q. How did he communicate that message?
A. He told Wojcik, and Wojcik told me.

Q. And was that -- do you know if his directive to finish off the reports was prompted by the civil lawsuit settlement?
A. I believe it was. I don't know for certain. I wasn't privy at that level of, you know, communication, but it seemed apparent.

Q. And so Wojcik had told you hold off on drafting or investigating entirely while this grand jury --
A. Right because --

Q. -- or subpoenas was --
A. Because, again, you had different entities conducting different investigations, and at that point we hadn't been told, "You're no longer investigating this incident," so we still had a responsibility to investigate.
And be -- and Lieutenant Wojcik felt that meant being involved if there's continuing investigation, if there's new information coming to light, new witnesses, then we should be a part of that; and we weren't.

And, again, he went -- made a request up the chain of command to find out and get some direction here, and it never came until March when the settlement issue was at hand and we were ordered to get the reports in then all of the sudden.

Q. How long was the investigation on hold pending Wojcik's inquiry?
A. It was the beginning of January until the beginning of March so maybe two months.

Q. And that was, again, the subpoenas going out to the police officers over at 26th and Cal?
A. Again, I wasn't party to any of that. My understanding is that subpoenas went out to the police officers involved, and I believe that's the nine non-shooting officers, not Van Dyke but the nine others.

And, again, I don't know specifically, I can't swear to anything, but my understanding is the nine witness officers, if you will, were issued grand jury -- Cook County grand jury subpoenas to go to 26th Street. To my knowledge, none of them testified before the grand jury, but they were interviewed, as I said, by personnel from the State's Attorney's Office and the FBI.

Q. And where were you getting this information regarding the subpoenas, the interviews, all this?

A. I don't recall, you know, just --

Q. Was it Lieutenant Wojcik?

A. I mean, he was aware of it, too, yes, I mean, obviously because he -- I don't know where it first came from. I mean, Wojcik, Gallagher, and I all became aware of it. I don't know where we first heard it.

Q. And it was Wojcik's call to say, "Detective March, hold off for now"?

A. Right, he said -- he says, You know what, hold off until we get some direction from upstairs. Because we didn't want to interfere with another investigation. And, yet, if we're still charged with this investigation why aren't we part of what's going on. So we didn't know what to do.

Q. So then in March of 2015, Roy gives the directive, Let's wrap up this report?
A. Yes.

Q. And at that point you finished off the report?
A. Correct.

Q. Who else played a role in drafting the report?
A. Myself, Sergeant Gallagher, and Lieutenant Wojcik. They were my immediate supervisors.

Q. And what was Sergeant Gallagher's role in drafting the report?
A. I basically created the original draft, if you will, and then Gallagher reviewed it and Wojcik reviewed it, and we made some revisions and edits to the report.

Q. Is it fair to say that the bulk of the report was drafted by you?
A. Yes, but not -- there are actually, you know -- and I couldn't -- I can't cite specifics, but there are specific parts that were not typed by me, but the bulk of the report was drafted by me.

Q. While this investigation was going on, were you giving folks briefings about where we're at?

A. While what was going on?

Q. While the investigation of the shooting was going on. So we're talking between October and March. Were you giving briefings to superiors as to where the investigation was going?

A. Not me personally, no.

Q. Do you ever have any meetings with Superintendent McCarthy regarding this investigation?

A. No.

Q. Did you ever have any phone calls or communications with him regarding this investigation?

A. No.

Q. How about Eugene Roy; did you have any direct communications with Eugene Roy while this investigation was ongoing about the status of it?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay. Did you have frequent conversations with Eugene Roy?

A. I don't know if I would use the word "frequent." There were multiple face-to-face conversations that I had with him. I couldn't -- I don't know exactly how many.

Q. And what kind of information were you providing him during those conversations?

A. Most of the time it was him coming to me because maybe he had been asked a question from higher up the chain of command or an issue came to the Department so they were trying to get more background information.

So he would come to me with maybe a specific question about something, and then we would talk at length about the other aspects of the investigation.

Q. Sure. So certainly you're having conversations with Wojcik about the investigation as it continues, correct?

A. Sure.

Q. And certainly you're having conversations with Sergeant Gallagher about the investigation as it continues, correct?
   A. Yes.
   Q. And you're having some conversations with Eugene Roy regarding the investigation as it continues, correct?
   A. Correct. And also Lieutenant Valdez, who was the -- he was the other violent crimes lieutenant in the unit.
   Q. What was his role in the investigation?
   A. We have two violent crimes lieutenants, one is days, one is third watch, and they both kind of like -- instead of one person doing the job, they have two people doing the job. You know, I assume in the management model it's to make sure there's somebody there more often than if there's just one person there.
   Q. Okay.
   A. So they both have like an equal level, if you will, in the chain of command.
   Q. I got you. I want to show you two e-mails.
MR. NEUMER: We'll mark these as Exhibit 14 and Exhibit 15.

(WHEREUPON, certain documents were marked OIG Exhibit No. 14 and No. 15 for identification, as of 04/26/2016.)

MR. NEUMER: So Exhibit 14 is a March 13th e-mail from Lieutenant Wojcik to Detective March, subject is Arrest Info. And then it contains an attachment, a Word doc which contains a paragraph regarding arrests and certain arrest incidents pertaining to Laquan McDonald.

The Exhibit 15 e-mail is sent from Lieutenant Wojcik to Detective March. Subject is Conclusion, and it has an attachment, a word doc entitled conclusion.doc which contains two paragraphs concerning the McDonald findings -- or the findings of the McDonald investigation.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. So as you look through those, I want to start with Exhibit 15, the e-mail with the subject Conclusion with the attachment conclusion.doc.

Is this language that Lieutenant Wojcik drafted and sent to you?

A. I'm still reading.

Q. Sorry. You tell me when you're...

A. Okay.

Q. Okay. So this language that Lieutenant Wojcik drafted and then sent to you?

A. Yes.

Q. And do you have any recollection as to the background regarding this e-mail? Did you send him a draft previously?

A. No, this is when we were ordered to get the reports in quickly, both Gallagher and Wojcik and I worked together, you know, to -- rather than dumping it all on one guy, the three of us worked together.

So Wojcik said I'll do an analysis of his arrest record, so that's what the one e-mail is. And then Wojcik drafted a suggestion, if you will, for the conclusions for the investigation.

Q. Did you, Lieutenant Wojcik, and Sergeant Gallagher have any in-person meetings regarding --

A. Oh, yes.
Q. Regarding the findings included in the Exhibit 5 CSR?
A. Yes.

Q. Several in-person meetings? And I'm talking specifically -- not just regarding the investigation necessarily but more so, okay, we got this directive, we got to get this out. Were there in-person meetings following Eugene Roy's directive to --
A. Yes, again -- specifics, I can't swear to it, but I believe it was on a Wednesday that Commander Roy said he wanted the paperwork done by Friday. Wojcik got him to push that back to Monday. So then in the next however many days that is we -- the three of us worked together.

Q. Was anyone else involved in meetings or the drafting process?
A. No, this was just to -- the investigation was done, everything had been done, the conclusions had been reached, it was just a matter of putting the paperwork together.

Q. Was anyone else involved sort of in the reaching of those conclusions?
A. The three of us put the reports together, but we were informed specifically by Commander Roy and by Lieutenant Valdez especially because they had contact with the command -- we were informed -- we had personal contact with Roy and Valdez.

And they in turn had informed us that the two of them had conducted separate briefings at separate executive management meetings at public safety headquarters which were conducted regarding -- their briefings were regarding this incident and the investigation for the benefit of the -- I'm not sure exactly how it works because, again, that's above my level, but my understanding is this is an executive management meeting to allow the entire command staff, whoever is either interested or, you know, if there's a designated personnel are that -- that this is for, as opposed to those that are not, I don't know, but it's for a number of higher-ranking command staff members of the police department to brief them on the incident and the investigation.

And both Roy and Valdez -- we personally had contact with them -- they agreed with our findings. Not that they reviewed this e-mail, but we had conversations to the effect of what the e-mail says and they --

Q. Do you mean the report or --
A. No, the conclusions. The --

Q. Oh, the conclusions. Okay.
A. The conclusion --

Q. The conclusions?
A. -- of the investigation which are reflected in the e-mail which ended up in the report which, again, they are our conclusions.

Valdez and Roy both personally told us that they agreed with our conclusions, and they told us that, based on the two different briefings that they each conducted at executive management meetings, as far as they were aware, every -- as far as they were aware, everyone in the command staff was in agreement.

Q. And who's -- do you know who was in those command staff meetings?
A. I have no idea, but I do know that at least one of them included the superintendent.

Q. And so Valdez and Roy told you that they had conducted two separate command staff --

A. To my --

Q. -- briefings at command staff meetings?

A. To my understanding, there were two separate executive management meetings. One I know occurred within a few days of the incident, and the other one I'm -- I imagine happened not long after that. Maybe -- I don't know why, if there were some command staff members that weren't present -- weren't able to attend the first one.

But according to Roy and Valdez, in a short period of time after the incident, there were two separate executive management meetings where briefings were conducted on this investigation. One briefing was conducted by Roy, the other by Valdez, and both of them personally indicated to me, as well as Gallagher and Wojcik, that everyone in the command staff agreed with the findings of the investigation.

Q. Okay. And so those are -- those command staff meetings are likely occurring in October 2014 or November of 2014?
A. Correct.

Q. And according to Roy and -- what they told you, what Roy and Valdez told to you, the members -- or the participants in that command staff meeting were on board with your findings that ultimately were included in the Exhibit 5 CSR?

A. Correct.

Q. Do you know if around in March of 2015 when the settlement's coming, when Roy's giving his directive, if there were any further command staff meetings?

A. I do not know. I have no knowledge of that. But, again, at that point in time, I did have personal contact with Roy and Valdez, and both of them continued to indicate that they were in agreement with everything that the investigation concluded and that they were not aware of anyone in the Department expressing any opinions otherwise.

Q. To your knowledge, how many people reviewed the Exhibit 5 CSR before it received final approval?

A. I believe it was just myself,
Gallagher and Wojcik is the one that actually went in the computer and actually approved the report.

Q. Are you --
A. And then once he approved it, it had to be on Roy's desk the following Monday morning, and then I imagine it was disseminated to the other command staff members, whoever would need it.

Q. But prior to Lieutenant Wojcik's approval, you're not aware of anyone other than Sergeant Gallagher and Lieutenant Wojcik reviewing the CSR?
A. The final report?
Q. Yeah.
A. Correct.
Q. So you received these e-mails on a work e-mail account, correct --
A. Correct.
Q. Exhibits 14 and 15?
A. I'm assuming that's what this is.
Q. Did folks ever e-mail you regarding this case at your personal e-mail account?
A. No.
Q. Can someone -- do you even have a phone that someone could text you on at work?

MR. McKay: What are we talking about?

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Like you said you don't have -- do you have a work cell phone?

MR. McKay: He's already testified about his personal cell phone. That was several hours ago.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. So there's no way for you to get like an official work text on a phone?

A. What exactly do you mean by "official work texts"?

Q. All right, so like sometimes you use your personal phone for -- was that the nature of the testimony?

MR. Brown: Yeah, I think --

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. There's not like a City-issued phone that you could get texts on?

A. Correct.

Q. Okay. That's it. In the Exhibit 5 there's a statement on Page 22, third paragraph from the bottom, "Based upon all the facts known at this time" -- sorry, I'll let you...

"Based upon all the facts known at this time and the death of the only offender in this incident, this case is now exceptionally cleared closed/other exceptional clearance - death of offender."

What does it mean to close a case exceptionally cleared close/other exceptional clearance?

A. These are -- I believe these all go back to the uniform crime reporting requirements which basically come from the FBI to attempt to standardize crime reporting throughout the nation. So there are certain guidelines that have to be followed.

And once a criminal case is reported, there are certain dispositions that are approved by the FBI. A case -- anything short of a homicide, if the case is not going anywhere, it can't be closed if it's still an open investigation, so it's classified as suspended for the time pending any further developments.

Any other cases would be -- some of the other -- and, again, this is not an all-inclusive list because there are many, you could -- if you determine that no criminal activity occurred as a result of investigation, you can close it as a non-criminal incident.

You can clear a case, and there's several ways to clear a case. You can clear a case -- you can clear a case by arrest. You can clear the case by referral to juvenile court, and that means the offender has been identified and arrested or arrested and sent to juvenile court.

There is a classification cleared -- like closed, complainant refused to prosecute, but the Department has been getting away from using that classification.

There's a couple different parts to this status. There's cleared. Cleared means the offender's been identified and it's been taken as far as it can go.

Cleared closed means all offenders have been identified, all offenders are in custody and charged.

Cleared open is if you have multiple offenders. One is under arrest but not all of them, so the case is cleared, but it's not closed because there's still an offender we're looking for. Until all the offenders are in custody, then it can be closed.

Exceptional clearances are, as in this case, it's exceptionally cleared closed.
There is only one offender, and he is identified. The exceptional type is it's an other exceptional clearance because it can't be prosecuted because the offender is dead.

So in this case it's exceptionally because it's not cleared by an arrest or anything; it's an exceptional clearance. It's cleared because the investigation is complete.
It's closed because all the offenders are identified and it's run its course.

It's called other exceptional clearance, and the other exceptional clearance is there can be no prosecution because of the death of the offender.

So that's the explanation for that classification.

Q. With respect to that finding and also like the other findings in Exhibit 5 CSR, was there any disagreement in CPD regarding those findings that you are aware of?

A. Regarding which findings? I'm sorry.

Q. We can go -- I'll tell you what, we'll strike that. We'll go one at a time here.

There is -- I'll direct your attention to Page 19 of the Exhibit 5 CSR.

Fourth paragraph from the bottom starting with,
"The recovered in-car camera video."

MR. McKay: You mean the second paragraph from the bottom?

MR. Neumer: I'm looking at --

MR. McKay: You know what, my printed copy probably has a different format. Go ahead.

MR. Neumer: No problem.

MR. Brown: Do you need a copy?

MR. McKay: No. No. No.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Look at that paragraph. And now I'm going to direct you to the Notice of Allegations, which is on Page 1, Number 1, Subsection A, and then Roman numeral II.

So it is alleged that you failed to conduct a complete, thorough, properly documented, and professional investigation respecting RD Number HX475653. Specifically you failed to draft truthful, complete, and objective Case Supplementary Reports concerning the McDonald shooting, specifically the Case Supplementary Report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, the Exhibit 5 CSR, falsely stated that the in-car camera videos recovered from vehicles 813 Robert and 845 Robert were consistent with the accounts of all the witnesses to the McDonald shooting.

What is your response to that
allegation?

A. That allegation is false.

Q. I want to go through some of the various testimony in the Exhibit 5 CSR. So we can go to Page...

A. Just to expound a little bit, I believe that the video is consistent with the statements of the witnesses, that's why I stated that in the report.

Q. So I'm going to direct your attention to Page 10 of the Exhibit 5 CSR.
So in the second-to-last paragraph on Page 9, the two last sentences of that paragraph, Van Dyke stated, "Van Dyke ordered McDonald to drop the knife multiple times. McDonald ignored Van Dyke's verbal direction to drop the knife and continued to advance toward Van Dyke" --

A. I'm sorry, where are you?

Q. We are on the second-to-last paragraph on Page 9.

A. Okay.

Q. And then it is the last two sentences --

A. Okay.

Q. -- of that second-to-last paragraph.

So it begins, "Van Dyke ordered."

So the statement is, "Van Dyke ordered McDonald to drop the knife multiple times. McDonald ignored Van Dyke's verbal direction to drop the knife and continued to advance toward Van Dyke."

The question is, is Officer Van Dyke's statement that I just read to you consistent with the 813 Robert dash cam video?

A. Yes. If you look at the dash cam video, from the time Officer Van Dyke exits his vehicle until the time he fires his handgun, McDonald is walking southbound, and the distance between the two men is decreasing. So I found that consistent with Van Dyke saying what he did there.

Q. Okay.

A. There is no audio, so I can't comment as far as -- there's nothing inconsistent about Van Dyke saying, "Drop the knife" because we don't have audio to be inconsistent there.

Q. Continuing on --

A. Oh, and it says, "McDonald ignored Van Dyke's verbal direction to drop the knife and continued." Not only did he continue to advance, he never dropped the knife. So he did ignore the verbal direction to drop the knife and he continued to advance. You can see that because the distance is decreasing.

Q. Let's see, in the narrative summary in Exhibit 5, it says, quote -- and I'm now in the last paragraph -- "When McDonald got within 10 to 15 feet of Officer Van Dyke, McDonald looked toward Van Dyke. McDonald raised the knife across his chest and over his shoulder pointing knife at Van Dyke."

Is that statement attributed to Van Dyke consistent with the 813 Robert video?

A. Yes, just prior to Van Dyke firing his handgun, you can see McDonald, as he's walking southbound, turns to his left and he begins to bring his right arm up. And then the rest is -- the video you can't see his right arm anymore because it's obstructed by his body.

But I found the video to be consistent because in the video it is -- they are about the distance of one traffic lane -- which we estimated to be about ten feet wide -- that's the distance between the two men.

McDonald did look toward Van Dyke, he turned toward his left, squared his shoulders toward Van Dyke, and you can see in the video him begin to raise the knife with his right arm, and then the rest of the movement is blocked by his body.

Q. Can you see him pointing the knife at
Van Dyke?

A. Well, he's walking down the street in this direction (indicating) and turns to his right and begins to raise the knife. So it does look -- to me, it appears that he is raising the knife pointing it towards Van Dyke.

Q. And you were referring walking in a southbound direction; is that --

A. Correct.

Q. The next statement is, "Van Dyke believed McDonald was attacking Van Dyke with the knife and attempting to kill Van Dyke."

Do you feel that that statement is consistent with what is reflected in the 813 Robert dash cam video?

A. Yes. As I said, you see McDonald turn to his left towards Van Dyke and the right arm begin to raise until it's out of view. And then we -- from that particular video, you can't see the perspective of what Jason Van Dyke saw. So there's nothing inconsistent with what Van Dyke said.

Q. The next line, "In defense of his life, Van Dyke backpedaled and fired his handgun" at McDonald to stop the attack." Is that consistent with the 813 Robert dash cam video?

A. Yes, I believe it is. Just prior to firing the handgun, Jason Van Dyke takes a couple of steps forward and then he begins to fire the handgun. And then because of the -- I'm assuming it's the movement of the car that has the dash cam, Van Dyke goes out of frame so then we can't see what he's doing while he continues to fire his handgun. So, again, there's nothing inconsistent there.

Q. Because he might have backpedaled after he's out of the frame?

A. And, in fact, if you look at the Dunkin' Donuts video, it does look like there's movement from right to left of both officers, Van Dyke and Walsh, which I found to be consistent with them saying that they were backpedaling.

Q. The next statement, "McDonald fell to the ground but continued to move and continued to grasp the knife refusing to let go of it" -- and I should say is that -- when you made your -- your statement was that the testimony was consistent with the 845 Robert and 813 Robert -- the recovered in-car camera from beats 845 Robert and 813 Robert was viewed and to be consistent with the accounts of all the witnesses. Had you viewed the Dunkin' Donuts video at that time?

A. Yes, and I could have included that video and maybe should have included that video in that particular statement because there's nothing inconsistent in the Dunkin' Donuts video either.

Q. So --

A. And, as I just said, the Dunkin' Donuts video picks up some of the movement that is not included in the dash cam video.

Q. Let's see. So, again, the quote here is from the Exhibit 5 CSR Page 9, "McDonald fell to the ground but continued to move and continued to grasp the knife refusing to let go of it."

Is that statement consistent with the dash cam videos and the Dunkin' Donuts video?

A. Yes, I believe the dash cam video clearly shows that while Van Dyke is on the ground, he's continuing to move --

MR. McKAY: Van Dyke?

BY THE WITNESS:

A. Not Van Dyke. I'm sorry, McDonald.

While McDonald is on the ground, he continues to move. You can see his right hand. He continues to hold the knife and point it in the direction of Officer Van Dyke.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. The next statement, "Van Dyke continued to fire his weapon at McDonald as McDonald was on the ground as McDonald appeared to be attempting to get up, all the while continuing to point the knife at Van Dyke."

Is that statement consistent with the 813 Robert and 845 Robert and Dunkin' Donuts videos?

A. Yes, I believe it is. Again, like I said, he's moving -- McDonald is moving on the ground. You can see he still has the knife in his hand and he is still pointing it at Officer Van Dyke.

Q. Does he appear to be attempting to get up?
A. He's moving -- in the video -- I don't know that you can say conclusively. From Jason Van Dyke's perspective, he said it looked to him like he was getting up.

I didn't find anything in the video to be inconsistent with that, and that's why I decided -- I used that terminology that the video was consistent with what Van Dyke said.

Q. I want to move to Page 10 and 11, Officer Walsh's statement.

So if we look at the bottom paragraph on Page 10, the CSR states, "Officer Walsh also backed up attempting to maintain a safe distance between himself and McDonald."

Is that statement consistent with the 813, 845, and Dunkin' Donuts videos?

A. Yes, I believe it is.

Q. It says, "McDonald ignored the verbal direction given by both Walsh and Officer Van Dyke and continued to advance toward the officers."

Is that statement consistent with the 813 Robert, 845 Robert, and Dunkin' Donuts videos?
A. Yes. Again, as I said before, the video shows him continuing to move towards the officers. The distance between McDonald and the officers decreased. And, again, we don't have audio, but it's clear that he is holding the knife and never drops it as he's being ordered to.

Q. The next quote, "When McDonald got within 12 to 15 feet of the officers, he swung the knife toward the officers in an aggressive manner."

Is that statement attributed to Officer Walsh consistent with the 813 Robert, 845 Robert, and Dunkin' Donuts videos?

A. Yes, again, as I said before, just before the shots are -- before Van Dyke fires his weapon, you can see McDonald turning to his left, squaring his shoulders toward the officers, and you can see the right arm begin to come up before it's obstructed by his torso.

Q. Do you think it's fair to say that you can see on the video him swinging the knife towards the officers in an aggressive manner?

A. Again, that's Walsh's perspective, and we don't have specific video showing exactly what he saw, so, again, I don't see anything in the video we do have that's inconsistent with his perception.

Q. Do you see any -- is there video evidence that he does swing the knife towards the officers in an aggressive manner?

A. Again, as I said, we see him turn to the left -- again, we're talking about uniformed officers yelling -- shouting at him to drop the knife. He's not surrendering. He's not dropping the knife. Instead, he turns directly towards the officers and brings that right arm up. I don't think there's anything inconsistent in that video with what the officers are saying, and specifically Officer Walsh at this point.

MR. McKay: Can I ask a question, Mr. Neumer? There appears to be video equipment in this room. Are you going to show the video to Detective March to let him identify in the video why he believes it?

MR. Neumer: Do you want to do that?
MR. MCKAY: Well, ask Detective March if he wants to do that, if you don't mind.

MR. NEUMER: No.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Do you want to go through the video?

A. Sure. I'm going to take a quick break.

MR. NEUMER: We're off the record at 4:35 p.m.

(WHEREUPON, a recess was had.)

MR. NEUMER: The time is 4:46 p.m., and we're going back on the record.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Detective March, I'm now going to show you a portion of the video that was recovered from the in-car video system of the Beat 813R vehicle. This is one of the videos that OIG provided to you on April 7th, 2016 on DVD.

Kris has already opened up the VLC media file titled video_ts.ifo on his laptop.
The file contains six minutes and five seconds of footage. The video also has a time stamp on it indicating the date and time the video was recorded.

And we -- well, I would propose we advance the video several minutes in. Would you like to see the whole video, or are you okay with us moving the video forward to when the 813 Robert vehicle gets to the Burger King?

A. You mean like right here?

Q. Sure. Is there anything in the first 4 minutes and 17 seconds of the video that you think you would like to see as we look through this?

My questions are going to be focused primarily on the 20 seconds -- well, let's say 30 seconds surrounding the shooting, both before and after, but if there's anything else you'd like to see on the video that will help you provide answers to the questions I'm going to ask -- it's going to be pretty similar to the questions I was asking before. We're happy to let you view whatever portion of the video you'd like to see as many times as you'd like to see it.

A. This is fine.

MR. McKay: Let's start it right here then.
(VIDEO BEING PLAYED)

MR. McKay: Do you have the ability to stop at a moment's notice?

MR. Brown: Yes, just say the word.

MR. McKay: Dave will have to, but go ahead.

MR. Neumer: Let's pause it.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. My first question is with respect to Van Dyke's testimony in the CSR that McDonald ignored his verbal directions to drop the knife and continued to advance toward Van Dyke.

So I'm going to ask you to stop -- or direct Kris to stop the video at the point where you see McDonald advance toward Van Dyke.

A. What part of the statement are you referring to?

Q. So Van Dyke ignored -- McDonald ignored Van Dyke's -- so the second paragraph to the last, second paragraph from the bottom on Page 9, "McDonald ignored Van Dyke's verbal direction to drop the knife and continued to advance toward Van Dyke."

So I'm going to ask you to direct Kris to stop the video when you see McDonald advancing toward Van Dyke."

A. Well, I can tell you right now it's going to be the entire time from the time Van Dyke gets out of the vehicle until he fires his weapon.

During all that time, you will see -- McDonald, he's walking southeast initially, comes back to the center, walks out, goes a little southwest and then he turns -- generally he's going southbound the entire time on Pulaski, and right before Van Dyke shoots, fires his weapon, McDonald turns to his left.

But the entire time from the time Van Dyke gets out of his vehicle until the shots are fired, Van Dyke is walking in the direction -- southbound towards Van Dyke, and the distance between them is getting smaller.

Q. And so what we'll do is -- you can see right now on the screen is a time bar, and it says 4 minutes 28 seconds. And for our purposes, the time stamp on the video comes up intermittently. But if folks aren't opposed, we'll use that 4-minute-28-seconds time stamp to indicate the time frame we're talking about.
When it's five minutes, it will be five minutes and so on.

And so what I would ask you,
Detective March, is, understanding you've given us a preview of what you're going to be identifying on the video, if you could still direct Kris to stop the video when you see McDonald begin to advance toward Van Dyke and then we'll note the time on the -- that time bar on the bottom and then again when he has ceased to advance toward Van Dyke. Does that sound reasonable?

A. Okay.

Q. Okay. We'll start the video.

(VIDEO BEING PLAYED)

BY THE WITNESS:

A. Okay, stop. Now Van Dyke is getting out of his vehicle. And look where McDonald is.
Look at the distance between them.

MR. NEUMER: Okay. So Detective March has directed Kris to stop at 4 minutes and 39 seconds is the time that is visible on the time bar of the video. That's 4 minutes and 39 seconds out of 6 minutes and 6 seconds.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. If it's okay with you,
Detective March, I'm going to have Kris start the video, and what I want you to do is, tell me when he stops advancing toward Officer Van Dyke.
Does that sound reasonable?
A. Okay.
Q. We'll start the video.

(VIDEO BEING PLAYED)

BY THE WITNESS:
A. Stop. Like I said, right when the shots are fired. It --

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. So 4 minutes and 46 seconds on the time bar. The time stamp that is visible on the screen says October 20th, 2014, 9:57:36 p.m. So that's 9:57 and 36 seconds p.m.

Detective March, is it fair to say that that entire -- from your perspective, from 4:39 on that time bar to 4:46 on that time bar, McDonald was advancing toward Officer Van Dyke at all times?
A. Yes.
Q. Next we're going to back up the video a little bit. I don't think we need to go more than 10 seconds for my next question, but you correct me if you need to see more of the video to give us context.

My question relates to Van Dyke's statement in the bottom paragraph on Page 9 of Exhibit 5 CSR that, when McDonald got within 10 to 15 feet of him, he raised the knife across his chest and across his shoulder pointing the knife at Van Dyke.

I'm going to ask you to have Kris stop the video when you see McDonald raise the knife across his chest and over his shoulder and pointing the knife at Van Dyke. Does that sound reasonable?

A. Okay.

Q. Okay. We're going to...

(VIDEO BEING PLAYED)

BY THE WITNESS:

A. Stop. Now you see the right arm has come up in front of his body. Now he's going to continue to turn his body. You saw him begin to bring the right arm up, and now he's going to turn the body. Now the arm is in front of his body because he's bringing it around towards
Van Dyke.

MR. NEUMER: So the time is 4:45 on the VLC media player time bar. There is no time stamp visible on the screen. Based on the last question and the direction to stop. I think this is one second before the time stamp will appear 9:57 and 36 seconds, but, again, the important number is 4:45, which is when Detective March has directed us to stop the video.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Let's see. So the next question is,
Van Dyke states that he, in defense of his life, backpedaled and fired his handgun at McDonald to stop the attack.

So we're going to back up the video a little bit, and we're going to play the video.
And, again, I'm going to ask you to,
Detective March, direct Kris to stop the video when you see Officer Van Dyke backpedal.

A. So you know, we're not going to see him backpedal in this video because he goes out of frame. And it's because of the Dunkin' Donuts video that makes me believe that the videos are consistent with his statement that --

Q. So we'll have to watch the Dunkin' Donuts video. So we'll reserve that question because you're saying we're not going to see --

A. You're not going to see him backpedaling here.

Q. So the next question, Van Dyke stated that McDonald fell to the ground but continued to move, continued to grasp the knife refusing to let go of it. Van Dyke continued to fire his weapon at McDonald as McDonald was on the ground as McDonald appeared to be attempting to get up all the while continuing to point the knife at Van Dyke.

So now we're going to watch the video, and I want you to direct Kris to stop the video when you see McDonald appear to be attempting to get up -- or -- yes, that's when I want you to stop him.

A. Well, he's on the ground moving for a number of seconds.

Q. Okay.
A. During that time Van Dyke is firing, he's moving, Van Dyke's firing, and that's at the time when Van Dyke said it appeared to him that he's getting up.

Q. Okay.

A. My interpretation of the video is I don't have the perspective of Jason Van Dyke. From his perspective, he was moving and it looked to him like he was trying to get up. All I can see -- I don't have Jason Van Dyke's perspective, but I do see on the video we do have that McDonald was on the ground and did continue moving, and that could be consistent with what Jason Van Dyke perceived from his angle of view.

Q. So what we'll do is this: Why don't you tell me -- we'll have you stop when you see the first initial attempts to get up, and then what -- and then we'll continue the video until you believe he's no longer making attempts to get up. Is that reasonable?

A. Okay.

Q. So we'll start the video.

(VIDEO BEING PLAYED)
BY THE WITNESS:

A. Stop. He hit the ground and he's already -- his torso has moved from right to left already once right there.

Q. So we're at 4:49 on the VLC media time bar. The time stamp that appears on the screen is October 20th, 2014, 9:57:38.

So now I want you to identify when Laquan McDonald stops attempting to get up.

A. I might also point out to you, you see the car in the background there, how far away it is? That is the closest vehicle in traffic that could be a potential witness, and you see how far away it is.

Q. And that's -- can you tell if that's -- that's the northbound -- that vehicle is moving --

A. This is southbound. He's at the curb --

Q. Oh, that vehicle --

A. The one with the headlights is even further away.

Q. You're looking at the vehicle on the west side --
A. West curb facing southbound. The vehicle with the headlights coming towards us is even further back.

Q. And so now, again, I want you to -- you've identified when, from your perspective, Laquan McDonald made his first attempt to get up. And now I want you to identify when Laquan McDonald ceased to make attempts to get up. And if it's okay, we'll start the video.

(VIDEO BEING PLAYED)

BY THE WITNESS:

A. Stop. I think that's about the last movement.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. So we're at 4:57 on the VLC media player time bar. There's no time stamp visible on the screen.

A. Just for my information, what was the first time when we first stopped it?

MR. BROWN: 4:49.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. And so from your viewing of the video, Detective March, is it --

A. In my opinion, there's definitely movement on his part from what we do see. We don't have Jason Van Dyke's perspective, so when he says, I saw him moving, it looked to me like he was getting up, I don't see anything inconsistent here.

Q. So that was from 4:49 on the VLC media player to 4:57 on the VLC media player time bar; is that fair to say?

A. Yes.

Q. So we talked before about Officer Walsh backing up as McDonald approached him and Officer Van Dyke. Would you need to see the Dunkin' Donuts video with respect to that statement?

A. Yes.

Q. So, let's see, Walsh stated -- and again, this is on Page 10 -- that McDonald swung a knife toward him and Officer Van Dyke -- and I'm paraphrasing a little bit -- when he and -- when McDonald --

MR. McKay: What page, Counsel?

MR. Neumer: This is Page 10 -- sorry, actually, I think it's right at the bottom of Page 10 and top of Page 11.
BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. When McDonald got within 12 to 15 feet of the officers, he swung the knife toward the officers in an aggressive manner. Is it fair to say that this was the -- that you identified the time of this aggressive swing of the knife minutes prior? Right, was this -- was this the same --

MR. McKAY: Did you say minutes prior?

MR. NEUMER: Meaning minutes prior in this interview today.

MR. McKAY: Oh.

MR. NEUMER: Sorry. Bad question. Let me start over.

MR. McKAY: No apologies necessary.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. So earlier we asked you to identify when it was, from your perspective, when you saw Laquan McDonald raise the knife across his chest and over his shoulder pointing the knife at Van Dyke; is that correct? We did that just a couple moments ago?

A. Yes.

Q. Is that -- the time frame of this video that you identified, would that be the same time frame that you would identify with respect to Officer Walsh's statement that when he got to within 12 to 15 feet of the officers, he swung the knife towards the officers in an aggressive manner?

A. Yes.

Q. All right.

A. And, again, it's the same explanation. We see -- on this video that we do have, in my opinion, it shows Van Dyke turning to his left. You see the right arm begin to come up before it's obstructed by his body.
Again, we don't have Officer Walsh's perspective. He says it looked to him like he was swinging the knife towards the officers in an aggressive manner.

In this video, in my opinion, you see him begin to swing the knife towards the direction of the officers, and I don't think that's inconsistent with what Officer Walsh said.

Q. Okay. So now we'll pull up the Dunkin' Donuts video --
A. Can we -- can we --

Q. Sure. Sure.

A. I think there's -- see, and I think this is the problem with the entire situation, is that people want to concentrate on 15, 20 seconds of video and not the entire incident as it actually occurred. So I would like to go back --

MR. BROWN: You mean like a minute?

THE WITNESS: Before Van Dyke gets out of his car. As they're driving --

MR. BROWN: Still on Pulaski?

THE WITNESS: Yes, still on Pulaski. Just maybe 20 seconds earlier or whatever.

MR. McKAY: Play it there. Start there.

THE WITNESS: Yeah, this is fine. This is close. And if you wouldn't mind stopping it --

MR. BROWN: Sure.

(VIDEO BEING PLAYED)

BY THE WITNESS:

A. Can we stop it here.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. For the record, so we've stopped it at 4:35 on the VLC media player, and the time
A. I think it's important to be aware of all of the facts that are at play at this point, okay?

At this point in time, a civilian has called 911 to report someone who turns out to be Laquan McDonald breaking into trucks in a truck lot.

Subsequent to calling 911, Rudy Barillas, who is the complainant, confronts Laquan McDonald personally and tells him to get out of the lot.

Laquan McDonald doesn't respond verbally; instead, according to both Rudy Barillas and his wife, Yuli Garcia, who was also present to witness this, they say he quote/unquote growled at them, okay?

And that's when he first produces the knife, and he swings the knife at Rudy Barillas attempting to cut him. And Rudy Barillas has to step back and throw his cell phone at him in defense to keep himself from being injured.

So at this point, Laquan McDonald has committed burglary, attempt first degree murder or aggravated battery causing great bodily alarm. Burglary, once he confronts a person instead of just property, it become a robbery.
And because he's armed with a knife, it's an armed robbery.

So that's all before the police ever get on the scene all these things occur. And that's not -- that's not the police saying it; that's the citizen and his wife who initially called 911.

When the police respond to the call -- that's Officers Gaffney and McElligott -- they find Rudy Barillas and his wife, Yuli Garcia, in the truck lot. Barillas tells them what happened and tells him that he last saw the offender fleeing northbound on Kildare and then last saw him turn eastbound on 40th Street.

So now the Officers Gaffney and McElligott drive northbound on Kildare to 40th Street and turn right to go eastbound on 40th. And they see Laquan -- this is -- we're not talking about where we're at now. This is four blocks earlier, okay, where they were at.
It's an industrial area, it's almost 10:00 at night, the place is deserted.

All of the businesses are closed.

Rudy was finishing up for the day parking his truck in the lot, and then his wife was going to drive him home. So there's nobody around. Rudy told them what happened and gave them a basic description of who the offender was.

They turn the corner on 40th Street and Gaffney and McElligott observe only one person, Laquan McDonald, walking eastbound on the south side of 40th Street down the sidewalk. He's the only person there and he does, in fact, fit the description Rudy gave the officers.

Gaffney, who is driving their police vehicle, stopped the vehicle. McElligott got out of the vehicle. McElligott approached McDonald from the rear and said, Stop. McDonald ignores his verbal direction or command and continues walking eastbound.

McElligott noticed that McDonald's hands were in his pockets at the time, and he tells him, "Take your hands out of your pockets." Laquan McDonald takes his hand out of the pockets and McElligott notices he's got now -- he's holding a knife in his right hand.

McElligott draws his handgun for his own safety, and Gaffney in the police vehicle sees the same thing happen and sees that McDonald is armed with a knife. So he gets on the radio and tells the dispatcher -- which all of the other units in the 8th District hear this radio transmission -- We are following a guy.
Now he's armed with a knife.

Gaffney also asked the dispatcher for a unit equipped with a Taser. So all of this time the officers are attempting to use the minimal amount of force against Laquan McDonald.
They feel they have the time to do that because they're in a deserted industrial area where there's nobody at risk here.

The only people at risk are the officers. Gaffney is inside a police vehicle, so he has some protection and he's armed.
McElligott is on foot but he's staying a safe distance from McDonald and he's got his handgun out already just in case. But they have time to work with this, so they request a car with a Taser.

So they continue on eastbound on 40th Street. As I'm sure you've seen in the Food Depository video, it shows very clearly it happened exactly as the officers said. You see in the video from two different angles Laquan McDonald walking down the street completely ignoring the verbal direction he's being given by the officers.

McElligott is following him on foot at a safe distance. He's got a flashlight in one hand, you can see the brightness of the flashlight, and has his handgun in the other hand.

Gaffney is following along in the police vehicle. And the reason Gaffney stayed in the police vehicle all this time is, in case at some point McDonald decides to run, it's much easier to try to keep up with a runner when you're in a vehicle as opposed to running on foot after him and he gives you the opportunity to try to cut him off.

Gaffney follows in the vehicle, and he's got, you can see in the video, the spotlight from the squad car is on him, too, because these officers know they're dealing with a deadly threat here. They see he's armed with a knife and they want to make sure he's illuminated good and they see exactly what he's going to do.

So he continues eastbound down the sidewalk. At Karlov, now circumstances are changing. We're only a block away -- at Karlov, we're only a block away from Pulaski Road.

Gaffney knows at Pulaski and Karlov there's a Burger King restaurant. Along with that, all along Pulaski Road now you're dealing with a completely different environment. It's no longer an industrial area late at night that's deserted; it's a business street.

You can see -- and you saw prior to this in the video of the police vehicles responding, all of the traffic, the vehicular traffic that they drove past. There is a lot of traffic on the street at this time. We don't see it on the video here at this point, but I'm assuming there was probably some pedestrian traffic out there in the area, too, much more so and more likely than at 40th and Kildare.

So ideally Gaffney would like to stop this offender, this forcible felon armed with a deadly weapon before he gets to a more populated environment and more people are placed at risk. So Gaffney turns his police vehicle southbound onto Karlov and stops in the crosswalk attempting to block McDonald, thinking maybe we'll be able to take this guy into custody somehow, maybe he'll surrender.

When Gaffney turns his vehicle southbound and blocks the crosswalk, McDonald doesn't surrender, doesn't drop his knife; he takes the knife and immediately stabs the front tire -- right front tire of the police vehicle, attacking the police vehicle and thereby the police.

McElligott's in uniform, Gaffney is in uniform, the police vehicle is a marked vehicle. There's no doubt these gentlemen are police officers. Laquan McDonald doesn't think he's being mugged by two dudes in a car. These are police officers who numerous times have ordered him to stop and drop his knife. Instead of stopping and dropping his knife, he attacks the police vehicle.

Then after flattening the tire, he tries to walk around the front of the vehicle to continue on his way. Gaffney moves the vehicle up a little further to continue to block him.

At this, McDonald takes the knife and now he stabs the windshield. Doesn't do anything to the windshield, just puts a little scratch in the windshield, but, again, he's attacking a marked police vehicle occupied by a uniformed police officer. This tells you something about who the police are dealing with here.

He makes -- after stabbing the windshield, he gets around the front of the vehicle and continues eastbound down 40th Street. Gaffney gets on the radio and tells the dispatcher, "This guy just popped our tire"; meaning, he stabbed the tire.

That's when McDonald apparently heard the sirens of the responding -- the police units responding to Gaffney and McDonald's call for help because now he's in the McDonald -- he's entering the Burger King parking lot and two police vehicles now enter from the other direction off of Pulaski coming westbound in response to the officer's call for assistance.

Now, instead of walking, McDonald starts to run because now he's hearing the sirens, he's seeing more police vehicles, he realizes he's at risk of being captured at this point.

He runs eastbound through the parking lot. McElligott's on foot. He's chasing a 17-year-old kid; he ain't keeping up. Gaffney is in the car with a flat tire. He's reluctant to drive too aggressively. Doesn't want to do more damage to the vehicle. So at this point Walsh and Van Dyke are the first responding unit to arrive. They take over as the lead pursuit unit. They are now pursuing Laquan McDonald.

Seeing that they're now in a Burger
King parking lot where the Burger King is open, there's people around, Walsh placed -- as he's pursuing, he actually gets between McDonald and the Burger King restaurant to keep him from going into the restaurant and again putting civilians at risk. He's already attacked Rudy Barillas. He's attacked a police vehicle. If he goes into the restaurant, who knows what else he'll do.

McDonald runs past their vehicle out on Pulaski and turns southbound. Now this is where we picked this up now. You can see that this vehicle here is Walsh and Van Dyke. This is Officer Bacerra and Velez. They're coming northbound.

I don't know, I'm guessing that in responding to this call, their attention was more toward 40th Street, and I think they drove up closer than they would have liked to to the offender, and that's why, instead of jumping out and confronting him, they're like, Whoa, we're too close. So they actually drive past him to create some separation, and they're in the process of making a U-turn when the shots are fired.

But, anyway, this is Walsh driving. Van Dyke's the passenger. You just saw in the video -- we've all seen it already -- that the car slows. It's positioned -- this vehicle is blocking McDonald. The car was paused here positioned between McDonald and Dunkin' Donuts restaurant here on the other side of the street, again, to prevent him from heading towards a business that was occupied by civilians who would be put at risk if this guy enters the business.

You saw the right front door begin to open and then it closed. Again, consistent with the statements of Van Dyke and Walsh.

Now, what we're going to see, we're going to see Van Dyke -- Walsh drive the vehicle up ahead of McDonald to give them some distance to exit the vehicle safely before they have to confront McDonald.

But now you should take a really close look at Laquan McDonald from this point until the first shot is fired, okay? Shortly after -- when you start playing the video, you're going to see him hike up his pants.
You're going to see him motion with the knife (indicating).

I -- not to make fun or make this a humorous incident, but I refer to it as the "West Side Story" move, if you're familiar with the movie, where back then gangbangers fought with clubs and knives, not handguns like they do now. But you see him whip out the knife. And it's not because he's whipping the knife to the ground to surrender. He's whipping the knife out as if to indicate he's getting -- he knows there's a battle coming. And his intent is pretty clear here.

And if you take a quick look at the time that he does that really aggressive and exaggerated move with his knife, at that exact moment, you can see the door on the police vehicle opening. Jason Van Dyke is already getting out. So he sees that move. And when these officers are talking about aggressive moves, keep that in mind.

Then as he continues on, you can see the arm move again a couple more times like this (indicating). He's not holding the knife at his -- at his side here, he's not trying to get it back in his pocket; it's at the ready. And it's not just hanging, it's moving. It's moving.

And then right before Jason Van Dyke fires his first shot, you can see McDonald begins to turn to the left. His shoulders square towards the officers. He's no longer in -- he's no longer walking southbound or south westbound, or whatever direction you want to categorize it; he's now facing directly towards the officers.

And in the video, his arm begins -- ends up being blocked by his torso, but you can see the right arm holding that knife come up in this manner (indicating) as he's turning, which would point the knife directly at Walsh and Van Dyke.

There was something else I wanted to say at that point.

So at this point now, just before Jason Van Dyke fires his gun, we've got an offender who has committed multiple forcible felonies, some of which were directed directly against Rudy Barillas in the parking lot.
However you want to categorize his attack on the police vehicle, he used a deadly weapon to escape arrest and has, again, indicated that he is likely to cause death or great bodily harm unless he's apprehended quickly.

When he finally turns -- and you can see, when Walsh and Van Dyke first exit their vehicle, they both draw their guns right away because when they saw him in the Burger King parking lot, they saw the knife in his hand already. They know he's armed. They know what has happened before from the radio transmissions.

They know the call that Gaffney and McElligott originally responded to; they heard Gaffney's transmission that they're following this guy with the knife; they heard Gaffney's transmission that the guy attacked their police vehicle. So they know what they're dealing with here.

Finally, knowing all of this, seeing him heading -- walking -- and watch his movements before Van Dyke fires his shots. These are not the movements of a subject acting hesitantly, tentatively, thinking about surrendering or actually surrendering, dropping the knife and putting his hands up, don't shoot. These are the movements of a guy that's getting ready to do battle.

And then at the time when -- as I said, when Van Dyke and Walsh get out of their vehicle, they both have their guns drawn immediately, and they bring the weapons up and point them at Van Dyke -- at McDonald because they know he's a threat.

But even though he's a forcible felon who used the threat of death or great bodily harm to commit his forcible felonies, even though he's escaping by use of a deadly weapon, even though he's clearly indicated that he's likely to endanger life unless he's immediately apprehended, they don't shoot immediately; they still attempt to use minimum force to place him under arrest.

They get out. The mere presence of them at the scene, being two officers in uniform in a marked vehicle, that's considered a form of force. That's the lowest form of force the police use, just their presence. Sometimes that's enough to get people to comply with the law.

Not only that, they're giving him verbal direction. Both of the officers, Van Dyke and Walsh, are stating repeatedly, "Drop the knife. Drop the knife."

Not only does he not drop the knife, but he doesn't stop. He doesn't turn around and walk away from two guys standing there with handguns; he continues on his route southbound.

And then finally -- again, the officers don't fire at that time even though the argument could be made that deadly force was justified at that point. They're still trying to apprehend him with the -- using the least amount of force they can.

But, finally, when he turns towards them and begins to raise the knife towards him, at this point, Van Dyke says this -- in his mind he's thinking, This guy's attacking me. I can't wait any longer. I either have to take some action here to defend myself or he's going to cut me, he's going to stab me, he's going to kill me.

And that's why Van Dyke said he fired his gun --

Q. Maybe at this point we can go to the Dunkin' Donuts video --

A. Well, please play this through and watch his actions. This all needs to go on the record.

Watch -- from the time the video starts until the time he falls to the ground, watch his action and you decide for yourself, are those the actions of a not-threatening subject who is just walking down the street or dropping his knife and surrendering? I don't believe it is. I believe this is the actions of a -- of an armed offender who's got a deadly weapon in his hand and is ready to do harm to somebody.

Q. We're going to now play the video.

(VIDEO BEING PLAYED)

BY THE WITNESS:

A. Just watch. There's the hiking of the pants. There's the aggressive move with the knife. Now, the knife continues --

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. So we're at 4:41 is where we paused it. We've been watching for, I believe it was, six seconds, from 4:35 of the VLC media player to 4:41.

MR. McKAY: Can I just ask you something, Peter? As we continue the video, could you watch Mr. McDonald's feet where he gets to the lane divider, the dividing white lines, and when he gets there, he then walks straight down that dividing line. He is not crossing --

THE WITNESS: Instead of walking on an angle --

MR. McKAY: -- the fencing area on the west side; he is walking down the divider line, which -- you are asking if the video is consistent with him closing -- or getting closure to Walsh and Van Dyke. So, please, consider that. Thank you.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. So we're going to start the video again. It's 4:41 on the media player time right now. Go ahead.

(VIDEO BEING PLAYED)

BY THE WITNESS:

A. Okay. He's down.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. And we've stopped it at 4:48.
A. And one other point I'd like to make while the video is up here and fresh in our minds is that this incident has obviously gotten a lot of media coverage, and there's all kinds of people weighing in with their opinions over the last 18 months. And it's incredulous to me that people continue to refer to Laquan McDonald as walking away from the officers.

He's not walking away from the officers. As I said before, the distance is clearly decreasing. When astronomers see an asteroid or a meteor heading towards earth and they finally do their calculations and decide it's going to miss earth by only a million miles, they don't say it's moving away from earth. They always refer to that asteroid or meteor as coming towards earth but it's not going to be a direct strike because it's going to miss us by however many -- whatever the distance is. They don't say it's moving away from earth; it's still considered moving towards.

When the distance between two bodies or two subjects decreases, they're moving towards each other. They're not -- nobody is moving away from anybody when the distance decreases. That's my opinion.

I'm sorry, we can go to the Dunkin' Donuts video.

BY MR. BROWN:

Q. That's all right. Last quick statement would you say, though, Detective March, that the officers did make some movements towards McDonald?

A. I'm sure you're going to get to that.
I know that's one of the allegations about them moving. Of course the officers were moving towards McDonald. From the time they heard the call for assistance from Gaffney and McElligott they were moving toward McDonald, and their statements say that.

Their job was not to run away from McDonald; their job was to move toward McDonald and go and deal with the situation. That's what we pay our police department for. We don't pay them to move away from the problem.

When Rudy Barillas calls 911 and says there's a problem, he doesn't expect the police department to move away from the problem; he expects the police to come and move toward the problem.

So -- we'll get into that I'm sure in more specifics when you get to that allegation but --

BY MR. NEUMER:
Q. Tell you what, why don't we -- to expedite things, why don't we go through that allegation now and you'll have an opportunity to respond. And I'm going to -- Page 2 of the notification of allegations, Roman numeral VI.

It is alleged that the Case
Supplementary Report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, the Exhibit 5 CSR, contained the description of the McDonald shooting as captured by the in-car camera video recovered from vehicle 813 Robert but that description failed to note that Officer Van Dyke and Officer Walsh moved towards McDonald prior to the shooting.

I think that's on Page 19 -- I should have given you an opportunity -- yes, so it's on Page 19, fourth paragraph from the bottom.

MR. McKay: What allegation is this?
MR. NEUMER: This is Page 2, Roman numeral, I guess, IV. Sorry.

MR. McKAY: I thought you said six.

MR. NEUMER: I did. I got my Roman numerals confused.

BY THE WITNESS:

A. I have two issues with this allegation --

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Can I -- for the record, I'm going to restate it so everything is clean.

So it is alleged that the CSR you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, the [Exhibit 5] CSR contained a description of the McDonald shooting as captured by the in-car camera video recovered from Vehicle 813 Robert, but that description failed to note that Officer Van Dyke and Officer Walsh moved towards McDonald prior to the shooting.

Detective March, what is your response to that allegation?

A. Well, first of all, the allegation itself is absolutely false. First of all, I have -- take issue with its description. It's another misrepresentation of what is stated in the report. There is no description, there's not even an attempt to describe the video in the report.

The only -- I bring out one point in this paragraph about the video, and that is, at the very end of the report -- well, actually it's most of that paragraph is basically making one point, that it establishes -- the video establishes that McDonald and Van Dyke were approximately ten feet apart at the time Van Dyke fired his weapon.

That was the only point I was making in that whole analysis of the video because many years ago the chief of detectives at the time issued a directive that whenever possible, we should -- on police-shooting investigations, we should attempt, as best we can, to determine how far away the officer was from the subject when he fired his handgun.

Now, Walsh and Van Dyke, one said 10 to 15 feet; one said, I believe, 12 to 15 feet. Here we have the video showing they were the distance of one traffic lane apart when Van Dyke fired his weapon. And if you go out to the scene, you'll see that traffic lane is approximately 10 feet wide.

And there is no attempt here to describe all of the actions that are captured in this video. We have the actions of Van Dyke and Walsh in their vehicle; we have the actions of Bacerra and Velez in their police vehicle; we have the actions of Laquan McDonald; there's whatever civilian traffic.

I never would have attempted to describe everything that happens in this video, and any allegation that says I left something out is an error or a lie. False statement by omission is a false allegation because I never attempted to describe what is in this vehicle --

Q. But don't you --

A. -- I specifically -- I specifically made a request that the video be permanently retained by the police department because of the nature of this case. I specifically made a request for a copy of the video, which I received and then subsequently inventoried so that that video is a permanent copy of the file.
So any questions regarding that video can be addressed by the video and aren't subject to anybody's interpretation.

Q. But isn't that information material to the very heart of your investigation, the fact that they -- Officer Van Dyke and Officer Walsh moved towards McDonald prior to the shooting?

A. Again, my report does state both of the officers said in their statements that they were moving towards McDonald from the time they heard the call for assistance.

At first they were moving towards him in their police vehicle, and then they pursued him through the parking lot -- through the Burger King parking lot, they were getting closer to him. Out on the street, they got closer to him, and then they decided to go ahead of him.

They were approaching him the entire time -- the entire duration of this incident.

Q. But, I mean, in their --

A. And, again, it was their job to approach him. And any inference that the fact that they took a couple of steps toward McDonald somehow mitigates what McDonald did or doesn't justify what the officers did doesn't make any sense to me.

Yes, they took a couple of steps toward McDonald, but in the grand scheme of things of what this situation -- what this incident entailed, it's a very minor fact. And it's obvious -- you can see it in the video; I'm not hiding anything.

Q. I guess both Walsh and McDonald -- sorry, both Walsh and Van Dyke talk about backpedaling. And we're going to get into this, but in light of their statements that they're backpedaling, it seems that in the video there seems to be some indication they're moving toward McDonald. It's that discrepancy --

A. They did take a couple of steps forward, but that doesn't mean, as I said, when they're out of the frame of the dash cam video, which you can see is consistent in the Dunkin' Donuts video, it does look like after that they did backpedal.

Q. And we'll get to the Dunkin' Donuts video in just a moment. I'm now going to move to Page 2 of Notification of Allegations, Roman numeral V.

It is alleged that the CSR you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, the Exhibit 5 CSR contained a description of the McDonald shooting as captured by the in-car video recovered from Vehicle 813 Robert. That description failed to note that Officer Van Dyke continued to fire at McDonald after McDonald was on the ground.

What is your response to that allegation?

A. Again, that allegation is completely false for the reasons stated before. Just in summary, the report does not even attempt to contain a description of what the video shows, and, in fact, the report does say that McDonald -- that Van Dyke continued to fire at McDonald after McDonald was on the ground because during Van Dyke’s statement, during all of the officers who saw the -- the witness officers who saw Van Dyke fire his handgun, they all state that he continued to -- most of them,
I shouldn't say every one, but more than one -- I know Van Dyke said it, and other officers said it, too, that he continued to fire at McDonald while he was on the ground.

And my analysis of the video, I said the video was consistent with the witnesses' statements. So the report does say that Van Dyke continued to fire at McDonald once he was on the ground. So, again, this allegation's completely false.

Q. Page 1 of the Notification of Allegations, Roman numeral III, it is alleged the CSR you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, the Exhibit 5 CSR, contained a description of the McDonald shooting as captured by the in-car camera video recovered from vehicle 813 Robert. That description failed to note that McDonald changed the direction in which he was walking prior to the shooting. What is your response to that allegation?

A. Well, number one, again, the report does not attempt to describe -- to describe what's in the video from 813 Robert. So the description that I -- in the report can't fail to do anything because there is no attempt to have a description in there.

And the fact that he changed direction, from the time he entered Pulaski Road, he was changing direction many times. He walked first somewhat southeast to the center of Pulaski, then he came back and walked straight south for a little while, and then he walked southwest for a little while.

And then, finally, just before he turns towards Van Dyke to attack Van Dyke, you can see, as Mr. McKay pointed out, instead of his steps going -- continuing diagonally along the -- across the traffic lane in a somewhat southwest direction, all of the sudden his next step is directly south right along the hashed lane marker -- lane divider line.

So he changed direction a number of times during just that segment on Pulaski Road.
And, again, the description in the report doesn't fail to describe that because there's no attempt in the report to describe the video.
The video is allowed to speak for itself without the description of anyone's interpretation.

MR. NEUMER: So the time is 5:34. We're just going to go off the record for a moment.

(WHEREUPON, discussion was had off the record.)

MR. NEUMER: The time is 5:39 p.m. We're back on the record and all parties have agreed that we're going to postpone the completion of this interview until tomorrow. We're going to reconvene -- end for tonight, reconvene tomorrow, April 27th, at 1:00 p.m. where we will conclude the interview of Detective March.

Any objections to that plan from anybody here?

MR. McKAY: No objection. In fact, we want to continue this statement and comply with the direct order that Detective March is following. It's through no fault of either party that we're at this late hour, but our hope is that we complete this statement tomorrow afternoon.

MR. NEUMER: And the time is 5:40 p.m., and we will temporarily conclude the proceedings for today until tomorrow.
WHEREUPON, the interview was adjourned at 5:50 p.m. until April 27, 2016 at 1:00 p.m.)

AGE 17y  RACE BLACK  SEX MALE
DATE OF DEATH OCTOBER 20, 2014

DATE EXAMINED OCTOBER 21, 2014 (8:25am)  EXAMINED BY Denika Means, DO

Investigator Daniel Kobel with the City of Chicago Independent Police Review Authority is present for the autopsy.

EXTERNAL EXAMINATION

The body is identified by toe tag. Photographs and radiographs are taken.

When first viewed, the body is clad in a green hospital gown. A tan rubber band encircles the right wrist. Accompanying the body is a black, hooded, zip-up sweatshirt (cut), a black with white lettering sweatshirt, blue jeans, black boxers (cut), two black shoes and two black socks. No jewelry is present. All of the clothing is relinquished to a representative of the Chicago Police Department.

The body is that of a well-developed, well-nourished, black male whose appearance is compatible with the stated age of 17 years. As received, the body weighs 180 pounds and is 72 inches long. There is good preservation in the absence of embalming. The body is warm, rigor mortis is easily broken, and lividity is not apparent.

The black scalp hair is in dreadlocks up to 5 inches long. An average amount of body hair is in a normal male distribution. The irides are brown, the corneae are clear, and there are no petechiae of the bulbar or palpebral surfaces of the conjunctivae. The ears, nose and lips are unremarkable. The teeth are natural and in good condition with absence of the upper left central incisor. The neck and chest are symmetrical, and the abdomen is flat. The external genitalia, anus and perineum are unremarkable. The extremities are well developed and symmetrical. The back is straight.
IDENTIFYING MARKS AND SCARS

EVIDENCE OF THERAPY

An endotracheal tube is in the mouth. Intravascular lines are in the left groin and left antecubital fossa. An intraosseous line is in the left shin. A loosely sutured incision runs from the right midaxillary line to the left lateral back just inferior to the nipple line.

EVIDENCE OF INJURY

I. Multiple Gunshot Wounds:

There are 16 gunshot wounds, numbered 1 through 16 arbitrarily without regard to sequence or severity.

1. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE LEFT SCALP:

There is a gunshot graze wound of the left parietal scalp centered 1-1/2 inches from the top of the head and 1/2 inch anterior to the superior attachment of the pinna of the left ear. The gaping wound is 1-3/4 inches long and up to 1/4 inch deep, extending to the fascia overlying the skull. The wound has no marginal abrasion, soot, or stippling.

Associated with this wound, there is mild left temporoparietal subscapular hemorrhage. Thin subarachnoid hemorrhage overlies the left temporal and parietal lobes of the brain.

Directionality cannot be determined.

2. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE NECK:

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the left base of the neck located 11 inches from the top of the head and 2 inches left of anterior midline. The circular wound is 3/16 inch in diameter and has a circumferential dry red-brown marginal abrasion that measures up to 1/4 inch at 12 o'clock, 1/8 inch at 3 o'clock, 1/4 inch at 6 o'clock, and 3/16 inch at 9 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the left side of the neck, the bullet subsequently perforates the strap muscles of the left side of the neck, the trachea and the scalene muscles of the right side of the neck.

A moderately deformed, copper-jacketed, medium caliber bullet is recovered from the right supraspinatus muscle, at approximately 12 inches from the top of the head and approximately 5 inches right of anterior midline. The bullet is photographed, sealed within an appropriately labeled envelope and submitted to a representative of the Chicago Police Department.

Associated with this wound is hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the left upper chest located 12-1/4 inches from the top of the head and 5 inches left of anterior midline. The ovoid wound measures 1/2 x 1/2 inch and has a circumferential, dry, red-brown marginal abrasion that measures 1/16 inch at 12 o'clock, 1/8 inch at 3 o'clock, 1/16 inch at 6 o'clock and 1/8 inch at 9 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the left upper chest, the bullet subsequently perforates the left pectoralis muscles, the muscles of the left lateral back, the muscles of the posterior left upper arm and the subcutaneous tissue and skin of the left upper arm.

A gunshot wound of exit of the posterior left upper arm is located 4-3/4 inches from the top of the left shoulder and 3/4 inch lateral to the posterior midline of the left arm. The ovoid wound measures 5/16 x 3/16 inch and has a circumferential brown marginal abrasion that is less than 1/16 inch wide. There is no soot or stippling.
Associated with this wound is hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

4. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE RIGHT CHEST:

There is a gunshot wound of the right side of the chest located 15-1/8 inches from the top of the head and 1-1/4 inches right of anterior midline. The circular wound is 3/16 inch in diameter and has a circumferential, dry, brown marginal abrasion that measures 1/16 inch at 12 o'clock, 3/16 inch at 3 o'clock, 1/16 inch at 6 o'clock and 1/16 inch at 9 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

Associated with this wound is an anterior fracture of the right fourth rib and an approximately 40mL right hemothorax. There is hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the lateral left elbow located 12-3/4 inches from the top of the left shoulder and 1-1/4 inches lateral to the posterior midline of the left arm. The circular wound measures 5/16 of an inch and has a 1/16 inch dark circumferential marginal abrasion. There is no soot or stippling.

Associated with this wound is a 3/16 inch dark brown, abraded skin bridge that separates the entrance gunshot wound #5 (superior) from the entrance gunshot wound #10 (inferior). There is a fracture of the distal left humerus as well as hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

6. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE RIGHT UPPER ARM:

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the posterior right upper arm located 6-1/2 inches from the top of the right shoulder and along the posterior midline of the right arm. The circular wound is 3/16 inch in diameter and has a 1/16 inch dry, dark marginal abrasion extending from 1 o'clock to 11 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the posterior right upper arm, the bullet subsequently perforates the musculature of the right upper arm, the right humerus and the musculature, subcutaneous tissue and skin of the medial right upper arm.

There is a shored gunshot wound of exit of the medial right upper arm located 10-3/4 inches from the top of the right shoulder and along the medial midline of the right arm. The irregularly-shaped wound measures 7/16 x 5/16 inch and has a dry, dark circumferential marginal abrasion that measures 1/16 inch at 12 o'clock and 3 o'clock, 1/4 inch at 6 o'clock and 1/16 inch at 9 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.
Associated with this wound is an abraded 3/4 inch moist pink skin bridge that separates the entrance gunshot wound #6 (inferior) from the entrance gunshot wound #11 (superior). There is also a fracture of the right humerus and hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the dorsal left forearm located 19 inches from the top of the left shoulder and 1/2 inch medial to the posterior midline of the left arm. The ovoid wound measures 1/4 x 3/16 inch and has a circumferential dry dark marginal abrasion that measures 1/8 inch at 12 o'clock and 1/16 inch at 3, 6, and 9 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

A gunshot wound of exit of the medial left forearm is located 20-1/2 inches from the top of the left shoulder and 1/2 inch anterior to the medial midline of the left arm. The ovoid wound measures 5/16 x 1/4 inch and has an ellipse-shaped marginal abrasion that measures 1/4 inch at 12 o'clock, 3/16 inch at 3 o'clock and 6 o'clock and 1/8 inch at 9 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

Associated with this wound are fractures of the left radius and ulna. There is hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound tracks.

The direction is back to front, slightly right to left and slightly downward.

8. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE LATERAL RIGHT UPPER LEG:

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the lateral right upper leg located 35-9/16 inches from the top of the head and 1-3/4 inches right of the anterior midline of the right leg.
The circular wound measures 1/4 inch in diameter and has a less than 1/16 inch marginal abrasion extending from 5 o'clock to 6 o'clock. The margin is extensively lacerated and has a circumferential 1/16 inch purple contusion. There is no soot or stippling.

After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the lateral right upper leg, the bullet subsequently perforates the musculature of the right upper leg, the pelvic floor musculature and the musculature of the medial left upper leg.

Associated with this wound is hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

9. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE LEFT UPPER BACK:

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the left upper back located 11 inches from the top of the head and 4-1/2 inches left of posterior midline. The irregularly-shaped wound measures 9/16 x 5/16 inch and has an irregular, circumferential brown marginal abrasion that measures 1/4 inch at 12 o'clock, 1/16 inch at 3 o'clock, 1/8 inch at 6 o'clock and 3/16 inch at 9 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the left upper back, the bullet subsequently perforates the musculature of the left upper back and the subcutaneous tissue and skin of the left lateral back.

There is a gunshot wound of exit of the left lateral back located 17-1/4 inches from the top of the head and 3-1/2 inches posterior to the left midaxillary line. The irregularly-shaped wound measures 3/8 x 3/16 inch. There is no marginal abrasion, soot or stippling.
Associated with this wound is hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

The direction is right to left and downward with no significant forward or backwards deviation.

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the lateral left elbow which is located 13-1/16 inch from the top of the left shoulder and 1 inch lateral to the posterior midline of the left arm. The circular wound measures 3/16 inch in diameter and has a circumferential marginal abrasion that measures 1/8 inch at 12 o'clock and 3 o'clock and 1/16 inch at 6 o'clock and 9 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the lateral left elbow, the bullet subsequently perforates the musculature of the lateral left elbow, the left humerus and the musculature, subcutaneous tissue and skin of the medial left elbow.

There is a gunshot wound of exit of the medial left elbow located 14-1/2 inches from the top of the left shoulder and 3/4 inch medial to the posterior midline of the left arm. The irregularly-shaped wound measures 3/16 x 1/8 inch. It has a circumferential marginal abrasion that measures 1/4 inch at 12 o'clock, 3/16 inch at 3 o'clock, less than 1/16 inch at 6 o'clock and 3/16 inch at 9 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

Associated with this wound (as mentioned above) is a 3/16 inch dark brown, abraded skin bridge that separates the entrance gunshot wound #5 (superior) from the entrance gunshot wound #10 (inferior). There are fractures of the left humerus and ulna as well as hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

11. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE POSTERIOR RIGHT UPPER ARM:

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the posterior right upper arm located 5-3/4 inches from the top of the right shoulder and along the posterior midline of the right arm. The circular wound is 1/8 inch in diameter and has a 1/16 inch dry brown marginal abrasion extending from 7 o'clock to 2 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the posterior right upper arm, the bullet subsequently perforates the musculature of the posterior right upper arm and the musculature, subcutaneous tissue and skin of the right upper back.

There is a gunshot wound of exit of the right upper back located 15-1/2 inches from the top of the head and 2 inches posterior to the right midaxillary line. The irregularly-shaped wound measures 3/8 x 1/8 inch and has no marginal abrasion, soot or stippling.

Associated with this wound (as mentioned above) is a charred 3/4 inch moist pink skin bridge that separates the entrance gunshot wound #6 (inferior) from the entrance gunshot wound #11 (superior). There is hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

12. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE RIGHT ARM:

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the dorsal right forearm (superior) located 15-1/2 inches from the top of the right shoulder and 3/4 inch lateral to the posterior midline of the right arm. The ovoid-shaped wound measures 5/16 x 1/4 inch and has a dry, dark brown, circumferential marginal abrasion that measures 1/8 inch at 12 o'clock, 3/16 inch at 3 o'clock, 1/8 inch at 6 o'clock and 1/16 inch at 9 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the posterior right forearm, the bullet subsequently penetrates the musculature of the right upper arm.
A moderately deformed, copper-jacketed, medium caliber bullet is recovered from the anterior musculature of the right upper arm approximately 10 inches from the top of the right shoulder and approximately midline of the right upper arm. The bullet is photographed, sealed within an appropriately labeled envelope and submitted to a representative of the Chicago Police Department.

Associated with this wound is hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

The direction is back to front and upward with no significant lateral deviation.

13. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE RIGHT FOREARM:

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the dorsal right forearm (inferior) located 19-1/2 inches from the top of the right shoulder and along the posterior midline of the right arm. The ovoid-shaped wound measures 1/2 x 1/8 inch and has an irregular, dry, circumferential marginal abrasion that measures 1/8 inch at 12 o'clock, 1/16 inch at 3 o'clock, 1 inch at 6 o'clock, and 1/8 inch at 9 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the dorsum of the right forearm, the bullet penetrates the musculature of the right forearm.

A markedly deformed, large fragment of copper-jacketed bullet is recovered from the right forearm at approximately 17 inches from the top of the right shoulder and approximately posterior midline of the right arm. The projectile is photographed, sealed within an appropriately labeled envelope and submitted to a representative of the Chicago Police Department.

Associated with this wound are fractures of the right radius and ulna. There is hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

The direction is upward and slightly back to front with no significant lateral deviation.

14. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE RIGHT HAND:

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the dorsum of the right hand located 24 inches from the top of the right shoulder and
1/2 inch posterior to the lateral midline of the right arm. The slit-like wound measures 3/16 inch and has a moist red marginal abrasion from 3 o'clock to 11 o'clock that measures 5/16 of an inch at 3 o'clock, 1/4 inch at 6 o'clock, and 5/16 of an inch at 9 o'clock. There is a thin, circumferential rim of charred skin. Numerous irregular, dry, dark brown abrasions and apparent pseudo-stippling extend along the 5 o'clock to 11 o'clock margin up to 1 inch at 5 o'clock, 1-3/4 inch at 6 o'clock, 1-1/2 inch at 9 o'clock, and 1/2 at 11 o'clock. No definitive gunpowder residue is identified.

After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the dorsum of the right hand, the bullet penetrates the musculature of the right hand.

Two fragments of markedly deformed, copper-jacketed projectile are recovered from the dorsum of the right hand at a point approximately 23-1/2 inches from the top of the right shoulder and 1/4 inch posterior to the lateral midline of the right arm. The projectile fragments are photographed, sealed within an appropriately labeled envelope and submitted to a representative of the Chicago Police Department.

Associated with this wound is hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

The direction is slightly left to right and slightly upward with no significant forward or backward deviation.

15. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE RIGHT LOWER BACK:

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the right lower back located 28 inches from the top of the head and 1-7/8 inches right of posterior midline. The 3/16 x 1/8 inch ovoid wound has a circumferential, moist, pink marginal abrasion that measures 1/16 inch at 12 o'clock, 1/8 inch at 3 o'clock, 1/16 inch at 6 o'clock and 1/16 inch at 9 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the right lower back, the bullet subsequently perforates the sacrum, the abdominal cavity and the musculature of the left side of the abdomen.
A moderately deformed, copper-jacketed, medium caliber bullet is recovered from the soft tissue of the left abdominal wall approximately 25 inches from the top of the head and approximately 2 inches left of anterior midline. The bullet is photographed, sealed within an appropriately labeled envelope and submitted to a representative of the Chicago Police Department.

Associated with this wound is a fracture of the sacrum as well as hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

16. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE RIGHT UPPER LEG:

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the medial right upper leg located 42-1/2 inches from the top of the head and 1/2 inch posterior to the medial midline of the right leg. The ovoid wound measures 1/4 x 3/16 inch and has a dry red-brown marginal abrasion that extends from 7 o'clock to 3 o'clock. The abrasion measures 1/16 inch from 7 o'clock to 9 o'clock and less than 1/16 inch from 9 o'clock to 3 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the medial right upper leg, the bullet subsequently perforates the musculature of the right upper leg and the subcutaneous tissue and skin of the posterior right upper leg.

There is a gunshot wound of exit of the posterior right upper leg located 41-3/8 inches from the top of the head and along the posterior midline of the right leg. The irregularly-shaped wound measures 3/8 x 1/4 inch and has a 3/8 x 1/4 inch brown abrasion that extends along the 12 o'clock to 2 o'clock margin. There is no soot or stippling.

Associated with this wound is hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

The direction is left to right and front to back with no significant vertical deviation.
II. OTHER INJURIES:

There are clusters of dry red-brown abrasions on the right shoulder, right side of the chest and dorsum of the right wrist and hand. Scattered larger red-brown abrasions are on the abdomen.

III. OTHER ITEMS RECOVERED:

Tiny, white metal fragments of apparent projectile are recovered from between the maxillary teeth, the right upper arm and the decedent's clothing. These fragments are photographed, sealed within appropriately labeled envelopes and submitted to a representative of the Chicago Police Department.

These injuries, having been once described, will not be repeated.

EVIDENCE SUBMITTED

The following items are collected, sealed within appropriately labeled containers and submitted to a representative of the Chicago Police Department:

-Clothing
-Blood standard
-Projectiles

INTERNAL EXAMINATION

Body Cavities: See Evidence of Injury. The thoracic and abdominal organs are in their normal anatomic positions. There are no adhesions.

Head: See Evidence of Injury. The skull is unremarkable. The dura and dural sinuses are unremarkable. The leptomeninges are thin and delicate. The cerebral hemispheres are symmetrical with an unremarkable gyral pattern. The cranial nerves and blood vessels are unremarkable. Sections through the cerebral hemispheres, brainstem and cerebellum are unremarkable. There are no hemorrhages of the deep white matter or the basal ganglia. The cerebral ventricles contain no blood. The brain weighs 1325 grams. The spinal cord as viewed from the cranial cavity is unremarkable.
Neck: See Evidence of Injury. The hyoid bone is intact.

Cardiovascular System: The intimal surface of the abdominal aorta is free of significant atherosclerosis. The aorta and its major branches and the great veins are normally distributed. The pulmonary arteries contain no thromboemboli. The pericardium, epicardium and endocardium are smooth, glistening and unremarkable. The foramen ovale is closed. The coronary arterial system is normally formed and free of significant atherosclerosis. The atrial and ventricular septa are intact. The cardiac valves are unremarkable. The myocardium is dark red-brown and firm and there are no focal abnormalities. The heart weighs 360 grams.

Respiratory System: See Evidence of Injury. The oropharynx is unobstructed. The laryngeal mucosa is pink, smooth, and without petechiae. The pleural surfaces are smooth and glistening. The major bronchi are unremarkable. Sectioning of the lungs discloses a dark red, moderately congested parenchyma.

Hepatobiliary System: The liver is covered by a smooth glistening capsule. The parenchyma is dark red-brown and moderately congested. The liver weighs 1062 grams. The gallbladder contains approximately 10 mL of dark green-brown bile with no calculi.

Gastrointestinal System: The esophageal mucosa is gray, smooth, and unremarkable. The stomach contains approximately 20 mL of blood. There are no tablets or capsules. The gastric mucosa has normal rugal folds and is unremarkable. The small and large intestines are externally unremarkable. The appendix is present.

Genitourinary System: The left kidney is absent. The capsule of the right capsule strips with ease to reveal a smooth and slightly lobulated surface. The cortex is of normal thickness with well-demarcated corticomedullary junctions. The calyx, pelvis and ureter is unremarkable. The urinary bladder contains approximately 200 mL of clear yellow urine. The mucosa is gray, smooth, and unremarkable. The prostate gland is unremarkable externally.

Endocrine System: The thyroid and adrenal glands are unremarkable externally and upon sectioning.
Lymphoreticular System: The spleen is covered by a smooth, blue-gray intact capsule. The parenchyma is dark red and firm. The cervical, hilar, and peritoneal lymph nodes are unremarkable.

Musculoskeletal System: See Evidence of Injury. The clavicles, sternum and pelvis have no fractures.

FINDINGS

I. Gunshot wound of the left scalp (graze wound):
   A. Location: Left parietal scalp.
   B. Injuries: Mild subscalpular hemorrhage and thin subarachnoid hemorrhage.
   C. Direction: Indeterminate.
   D. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on skin).

II. Gunshot wound of the neck:
   A. Entrance: Left base of the neck.
   B. Path: Perforations of neck musculature and trachea.
   C. Recovery: Medium caliber bullet recovered from the right supraspinatus muscle.
   D. Direction: Left to right, slightly front to back and slightly downward.
   E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on skin).

III. Gunshot wound of the left chest:
   A. Entrance: Left upper chest.
   B. Path: Perforations of the musculature of the left chest, left lateral back and left upper arm.
   C. Exit: Posterior left upper arm.
   D. Direction: Front to back, right to left and downward.
   E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on skin).
IV. Gunshot wound of the right chest:

A. Entrance: Right side of the chest.
B. Path: Perforations of the musculature of the right chest, the right fourth rib and right fourth intercostal muscle, the right lung and the right sixth intercostal muscle.
C. Recovery: Markedly deformed bullet fragment recovered from the right latissimus dorsi muscle.
D. Direction: Front to back, left to right and slightly downward.
E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin).

V. Gunshot wound of the left elbow:

A. Entrance: Lateral left elbow.
B. Path: Perforations of the musculature of the left upper arm and the left humerus.
C. Exit: Medial left upper arm.
D. Direction: Left to right, back to front and slightly upward.
E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin).

VI. Gunshot wound of the right upper arm:

A. Entrance: Posterior right upper arm.
B. Path: Perforations of the musculature of the right upper arm and the right humerus.
C. Exit: Medial right upper arm.
D. Direction: Back to front, downward and slightly left to right.
E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin).
VII. Gunshot wound of the left forearm:

A. Entrance: Dorsal left forearm.
B. Path: Perforations of the musculature of the left forearm, the left radius and the left ulna.
C. Exit: Medial left forearm.
D. Direction: Back to front, slightly right to left and slightly downward.
E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin).

VIII. Gunshot wound of the lateral right upper leg:

A. Entrance: Lateral right upper leg.
B. Path: Perforations of the musculature of the right upper leg, the pelvic floor and the medial left upper leg.
C. Recovery: Medium caliber bullet recovered from the medial left upper leg.
D. Directions: Right to left, downward and slightly front to back.
E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin).

IX. Gunshot wound of the left upper back:

A. Entrance: Left upper back.
B. Path: Perforations of the musculature of the left back.
C. Exit: Left lateral back.
D. Direction: Right to left and downward with no significant deviation forwards or backwards.
E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin).

X. Gunshot wound of the left elbow:

A. Entrance: Lateral left elbow.
B. Path: Perforations of the musculature of the left elbow, the left humerus and the left ulna.
C. Exit: Medial left elbow.
D. Direction: Left to right and downward with no significant forward or backward deviation.
E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin).
XI. Gunshot wound of the right upper arm:

A. Entrance: Posterior right upper arm.
B. Path: Perforations of the musculature of the right upper arm and right upper back.
C. Exit: Right upper back.
D. Direction: Right to left, downward and slightly front to back.
E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin).

XII. Gunshot wound of the right arm:

A. Entrance: Dorsal right forearm.
B. Path: Perforation of the musculature of the right upper arm.
C. Recovery: Medium caliber bullet recovered from the musculature of the anterior right upper arm.
D. Direction: Back to front and upward with no significant lateral deviation.
E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin).

XIII. Gunshot wound of the right forearm:

A. Entrance: Dorsal right forearm.
B. Path: Perforations of the musculature of the right forearm.
C. Recovery: Large fragment of projectile recovered from the right forearm.
D. Direction: Upward and slightly back to front with no significant lateral deviation.
E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin).
XIV. Gunshot wound of the right hand:
   A. Entrance: Dorsum of the right hand.
   B. Path: Perforations of the musculature of the right hand.
   C. Recovery: Fragments of projectile recovered from the dorsum of the right hand.
   D. Direction: Slightly left to right and slightly upward with no significant deviation forward or backwards.
   E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin on the hand).

XV. Gunshot wound of the lower back:
   A. Entrance: Right lower back.
   B. Path: Perforations of the sacrum and left abdominal wall musculature.
   C. Recovery: Medium caliber bullet recovered from the soft tissue of the left abdominal wall.
   D. Direction: Back to front, right to left and upward.
   E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin).

XVI. Gunshot wound of the right upper leg:
   A. Entrance: Medial right upper leg.
   B. Path: Perforation of the musculature of the right upper leg.
   C. Exit: Posterior right upper leg.
   D. Direction: Left to right and front to back without significant vertical deviation.
   E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin).

XVII. Abrasions of the right shoulder, chest, abdomen hand and wrist.

XVIII. Small, probable projectile fragments recovered from the mouth, skin of the right upper arm and the clothing.

XIX. Post-mortem toxicology negative for benzoylcegonine, ethanol and opiates.

XX. Police-involved shooting.
OPINION

Based on the case history and autopsy findings, it is my opinion that LAQUAN MCDONALD, a 17-year-old black male, died as the result of multiple gunshot wounds.

MANNER OF DEATH: Homicide

Other than the above findings, examination of the specimen(s) submitted did not reveal any positive findings of toxicological significance by procedures outlined in the accompanying Analysis Summary.

Reference Comments:

1. Phencyclidine (Angel Dust; PCP; Sherm) - Cavity Blood:
   Phencyclidine (PCP) is a DEA Schedule II controlled dangerous hallucinogenic drug. There exists a dearth of pharmacokinetic data of PCP usage in humans; however, it has been reported that blood levels of phencyclidine ranged from 7 - 240 ng/mL (mean, 75 ng/mL) in individuals stopped for driving under the influence of drugs or for being intoxicated in public.

   Ataxia, agitation, combativeness, seizures, spasticity, coma and respiratory depression are associated with phencyclidine concentrations ranging from 90 - 220 ng/mL plasma.

   The physiological effects of PCP can be classified as low or high dose. In low doses, PCP can elicit visual disturbances, drowsiness, agitation, hallucinations, aggressiveness, increased pulse rate and blood pressure, bronchospasm, increased respiratory and hyperthermia high doses, PCP can elicit convulsions, opisthotonos, coma, arrhythmias, decreased blood pressure and respirations and rhabdomyolysis.

   There appears to be no relation between plasma levels of phencyclidine and degree of intoxication. Even so, death has been reported following the use of only 120 mg of phencyclidine. Blood concentrations in phencyclidine-related fatalities have been reported to range from 300 - 25000 ng/mL (mean, 5000 ng/mL).

Unless alternate arrangements are made by you, the remainder of the submitted specimens will be discarded one (1) year from the date of this report, and generated data will be discarded five (5) years from the date the analyses were performed.

Analysis Summary and Reporting Limits:

All of the following tests were performed for this case. For each test, the compounds listed were included in the scope. The Reporting Limit listed for each compound represents the lowest concentration of the compound that will be reported as being positive. If the compound is listed as None Detected, it is not present above the Reporting Limit. Please refer to the Positive Findings section of the report for those compounds that were identified as being present.

Sec. 7-7. Private person's use of force in resisting arrest. A person is not authorized to use force to resist an arrest which he knows is being made either by a peace officer or by a private person summoned and directed by a peace officer to make the arrest, even if he believes that the arrest is unlawful and the arrest in fact is unlawful. [Source: P.A. 86-1475.]
(720 ILCS 5/7-5) (from Ch. 38, par. 7-5)

Sec. 7-5. Peace officer's use of force in making arrest. (a) A peace officer, or any person whom he has summoned or directed to assist him, need not retreat or desist from efforts to make a lawful arrest because of resistance or threatened resistance to the arrest. He is justified in the use of any force which he reasonably believes to be necessary to effect the arrest and of any force which he reasonably believes to be necessary to defend himself or another from bodily harm while making the arrest. However, he is justified in using force likely to cause death or great bodily harm only when he reasonably believes that such force is necessary to prevent death or great bodily harm to himself or such other person, or when he reasonably believes both that:

1. Such force is necessary to prevent the arrest from being defeated by resistance or escape; and

2. The person to be arrested has committed or attempted a forcible felony which involves the infliction or threatened infliction of great bodily harm or is attempting to escape by use of a deadly weapon, or otherwise indicates that he will endanger human life or inflict great bodily harm unless arrested without delay.

(b) A peace officer making an arrest pursuant to an invalid warrant is justified in the use of any force which he would be justified in using if the warrant were valid, unless he knows that the warrant is invalid.

(720 ILCS 5/2-8) (from Ch. 38, par. 2-8)

Sec. 2-8. "Forcible felony". "Forcible felony" means treason, first degree murder, second degree murder, predatory criminal sexual assault of a child, aggravated criminal sexual assault, criminal sexual assault, robbery, burglary, residential burglary, aggravated arson, arson, aggravated kidnapping, kidnaping, aggravated battery resulting in great bodily harm or permanent disability or disfigurement and any other felony which involves the use or threat of physical force or violence against any individual.

THE USE OF FORCE MODEL

I. PURPOSE

This directive:
A. explains the Use of Force Model.
B. includes a graphic representation of the Use of Force Model.

II. DEPARTMENT POLICY

The Department utilizes a Use of Force Model to provide guidance on the appropriate amount of force to be used to effect a lawful purpose. The Use of Force Model employs the progressive and reasonable escalation and de-escalation of member-applied force in proportional response to the actions and level of resistance offered by a subject. Such response may progress from the member's actual presence at the scene to the application of deadly force.

A. The primary objective of the use of force is to ensure control of a subject with the reasonable force necessary based on the totality of the circumstances.
B. Whenever reasonable, members will exercise persuasion, advice, and warning prior to the use of physical force.
C. When force is applied, a member will escalate or de-escalate to the amount of force which is reasonably necessary to overcome the subject's resistance and to gain control.

1. Members are not required to start at the lowest levels of the Use of Force Model; they will select the appropriate level of force based on the subject's actions.
2. Members will modify their level of force in relation to the amount of resistance offered by the subject:
   a. As the subject offers less resistance, the member will lower the amount or type of force used.
   b. As the subject increases resistance, the member may increase the amount or type of force used.

III. USE OF FORCE MODEL

A. The Use of Force Model is a graphic representation of the guidelines for the appropriate use of force in relation to the actions of a subject.
B. The Use of Force Model utilized by the Chicago Police Department is pictured in Illustration No. 1.
C. The Use of Force Model is a guideline that cannot account for all factors constituting the "totality of circumstances" by which a specific use of force is evaluated. The Model is to be used only in conjunction with the Department directives and training regarding the use of force.

Illustration No. 1
I. PURPOSE

This directive:

A. sets forth Department policy regarding a sworn member's use of deadly force.
B. establishes guidelines controlling the use of deadly force by sworn members.

II. DEPARTMENT POLICY

A. A sworn member is justified in using force likely to cause death or great bodily harm only when he or she reasonably believes that such force is necessary:

1. to prevent death or great bodily harm to the sworn member or to another person, or:
2. to prevent an arrest from being defeated by resistance or escape and the sworn member reasonably believes that the person to be arrested:
   a. has committed or has attempted to commit a forcible felony which involves the infliction, threatened infliction, or threatened use of physical force likely to cause death or great bodily harm or;
   b. is attempting to escape by use of a deadly weapon or;
   c. otherwise indicates that he or she will endanger human life or inflict great bodily harm unless arrested without delay.

B. Sworn members who discharge a firearm will comply with the procedures detailed in the Department directive entitled "Firearms Discharge Incidents Involving Sworn Members."

III. DEPARTMENT PROHIBITIONS FOR USE OF DEADLY FORCE

Use of firearms in the following ways is prohibited:

A. Firing into crowds.
B. Firing warning shots.
C. Firing into buildings or through doors, windows, or other openings when the person lawfully fired at is not clearly visible.
D. Firing at a subject whose action is only a threat to the subject himself (e.g., attempted suicide).
E. Firing at or into a moving vehicle when the vehicle is the only force used against the sworn member or another person.

IV. AFFIRMATION OF PROTECTION OF LIFE POLICY

Sworn members will not unreasonably endanger themselves or another person to conform to the restrictions of this directive.
Glossary Terms:

1. Deadly Force (720 ILCS 5/7-8)
   - Deadly force is force which is likely to cause death or great bodily harm and includes:
     1. The firing of a firearm in the direction of the person to be arrested, even though no intent exists to kill or inflict great bodily harm; and
     2. The firing of a firearm at a vehicle in which the person to be arrested is riding.
   - A peace officer's discharge of a firearm using ammunition designed to disable or control an individual without creating the likelihood of death or great bodily harm (i.e., impact munitions) shall not be considered force likely to cause death or bodily harm.

2. Use of Force to Prevent Escape (720 ILCS 5/7-9)
   - A peace officer or other person who has an arrested person in custody is justified in the use of such force to prevent the escape of the arrested person from custody as he would be justified in using if he were arresting the person.

3. Forcible Felony (720 ILCS 5/2-8)
   - A forcible felony means any treason, first degree murder, second degree murder, predatory criminal sexual assault of a child, aggravated criminal sexual assault, criminal sexual assault, robbery, burglary, residential burglary, aggravated arson, arson, aggravated kidnapping, kidnapping, aggravated battery resulting in great bodily harm or permanent disability or disfigurement, and any other felony which involves the use or threat of physical force or violence against any individual.
This Chicago Police Department IR rap-sheet should not replace the use of the Illinois State Police statewide criminal history transcript, which may contain additional criminal history data and can be obtained by performing a CQR1 inquiry via your LEADS terminal.
Training Review

TASER X2 TRAINING

With all types of force options it is important to periodically review procedures and tactics to ensure safe and effective use. Below is a review of procedures for deploying a Taser X2 against a subject as an alternative force option.

Before deciding to deploy a Taser X2, the questions or criteria listed below should all be answered in the affirmative. If at any time the answer is no, stop and re-evaluate your decision to deploy.

According to Uniform and Property Order U04-02-04 II-D-3 A and B, there are two circumstances that must be present to deploy a taser:

1) The subject is an active resister or assailant.
2) You can safely approach the subject within 18 feet. The optimum range is 7-15 feet for effective probe spread, officer safety and accuracy.

Key Points

Is the environment appropriate for the use of a Taser?
- Consider potential secondary injuries from falling (on stairs, or an elevated height etc...).
- Check for flammable or combustible materials.

Is the Taser a REASONABLE force option based on the totality of the circumstance?
- Consider the severity of the crime, the threat level and the level of resistance.
- Refer to G03-02-02 "Force Options."
DEPLOYING THE TASER

1. Give a Warning
   - Warn others of the imminent deployment of the device by announcing “Taser! Taser! Do not fire.”

2. Target Area
   - The Taser’s point of impact for top probe while the bottom probe travels downward at a 65-degree angle. The bottom probe indicated the point of impact for the bottom probe on 18g and 25g cartridges only. Both probes must contact the subject to allow the electrical energy to flow. It is possible, aim at the subject’s back for the following reasons:
     - The surprise factor:
     - The back has higher muscle mass:
     - Targeting the subject’s back avoids inadvertent contact to the face.

3. Deploy the Taser
   - Each trigger pull will discharge a live cartridge and deliver current for 5 seconds. The X2 can be loaded with two (2) live cartridges.
   - If a suspect is held down for 5 seconds, the device will automatically stop, and the next live cartridge will be selected.
   - If the trigger is held down beyond 5 seconds, the current will continue until the trigger is released.

Remember to use MINIMAL FORCE to resolve the situation.
During the 5 Second Cycle

- Give verbal directions to the subject such as, "Put your hands behind your back!"
- Watch for a change in the subject's behavior and assess the Taser's effectiveness.
  - Check to see if both probes have a good contact
  - Check for an effective probe spread
  - Check to see if the probes are affecting high muscle mass

Remember, if you pull and quickly release the trigger, the device will deliver current for 5 seconds, automatically stop, and select the next live cartridge. If necessary, you may interrupt the cycle short of 5 seconds by placing the safety in the down (SAFE) position.

After the Initial 5 Second Cycle

A 5 second cycle offers a window of opportunity for the assisting officers to subdue and physically control the subject. You can touch the subject, but avoid touching the wires, probes, and the area between the probes.

Give the subject an opportunity to comply with your commands.

Assess the situation and if the subject is not under control, consider the following options:
- Press the ARC switch to deliver additional cycles
- Pull and release the trigger to deploy a second cartridge
- TRANSITION TO ANOTHER FORCE OPTION

Each trigger pull and press of the ARC switch must be accounted for and is recorded. The record includes the time and duration of each cycle.

Each trigger pull and press of the ARC switch is considered a use of force and must conform to the standard of REASONABLENESS.

SAFETY REMINDERS

- Never point at anything you don't intend to shoot.
- Keep the weapon safety switch in the down (SAFE) position and pointed in a safe direction.
- Never place finger on trigger unless firing is imminent.
- Laser light can cause eye damage if directed into eyes for prolonged periods of time.
- Probes shot in the eyes can cause serious damage.
- Never place hand in front of weapon, especially when changing the air cartridge.

Trigger ARC Switch
POST-DEPLOYMENT RESPONSIBILITIES

Upon gaining control of the subject, Department members will:

1) Notify OEMC

2) Request OEMC assign emergency medical personnel when:
   a. Taser probes were discharged and penetrated a subject's skin.
   b. Electrical current from the taser was applied to the subject's body.
   c. The subject appears to be in any sort of distress.

Officers must be aware that individuals exhibiting signs of extreme psychological stress will likely require medical attention.

Officers are advised to inform responding EMS personnel of the subject's actions and condition immediately prior to the Taser deployment.

3) Notify their supervisor, the station supervisor assigned to the district of occurrence and CPIC.

4) Prepare a Tactical Response Report. The serial number from the spent cartridge will be required to complete the TRR.

The Responding Supervisor will:

1) For deployment in a residence, request assignment of an ET. In an area other than a residence, indoors or outdoors, determine if an ET is required.

The ET will photograph the locations where the probes penetrated the subject and/or any other injuries incurred as a result of the taser deployment.

2) Inventory the discharged probes and used cartridges in the following manner:
   a. The probes will be detached from the wires and inserted, pointed ends first, back into the cartridge.
   b. The cartridge will be wrapped with tape to secure the probes inside.

3) Take control of the device, and deliver it to the station supervisor.

The Station Supervisor will:

1) Notify IPRA and ensure a log number is obtained. (Notify CPIC when IPRA is unavailable).

2) Download the deployment data and print out the data sheet. Only date of deployment is required.

3) Review and complete the TRR

4) Ensure the data sheet is attached to the TRR and a copy of the original case report.

The above actions are a summary of responsibilities after the field deployment of a Taser X2 device.

For a complete list of department investigative and reporting procedures, refer to Special Order S03-02-02 entitled "Other Weapon Discharge Incidents," section IV "Discharge of a Taser."
Sec. 12-2. Aggravated assault.
(a) Offense based on location of conduct. A person commits aggravated assault when he or she commits an assault against an individual who is on or about a public way, public property, a public place of accommodation or amusement, or a sports venue.
(b) Offense based on status of victim. A person commits aggravated assault when, in committing an assault, he or she knows the individual assaulted to be any of the following:
(1) A physically handicapped person or a person 60 years of age or older and the assault is without legal justification.
(2) A teacher or school employee upon school grounds or grounds adjacent to a school or in any part of a building used for school purposes.
(3) A park district employee upon park grounds or grounds adjacent to a park or in any part of a building used for park purposes.
(4) A peace officer, community policing volunteer, fireman, private security officer, emergency management worker, emergency medical technician, or utility worker:
   (i) performing his or her official duties;
   (ii) assaulted to prevent performance of his or her official duties; or
   (iii) assaulted in retaliation for performing his or her official duties.
(5) A correctional officer or probation officer:
   (i) performing his or her official duties;
   (ii) assaulted to prevent performance of his or her official duties; or
   (iii) assaulted in retaliation for performing his or her official duties.
(6) A correctional institution employee, a county juvenile detention center employee who provides direct and continuous supervision of residents of a juvenile detention center, including a county juvenile detention center employee who supervises recreational activity for residents of a juvenile detention center, or a Department of Human Services employee, Department of Human Services officer, or employee of a subcontractor of the Department of Human Services supervising or controlling sexually dangerous persons or sexually violent persons:
   (i) performing his or her official duties;
   (ii) assaulted to prevent performance of his or her official duties; or
   (iii) assaulted in retaliation for performing his or her official duties.
(7) An employee of the State of Illinois, a municipal corporation therein, or a political subdivision thereof, performing his or her official duties.
(8) A transit employee performing his or her official duties, or a transit passenger.
(9) A sports official or coach actively participating in any level of athletic competition within a sports venue, on an indoor playing field or outdoor playing field, or within the immediate vicinity of such a facility or field.

(10) A person authorized to serve process under Section 2-202 of the Code of Civil Procedure or a special process server appointed by the circuit court, while that individual is in the performance of his or her duties as a process server.

(c) Offense based on use of firearm, device, or motor vehicle. A person commits aggravated assault when, in committing an assault, he or she does any of the following:

(1) Uses a deadly weapon, an air rifle as defined in Section 24.8-0.1 of this Act, or any device manufactured and designed to be substantially similar in appearance to a firearm, other than by discharging a firearm.

(2) Discharges a firearm, other than from a motor vehicle.

(3) Discharges a firearm from a motor vehicle.

(4) Wears a hood, robe, or mask to conceal his or her identity.

(5) Knowingly and without lawful justification shines or flashes a laser gun sight or other laser device attached to a firearm, or used in concert with a firearm, so that the laser beam strikes near or in the immediate vicinity of any person.

(6) Uses a firearm, other than by discharging the firearm, against a peace officer, community policing volunteer, fireman, private security officer, emergency management worker, emergency medical technician, employee of a police department, employee of a sheriff's department, or traffic control municipal employee:

(i) performing his or her official duties;

(ii) assaulted to prevent performance of his or her official duties; or

(iii) assaulted in retaliation for performing his or her official duties.

(7) Without justification operates a motor vehicle in a manner which places a person, other than a person listed in subdivision (b)(4), in reasonable apprehension of being struck by the moving motor vehicle.

(8) Without justification operates a motor vehicle in a manner which places a person listed in subdivision (b)(4), in reasonable apprehension of being struck by the moving motor vehicle.

(9) Knowingly video or audio records the offense with the intent to disseminate the recording.

(d) Sentence. Aggravated assault as defined in subdivision (a), (b)(1), (b)(2), (b)(3), (b)(4), (b)(7), (b)(8), (b)(9), (c)(1), (c)(4), or (c)(9) is a Class A misdemeanor, except that aggravated assault as defined in subdivision (b)(4) and (b)(7) is a Class 4 felony if a Category I, Category II, or Category III weapon is used in the commission of the assault. Aggravated assault as defined in subdivision (b)(5), (b)(6), (b)(10), (c)(2), (c)(5), (c)(6), or (c)(7) is a Class 4 felony. Aggravated assault as defined in subdivision (c)(3) or (c)(8) is a Class 3 felony.

(e) For the purposes of this Section, "Category I weapon", "Category II weapon", and "Category III weapon" have the meanings ascribed to those terms in Section 33A-1 of this Code.
(Source: P.A. 98-385, eff. 1-1-14; 99-78, eff. 7-20-15.)
(720 ILCS 5/33A-1) (from Ch. 38, par. 33A-1)

Sec. 33A-1. Legislative intent and definitions.

(a) Legislative findings. The legislature finds and declares the following:

1. The use of a dangerous weapon in the commission of a felony offense poses a much greater threat to the public health, safety, and general welfare, than when a weapon is not used in the commission of the offense.

2. Further, the use of a firearm greatly facilitates the commission of a criminal offense because of the more lethal nature of a firearm and the greater perceived threat produced in those confronted by a person wielding a firearm. Unlike other dangerous weapons such as knives and clubs, the use of a firearm in the commission of a criminal felony offense significantly escalates the threat and the potential for bodily harm, and the greater range of the firearm increases the potential for harm to more persons. Not only are the victims and bystanders at greater risk when a firearm is used, but also the law enforcement officers whose duty is to confront and apprehend the armed suspect.

3. Current law does contain offenses involving the use or discharge of a gun toward or against a person, such as aggravated battery with a firearm, aggravated discharge of a firearm, and reckless discharge of a firearm; however, the General Assembly has legislated greater penalties for the commission of a felony while in possession of a firearm because it deems such acts as more serious.

(b) Legislative intent.

1. In order to deter the use of firearms in the commission of a felony offense, the General Assembly deems it appropriate for a greater penalty to be imposed when a firearm is used or discharged in the commission of an offense than the penalty imposed for using other types of weapons and for the penalty to increase on more serious offenses.

2. With the additional elements of the discharge of a firearm and great bodily harm inflicted by a firearm being added to armed violence and other serious felony offenses, it is the intent of the General Assembly to punish those elements more severely during commission of a felony offense than when those elements stand alone as the act of the offender.

3. It is the intent of the 91st General Assembly that should Public Act 88-680 be declared unconstitutional for a violation of Article 4, Section 8 of the 1970 Constitution of the State of Illinois, the amending changes made by Public Act 88-680 to Article 33A of the Criminal Code of 1961 and which are set forth as law in this amending Act of the 91st General Assembly are hereby reenacted by this amending Act of the 91st General Assembly.

(c) Definitions.

1. "Armed with a dangerous weapon". A person is considered armed with a dangerous weapon for purposes of this Article, when he or she carries on or about his or her person or is otherwise armed with a Category I, Category II, or Category III weapon.

(2) A Category I weapon is a handgun, sawed-off shotgun, sawed-off rifle, any other firearm small enough to be concealed upon the person, semiautomatic firearm, or machine gun. A Category II weapon is any other rifle, shotgun, spring gun, other firearm, stun gun or taser as defined in paragraph (a) of Section 24-1 of this Code, knife with a blade of at least 3 inches in length, dagger, dirk, switchblade knife, stiletto, axe, hatchet, or other deadly or dangerous weapon or instrument of like character. As used in this subsection (b) "semiautomatic firearm" means a repeating firearm that utilizes a portion of the energy of a firing cartridge to extract the fired cartridge case and chamber the next round and that requires a separate pull of the trigger to fire each cartridge.

(3) A Category III weapon is a bludgeon, black-jack, slungshot, sand-bag, sand-club, metal knuckles, billy, or other dangerous weapon of like character.

Officers should take note of the “Revolver Knife” and remain cognizant of its threat to personal safety.

If an officer recovers any such weapon, they are asked to notify CPIC.
On Monday, 20 October 2016, at 9:47 pm, civilian Rudy BARILLAS, called 9-1-1 to report that a person, now known as Laquan MCDONALD, was breaking into the trucks parked in the trucking lot at West 41st Street and South Kildare Avenue. After calling 9-1-1, BARILLAS confronted MCDONALD and told him to leave the lot. According to both BARILLAS and [redacted] who was also present in the lot, MCDONALD "growled" at BARILLAS. MCDONALD then produced a knife and swung the knife at BARILLAS, attempting to cut him. BARILLAS threw his cellular telephone at MCDONALD, who then fled the lot on foot.

Chicago Police Officers Thomas GAFFNEY and Joseph MCELLIGOTT, were assigned to respond to BARILLAS' call. The officers were both in uniform and were driving a marked police vehicle. When they arrived at the lot, BARILLAS told them what had occurred. BARILLAS gave the officers a description of MCDONALD and told them MCDONALD had fled north on Kildare, then east on West 40th Street.

The officers located MCDONALD walking eastbound on the sidewalk, on the south side of 40th Street, from Kildare. Officer MCELLIGOTT exited the police vehicle and approached MCDONALD on foot. MCELLIGOTT called to MCDONALD and told him to stop. MCDONALD ignored MCELLIGOTT and continued walking eastbound. MCDONALD's hands were in his pockets so MCELLIGOTT told MCDONALD to take his hands out of his pockets. MCDONALD took his hands out of his pockets revealing that he was holding a knife in his right hand. MCELLIGOTT repeatedly ordered MCDONALD to drop the knife but he ignored MCELLIGOTT's directions. As MCDONALD reached South Keeler Avenue, Officer GAFFNEY notified the radio dispatcher that they were following a subject who was armed with a knife, and requested assistance from a unit equipped with a taser.

The officers continued to follow MCDONALD, eastbound on the sidewalk from Keeler Avenue. As MCDONALD approached South Karlov Avenue, Officer GAFFNEY turned his police vehicle southbound onto Karlov and stopped, blocking the crosswalk. The area where this incident began was industrial in nature, and at that time of day, almost 10:00 pm, it was deserted. All of the businesses were closed and there was no vehicular or pedestrian traffic. As MCDONALD continued to walk eastbound however, he was approaching South Pulaski Road, a business street where more civilians were present, both in vehicles and as pedestrians, and occupying the businesses on Pulaski. Officer GAFFNEY wanted to stop MCDONALD before he reached this more populated area and put more people at risk for injury. When GAFFNEY stopped his vehicle in the crosswalk, blocking MCDONALD's path, MCDONALD stabbed the right front tire of the vehicle with his knife, causing the tire to go flat. GAFFNEY immediately informed the radio dispatcher that MCDONALD had attacked the marked police vehicle, and had "popped" the tire with the knife. MCDONALD attempted to walk around the front of the police vehicle and GAFFNEY drove the vehicle forward a short distance to continue to block MCDONALD. At this point MCDONALD stabbed at the windshield of the marked police vehicle, striking it with the knife. He then was able to get around the vehicle and continued eastbound on the sidewalk from Karlov.

At 40th Street and Pulaski Road, on the southwest corner, was a Burger King restaurant with a large parking lot. As assisting police units approached westbound on 40th Street from Pulaski, MCDONALD ran eastbound through the parking lot, on the north side of the Burger King restaurant building. In the restaurant parking lot Chicago Police Officers Joseph WALSH and Jason VAN DYKE were in the first responding assist unit. They took over the pursuit of MCDONALD through the parking lot. These officers were also in uniform and driving a marked police vehicle. WALSH, who was driving their vehicle, positioned the vehicle between MCDONALD and the restaurant building, to keep MCDONALD from entering the restaurant.

MCDONALD ran through the parking lot and out onto Pulaski Road. He turned southbound and began to walk in the southbound lanes of the street. Officer WALSH pursued MCDONALD with the police vehicle. As MCDONALD continued southbound, WALSH positioned his vehicle between MCDONALD and a Dunkin' Donuts restaurant, on the east side of Pulaski Road. When the police vehicle was alongside MCDONALD, Officer VAN DYKE opened his door to exit the vehicle and confront MCDONALD. WALSH, realizing they were too close to MCDONALD to safely exit the vehicle, told VAN DYKE to wait until they were further ahead of MCDONALD.

Officers WALSH and VAN DYKE drove further south on Pulaski and stopped the police vehicle ahead of MCDONALD. WALSH and VAN DYKE both exited their vehicle and drew their handguns. The officers stood in the street facing northbound, toward MCDONALD. Both officers were in uniform, standing next to their marked police vehicle. As MCDONALD approached southbound, he was holding the knife in his right hand, in an underhand grip, with the blade pointed forward. As he walked toward the officers he swung the knife in an aggressive, exaggerated manner. Both officers ordered him to drop the knife multiple times. MCDONALD ignored these directions and continued to advance toward the officers, with the distance between MCDONALD and the officers decreasing.

When MCDONALD got to within 10 to 15 feet of the officers, he looked toward the officers, squaring his shoulders in their direction. He raised the knife, pointing it at the officers. Officer VAN DYKE, believing MCDONALD was attacking VAN DYKE with the knife, attempting to kill VAN DYKE, fired his handgun in defense of his life, to stop the attack. MCDONALD fell to the ground but continued to move, and continued to grasp the knife, refusing to let go of it. VAN DYKE continued to fire his weapon at MCDONALD as MCDONALD was on the ground, as VAN DYKE thought MCDONALD was attempting to get up, all the while continuing to point the knife at VAN DYKE. VAN DYKE fired his pistol until the slide of the weapon locked in the rearward position, indicating the weapon was empty. VAN DYKE immediately reloaded his weapon with a new magazine and assessed the situation.

MCDONALD was no longer moving and the threat had been mitigated, so the officers approached MCDONALD. MCDONALD was still holding the knife in his right hand and both officers continued to order him to drop the knife. Finally Officer WALSH was able to approach MCDONALD and forcibly kick the knife out of his hand. An ambulance was then requested for MCDONALD. He was transported to Mount Sinai Hospital and subsequently expired from his wounds.

During the course of this investigation a canvass was conducted of the area near the scene for witnesses to this incident including the Burger King restaurant and the Dunkin' Donuts restaurant.

Relevant video recordings were recovered from the in-car video systems of two of the Chicago Police Department vehicles involved in this incident, the Dunkin' Donuts restaurant and the Greater Chicago Food Depository. All of these videos were in my opinion, consistent with the statements of the witnesses in this case.
Additional video was recovered from other sources, including the Burger King restaurant. These video recordings did not contain any video footage relevant to this investigation.

It should be noted that five police units had responded to this incident by the time Officer VAN DYKE fired his handgun at Laquan MCDONALD. Each of these units contained two officers. All five police vehicles were marked vehicles and all ten police officers at or near the scene were in uniform. There can be no doubt that MCDONALD knew the personnel he was interacting with were Chicago Police Officers. Multiple officers issued verbal directions multiple times for MCDONALD to drop the knife with which he was armed. At anytime MCDONALD could have chosen to follow the lawful directions of the officers to drop the knife and this incident would have ended with no harm to anyone involved.

Some relevant state law needs to be cited to understand the findings of this investigation:

  A person is not authorized to use force to resist an arrest which he knows is being made either by a peace officer or by a private person summoned and directed by a peace officer to make the arrest, even if he believes that the arrest is unlawful and the arrest in fact is unlawful."

- "720 ILCS 5/7-5. Peace officer's use of force in making arrest.
  (a) A peace officer, or any person whom he has summoned or directed to assist him, need not retreat or desist from efforts to make a lawful arrest because of resistance or threatened resistance to the arrest. He is justified in the use of any force which he reasonably believes to be necessary to effect the arrest and of any force which he reasonably believes to be necessary to defend himself or another from bodily harm while making the arrest. However, he is justified in using force likely to cause death or great bodily harm only when he reasonably believes that such force is necessary to prevent death or great bodily harm to himself or such other person, or when he reasonably believes both that:
    (1) Such force is necessary to prevent the arrest from being defeated by resistance or escape; and
    (2) The person to be arrested has committed or attempted a forcible felony which involves the infliction or threatened infliction of great bodily harm or is attempting to escape by use of a deadly weapon, or otherwise indicates that he will endanger human life or inflict great bodily harm unless arrested without delay."

- "720 ILCS 5/2-8. "Forcible felony".
  "Forcible felony" means treason, first degree murder, second degree murder, predatory criminal sexual assault of a child, aggravated criminal sexual assault, criminal sexual assault, robbery, burglary, residential burglary, aggravated arson, arson, aggravated kidnapping, kidnapping, aggravated battery resulting in great bodily harm or permanent disability or disfigurement and any other felony which involves the use or threat of physical force or violence against any individual."

Laquan MCDONALD was committing a burglary in the trucking lot when he was confronted by Rudy BARILLAS. When he produced a knife and attacked BARILLAS with the knife, he attempted to commit first degree murder or aggravated battery resulting in great bodily harm, and armed robbery, all of which are forcible felonies. As stated in the previously cited state statutes, Laquan MCDONALD had absolutely no authority or right to resist being arrested by people he knew to be peace officers. When he ignored the verbal directions of Officer
MCCELLIGOTT to stop, and drop the knife he held in his hand as he walked away from MCELLIGOTT, MCDONALD became an offender who had attempted to commit a forcible felony which involved the infliction or threatened infliction of great bodily harm, attempting to escape arrest by the use of a deadly weapon, after having already indicated he would endanger human life or inflict great bodily harm unless arrested without delay. Under these circumstances, I believe Illinois law permitted the use of deadly force by the officers attempting to arrest MCDONALD.

MCDONALD continued to attempt to escape arrest by the use of a deadly weapon when he attacked the police vehicle occupied by Officer GAFFNEY, again using a deadly weapon, further indicating he would endanger human life or inflict great bodily harm unless arrested without delay. Again, under these circumstances, I believe the law permitted the use of deadly force by the officers attempting to arrest MCDONALD.

When Officer VAN DYKE finally confronted MCDONALD on Pulaski Road, VAN DYKE was aware of these previous circumstances from the transmissions he monitored on the police radio. By law, VAN DYKE was justified in using deadly force to effect the arrest of MCDONALD as soon as VAN DYKE exited his police vehicle. However, VAN DYKE instead attempted to arrest MCDONALD without using deadly force, by first drawing his handgun and verbally directing MCDONALD to drop the knife. MCDONALD ignored these directions and continued to advance toward VAN DYKE, with the distance between MCDONALD and VAN DYKE decreasing. It was not until MCDONALD turned directly toward VAN DYKE, squaring his shoulders toward the officer, and raised his knife, pointing it at VAN DYKE, that VAN DYKE, in defense of his life, used deadly force to prevent death or great bodily harm to himself.

The Chicago Police Department policy on the use of force is the other authority in this matter.

General Order G03-02-01, entitled “The Use of Force Model” states:

“The Department utilizes a Use of Force Model to provide guidance on the appropriate amount of force to be used to effect a lawful purpose. The Use of Force Model employs the progressive and reasonable escalation and de-escalation of member-applied force in proportional response to the actions and level of resistance offered by a subject. Such response may progress from the member’s actual presence at the scene to the application of deadly force.” ...

This directive also states, “Members are not required to start at the lowest levels of the Use of Force Model; they will select the appropriate level of force based on the subject’s actions.” ...

“The Use of Force Model is a graphic representation of the guidelines for the appropriate use of force in relation to the actions of a subject.” ...

The Use of Force Model graphic basically shows a proportional use of force response to the actions of a subject. It shows that insufficient force used by a Department member will result in “Probable Ineffective Control”, while too much force used by a Department member will result in “Probable Excessive Control”. In the Use of Force Model graphic, for an “Assailant”, whose actions will likely cause death or serious physical injury”, such as Laquan MCDONALD, in this incident, all force options are available to an officer. However, the graphic shows that “Firearms and Other Lethal Force” are most likely to be effective. The graphic shows very little chance of “Probable Excessive Control” against this type of assailant.
General Order G03-02-03 entitled “Deadly Force” states:

"II DEPARTMENT POLICY

A. A sworn member is justified in using force likely to cause death or great bodily harm only when he or she reasonably believes such force is necessary:

1. to prevent death or great bodily harm to the sworn member or to another person, or:

2. to prevent an arrest from being defeated by resistance or escape and the sworn member reasonably believes that the person to be arrested:

   a. has committed or has attempted to commit a forcible felony which involves the infliction, threatened infliction, or threatened use of physical force likely to cause death or great bodily harm or;

   b. is attempting to escape by use of a deadly weapon or;

   c. otherwise indicates that he or she will endanger human life or inflict great bodily harm unless arrested without delay."

This department policy mirrors the applicable state law cited previously.

During the course of this investigation, a number of facts were learned about Laquan MCDONALD. First, he had an extensive criminal history with the Chicago Police Department. At the age of 17 he had been arrested 26 times. Charges for these arrests included Aggravated Battery to a Peace Officer, Resisting Arrest, Battery, Assault, Reckless Conduct, Possession of a Controlled Substance and Possession of Cannabis.

Second, MCDONALD had a history of mental health issues. When notified of MCDONALD’s death, his uncle informed detectives that MCDONALD had been prescribed medication but had stopped taking it because he did not like the side effects. There were two documented incidents where MCDONALD had exhibited behavior problems while at school, became violent and school officials called the police. In both of these incidents he was transported to Hartgrove Hospital for evaluation and treatment.

Third, the results of the toxicological examination conducted during the autopsy of MCDONALD revealed the presence of Phencyclidine, or PCP, in his blood.

We will never know what motivated the actions of Laquan MCDONALD during this incident. Whether he was a violent criminal intent on not being apprehended, whether he was in the midst of a mental health crisis, whether he was under the influence of a mind altering drug or any combination of the three. In any case, in the situation the police officers encountered dealing with MCDONALD, he was never contained and never communicated with anyone he encountered. Under such circumstances the subject’s motivation is a moot point. A violent criminal, a person in the midst of a mental health crisis and a person under the influence of any substance, armed with a deadly weapon, are all equally dangerous, and deadly, to both the police and the civilian population.

Some talk about de-escalation techniques as an alternative to deadly force. I am a member of the Department's Crisis / Hostage Negotiation Team. I have received training from the Federal Bureau of Investigation and have attended the Department's Crisis Intervention Team (CIT) training. In order to have any chance at successfully using any de-escalation techniques to resolve a situation, whether it involves a violent criminal, person with a mental health history in crisis or a person under the influence of any substance, first, the person and the situation must be contained and second, there must be communication.

In this incident, Laquan MCDONALD was never contained as he continued to walk down the street during the entire incident, able to attack anyone at anytime. He also never communicated with anyone, from his first contact with Rudy BARILLAS through his contact with multiple police officers.

I do not believe anyone knows more about what happened in this incident than I do. I was at the scene shortly after it occurred and have personally spoken to all of the police officers involved. As the primary detective assigned to this investigation I was aware of all of the actions taken during this investigation, and personally in contact with all personnel participating in these actions.

Many people have commented on this incident in the time since it occurred. I have been asked a number of times if I knew that night, at the scene, if this shooting incident was going to be a problem. My response has always been that the actions of all of the police officers involved in this incident were absolutely proper. To this day I believe this to be true.

There are two issues at the heart of this matter. The first is the use of deadly force by Officer Jason VAN DYKE. For the reasons previously stated I believe, and continue to believe that his use of deadly force was permitted by Illinois law and Chicago Police Department policy.

The second is the number of shots. As soon as most people hear that a 17 year old offender, armed with a knife was shot 16 times, their first instinct might be to think this excessive. Without knowing and understanding all of the specific details of this particular incident, this is understandable. One needs to consider the "totality of the circumstances", as the law refers to it, to make an informed, educated and intelligent conclusion.

There will always be a segment of the population that has an unrealistic expectation of police officers. They will question why the police shot and killed an offender instead of shooting the weapon out of his hand. They will never understand the reality of the situation. Fortunately for many, they have not had the experience of putting on a uniform, whether it be as a member of the military service, or as a police officer, and putting their life on the line in a violent confrontation.

Police officers, including Chicago Police Officers, are trained that during the stress of an armed confrontation, the fine motor skills required for the highest levels of accuracy in firing a handgun, deteriorate. Officers are trained to shoot for "center mass", the torso area of an assailant, as this is the largest area, giving one the greatest chances of success. Also, officers are trained specifically not to fire just one shot and then check to see if it was effective. It is very easy under the stress of the situation to miss the target, and even if one hits the target, firearms are not a guaranteed solution. There have been many instances of offenders shot multiple times who continued their attacks. Officers are trained to shoot as long as they perceive a threat, until the threat is eliminated.

This is the key in this situation. Officer VAN DYKE explained that he fired his handgun at MCDONALD because MCDONALD was attacking VAN DYKE with a knife. VAN DYKE continued to fire his weapon at MCDONALD as he was on the ground because MCDONALD continued to move and continued to grasp the knife, continuing to point it at VAN DYKE. VAN DYKE explained that he believed MCDONALD was attempting to get up and continue his attack on VAN DYKE.

Officer VAN DYKE was not wearing a body camera and there is no video footage showing the perspective of what VAN DYKE saw as he confronted MCDONALD. However, the video footage that was recovered in this investigation clearly shows that MCDONALD did in fact advance toward VAN DYKE. From the time VAN DYKE exited his police vehicle until the time he fired his handgun, the distance between VAN DYKE and MCDONALD decreased. When MCDONALD fell to the pavement he continued to move, continued to grasp the knife, and continued to point the knife at VAN DYKE. Even after having been shot 16 times, MCDONALD continued to grasp the knife and point it at VAN DYKE. MCDONALD did not relinquish his weapon until Officer WALSH forcibly kicked it from MCDONALD’s hand. This video evidence is consistent with VAN DYKE’s statement. In fact, it should be noted that per the autopsy conducted by the Office of the Medical Examiner of Cook County, MCDONALD was shot three times in the right arm and once in the right hand, and still continued to grasp the knife with his right hand.

Everyone is certainly entitled to their opinion. People can debate until the end of time whether or not they would have handled this situation in the same manner or whether this was the best way to handle this situation. However, in my opinion, according to Illinois law and Chicago Police Department policy, the actions of Officer Jason VAN DYKE were justified.

Most police actions in serious incidents such as this are not the work of a single officer but of multiple officers working together as a team. This is exactly what occurred in this incident. The officers of the 008th District, primarily Officers GAFFNEY, MCELLIGOTT, WALSH and VAN DYKE, responded in a team effort, to a call for service from a civilian who had been the victim of a forcible felony.

As a team, the officers exercised extraordinary restraint in dealing with Laquan MCDONALD, attempting to use the least amount of force necessary to take him into custody and place him under arrest. The officers, all of whom were in uniform, first used “social control / police presence” and “verbal control”. Officer MCELLIGOTT used these force options when he first encountered MCDONALD. MCELLIGOTT exited his marked police vehicle, in uniform, and first directed MCDONALD to stop. MCDONALD ignored this direction. When MCDONALD took his hands out of his pockets, revealing that he was armed with a knife, MCELLIGOTT ordered MCDONALD multiple times to drop the knife. Again MCDONALD ignored MCELLIGOTT. Officer GAFFNEY then requested a unit with a taser over the police radio. This was appropriate since, at this point, MCDONALD was in a deserted area and there was no risk to any civilians. Officers WALSH and VAN DYKE were aware of these actions as they monitored the transmissions on the police radio.
As MCDONALD fled on foot, through the Burger King restaurant parking lot, he was entering a more populated area along Pulaski Road, a business street, with vehicular traffic, pedestrians and open businesses occupied by civilians, all of whom were now at risk. This is why Officer WALSH used his police vehicle to block MCDONALD’s path first, toward the Burger King restaurant, and then, toward the Dunkin’ Donuts restaurant.

When Officers VAN DYKE and WALSH stopped and exited their vehicle to confront MCDONALD it was because the threat to the public had escalated in this more populated environment. This threat continued to escalate as MCDONALD walked southbound. The two officers both exited their marked police vehicle, in uniform, drew their handguns, pointed their weapons at MCDONALD and ordered him multiple times to drop his knife. They made every effort to arrest MCDONALD without using deadly force. Again MCDONALD ignored any verbal direction from the officers. Finally, with MCDONALD closing the distance between himself and the officers, when he turned toward the officers and raised his knife, pointing it at them, VAN DYKE, seeing no other option, in defense of his life, fired his handgun at MCDONALD.

The decision to confront MCDONALD at that time and at that location was tactically sound. As noted, the risk to the nearby civilian population was increasing as MCDONALD proceeded southbound on Pulaski. At that particular location though, there were no civilians immediately placed at risk by the confrontation with the armed MCDONALD. There were also not a large number of police officers around MCDONALD, minimizing the risk of a crossfire situation if deadly force became necessary. Also, the background behind MCDONALD, toward which Officer VAN DYKE fired his handgun, was a large vacant lot followed by industrial buildings that were either vacant or minimally occupied. Again, if the use of firearms became necessary, the risk of harm to any other individuals was minimal.

This entire encounter between the police and Laquan MCDONALD, from Officer MCELLIGOTT’s first contact on 40th Street until Officer VAN DYKE fired his weapon, lasted more that four minutes, as indicated by the police radio transmissions. During that time MCDONALD traveled on foot more than four city blocks. For a police encounter with an armed subject, who was not contained, this was a long period of time. MCDONALD was given a great deal of latitude in terms of movement, before the police decided they could wait no longer and needed to take action to stop MCDONALD, to protect the public who were becoming more and more at risk. That is when Officers VAN DYKE and WALSH acted.

It should be noted that at the time VAN DYKE fired his weapon, of the ten officers present near the scene of this incident, none was equipped with a taser. It should also be noted that many use of force experts and defensive tactics instructors would say that a taser was not the appropriate use of force against an assailant armed with a knife, especially one who had already displayed a willingness to use the knife. This is because, per Chicago Police Department policy, the use of a taser would require an officer to get within 18 feet of a subject, the optimum effective range of the Department’s tasers being 7 to 15 feet. This would put the officer too close to the assailant, especially if the taser was ineffective, with insufficient time to transition to his firearm to defend himself. A taser, like a firearm, is not a guaranteed solution. The same variables exist with this force option. Two projectiles, or probes, connected to the taser by wires, must both effectively engage the target, who may be moving. One or both or the probes could miss the target. Thick or multiple layers of clothing can prevent one or both probes from effectively engaging the target. If both probes do not engage the target effectively, the taser will have no effect at all. Additionally, even if the officer is able to successfully deploy the taser against a subject, there is no guarantee it will be totally effective and stop the subject.

One claim made by many who have been critical of Officer VAN DYKE is that there were ten officers on the scene of this incident and only one fired his weapon. It is opined that since the other nine officers did not see a need to fire their handguns, VAN DYKE was wrong, and did not need to fire his weapon. Again, one needs to consider the “totality of the circumstances”, to make an informed, educated and intelligent conclusion. Of the ten officers, five of them, Officers GAFFNEY, SEBASTIAN, MONDRAGON, BACERRA and VELEZ were still in their police vehicles and were not in a position to see who fired the gunshots. Officer MCELLIGOTT, who had originally been following MCDONALD on foot, was unable to keep up with MCDONALD, and was not in a position to see who fired the gunshots. Officers FONTAINE and VIRAMONTES had just arrived at the scene and exited their police vehicle. They were farther away from MCDONALD and Officers VAN DYKE and WALSH were between them and MCDONALD. Officer WALSH stated that he believed MCDONALD was attacking WALSH and VAN DYKE with the knife when VAN DYKE fired his handgun, but WALSH did not fire his weapon because VAN DYKE was slightly ahead of WALSH, and therefore, in his line of fire. This was apparent in the video evidence recovered in this investigation.

During the entire investigation of this incident I had multiple consultations with my immediate supervisors, including Sergeant Daniel GALLAGHER, Lieutenant Anthony WOJCIK, Lieutenant Osvaldo VALDEZ and Commander Eugene ROY. During all of these consultations I was repeatedly told that my interpretation and understanding of the events in this incident, as well as my conclusions, were accurate and correct. The incident commander, on the night this incident occurred, Deputy Chief David MCNAUGHTON, also agreed with this investigation, as evidenced by his approval of the Tactical Response Report submitted by Officer Jason VAN DYKE, where MCNAUGHTON checked the box stating “I have concluded that the member’s actions were in compliance with department procedures and directives.” At the time of this approval, the in-car camera video from the police vehicles and the video from the Dunkin’ Donuts restaurant had been recovered and reviewed by all personnel involved in this investigation, including MCNAUGHTON, and personnel from the Independent Police Review Authority. No one ever expressed any reservations regarding the investigation of this incident. Commander ROY and Lieutenant VALDEZ both personally informed me that each of them had conducted separate briefings on this incident at the Public Safety Headquarters, for members of the command staff, at separate Executive Management Meetings. Both ROY and VALDEZ informed me that the entire command staff of the police department, up to and including the superintendent, agreed with the findings of this investigation and that no one had expressed any reservations.

Officer Jason VAN DYKE gave his statement to the Independent Police Review Authority within days of this incident and was returned to full duty in his unit of assignment. Another indication that no one questioned the results of this investigation.

Since this incident occurred, all of the exempt members in my chain of command have been promoted. Commander ROY was promoted to Deputy Chief and is now Chief of the Bureau of Detectives. Deputy Chief Anthony RICCIO was promoted to Chief of the Bureau of Organized Crime. Chief John ESCALANTE was promoted to First Deputy Superintendent of the Department. This investigation was conducted under the supervision of each of these command staff members. Now they are promoted and I am under investigation for separation from the Department? First Deputy ESCALANTE stated at a news conference, shortly after being promoted, that he viewed the video of this incident two days after it occurred and found it “troubling.” As the Chief of the Bureau of Detectives at that time of this incident, Chief ESCALANTE never communicated either directly or indirectly to his primary investigator, me, how troubling he found this video. As I said, no one voiced any reservations or concerns to me regarding this incident or this investigation. I was informed that the entire command staff concurred with the findings and conclusions of my investigation.

For eighteen months now, I have heard people criticize Officer Jason VAN DYKE, saying what he did was wrong. Not once have I heard anyone suggest what he should have done instead of the actions he did take. Is it really being suggested that the police should have done nothing and permitted Laquan MCDONALD to continue on his way and not stop him? A subject armed with a deadly weapon, a knife, committed multiple criminal offenses, including forcible felonies, ignored lawful orders from multiple uniformed police officers to drop his weapon and surrender, over the course of more than four minutes and four city blocks, and continued down the street, weapon in hand, putting everyone in his path at risk. Is it seriously being suggested that the police should not take action against this subject until he gains entry to one of the commercial businesses along his path, and actually attacks someone, actually inflicting death or great bodily harm? And then, in an environment where civilians are present, the police should engage this subject in a violent confrontation, creating additional risk of injury? In my opinion this is not responsible law enforcement.

Sec. 7-4. Use of force by aggressor.
The justification described in the preceding Sections of this Article is not available to a person who:
(a) Is attempting to commit, committing, or escaping after the commission of, a forcible felony; or
(b) Initially provokes the use of force against himself, with the intent to use such force as an excuse to inflict bodily harm upon the assailant; or
(c) Otherwise initially provokes the use of force against himself, unless:
(1) Such force is so great that he reasonably believes that he is in imminent danger of death or great bodily harm, and that he has exhausted every reasonable means to escape such danger other than the use of force which is likely to cause death or great bodily harm to the assailant; or
(2) In good faith, he withdraws from physical contact with the assailant and indicates clearly to the assailant that he desires to withdraw and terminate the use of force, but the assailant continues or resumes the use of force.
The above to-date investigation determined that Jaquan McDONALD was an active assailant who, while armed with a dangerous weapon, used force likely to cause death or serious injury to a private citizen when he attacked and attempted to stab Rudy BARILLAS; threatened the imminent use of force likely to cause death or serious injury when he incised the tire and stabbed the windshield of a CPD vehicle occupied by Officer Thomas GAFFNEY; and initiated imminent use force likely to cause death or serious injury when he initiated an attack on Officers Jason VAN DYKE and Joseph WALSH. The above investigation concluded that Officer Jason VAN DYKE's use of deadly force – the discharging of his duty firearm – was within the bounds of the Chicago Police Department's Use of Force guidelines and in conformity with local ordinances and state law.

Based on the above the associated UCR Report RD-HX-486155 is considered Closed/Non-Criminal.

As a preliminary matter, I am providing the following information. An independent certified court reporter is present today to provide a verbatim transcript of this interview.

To aid in the accuracy of the transcript, it is the custom and practice of court reporters to audio record the interview. The recording is the confidential work product property of the court reporter and will not be provided to any party including the OIG. If you request, the audio recording will be discontinued.

Detective March, are you okay with our court reporter audio recording this interview?

THE WITNESS: With the same understanding we had yesterday.

MR. McKAY: It's only being used by the court reporter and will not be shared with either side.

MR. NEUMER: Exactly.

MR. McKAY: Correct?

MR. NEUMER: Correct.
Let the record reflect today's date is April 27th. The time is 1:11 p.m. We are located at 300 West Adams, Suite 800.

My name is Peter Neumer, N-e-u-m-e-r, the court reporter is Michelle Yohler, and I'd ask that the other individuals present identify themselves and spell their names for the record.

MR. BROWN: Kristopher Brown, B-r-o-w-n, City of Chicago, Office of Inspector General.

MR. McKAY: James P. McKay, Jr., Attorney at Law representing Detective David March.

THE WITNESS: Detective David March, M-a-r-c-h, Star No. 20563, Chicago Police Department.

MR. NEUMER: There are no other individuals present. We are here today pursuant to an investigation being conducted under Chapter 2-56 of the Municipal Code of the City of Chicago. We're here for an interview of Detective David March.

Detective March, would you please raise your right hand.

(WHEREUPON, the witness was duly sworn.)

MR. NEUMER: As this is a continuation of an interview that was begun yesterday, April 26, 2016, Counsel, I believe it's fair to say you've agreed to waive a second reading of the Advisements of Rights that I read to Detective March yesterday and which Detective March signed; is that fair? MR. McKAY: That is fair.

It should be noted for the record that since this is a continuation of the interview that began yesterday, the statements that Detective March provides today are still the result of a direct order given to him by Commander Klimas. He is not waiving any of his rights that he indicated yesterday regarding his request that you advise him of his rights pursuant to Miranda versus Arizona because criminal charges could be probable in this particular case.

In addition, he's not waiving any of his rights pursuant to Garrity versus New Jersey. He is giving the statement not voluntarily but rather under duress and being compelled to and is only answering the questions as a result of the direct order given to him by Commander Klimas.

In addition to all the other objections that were made yesterday, I would also like to supplement the record with the Illinois statute that pertains to the manner in which interrogation is to take place. I made several references yesterday that we object to the lack of identification of any accusers in this matter. Detective March has a right to confront his accusers.

We firmly believe that the letter by John Escalante which references a memo by Sergeant Soria is not the sole source of any allegations being made against Detective March.

We firmly believe there are other individuals that the Inspector General is relying on and perhaps even interviewed, none of which of those statements, if they exist, were ever tendered to us.

And pursuant to Illinois law, specifically Chapter 50, ILCS 725/3.2 Illinois law clearly states that no officer shall be subjected to interrogation without first being informed in writing of the nature of the investigation. If an administrative proceeding is instituted, the officer shall be informed beforehand of the names of all complainants.
Information shall be sufficient as to reasonably apprise the officer of the nature of the allegation.

I believe the nature of the investigation has been clear, but the names of all the complainants have not been provided to Detective March. This is a violation of this particular Illinois law.

In addition to that, we believe that these proceedings are in violation of Detective March's rights for due process and his rights guaranteed by Illinois law, specifically Chapter 50 ILCS Section 725/3.8. This section clearly states that no officer shall be interrogated without first being advised in writing that admissions made in the course of testimony may be used as evidence of misconduct or as of the basis for charges seeking suspension, removal, or discharge and without first being advised in writing that he or she has the right to counsel of his or her choosing who may be present to advise him or her at any stage in the interrogation.

No complaint by Detective March regarding Subsection A, which I just read, that clearly has been done. However, Subsection B of this section of is this statute states, "Anyone filing a complaint against a sworn peace officer must have the complaint supported by a sworn affidavit. Any complaint having been supported by a sworn affidavit and having been found in total or in part to contain knowingly false material information shall be presented to the appropriate State's Attorney for determination of prosecution."

I believe that there are other individuals -- maybe one, perhaps more -- who are complainants in this particular case that the Inspector General has not identified. I firmly believe, as does Detective March, that these complainants are not sworn officers and,
as such, pursuant to the statute, they are required by Illinois law to file an affidavit.

We asked several times yesterday to provide us with the affidavits of these people if they exist. At one point, Mr. Neumer -- and correct me if I'm wrong -- when I was asking for this information, you indicated that these people or a person has -- or is entitled to some type of confidentiality.

Perhaps that was a slip on your part,
I don't know, but it does raise a suspicion in my mind, sir, that there are other individuals, whether it's Craig Futterman, whether it's Jamie Kalven, whether it's some civilian out there that is complaining about Detective March specifically and the conduct of the police officers in this case generally. As such, Illinois mandates that Detective March be given affidavits of these unnamed people.

You have refused, Mr. Neumer, the Inspector General's Office has, by the both of you gentlemen. I accuse you two of nothing. I am not making any complaints specifically against you or your professionalism, but I believe there is more to this than simply John Escalante's letter.

And this man is entitled to a fair and impartial and independent hearing, and he's entitled to confront his accusers and be given clear notice of what these individuals are stating, and they must be sworn statements, and none of that has been provided.

And if it does come to light that the Inspector General does have individuals who can be deemed complainants and did either not provide affidavits or did provide affidavits that have not been furnished, the entire process that we are undergoing yesterday and today is a violation of Illinois law and a violation of Detective March's due process rights.

With that said, Mr. Neumer, it's --

THE WITNESS: Can I have a quick moment?

MR. McKAY: Yes.

MR. NEUMER: I want to respond briefly.

You made reference to my mention of the duty of confidentiality yesterday, and I don't know exactly how the transcript reads, but what I intended to say is that, beyond the information we are required to provide to counsel, to Detective March by the CBA, I cannot provide you any additional information about our investigation because of our duty of confidentiality.

MR. McKay: Could you be more specific?

MR. NEUMER: I mean, we are required to provide you certain information under the CBA.
We fully complied with the CBA.

Beyond the information that we are required to provide to you under the CBA, we cannot provide -- that's what I meant to say as a general statement.

I was not trying to make any specific comments about any individual who we may or may not have spoken to during this investigation or really -- I'm making not even a comment about this investigation in general but rather our investigations in general, that there is a duty of confidentiality that applies to the OIG and that we, beyond the information in any case that we supply pursuant to the CBA, we are not allowed to provide additional information regarding our investigation.

MR. McKay: Can you just answer this: Do you have or do you know of any person who is not a sworn police officer who has provided information to the Office of Inspector General that specifically or in general terms alleges Detective March made false statements in any police reports he drafted; failed to draft truthful, complete, and objective reports in this case; failed to complete a thorough, properly documented, and professional investigation; engaged in witness tampering by showing witnesses to the McDonald shooting a video; obstructed justice by failing to conduct a complete, thorough, and properly documented and professional investigation; and falsely stated in Case Reports, Evidence Submission Forms, Major Incident Notification Detail Form, and General Progress Reports.

If you have any information regarding any of these people who are non-sworn police officers, we ask that you identify them now, and we ask that you provide with us now affidavits signed and sworn to by these people.

MR. NEUMER: In response to your question,
I will note that OIG has provided Detective March with all documents, all information required by the CBA.

MR. McKAY: Thank you. I would submit that is a non-answer to my question.

THE WITNESS: I just would like to clarify -- Jim, you might be able to tell me -- that new statute that you just cited and your question about any complainants making allegations, the affidavit requirement would apply not just to other civilians making an allegation but any person within the Office of Inspector General, correct?

MR. McKAY: Absolutely. And when it applies, it applies to everybody who's not a police officer sworn to be a police officer in the State of Illinois.

So that would apply to a civilian, it would apply to a lawyer, it would apply to somebody -- an employee of the Inspector General's Office, it would apply to me, it would apply to the court reporter, it would apply to anybody who is not a sworn police officer.

In this case, the Inspector General has only identified Detective March of the complainant being John Escalante and Sergeant Soria, both of whom were sworn police officers at the time the complaint was made.

I have nothing further to add at this point, Mr. Neumer.

MR. NEUMER: Okay.

MR. MCKAY: Thank you.

MR. BROWN: Did you still want to go off the record?

THE WITNESS: No, I'm fine. We covered it.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. When we paused the interview yesterday evening, we were going through certain videos of the McDonald shooting. I believe we had -- correct me if I'm wrong -- fully gone through the 813 Robert dash cam video?

A. Right. I just had a -- we kind of wrapped up in that -- at that point, and I just wanted to add -- make a couple of additional comments on that particular video.

MR. BROWN: Do you want me to go back?

THE WITNESS: If you don't mind.

MR. MCKAY: Thank you.

THE WITNESS: And just the same point where we began yesterday.
MR. BROWN: When he comes down Pulaski?

THE WITNESS: Yeah, right after they pull out of the Burger King parking lot.

MR. NEUMER: And, again, Kris is going to pull up a VLC media file titled video_ts.ifo.

And this was a video that was recovered from in-car video system of the 813 Robert vehicle and included on the DVD that OIG provided to Detective March on April 7th, 2016.

Again, this video has a time bar that is visible at the bottom as well as a time stamp on the video, embedded in the video that is visible intermittently.

So we are going to advance the video to -- let's stop it there. And this is at 4:26 on the time bar visible on the VLC media player software.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. And we'll start the video, and, Detective March, whatever comments you'd like to make?

A. If you play it forward, I'll tell you when I would like you to stop it. It's going to be pretty soon here because, first of all, I want to do an overall comment.

(VIDEO BEING PLAYED)

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. We're stopping at 4:29 on the time bar.

A. Just to do this as an overall setup here, we're looking -- we're in the left southbound lane. It looks like the 813 Robert is in the left southbound lane facing south on Pulaski Road. The Burger King restaurant would be to our right.

We see Laquan McDonald. It looks like he's just about in the middle of the intersection, the T-intersection of 41st Street and Pulaski. Ahead of him is the police vehicle, Beat 822, and in the northbound lanes traveling southbound, we see Walsh and Van Dyke's police vehicle.

Now, I'd like to just point out McDonald is in the center of the intersection at that point which, at different times is either the median or the left-turn lane, depending on where we're at, but we're basically in the middle of the street.

But before that he ran or walked at different times in a southeasterly direction across Pulaski. Now it appears, and it's going to appear when we restart the video, that he's traveling pretty much southbound. Then he's going to go a little bit to the southwest and he's going to cross this left southbound lane.

When he gets to the hash mark that separates the two southbound lanes just before Jason Van Dyke fires his handgun, if you watch Laquan McDonald's feet, the last step or two before he is shot, instead of continuing in his diagonal path across the line -- across the traffic lane, you're going to see his steps almost go right along this hash mark separating the two traffic lanes, which indicates, in my opinion, a definite, clear, change of direction. He no longer was going southwest; he was going straight south, as the hash mark on the street was going.

In addition, we're going to see -- a number of the questions regarded my observation in my report that the video was viewed and found to be consistent with the statements of all the witness.

A number of the witnesses said that Laquan McDonald turned to his left, faced the officers, and began to bring his right arm holding the knife up towards the officers pointing the knife at the officers.

And I was asked several times, depending on what officer we're talking about, show me in the video where this happened. And I showed in the video, we said stop, and it's already in the record that I said he turned to his -- at the time when he takes those steps along the hash mark, he turned his body to the left, squared his shoulders towards the officers, and I pointed out where I felt that he -- the video showed he began to raise his right arm with the knife pointing it towards the officers.

In addition to that, again, my investigation didn't just rely on interviews that I conducted that night. I didn't just take the officer's word at face value and say, oh, everything they're telling me is the truth.
Just as any witness I interview I don't just accept everything they say. I take their statements in addition to the other evidence and information that I gathered during my investigation.

One of those pieces of evidence or information that I gathered during the course of the investigation was the Medical Examiner's postmortem -- report of postmortem examination or autopsy report.

In that report there is a very detailed listing of each of the injuries that was sustained by Laquan McDonald. I would submit, in looking and reviewing that report, that if you look at the video, right after Laquan McDonald is shot -- or Jason Van Dyke begins firing his handgun, let's say, Laquan McDonald turns to his right, kind of spins, and then goes down in the street.

I submit that that action of him spinning to his right was not voluntary. He didn't decide to do some kind of dance move and spin in the street. What spun him around in the street and caused his body to turn from left to right and then subsequently go down to the pavement was him being shot by Officer Van Dyke.

If you look at the injuries on the Medical Examiner's report, I would submit that there's only one gunshot wound, and that would be -- I think it's designated in the Medical Examiner's Report as gunshot wound number four.

MR. McKay: We would like this marked as Detective Dave March Exhibit 1 for the record.
I've provided you a copy for yourselves. The original I ask be kept by the court reporter.

(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked
D. March Exhibit No. 1, for identification, as of 04/27/2016.)

BY THE WITNESS:

A. It's gunshot wound number four on Page 4 of the Medical Examiner's Report. And if you go down to the last paragraph or last line of that section, the Medical Examiner's Report reads the direction is front to back, left to right, and slightly downward. Also, that -- there is no exit wound on that injury. The bullet was recovered.

So it's, what we call, a lodged gunshot wound. And this is significant for a number of reasons. Number one, he spun to the right. That would indicate more likely than not he was struck by gunfire somewhere on the right side of his body and the energy from the bullet or bullets caused him to spin to his right.

And I would submit in reviewing all 16 gunshot wounds that it's this gunshot wound to the right side of the chest that caused that for a number of reasons: Number one, in reviewing all the gunshot wounds, I don't see any other injury that would be consistent with spinning the body to the right.

Number two, this particular bullet, when it struck him, did not exit. There's no exit wound. It, in fact, struck a rib and broke the rib and became lodged in the body. That means that all of the energy from that bullet was transferred from the bullet into his body.

A bullet that goes through the body does not transfer all its energy into the body. A good deal of the energy continues on with the bullet as it exits the body.

So all of the energy from this particular round was transferred from the moving bullet to the body, and that's, like I said, I would submit that that is what caused him to turn or spin to the right and then subsequently go down to the pavement.

There is another gunshot wound,
gunshot wound number three, just before that.
Now, that is a through-and-through wound, but that is also a chest wound, okay? And, again, I would submit that the only way you would get -- that Jason Van Dyke would shoot Laquan McDonald in the chest, it would be necessary for Laquan McDonald to be facing Jason Van Dyke.

So I would submit that that's additional evidence that the video and the officers' statements are all consistent with Laquan McDonald turning towards the officers because he wouldn't have been shot in the chest if he had -- he had to be -- for those two injuries to be sustained, his chest had to be facing the officers.

And I would submit that we can say at least one of those gunshot wounds, number four, is one of the first rounds that hit him, and I submit that's the actual round that caused him to begin to spin --

Q. Are you --
A. -- because no other round was in a location that it would be likely to spin his body to the right.

Q. So you're saying that in Detective March Exhibit 1 on Page 4, gunshot wound of the right chest, number four, that is the gunshot that you were submitting was -- that spun Laquan McDonald around?
A. I would say -- in my opinion, it would seem apparent to me that of the 16 gunshot wounds, that would be the injury that was most likely the cause of his spinning to the right; and, therefore, that would indicate that that was one of the first gunshot wounds that he received.

He didn't receive it while he was spinning. And if that's the truth, then his chest, in order to sustain that wound, his chest had to be facing Van Dyke, which means he had to turn towards Van Dyke to receive that injury.

Q. You mentioned gunshot wound number three on Page 3 of Detective March Exhibit 1.

A. Correct.

Q. It was a little unclear to me what you were suggesting or what you were trying to --

A. All I was suggesting is that is another injury -- the entrance wound is to the chest, which would, again, indicate that his chest was facing toward Van Dyke. That could also be one of the first rounds to hit him. I don't -- the medical examiner can't tell us a chronology of what hit him first, second, third --

Q. Right.

A. -- but I would say based on officers' statements, the video, and the nature of these injuries that it's more likely than not that those two bullet wounds were some of the first bullet wounds to strike him, if not the first. And that gunshot wound number four is more likely than not the injury that caused him to begin spinning, which means it had to be one of the first rounds that hit him.

Q. Do you think that McDonald was shot twice before he was on the ground? In the chest, do you think he was shot --

A. I have no idea how many times he was shot before he got on the ground versus when he got on the ground. All I can say is that it's more likely that those two injuries were -- and, again, I'm making conclusions here, but I'm not basing it on just some wild theory. All of the information that I gathered during this case, and, as I said, gunshot wound number four, it seems very apparent to me, is one of the first bullets to hit him because that's what spun him, in my opinion, to the right. So it had to be one of the first rounds to hit him.

Gunshot number three could have been just before that, just after that, I don't know.
But it also does indicate -- gunshot number three does also indicate that his chest was facing Officer Van Dyke, which, again, would be consistent with him turning towards his left and turning towards Officer Van Dyke.

Q. You mentioned while we were watching the video or while the video was paused that -- and correct me if I'm -- I certainly don't want to put words in your mouth -- that McDonald was going at some point southbound on Pulaski, at some point he was going southwest on Pulaski, and then at some point he was going southbound again on Pulaski; is that fair to say?
   A. Correct.
   Q. Okay.
   A. And, in general, I would just like to -- again, just to be clear, in general, his path of travel from Burger King to where he fell to the ground was southbound, at times southeast, at sometimes south, at times southwest, but in general southbound.
   Q. And I thought -- it might be helpful for you to identify the times where he's traveling southbound, the times he's traveling southwestbound and then southbound. So if we can --
   MR. McKay: Can we play the video?
   BY MR. NEUMER:
   Q. So we'll play --
   A. Can we agree that at this point we're at now, 4:29, he's in the middle of the street and he's going to continue in basically a southbound direction?

Q. So that's what -- we're going to start the video at 4:29 on the VLC media player software time bar. There's no time stamp -- no eMBEDDING time stamp visible.

And then I'll just ask you to tell us when he -- I think your statement would be that he's going southbound as this video begins?

A. When we begin, he's going southbound --

Q. So what I -- --

A. -- and I'll say stop when he changes direction.

Q. Perfect.

(VIDEO BEING PLAYED)

BY THE WITNESS:

A. Now he's beginning.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Stop. So we're now at 4:38 on the software time bar, and the time stamp reads

9:58:28 p.m. And so he's now changed directions; is that fair to say?

A. We saw from where we started the video, he pretty much went in a straight southbound direction. He was traveling -- if you look at the yellow stripes painted to designate the median of the pavement, he was traveling on the eastbound side of those -- of that median designation. And at the time right now he's taken -- he's already begun to take a step or two in a more southwesterly direction.

Q. Okay. And so what we'll do is, I want you -- we're going to start the video in just a moment, and then I want you to tell me when McDonald stops moving in a southwesterly direction, okay?

A. Okay.

(VIDEO BEING PLAYED)

BY THE WITNESS:

A. Stop --

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. We'll back -- we'll try it again --

A. Just to give you -- to help you know when to stop, when he reaches the south end of this particular stripe, I believe that that's when he begins to turn.

MR. BROWN: And I pressed it, but --

THE WITNESS: I know, technology is what it is.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. We've reviewed this video, and sometimes it doesn't stop and start as well as you'd like.

I'll tell you what, we'll just do it again, and Kris is sort of on notice, but we're going to wait for you to say stop. So we'll back it up a few seconds and we'll -- when was the last time we stopped the video?

A. Can you stop it for a second right now? Not that I'm an expert, but the video you're playing, is it playing off of a disk or off the hard drive?

MR. BROWN: Off a disk.

THE WITNESS: A video played off the disk will be more choppy like this; whereas, if you copy it from the disk onto your desktop and then play it off the desktop so that it's actually coming not from the disk but from the computer's hard drive --

MR. BROWN: It will run quicker?

THE WITNESS: It runs more smoothly. Just for a point of reference for the future.
MR. BROWN: If we want, I can do it right now.

THE WITNESS: I don't think it's that important right now --

MR. NEUMER: I think it's okay, but we'll --

THE WITNESS: Yeah, it was just --

MR. NEUMER: -- understanding we're getting a buffer --

THE WITNESS: -- not a tech guy, but somebody in our office that is explained it to me recently.

MR. BROWN: It does make sense. That's a good point.

MR. NEUMER: We'll make sure we get an accurate stoppage time. I guess we have a capability of going half speed. Would that help?

THE WITNESS: I don't know if that would help.

MR. BROWN: It would make it more --

THE WITNESS: Exactly. Sometimes it can make it more difficult depending on what you're looking for.
BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. So we'll play it again and --

A. I'll say stop and hopefully it will stop when we want it to.

MR. NEUMER: So did you note when we had stopped it last?

(WHEREUPON, the record was read by the reporter.)

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. So we'll go to 4:38 and start from there because, again, what's really important is --

A. The next change.

Q. Exactly. So we'll start it and then...

(VIDEO BEING PLAYED)

BY THE WITNESS:

A. Stop.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. So we're at 4:45 on the time bar. So is it fair to say that from 4:38 on the time bar to 4:45 on the software time bar, Laquan McDonald was walking in a southwest direction?

A. Yes.
Q. And then --

A. But I would also like to point out that the distance between McDonald and Van Dyke was still decreasing.

Q. And so -- and now at 4:45, from your perspective -- 4:45 of the time bar, what's happening?

A. He has just changed direction. If you look, he's almost -- you know, squared his body straight southbound, he's practically standing right on the hash mark separating the two lanes.

And his next step is going to be no longer -- he's not going to continue in the southwesterly direction to begin to cross over that next traffic lane; he's actually -- his next step is going to be right along that hash mark, straight southbound.

And then he's going to turn his body, he's going to turn to the left, and then that's when Jason Van Dyke opened fire.

Q. Should we roll the video?

A. I think it doesn't hurt to verify.

Q. We'll play the video.
BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Any other comments on the 813 Robert video?

A. No, I believe that covers it all.

Q. We will now pull up a portion of the Dunkin' Donuts security camera video. Kris is going to open a file titled clip_1.avi.

There is not going to be an embedded time stamp on that video. There is, again, a software time bar that's visible at the bottom of the video we're watching.

MR. McKAY: Can I ask, Peter, the two videos, the one we just watched from 813R and this video, the Dunkin' Donuts video, are you, for the purposes of the record, marking them as exhibits? Are they going to be made part of this official record in addition to these other exhibits, the documentary exhibits?

I ask that you do. I ask that the video that you are asking Detective March questions about -- and rightfully so -- be made part of the record, both of these videos and even more videos if you intend to use them.
If you recall last night, we had requested that the 813R video be played during your questioning of Detective March, and both of you were kind enough to allow this. As such, Detective March's testimony at this point really can be taken out of context unless viewed along with the video.

The, for lack of the better word, the viewer can understand what is being seen on the video in conjunction with what Detective March is saying under oath.

MR. NEUMER: I think that's fair, and we'll work with the court reporter to figure out the best way to include those videos as exhibits.

MR. McKAY: Do you want to number them now? The last thing I had was Exhibit 14 was being used.

MR. NEUMER: I think there was a 15. So I think if we're going in order, the 813 Robert dash cam video will be Exhibit 16.

(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked OIG Exhibit No. 16, for identification, as of 04/27/2016.)

MR. McKay: Thank you.
MR. NEUMER: And the Dunkin' Donuts security camera footage will be Exhibit 17.

(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked OIG Exhibit No. 17, for identification, as of 04/27/2016.)

BY THE WITNESS:

A. I don't know how you want to handle this. I know your -- you want what's important to you, you want to document the times. Obviously I've seen these videos many times.

What we're going to look at here, we're looking at Dunkin' Donuts video. It's looking westbound from the Dunkin' Donuts building. You can see the Dunkin' Donuts parking lot and driveway in the foreground, and then after that is Pulaski Road.

What we end up seeing in this video is, you see -- you can see the police vehicle is there already. You see the police vehicle of Officers Walsh and Van Dyke pull up. You're going to see Officer Walsh, the door is already -- it looks like maybe the door is already starting to open here.

You're going to see Officer Walsh exit the driver's door. You're going to see Officer Van Dyke come to the rear of the vehicle from the passenger side or right side of the vehicle. Both officers are going to be standing here.

You're going to see Laquan McDonald come into the picture from the right, move to the left, and then you're going to see all three subjects move from right to left, and that's the movement that I think, I believe is consistent with the officers' -- when the officers say they backpedaled, again attempting to maintain distance between themselves and Van Dyke.

Q. Okay.
A. So if you want to tell me what you want to note, and I'll tell you when to stop the video.

Q. And so, for the record, we are at 27:24 on the software time bar.
A. And the vehicle has already appeared.
Q. And that's our 845 Robert vehicle, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Is visible on the Dunkin' Donuts... video. It is facing southbound on Pulaski.

So to provide a little context here, we were -- last night there was a line of questioning where we were going through -- and maybe we can put this in front of you if it helps -- Jason Van Dyke's and Officer Walsh's statements in the Exhibit 5 CSR.

And looking at those, certain statements that Officer Van Dyke and Officer Walsh made in connection with the statement in the CSR that the 813 Robert and 845 Robert dash cam videos were consistent with all the witnesses' accounts -- or the witnesses to the McDonald shooting.

So -- do we have the Exhibit 5 that we can put in front of --

MR. BROWN: Yes.

(WHEREUPON, the document was tendered to the witness.)

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. And if you look at pages -- we'll start on Page 9. And I'm looking at the -- Page 9 of Exhibit 5 CSR. It's the fourth line down in the last paragraph on Page 9. "In defense of his life, Van Dyke backpedaled and fired his handgun at McDonald to stop the attack."

I believe the question I asked yesterday was whether that statement of Officer Van Dyke's -- I initially asked was that consistent with the 813 Robert video, and I believe you stated that you couldn't really see on the 813 Robert video that backpedaling but it was visible on the Dunkin' Donuts video; is that fair to say?

A. Correct. He was out of frame on the 813 Robert. When he begins shooting, he's in frame, but it looks like, I guess, 813 Robert, the vehicle turned to the right a little bit, and then we still see Laquan McDonald, but we no longer see Walsh and Van Dyke.

Q. Okay. And so since we couldn't see the backpedaling on the 813 Robert video, we're now going to show you the relevant portion of the Dunkin' Donuts video.

And, again, I'm going to ask you to identify the time when Officer Van Dyke first starts backpedaling, and then we'll probably -- we'll start there. So, again, happy to run this multiple times so --
   A. So the first thing you want me to say is stop when they begin to backpedal?
   Q. Exactly. Let's go one at a time and we'll start with Officer Van Dyke. That's whose statement we're going to focus on right now. So why don't we run the video.

(VIDEO BEING PLAYED)

BY THE WITNESS:
   A. Stop.

BY MR. NEUMER:
   Q. This is at 27:33 on the time bar. And, Detective March, you see Officer Van Dyke beginning to backpedal --
      A. Correct.
   Q. -- in your perspective?
      A. Correct.
   Q. And then let's start it again, and I want you to tell me when he stops backpedaling; is that fair?
      A. Okay.
   Q. We'll try and see -- would it help you if we backed up the video and then --
A. Started it again earlier?

Q. Started earlier.

A. That's fine.

Q. We'll go back a couple -- you originally identified 27:33 as the time when Officer Van Dyke starts backpedaling.

(VIDEO BEING PLAYED)

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. So what I think we should do -- I think I gave you a bad directive. I no longer want -- you've identified when Officer Van Dyke started his backpedal.

I'm now going to play the video for you -- and you may have been doing this, but I don't think I was clear, and I don't think the record was clear -- I now want you to identify the moment when he stops backpedaling. Does that sound reasonable?

So, again, we've identified the time where he starts backpedaling. I'm going to play you that same portion of the video, but I don't want you to say stop when he starts to backpedal. I want you now to go past that portion --
Q. -- and identify from your perspective when Officer Van Dyke stops backpedaling.

MR. MCKAY: I just want to interject an objection here. I don't know if it has been established that he did stop. Now, I could be wrong, and I don't have an objection to the line of this questioning, it just sounded like your question assumed a fact that may not be in evidence at this point.

MR. NEUMER: Well, I'm just assuming at some point he has to stop backpedaling, right? Like, I mean, like, or else he'd end up in --

BY THE WITNESS:

A. And, again, I haven't looked at this particular video today, but from what I recall, it looks to me like both officers backpedal out of view until they're behind their police vehicle.

So I don't know that we can establish definitively when they stop because at that point, they're had no longer within view of this camera.

BY MR. NEUMER:
Q. Okay. So if there's a point -- I will ask you to stop us when either, from your perspective, Officer Van Dyke has stopped backpedaling or where you can no longer tell what Officer Van Dyke is doing; is that fair?

A. Fair.

Q. Okay. So, again, we'll back it up to a few seconds.

(VIDEO BEING PLAYED)

BY THE WITNESS:

A. He still is -- I didn't want to tell you when -- I was trying to get the full reference, but if you want to try it one more time, I can tell you when he stops then.

(VIDEO BEING PLAYED)

BY THE WITNESS:

A. Stop.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. And this is 27:36.

A. It was Officer Walsh that actually went out of view, but Van Dyke is still there.

Q. Okay. So 27:36 on the time bar you directed us to stop. So at this point, from your perspective, Officer Van Dyke is no longer backpedaling?

A. Correct.

Q. And so it's from 27:33 to 27:36 on the time bar of the Dunkin' Donuts video from your perspective that Officer Van Dyke is backpedaling?

A. Correct.

Q. Let's go to Officer Walsh. So now we're going to -- similarly, we're going to play the video, and all I want you to do for me is identify -- tell Investigator Brown to stop when you see Officer Walsh backpedal for the first time.

(VIDEO BEING PLAYED)

BY THE WITNESS:

A. Stop.

BY MR. NEUMER:

A. It might have actually been 30 but...

Q. We'll try --

A. It didn't stop right away.

Q. I know. We'll try it again.

(VIDEO BEING PLAYED)
BY THE WITNESS:

A. Stop.

MR. NEUMER: So 27:30 on the time bar is when Detective March has identified Officer Walsh as beginning to backpedal.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Is that correct?
A. Correct.

Q. And so now we're going to back up the video again, and I want you to identify for me -- or, actually stop the video -- or tell us to stop the video when, from your perspective, Officer Walsh has either ceased to backpedal or can no longer be viewed. Is that fair?
A. Fair.

Q. Okay.

(VIDEO BEING PLAYED)

BY THE WITNESS:

A. Stop.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. 27:33. And why did you tell Investigator Brown to stop the video? For what reason?
A. Officer Walsh has gone from right to left in the video and is now obscured by the police vehicle, so we can't see him any longer.

Q. Okay. And as -- okay. So you don't know what Officer Walsh is doing --

A. Anymore.

Q. -- anymore? Okay.

I'd like to play back the video one time and --

A. I have one other -- not regarding backpedaling, but I have one other observation on this video, so if you want to resolve whatever issue you want to do now and then I can make my point. But before we leave the video, I have one more observation to make.

Q. I'd like to go -- as we play this video, describe for us what direction first Officer Van Dyke is moving, or directions, prior to the shooting, and then we'll go for Officer Walsh. If you could just say what direction or directions --

A. Well, this video is looking westbound. I don't think from the distance that we are here we can tell about movement east and west. I don't think we can definitively say. I can tell you that when both officers exit their vehicle, their first movement is from left to right.

A. On the video. Which would be southbound. Now, I don’t know if that’s southeast or southwest, but generally southbound on Pulaski.

Q. Okay.

A. When they begin to backpedal, then they begin to go back in the other direction north -- I'm sorry, I misspoke. When they first exit the vehicle, both officers are moving left to right in the video, which is northbound on Pulaski Road.

When both officers, at whatever time they began backpedaling, when they're backpedaling, they are now moving from right to left in the video, which would be southbound on Pulaski Road.

Q. But you're saying it is difficult to determine based on the Dunkin' Donuts video their east and westward movement?

A. Well, what I'm saying is there -- there's definite movement left to right. Now, was that -- if that movement was straight northbound, straight southbound or southeast, southwest, northeast, northwest, on an angle, I don't know that we can definitively say.

Q. Based on the Dunkin' Donuts --
A. On the Dunkin' Donuts video.

Q. Okay. Got it.

What was your comment?
A. My one other observation -- and, again, this is based on the fact that comments that have been made regarding this incident, that the other officers didn't see any reason to fire their weapons so it must have been wrong for Officer Van Dyke to fire his weapon.

Officer Walsh, in his statement to me, stated that he believed the same things that Jason Van Dyke did, that Laquan McDonald was -- had turned towards them, was raising the knife, and was, in fact -- from his perspective was attacking them.

Walsh stated to me he did not fire his weapon because Van Dyke was somewhat ahead of him and therefore in the line of fire between Officer Walsh and Laquan McDonald. And I think this video does show that.

We know that from east to west, Officer Walsh exits the driver's side of the vehicle. That was east. Officer Van Dyke exits the passenger side or right side of the vehicle, that was in -- he's further west. As they both move to the back of the vehicle northbound, again, Walsh is to the east, Van Dyke is to the west.

When they begin to backpedal -- and I think you can kind of tell that in this video -- Walsh backpedals farther, and that's why he ends up obstructed by the police vehicle. But when he backpedals, he actually backpedals behind Van Dyke.

So, again, that shows the credibility of his statement that he was somewhat behind Van Dyke, and, therefore, it addresses the line-of-fire issue just, again, going to the truthfulness of the officers' statements.

Q. Let me ask you, what's your definition of the word "backpedal"?

A. I would say if you're going in one direction or facing one direction and you backpedal, you're going in the opposite direction. As I said, initially the officers are -- you can see in this video, they move from left to right, and then they move from right to left back.

Now, I don't know were those steps straight back, were they lateral steps, I don't know, but it's clear in this video when they first exit their vehicle, they move in one direction from left to right, and then at some point they -- as -- not at some point, when McDonald enters the video, that's when they begin to move back from right to left in the other direction.

Q. Do you see any indication in the video that they are following McDonald?

A. I think their movement is definitely dependent on McDonald because they're trying to maintain their position relative to McDonald.

Q. Do you think it's fair to say they were tracking McDonald?

A. I think -- what the officers said to me was something along the lines that they were trying to maintain distance because he had a deadly weapon. They didn't want to get too close to him.

Q. Is that consistent with what you've seen today on the Dunkin' Donuts video?

A. I believe it is.

MR. NEUMER: Do you have any follow-up?

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Did you ever have any discussions with Lieutenant Wojcik or Sergeant Gallagher about the dash cam videos, 813 Robert, 845 Robert, and the Dunkin' Donuts videos and whether those videos were consistent with the witness accounts?

Let's go first with Lieutenant Wojcik. Did you ever have any conversations with him about the consistency of the witness accounts and the dash cam videos?

A. Yes, I mean, the three of us were kind of working on -- I'm on Gallagher's team, and Wojcik was one of the lieutenants that supervises us, so we were, in effect, working together on the case.

I did not work alone, and so we obviously did discuss the matter. And we discussed what -- you know, they asked for my opinion, I asked them what their opinion was,
and we were all in agreement.

Q. That the witness accounts were consistent with the videos of the shooting?

A. Yes.

MR. NEUMER: Kris, do you have any questions about the Dunkin' Donuts video?

MR. BROWN: I do not.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. I'm going to change gears a little bit. We talked yesterday about some of the detectives that worked on the McDonald investigation with you. And I want to hand you an exhibit and see if this refreshes your recolleciton as to which detectives were working on the team with you. And we'll go through that. So this is exhibit -- we'll mark this as Exhibit 18.

(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked OIG Exhibit No. 18, for identification, as of 04/27/2016.)
BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. This is an Original Case Incident Report with the RD Number HX475653. And, in particular, I want you to look at Page 4 of that incident report -- let me back up and first say, what is a Case Incident Report?

A. It's the original -- basically the original police report created in an incident.

Q. And what's its purpose?

A. It depends on the incident. In minor incidents, this could be the only police report created. If one person punches another person and the police arrive and a complaint is signed and it -- the offender's charged -- arrested and charged with simple battery, this would, more likely than not, be the only Case Report created in that case.

There would be an arrest report and complaints, but the only Case Report to document the incident would be the Original Case Incident Report.

Q. And in a case like the McDonald shooting, what's its purpose?

A. This would be the report that kind of starts the ball rolling. The police department went to a policy in -- again, in the simple battery case, this would be the only report, so it would have to contain every detail needed.

In the case of an officer-involved shooting, the police department went to a policy of this report being used just to kind of initiate the investigation, create the RD number, fill in the boxes, if you will, as far as the nature of the incident, the major principal people involved, the victims, the offender.

And then, as it says in this case, there are no really further details of the investigation itself. As on the top of Page 4, this case says to refer to Detective Division, Supplementary Report.

All of the actual details in the incident, because on major cases like this, detectives respond to the scene immediately; so the follow-up isn't even conducted days later, it's -- we're there right from the beginning, so all of the actual details of the investigation are reported by the detectives.
As opposed to the simply battery case, where there's never going to be a detective assigned, and so the officer involved, whether it be a district or beat officer, whatever, he's responsible for documenting all of the details of the investigation.

Q. Got you. And so on Page 4 of the incident report, there's a lot of names in the narrative section. Is it fair to say that all the people who were named in this -- on this Page 4 in the narrative section were at the scene of the shooting or reported to the scene of the shooting?

A. Well, it depends on -- if you look, they're not strict columns, but there are like -- if you look up and down this page, the computer doesn't create nice neat columns, but there are -- the first column, if you will, would be -- I would call it like the role or -- actually, no, the top is not even notifying -- the first three lines are -- after the, "Refer to Detective Division Supplementary Report" are the notifications.

Q. The notifications. Okay.
A. Those people, they could be on the scene, they could have subsequently responded to the scene, but those are notifications. That means that person was made aware of this incident.

It could be that they were made aware of it because they responded to the scene, or it could be that they were made aware of it by a phone call being made by the beat officer or even possibly in some instances that the beat officer on the scene goes on the police radio and asks the dispatcher to notify somebody in certain situations.

But those people are not necessarily -- they could be, but they're not necessarily present at the scene.

Q. How about all the assisting officers, should they have all been at the scene?

A. Obviously anybody -- the reporting officers, that's the two officers -- they're down here as reporting officers, but Gaffney, I don't think -- yes, that's what I thought.

The next two -- or assisting officers were probably present at the scene. Reporting officer, Officers Gaffney and McElligott are listed as reporting officers. They are not the reporting -- Officer Dora Fontaine actually created this report, so I don't know if -- it's a drop-down menu, so maybe in error the wrong selection was made. But obviously Gaffney and McElligott were present on the scene, but their role is a little -- not entirely correct.

But most of the assisting officers are -- these are people that the beat car saw at the scene, I'm assuming. The supervisor on scene is obviously on the scene.

Other support, you know, that's -- again, that's a drop-down menu on the computer. I don't know for certain that those people are all at the scene, but those are people that the beat car, when they're preparing their report, are involved. So there's, you know, a good chance that most of them were probably on the scene.

Q. Then it looks like we just have some individuals with star numbers with no real categorization?

A. Yeah, no role really.
Q. I mean, we know McNaughton was at the scene, correct?

A. Right, I'm going through them myself. I can't say every single one of them, but, you know, I know McNaughton was there, O'Donnell, Walsh. The rest I couldn't tell you for certain.

Q. Do you see the team of detectives that you were working with at the scene named in this narrative section on Page 4 of Exhibit 18?

A. There are -- looks like in the other support there are other some detective star numbers, so there -- I mean, so obviously I know those people are detectives.

Q. Who on this list do you recall specifically assisting -- which -- that are detectives assisting in the investigation at the scene of the shooting, which of these folks?

A. Well, Halloran was there, Murray was there, obviously I was there.

Q. Well, let me just spell these names. So Halloran is H-a-l-l-o-r-a-n.

So Detective Halloran was at the scene?
A. Yes.

Q. Okay. And he was assisting in the investigation?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you recall what tasks he was performing?

A. He and Murray are -- or were partners at that time and on that day, and I believe they helped us in sifting through the officers that were -- the many officers that were present, helping us identify which officers were the ones that were actually present at the time of this. And they helped us weed out, if you will, the ten officers that we now know were present at the time of the shooting.

Q. What other detectives who you know were out at the scene do you see on this list?

A. Detective Jones was out at the scene. I believe his main role was he wound up getting a copy of the 911 call and the radio transmissions and kind of doing a rough transcription that was included in the file of those audio recordings.

Q. Okay.
A. I don't know that he had any other -- if he had any other significant involvement at the scene.

Q. Okay.

A. Detective Hagen, we spoke about him previously. He was the detective who recovered the video from --

Q. Burger King.

A. -- all of the sources -- other --

Q. Oh, he was --

A. -- well, not all of the sources --

Q. -- Dunkin' Donuts, right?

A. He did Dunkin' Donuts, he did Burger
King --

Q. Okay.

A. -- I think those may have been the only. But he did not do the squad car cameras.
Those were done by Sergeant Becvar.

Q. So Hagen was responsible for recovering video from Dunkin' Donuts and Burger
King?

A. He participated in a canvass for both witnesses and the video. And he did recover video from both Burger King and Dunkin' Donuts.
Q. Okay. Any other detectives that were assisting you that night?

A. The next name under Hagen is Osvaldo Valdez. That's one of our lieutenants at our office. He was present at the scene and --

Q. What was he doing? What role?

A. He was supervising -- detective supervisor.

Q. Okay. Any specific tasks that he was accomplishing that night?

A. Well, again, Sergeant Gallagher is my immediate supervisor, and then I have two lieutenants. Sergeant Valdez was there. Subsequently I think Lieutenant Wojcik finally came -- Lieutenant Valdez was working that night, so he got there sooner. Lieutenant Wojcik came from home, so it took him a little longer to get out there that night, that's all.

Q. Okay.

A. But they were both out at the scene, but they're just supervising.

The one thing I know specifically Lieutenant Valdez requested that the -- because Laquan McDonald stabbed the right front tire of the police vehicle occupied by Officer Gaffney, in addition to photographing and recovering the wheel with the damaged tire, Lieutenant Valdez made a request that the forensic people actually dust or process the right front quarter panel or fender of the police vehicle to see if there were fingerprints that would assist us in the investigation. I know that was one thing for certain that he did.

The next name is Eugene Roy. That's the commander of the area. I couldn't tell you, again, what time he arrived. He was coming from home, but he responded to the scene.

Q. Do you recall -- what was he doing while he was on scene, do you know?
A. Supervising.

Q. And I guess just for -- what in general does supervisory tasks entail?
A. I was very busy that night. I didn't follow any of the supervisors around to document what they were doing. I -- all I can tell you is they were supervising.

Q. And I only want you to tell us what you know so...
Jose Torres, is he a detective, or do you know -- is that name familiar to you?

A. Where is that name?

Q. It's assisting officer. It's about in the middle of the narrative section below
David Ivankovich and above Anthony Vance?

A. I don't recall who that is. That's a police officer star number. The detective star numbers are all in the 20,000 series.

Q. Got you. Okay.

So would Matthew Rickher,
R-i-c-k-h-e-r, be a detective?

A. Where is that?

Q. It's near the bottom above Daniel Gallagher's name and below David Friel's name.

A. Okay, Detective Rickher drives the MIRV, M-I-R-V. That's the Major Incident Response Vehicle that the Detective Division operates. And that's just a big -- it looks like an RV.

Q. Okay.

A. It's marked with the Chicago Police Department markings, and it's got some computers on there that allow us to run -- you know, if we need to run name checks or license plates in the field. So, you know, he responds -- they responded to the scene of major incidents as the name MIRV designates.

I don't know that he participated in the actual investigation. He's just more of a support personnel if we need the capabilities of that truck.

Q. Do you recall any detectives who were assisting you on the night of October 20th, 2014, whose names are not listed on this --

A. Yes, because not all of the detectives on the scene check in with the beat officer. These are just whatever names that officer is able to --

Q. Sure.

A. -- like I said, there were a lot police personnel, you know. I note -- in my report I have a list of people.

This officer, you know, part of his duties were to document who was on the scene. But there's no formal system that everyone's got to check in. So there's no sign-in list, there's no computer that we swipe an ID card so we know how many -- exactly who's on the scene.
We do the best we can.

This officer documented what personnel they were aware of, and in my report, I documented personnel I was aware of.

Q. And so looking at this list, are there any other individuals that you know for a fact -- and let's start with detectives that were assisting you -- whose names you don't see on here?

A. Well, I know the officer -- the detectives that participated in the canvass are not all here. Detective Hagen is, but I think there were a few others that I know participated in the canvass that aren't listed here.

Q. Do you remember their names?

A. Detective Wathen.

Q. Do you know how to spell that?

A. I think it's -- I'd be guessing. It's probably in my report, I think.

Q. In the CSR?

A. Or one of my reports, yes, because I have a listing in the format -- I think it's called a scene sup. It's got the format -- there's a section in there for personnel assigned, and all the detectives that I was aware of would be listed there.

Q. Okay. And do you recall anyone off the top of your head other than Detective Wathen?

A. Well, we talked about Detective Torres and Curran. I believe they were involved in the canvass, and that's how they ended up subsequently -- I don't know if they were the ones who actually first found the three individuals that were potential witnesses brought into the area, but they were involved with the canvass, and then obviously they interviewed those people.

Q. What's Detective Torres' first name, do you know?

A. Peter.

Q. Peter. And Detective Curran's first name?

A. Thomas.

Q. Other than those individuals, any other detectives who you recall being at the scene who are not on this list?
A. From my memory, no. If you want to refer -- compare this list to my report, there might be some names that I don't remember. And there might be people that are -- were not on this report or my report that were out there and I was never aware they were out -- I don't know.

Q. Sure.

A. Because, as I said, when a major incident like this occurs, all of the personnel in our office that are available are asked to respond because, when this first starts, we don't know how much manpower we're going to need.

Q. Are there -- with respect to this all pertains -- I'm assuming that this narrative section -- well, what is the purpose of this narrative and listing all these individuals? What's the goal there? Is it just trying to identify?

A. Just to document -- well, the Department has a policy. There are certain notifications that are supposed -- depending on the nature of the incident, there's certain notifications which need to be made, so that's the document that the notifications were properly made. And then the assisting personnel are just to document the police personnel that responded to this incident.

Q. Would there be any documents similar to this -- I'm assuming -- does this apply strictly to the scene of the shooting here?

A. As opposed to what?

Q. Area Central. So my question is, is there any document similar to this that would note all the detectives who were present at Area Central following the scene of the shooting?

A. Well, if they were -- if they had any substantial involvement in the investigation at the area, I would have included them in my reports. They would be under my personnel assigned if I was aware of them.

I know the forensic people do a crime scene processing report every time that they do, and part of that report, again, is to document the police personnel present. So if they were aware of something, there -- someone, there could be somebody listed in their report.

There is no all-inclusive -- it's not like at the scene anyone is designated to get the name of every single person; at the office someone's designated to get the name of every person. And, as I said, there's no formal system for everyone to check in so...

Q. I got you.

MR. NEUMER: Kris, do you have any questions regarding Exhibit 18?

MR. BROWN: I do not.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. With respect to Area Central, when you were at Area Central following your time at the scene of the shooting, was there ever a meeting between the detectives at Area Central regarding investigative findings or anything of that nature?

A. No. As I said, through Sergeant Gallagher, Lieutenant Wojcik, and myself were -- I was the primary detective, they're the supervisors, and, you know, we conferred. But there was no meeting of really any additional personnel.

As I indicated before, other people, when they perform their tasks, they document them in a General Progress Report, and then they would subsequently turn those in to --

Q. But there was no meeting at Area Central where detectives were providing you their GPRs or anything like that?

A. No, there's no meeting. It's just when people come in or finish their task, they bring the GPR and put it -- like I said, there'd usually be a file set up somewhere for people to drop their GPRs.

Q. What about "post-shooting briefing," is that a term that's familiar to you?

A. In what sense?

Q. Following police-involved shootings, is there a post-shooting briefing that occurs?

A. There might be something further up the chain of command, but I'm too low in the food chain for that.

Q. Did you hear about any post-shooting briefing that the superintendent was a part of?

A. Well, I think I mentioned yesterday about executive management meetings, or EMMs as they're called --

Q. Yep.
A. -- I don't participate in those. I don't brief anybody on those.

To the best of my knowledge, as I told you yesterday, I was informed that two of those briefings did, in fact, occur at different times. There was one that was conducted by Commander Roy; one was conducted by Lieutenant Valdez for command staff members.

I have no idea who was present for those meetings or exactly what date and time they occurred. I was just told their -- Commander Roy told me he conducted a briefing at one meeting, and Lieutenant Valdez informed me that he had conducted a separate briefing at a separate meeting.

Q. And I believe it was your testimony yesterday, but I want to confirm, that I think -- I think it was both Valdez and Roy told you at some point that the executive staff or whoever was in these management meetings was in agreement with your findings, your investigatory findings?

A. Right, on multiple occasions we actually, at the office, once this incident became what it is today, we had a number of meetings -- this is months later or during the course of the following months. We had multiple meetings involving myself -- not always all of these people, but involving myself, Detective Hagen, Sergeant Gallagher, Lieutenant Wojcik, Lieutenant Valdez, and Commander Roy.

At some of those meetings, we actually played the video again and reviewed to get, you know, everyone's -- weigh in with their opinion. And everyone was in agreement with the investigation and the conclusions reached as documented in this report.

And I was informed by Commander Roy regarding the briefing he gave at the executive management meeting and also Lieutenant Valdez at the briefing he gave at the executive -- separate executive management meeting that not only did each of them personally agree with the findings or the conclusions we were making in this investigation, but when they were presented to the executive staff, command staff, whatever you want to call it, at these briefings, that everyone present at those meetings was in agreement with the conclusions that were reached.

Q. And so in this executive management meeting, how did you initially present your findings to either Roy or Valdez; that is, how did they know what your findings were?

A. Well, they were both present at the scene right from the beginning, and so they were aware of -- you know, just as I had conversations with Gallagher about -- at the scene he was learning things from other detectives, I was learning things, we were putting it all together to piece the whole story together. And I'm assuming that Sergeant Gallagher -- the information flowed up the chain of command.

Q. And so, as part of those conversations, were you communicating that you thought the shooting was justified? Was that part of the findings that was being communicated there?

A. Well, we would communicate what we had learned, whether it be from the witness statements, the evidence, this, that, the other, and people obviously would express their opinion.

Q. And it was, I guess -- I'm trying to understand what -- when Roy goes into an executive management meeting -- and I think you were saying he presents the findings or people were on board with those findings -- I'm just trying to find out, like, was that something that you had told Roy, or was he hearing that from Gallagher, or how did that all work out?

MR. McKay: I object. Shouldn't that be a question you should ask Commander Roy and not this gentleman?

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. I'm asking about your specific -- if you had conversations with Roy about findings of your investigation and how you knew that folks in the executive management meeting were on board with those findings.

A. I think I was very clear yesterday. I had personal contact with Commander Roy. Separately I had personal contact with Lieutenant Valdez.

Both of them separately and independently told me, when we discussed this case, that they had presented briefings downtown at public safety headquarters during executive management meetings where other command staff personnel were present and they presented a briefing.

I have no idea what they presented.
I'm pretty certain that the videos that we had recovered from part of the briefing, parts of the presentation and that everyone -- and I was just told that everyone at these meetings, all of the command staff members that were present, were in agreement with our conclusions.

And I'm assuming here my understanding was that they were all agreeing with the one basic conclusion was that the video was consistent with what all the officers were saying, and that the use of force, the way the incident -- the actions of the officers were all appropriate.

Q. You mentioned during the course of your investigation, I think it was Lieutenant Wojcik asked you to halt investigative activity regarding the McDonald case?
A. Yes.

Q. And that was because of another investigation, or what was the --

A. Well, there were a lot of opinions being expressed, mainly in the media, about this incident. And then we became aware that there was some type of investigation being going on at the Criminal Courts building at 26th and California involving the Office the Cook County State's Attorney and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

And, again, we talked about this all yesterday, and I was very clear that we learned of this -- I don't know how we first became aware of it or who told who first, but I heard that there allegedly was this investigation happening where the officers -- the police officers, the -- I don't know if Jason Van Dyke actually was subpoenaed, but the nine witness officers, if you will, were subpoenaed by the Cook County grand jury, and when they went to 26th Street, no one was, to the best of my knowledge, put in front of the grand jury to give any testimony, but they were interviewed by personnel from the Cook County State's Attorney's Office and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Q. Did you have any understanding what those other entities were investigating?

MR. MCKAY: I have to object, Peter. This was asked and answered. It was yesterday.

It was our understanding that we were continuing this until today because the specific allegations you did not have an opportunity to get to. This was all covered yesterday.

So my objection is it's been asked and answered. The transcript speaks for itself.
When it's prepared, you can read what his answers were at that time. I ask we move on to the allegations we unfortunately did not get to yesterday.

MR. NEUMER: I have no interest in going over ground that wasn't covered, but in terms of what Detective March believed was the nature of this investigation, I don't believe that was covered yesterday.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. So --
MR. McKay: Well, then I object to you asking Detective March to speculate about what other people may or may not have been doing in this case. He can speak about what he did and what his partners did, not other agencies.

MR. Neumer: Your objection is noted.

By MR. Neumer:

Q. Detective March, what was your understanding of the investigative purpose of those investigations that you had heard of?

A. I have no idea. No one sent me a memo.

MR. Brown: Can I do a quick follow-up?

MR. Neumer: Sure.

By MR. Brown:

Q. Since we're talking about the follow-up on the command staff, I have a quick question for you.

MR. McKay: Is Peter done? Because the rules state, Kris, you definitely get to ask follow-up questions but only after the primary interviewer is finished.

MR. McKay: Thank you. Go ahead.
BY MR. BROWN:

Q. Did anyone at CPD ever tell you that Van Dyke's actions were unjustified?

A. Absolutely not.

Q. Absolutely not. Okay.

Did anyone at CPD ever tell you or have a conversation with you about why the City entered into a settlement agreement with McDonald's estate?

A. Can you repeat the question.

Q. Yeah. Sure. Did anyone at the City ever -- be it City of Chicago, City Hall, CPD, any City employee -- have a conversation with you about why there was a settlement that was entered into with McDonald's estate?

MR. MCKAY: I object to the relevance of that. Regarding the allegations you have against Detective March, how -- assuming he knows because, again, you're asking him to speculate about other people, but how is that relevant to this?

MR. BROWN: Just specifically wanted to ask if anybody talked to him. I didn't want him to speculate on anything. If no one talked to
BY THE WITNESS:

A. Can I have the question one more time.

MR. BROWN: Should we read it back or say it again?

MR. NEUMER: You can restate the question.

BY MR. BROWN:

Q. Did anyone at the City have any conversations with you about why the City entered into a settlement agreement with McDonald's estate?

A. Well, that's a very general question. It covers a broad area. And I am under oath, so the answer to your question is, yes, I had conversations with other people employed by the City of Chicago about the settlement agreement after it had been entered into.

Q. In those conversations, did anyone tell you why they entered into a settlement agreement?

MR. McKAY: I'm objecting. Same reason. You want to keep going in this area over my objection, get ready.
BY THE WITNESS:

A. You want an answer to that?

BY MR. BROWN:

Q. Yes, please.

A. Sometime after the City entered into the settlement agreement with the family, survivors of Laquan McDonald, I received a notification from the City, which was required, I guess, because of our union contract. When I am specifically named in a response to a FOIA request, Freedom of Information Act request, I am entitled to notification.

So sometime not long after the settlement agreement was entered into, I received a notification of a -- the response to a FOIA request that included my name.

As part of that whole process, that notification process, I obtained a copy of the settlement agreement, and for the very first time learned, after this had all been entered into, that I had been specifically mentioned in the settlement agreement.

Myself and other police personnel who were specifically named in the -- I believe -- and now I'm going from memory. I don't have a copy of the settlement agreement here with me.
But obviously Officer Van Dyke was named in the settlement agreement; for some reason, and I'm not -- it's not clear to me why, Officer Walsh, Joseph Walsh was named in the settlement agreement; and then Detective Richard Hagen, myself, Sergeant Daniel Gallagher, and Lieutenant Anthony Wojcik were named in the settlement agreement.

I had never been consulted by anyone prior to this notification of this FOIA request response. Because our names had been mentioned in the settlement agreement, myself, Detective Hagen, Sergeant Gallagher, and Lieutenant Wojcik, because we all worked together, we were all, quite frankly, amazed that we could be named in a legal proceeding and never having received any notification that we were part of this process, so we requested a meeting with Corporation Counsel's office and met with Assistant Corporation Counsel -- Steven Platt?

MR. McKay: Close.
BY THE WITNESS:

And he met us on -- I think we met with him actually twice to discuss our concerns about why we would be named in a settlement agreement.

Legal action or civil legal action regarding officer-involved shootings is very commonplace. Normally that involves the City, it involves the police department, and the specific officer who fired his handgun.

All of the sudden I became aware of a settlement agreement. And my coworkers had the same concern. We were mentioned in the settlement agreement, and we were never aware that any legal action had been filed against us, nor had any official formal complaint been lodged with the City or Department against us regarding misconduct of any kind.

We met with Mr. Platt to voice our concerns. Me, I'm not a lawyer, but I tend to think very logically, and when I read that agreement, in addition to the settlement that -- in exchange for however much money, all claims were now -- all claims by the family against the City or whatever were now and forever done. It stated that this would include all Chicago Police Department employees past, present, and future as well as Van Dyke, Walsh, March, Hagen, Gallagher, and Wojcik.

And, again, I'm no legal scholar, but thinking logically, if we have an agreement here that says -- it basically indemnifies all police employees past, present, and future, isn't that every possible police officer? Why would you feel the need to specifically name anybody else?

And our concern here was that, again, no legal action had been filed against us regarding any misconduct of any kind, no formal complaint of misconduct of any kind had been filed with IPRA, the City, Inspector General's Office, anywhere that we were aware of and, yet, we were specifically named.

And, again, being a logical thinker, anyone knows that when a civil settlement is reached, whether it be a company being sued for product liability or the police being sued for police misconduct, that when individual parties are named, the assumption is the money was paid because obviously these people did act inappropriately and so that's why the entity, whether it be a company or the City, paid the money rather than risk going to court on a lawsuit and lose even more money.

And we felt -- and we still feel to this day -- we never committed any kind of misconduct.

In response to your question, as far as did I ever receive any information about why the City paid -- entered into this agreement?
Mr. Platt -- and this is not a quote, but he basically said -- number one, we asked him why we would be named in a legal action and never even been consulted.

And the City -- the Corporation
Counsel's Office, as the legal entity, if you will, the lawyer -- there was a lawyer or lawyers on the side of the family, and there was the lawyers of the Corporation Counsel's Office representing the City and the police department and subsequently representing -- allegedly or supposedly representing our interest and decided to name us in that agreement. We asked, "How can you name us and not even consult us, not even notify us?"

And this kind of went back and forth, and ultimately Mr. Platt said -- again, not a quote, but basically the point was that, "You're right, we should have probably consulted you first."

Getting to the larger issue as to why the City entered into an agreement -- again, not a quote -- but basically we were told something along the lines of the lawyers for the family had obtained a copy of the 813 Robert dash cam video, I believe. However that happened, whether it was done properly or not, I don't know, but the lawyer for the family had that video and never filed a legal action in any court that I'm aware of regarding any police misconduct, but, instead, contacted the City -- which I'm assuming through their legal representative, Corporate Counsel's Office -- and basically said, "We want to enter into settlement negotiations or we're going to release this video."
I believe -- and, again, I don't have the documents in front of me, but I believe there was a demand letter sent by one of the attorneys to the City basically stating that, "If we don't get a settlement agreement by such and such a date" -- and I don't recall off the top of my head what that date was -- "we are going to release the video to the media on this date."

And it just so happened that the timing of all this was in between the first round of the mayoral election and the runoff election that happened in the spring of 2015. And Mr. Platt indicated to us that we were -- he was told from above him -- which, again, my common knowledge of the way things work is, there's only two people over Assistant Corporation Counsel Thomas Platt, and that's his boss the Corporation Counsel and then his boss who is the Mayor of the City of Chicago.

But Mr. Platt indicated that he was told to reach a settlement agreement with these parties -- or this party, whatever it took. And he basically said something to the effect of,
"You know what time it is. You know what's going on. You can read between the lines."

And, again, none of this is exact quotes of anybody but there are -- there are certainly -- again, to the best of my knowledge, without having the actual documents of the settlement agreement and any of the letters, but I obviously have read the settlement agreement.

Mr. Platt showed us some of the letters that were sent by the family's attorneys. He allowed us to read, I believe, one or two of those letters, but would not give us -- provide us with copies. He let us read them in the office but would not provide us with copies.

And I'm pretty certain that Detective Hagen, Sergeant Gallagher, and Lieutenant Wojcik would all recount to you the basic same sequence of events that I just laid out.

BY MR. BROWN:

Q. Understood. And Mr. Platt did not specify who gave him the order, correct, or the direction?

A. No, just made it clear that it came from above him.

Q. Okay. Understood. I just wanted to ask that question because after you said the command staff was --

A. I believe he said something along the lines of that the Corporation Counsel's Office was under orders or directions to reach a settlement.

Q. I see. Like I was saying, I just wanted to ask that question because you stated that CPD's command staff was on board with the conclusions, so my thought was how did we go from A to B? So I wanted to know if you had any knowledge.

MR. McKay: Now you know.

BY THE WITNESS:

A. I'm still wondering that same question myself, sir.

MR. BROWN: That's all my questions.

MR. NEUMER: I want to return to the Notification of Allegations.

MS. REPORTER: Can we take a quick break first?

MR. NEUMER: Sure.
WHEREUPON, a recess was had.)

MR. NEUMER: The time is 3:04 p.m. We're back on the record, and I'm going to get back to our Notification of Allegations.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. I'll direct you to Page 1, allegation 1(a), Roman numeral I. And this pertains to the finding in the Exhibit 5 CSR that Officer Van Dyke's use of force was within the bounds of CPD's use-of-force guidelines. If you can find the page in the CSR on Page 22 at the bottom.

Detective March, it is alleged that you failed to draft truthful, complete, and objective Case Supplementary Reports concerning the McDonald shooting. Specifically the Case Supplementary Report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, the Exhibit 5 CSR, concluded that Officer Van Dyke's use of force was within the bounds of the Chicago Police Department's use-of-force guidelines and in conformity with local ordinances and state law despite available evidence to the contrary, including video recordings of the McDonald shooting.
What is your response to that allegation?

A. My response is that, consistent with the reputation that I have established over 33 years as a police officer, 25 years as a detective, I did, in fact, in this instance conduct a complete, thorough, properly documented, and professional investigation.

I did, in fact, draft truthful, complete, and Objective Case Supplementary Reports, and the conclusion that is the basis of allegation one is, in fact, stated in my report.

And it is my belief to this very day that there is no available evidence to the contrary, including any and all video evidence, that runs contrary to that conclusion.

Q. Did you conclude as part of your report that all the shots that were fired were -- that Officer Van Dyke fired on the night of October 20th, 2014, were within the bounds of CPD's use-of-force guidelines?

A. Yes.

Q. Was there any discussion amongst you and Sergeant Gallagher or Lieutenant Wojcik regarding all the shots that were fired and whether the -- whether all of the shots that were fired were necessary?
A. No.
Q. You viewed all the -- all 16 shots were reasonable use of force?
A. Yes.
Q. Directing your attention to Page 2,
Roman numeral VI.

It is alleged that the Case
Supplementary Report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, Exhibit 5 CSR, falsely determined that Laquan McDonald initiated the imminent use of force likely to cause death or serious injury when he initiated an attack on Officers Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh.

What is your response to that
allegation?
A. That allegation is false. The statement that is the basis of this allegation that Laquan McDonald initiated the imminent use of force likely to cause death or serious injury when he initiated an attack -- or "he initiated an attack on Officers Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh," I believe that is the exact wording that's in the report.

And I still believe to this very day that that is a true statement based on many of the conversations we've already had during the course of the last two days, especially regarding the video that we discussed at the end of yesterday/the beginning of today where I pointed out where exactly I believe the video shows that Laquan McDonald turned towards the officers, raised his knife, and pointed it towards the officers.

And that the video is consistent with the statement of both officers, Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh, that they believed they were being attacked by Laquan McDonald, that he was armed with a deadly knife attacking them, attempting to kill them or do great bodily harm to them.

Q. I'm going to hand you what has been previously marked Exhibit 6. This is a Case Supplementary Report that you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, with the sup ID 10988891 CSR 339.
WHEREUPON, the document was tendered to the witness.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Can you -- do you need to familiarize yourself with the Exhibit 6 document?

A. I recognize the report. I'm going to trust that the collation, we finally got that straight and that all pages are present and that there's no duplicate pages.

Q. I think that's a fair assumption.

Quickly, what is the difference between this Exhibit 6 CSR and the Exhibit 5 CSR?

A. In a perfect world, these reports could probably be contained in one obviously lengthier report. Unfortunately the computer system we have does not accommodate lengthy reports, so normally what is in -- this is 6 you just gave me?

Q. Yeah. Yep.

A. What is in Exhibit 6 would be the first half of the report, and what is in Exhibit 5 would normally be the second half of the report, and they would just be one report.
Q. Okay.

A. But that would create too many pages for our computer system, so I break it up.

Q. So really other than computer capabilities, they would all be in the same report?

A. Exactly. Exhibit 6 is what we call the format. It just lists the victims, the witness, the offenders, the evidence, the police personnel involved.

It's just a bunch of categories so that you can neatly go in there if you need to and pick out who are the victims in this case, who are the offenders, what are the vehicles involved, what weapon was involved.

And then Exhibit 5 is the second half -- or would be the second half normally of the report, and that is what most people would call the narrative, which is the verbal story, if you will, of the conduct of the investigation.

Q. And were you responsible for putting together the Exhibit 6 document?

A. Yes.
Q. Did anyone else assist you in the drafting of the Exhibit 6 document?
A. Yes, Sergeant Gallagher and Lieutenant Wojcik.

Q. And was their involvement similar to the involvement you described with respect to the Exhibit 5 CSR?
A. Exactly.

Q. And maybe -- is it fair to say that when you guys were meeting to discuss drafting reports and things of that nature, that encompassed discussions of what eventually became the Exhibit 5 CSR and the Exhibit 6 CSR?
A. Yes. As I said, normally that would always be just one report.

Q. Okay.
A. We were not, if you will, mentally we were not creating two reports. We were documenting the investigation, which normally would be done in one report, but, because of the volume, it was broken up into two reports.

Q. I'm going to direct your attention to Page 3 of the Notification of Allegations, Roman numeral XV.
It is alleged that the Case Supplementary Report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, the Exhibit 6 CSR, falsely stated that McDonald was shot and killed by Officer Van Dyke while McDonald was committing an aggravated assault with a knife against Officers Van Dyke and Walsh.

What is your response to that allegation?

A. I'm sorry, which allegation are we on?

Q. Sorry, it's Page 3 of 4, Roman numeral XV, about a third of the way down. I'll read it again.

It is alleged that the Case Supplementary Report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, the Exhibit 6 CSR, falsely stated that McDonald was shot and killed by Officer Van Dyke while McDonald was committing an aggravated assault with a knife against Officers Van Dyke and Walsh.

What is your response to that allegation?

A. My response would be that that allegation is false. The statement that McDonald was shot and killed by Officer Van Dyke while McDonald was committing an aggravated assault with a knife against Officers Van Dyke and Walsh, that is included in this report, but I don't think we're talking about Page 3.

Q. Sorry, I was referring to the Notification of Allegations. I think the statement I was referring to is on Page 14 of Exhibit 6.

A. Right.

MR. McKay: Can you repeat the question and allow Detective March to answer it.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. So, again, we're referring to Page 14 of the Exhibit 6 CSR, and I'm also simultaneously referring to Roman numeral XV of Page 3 of the Notification of Allegations.

It is alleged that the Case Supplementary Report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, the Exhibit 6 CSR, falsely stated that McDonald was shot and killed by Officer Van Dyke while McDonald was committing an aggravated assault with a knife against Officer Van Dyke and Walsh.

A. Again, that allegation is false.

That statement is, in fact, in the report, and, once again, I firmly believe -- and still do -- that Laquan McDonald was committing an aggravated assault with a knife against Officer Van Dyke and his partner, Chicago Police Officer Joseph Walsh.

Again, as stated before, when he turned towards the officers, raised his right arm, right hand, which -- in which he held the knife and pointed the knife in the direction of the officers, he was, in effect, in my belief, initiating the commission of an aggravated assault against the officers.

He was performing acts that put them in reasonable apprehension of receiving a battery, and he did that using a deadly weapon, that knife.

I would also like to ask you a question. Now, that's -- in this Page 14, we're talking about my category Manner/Motive in my format. And this allegation only challenges the first sentence of that manner/motive. Would you concede then that the rest of that Manner/Motive category is accurate?

Q. We are not making any concessions;
we're just asking -- we're going through our Notification of Allegations.

A. But I'm not alleged any mis- -- there's no allegation against me for the rest of the content of that Manner/Motive category,
correct?

Q. The Notification of Allegations speaks for itself. Everything that's contained in there is in there; and everything that's not,
is not.

I am now going to hand you what has previously been marked as Exhibit 7.

(WHEREUPON, the document was tendered to the witness.)

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. This is an Original Case --

A. I'm sorry to interrupt you. Would you mind if I just read the rest of that category to put it on the record?

Q. Sure. Go ahead.

MR. McKAY: Thank you.
MR. BROWN: You're speaking of Exhibit 6?

MR. McKAY: Exhibit 6 --

MR. McKAY: Under the Manner/Motive of this report.

BY THE WITNESS:

A. Under manner the report states,
"Laquan McDonald was shot and killed by Chicago Police Officer Jason Van Dyke while McDonald was committing an aggravated assault with a knife against Officer Van Dyke and his partner, Chicago Police Officer Joseph Walsh." That is the quote in the allegation.

The rest of the section of Manner/Motive continues, which is not being challenged, "McDonald also committed an aggravated assault with a knife against Chicago Police Officers Thomas Gaffney and Joseph McElligott when McDonald stabbed the right front tire and windshield of their police vehicle and an aggravated assault with a knife against civilian Rudy Barillas immediately prior to being confronted by Officers Van Dyke and Walsh."
There's then a slash, which indicates my separation between my statement of the manner and the motive. The motive goes on to state, "Peace officer interceding in a felony in the line of the duty-defense of life (offender apparently attempting to defeat arrest.)"

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. So we've handed you Exhibit 7, an Original Case Incident Report with the RD Number HX486155, Event Number 1430116812.

What is an Original Case Incident Report again?

A. This is -- as I said before about the other report, this is the first report created under an RD number, a Records Division number. It initiates the reporting system.

Q. And how come there's a different RD number for this Case Incident Report than most of the other materials we've been showing you which have an HX475653 number?

A. This is just an administrative function, if you will. The Chicago Police utilizes reporting regulations that are created by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. It's called the Uniform Crime Reporting System. It basically spells out how incidents should be reported.

And there's a whole system. Basically it's a statistical system so that they can accurately track crimes throughout the country because obviously laws are different in different jurisdictions, but this gives them a standardized way of reporting incidents so that they can, again, do statistical analysis and keep count --

Q. So --

A. -- and according to the Uniform Crime Reporting Guidelines, most incidents are recorded under one RD number. In the case of, what are called in Illinois, part one crimes, the most serious part one crime is the crime that is reported on the Case Report.

If you have someone committing a burglary and then they are interrupted during the burglary and shoot somebody and kill them, you now have something that started out as a burglary, upgraded to possibly could be interpreted as an armed robbery, definitely was was an aggravated battery, they shot somebody, and then that person dies and it becomes a murder, the murder is the highest hierarchy.

So that would be the way the incident would be reported; it would be reported as a murder. All those lesser, if you will, offenses would just be incorporated in that report.

Q. Okay.
A. According to Uniform Crime Reporting, there are a couple of instances when two distinct record numbers -- report numbers need to be generated. Again, it's for strictly for statistical purposes. And one of those instances is a justifiable homicide.

Justifiable homicide, the FBI requires that one RD number be created to basically count the fact that there was a homicide, and then another report number is to be created to document the underlying crime that was being occurred -- that occurred at the time.

So in this case, we reported this as an aggravated assault on the police officers.
This second RD number was subsequently reclassified to the justifiable homicide. So that, statistically, the homicide would be recorded and then also the accompanying crime would be recorded.

Q.  Okay.

A. But this report does not report anything that isn't already reported in this other RD number.

Q. Okay. You mentioned --

MR. MCKAY: Can I see your Exhibit 7, gentlemen.

MR. BROWN: Sure.

MR. MCKAY: Thank you.

Go ahead.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. You mentioned the justifiable investigation, and I want to ask a basic question, probably one I should have asked yesterday. With respect to RD Number HX475653, what were your investigatory objectives? What were you tasked to investigate?

A. Well, an incident occurred in the area, if you will, of 41st and Pulaski. I was assigned as the primary investigator along with all the other police personnel that responded to the scene. We were investigating that incident to determine what happened.

Q. Okay.

A. The beat car does a report to class -- again, just to get the ball rolling, if you will, documentation-wise, and they -- when they create their report, based on whatever information they have, they make the best -- classify the incident as best -- their best guess, if you will, only it's supposed to be a professional guess based on knowledge, experience, training of what it is.

Now, my investigation -- my duty, if you will, my assignment is to thoroughly investigate the incident and then determine what happened.

Now, if I learn information that makes it obvious that the incident is something different than what the original officer reported, then I -- part of my duties is to reclassify the incident to a more serious, less serious, whatever the investigation bears out, what the incident is, and report it accurately. Once --
Q. Okay.

A. I'm sorry, just to try to be as clear as I can. Once a conclusion is made that an incident is a justifiable homicide, again, the reporting requirements require a second reporting number.

Q. Do you know when there was a second report number generated with respect to the McDonald shooting?

A. I created this -- the exhibit we're talking about now, this new RD number, and according to the computer here, it looks like I generated it, Sergeant Gallagher approved it on October 29th of 2014.

Q. And so at that time it goes from -- what was it before it was a justifiable homicide investigation? Was there a categorization before then?

A. Well, it continues on as whatever the beat car made it.

Q. Okay.

A. So they had originally -- because Van Dyke and Walsh were saying that McDonald had assaulted them with a knife, it was originally reported as an assault on a peace officer with a knife, and that's what the investigation continued under until we became confident that it was -- you know, the justifiable homicide and then we created the second --

Q. October 29th, the second --
A. That's when I --

Q. -- generated?
A. -- created the report, right.

Q. So how does this work in terms of CPD investigation of justifiable homicide along with IPRA's investigation? Are those parallel tracks, or how does that work?
A. It's kind of a cloudy situation, if you will. We are tasked -- and, again, everything has changed as of January 1st of this year because a new law went into effect, so police shooting investigations are treated -- are handled differently now.
But basically before January 1st of this year and on October 20th, 2014, the police department conducted what was called the underlying criminal investigation, so that during -- any incident where a police officer fires his handgun -- or I should say shoots someone, whether the person expires or survives, we conduct what is called -- what was called the underlying criminal investigation.

And IPRA is the Independent Police Review Authority. They conducted an administrative investigation, if you will, into the officer's conduct as to basically whether or not the use of the firearm, the use of deadly force was proper, appropriate, whatever you want to call it.

Q. Okay.
A. But any criminal aspect, if anyone were to be charged, that would be our responsibility.

Q. And you mentioned yesterday that I think you had --
A. And I -- that's my understanding. Again, I'm not a policymaker, but that's my understanding of what was -- the testimony that was in place on October 20th, 2014.

Q. Right. No, and I'm just trying to get a sense of the jurisdiction there. In terms of charges, you mentioned yesterday, I think it was, you'd been lead detective on 30 police -- approximately 30 police-involved shootings?

A. Probably about 30, yes.

Q. Had any of those investigations resulted in charges?

A. Well, when they're -- when the offender is shot -- when an offender is shot by an officer and survives, if they were to engage in criminal conduct, there are charges.

Q. How about on the police side?

A. I have not been personally involved in a case like that, but I do believe there have been incidents where police officers have been charged.

Q. Have you ever been involved in an investigation where the finding was that a police officer was not justified in his use of force?

MR. McKay: Judge -- not judge. Objection. I believe this has been asked and answered by the previous answer. He said he wasn't involved in any.

And correct me if I'm wrong -- that's -- let me withdraw that statement, but I object. I believe it's been asked and answered.

MR. NEUMER: Can we read back the question.

(WHEREUPON, the record was read by the reporter.)

BY THE WITNESS:

A. Again, this is not a yes-or-no answer. I was involved years ago. I was the primary -- I believe I was the primary detective on a police-officer involved shooting incident.

Without trying to even get -- even attempt to guess at the details of the incident, basically in a nutshell what it was was an officer shot someone, an offender. And that offender survived, and that offender was charged with -- again, I don't want to misstate so he was charged criminally and subsequently prosecuted in court. And I don't recall what the final disposition was.

Again, this is years ago. It may not have been IPRA, the Independent Police Review Authority; it may have been the former OPS, Office of Professional Standards, depending on the timeline -- again, we're talking years ago -- but they determined that the officer's use of force was not justified. They recommended separation. The Department and the City attempted to separate the officer from the employment of the City of Chicago Police Department, and ultimately at the police board, the officer was reinstated.

Q. Okay.
A. So there was a finding that he wasn't justified, but ultimately I guess the final determination was that he was justified.

Q. And that was an investigation you worked on?
A. Yes.

Q. Do you recall what -- so IPRA was saying initially --
A. IPRA or OPS.

Q. Right. Right.
A. Whoever the entity was at the time.

Q. They were finding that it was not a justified shooting?
A. Correct.

Q. And what was the finding at your investigation?
A. Well, I was -- I was not investigating the officer's use of force --

Q. Oh, okay.

A. -- they were investigating.

Q. Okay.

A. I was investigating the criminal -- we determined that the other subject was the aggressor and he was charged. And the State's Attorney's Office came out and reviewed the case, Cook County State's Attorney's Office, and they charged the subject accordingly.

Q. So they charged the subject --

A. So it wasn't just -- you know, we didn't just charge. It was the Cook County State's Attorney's Office did a review on the criminal aspect of things, and they determined -- they didn't place any charges against the officer, they charged the other gentleman.

Q. Okay. Is it fair to say -- and I don't want to put words in your mouth -- that on the cases you've worked, you haven't reached an unjustified use of force finding with respect to a police-involved shooting?

A. I don't know if that's an accurate characterization. As I said, in cases where the subject against whom the deadly force was used, if they survive and they are charged criminally, ultimately that is not my decision; that's the decision of the State's Attorney's Office.

So in those cases, ultimately we, as in any felony investigation, we -- the Chicago Police Department never charges anybody with a felony --

Q. Right.

A. -- we call the Cook County State's Attorney's Office. They have a Felony Review Unit. They come out and review our investigation, and then they tell us, yes, we approve it. If they don't think we've made the case, they will reject it.

They determine -- you know, we could arrest five people; they might charge only three because they think we only proved criminal accountability on three of them.

So ultimately the charging is left in the State's Attorney's Office.

Q. No, and I -- we might be talking past each other a little bit here. Maybe in that framework, on any of the investigations police-involved investigations -- police-involved shooting investigations where you were the lead detective, did you ever present to the State's Attorney's Office Felony

Review Unit or propose charges against a police officer, not the offender but the police officers?

A. Again, I don't know that that was my determination to make. When we have an investigation, we -- and, again, this goes back to different time frames, different systems were in place.

There was a time when, in all police shootings, we called the State's Attorney's Office, and we conducted what was called a round table. And so ultimately the decision on the justifiable -- justifiability, if you will, on the officer's use of force was -- we presented everything we knew to the State's Attorney's Office, and they would determine --

Q. I got you --

A. -- so if the offender survived, they would determine if he should get charged. If the offender had been killed in the incident, there was obviously no one to charge, but they would still come out and review the case. And if they -- I'm certain that if they thought the officer was not justified and had committed some kind of criminal act, they would have charged the officer.

Q. Let me -- I think maybe in light of that statement let me ask maybe what's a better question. In the Exhibit 5 CSR, the report concludes that Officer Van Dyke's use of force was justified; is that correct?

A. I don't want to misstate so let's --

Q. Nor do I.

A. -- I'll refer to it.

No, in fact --

Q. How about use of force was with the bounds of --

A. Right. And actually --

Q. -- Police Department --

A. -- we're talking --

Q. -- guidelines --

A. -- and, again, we're talking about what the rules are in place at the time. At the time of this investigation, I believe the Department's policy was to never make a statement of -- as to the justifiability as to the use of force because IPRA was conducting their investigation.

We would just, you know, draw conclusions based on our investigation but not make a final statement as to whether or not the officer was justified.

Q. So when was that the rule?

A. Oh, that policy, if you will, started before this. And that's why -- that's -- and this is not the first time. I've had a number -- I don't use -- in my reports, I don't use the term, "justified" and/or, "not justified," and that's why the report is written the way it is.

Our conclusion was we didn't find anything wrong with what Jason Van Dyke did and, therefore, the way we stated -- when I say,"we," Gallagher agreed with me, Wojcik agreed with me. We found that his actions were in conformity with the Department -- or within the bounds of the Department's use of force guidelines and in conformity with local laws and state law -- local ordinances and state law.

So we -- it's not our responsibility to make that determination as far as justifiable, and we really aren't permitted to.

Q.  Is it unusual to include this type of language in the Exhibit 5 CSR?

A.  No. In fact -- and, again, you're talking about at different time frames. I'm -- I've been dealing with this issue for 33 years.

At one time the Department wanted us to just state -- at this time, which was whenever the investigation was concluded, when the State's Attorney's Office came out on every shooting, we would just -- they wanted us to just end the report with, "At this time, based on all facts available, the State's Attorney's Office determined that no charges will be placed against the officer."

Q.  And just to wrap up, is it fair to say that you're not aware of charges being filed against a police officer based on the result of your investigation of a police-involved shooting?
A. I'm not aware of that happening in any case that I was involved in the investigation.

Q. Okay.

MR. NEUMER: Any follow-up on the -- on that line of questioning?

MR. BROWN: Just one quick one.

BY MR. BROWN:

Q. If after your investigation you concluded that Van Dyke's actions did not conform with CPD's policy, would you have noted it as such in the CSR?

A. Yes.

Q. Okay.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. I'm going to hand you what has previously been marked -- while we're looking for that, prior to October 20th, 2014, did you have any relationship with Officer Van Dyke?

A. I never knew him before that night.

Q. Okay.

A. And I might add, I didn't know any of the officers -- any of the ten officers before that night.
Q. No relationship with those --
A. None at all --
Q. -- folks?
A. -- never worked together, never assigned to the same unit.

Q. So 11 and 12, I'm going to provide you -- going to hand you what's been previously marked as Exhibits 11 and 12.

(WHEREUPON, the documents were tendered to the witness.)

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. These are Evidence Submission Forms, Form 54818.E, 54818.F submitted to Illinois State Police with an incident RD Number. HX475653.

What's the purpose of an Evidence Submission Form?

A. In any case where there is physical evidence, if we want the evidence analyzed by the Illinois State Police Crime Lab, we create an Evidence Submission Form to request that analysis.

Q. And did you draft the narrative that is on Page 2 of Exhibit 11 and Exhibit 12?
A. Yes.

Q. In that narrative -- I'm going to direct you to Page 4 of the Notification of Allegations, number five at the top of the page.

   It is alleged you falsely stated in two Evidence Submission Forms, Form 54818.E and Form 54818.F that were submitted to the Illinois State Police regarding incident RD HX475653 that McDonald assaulted three Chicago Police Officers with a knife.

   What is your response to that allegation?

A. The allegation is false. The report does say that McDonald assaulted three Chicago Police -- the Evidence Submission Form does state that McDonald assaulted three Chicago Police Officers with a knife.

   It states that because that statement is true. That is, in fact, what McDonald did when he turned towards -- when he stabbed the tires on the police vehicle occupied by Officer Gaffney and when he turned towards Officer -- with the knife -- when he stabbed the tire of the police vehicle occupied by Officer Gaffney with the knife, and subsequently when he turned towards Officers Van Dyke and Walsh and raised his arm holding the knife, pointing the knife at the officers, he did, in fact, assault all three of those officers and put them in reasonable apprehension of receiving a battery.

And so this statement is, in fact, in that report, and it is true. It is not false.
The allegation is false.

I would also like to clarify that it appears that in an effort to create additional charges -- or allegations against me, this allegation states that I created two Evidence Submission Forms.

I created one Evidence Submission Form. The number is 54818. Because evidence is going to different sections of the crime lab, the computer creates an E and an F; one to go to one section of the crime lab, one to go to the other section of the crime lab.

I did not create two reports. I created one report and the report does contain that statement, and that statement is true.
Q. And you drafted that statement in Exhibit 11 and Exhibit 12 narrative?
A. Yes.
Q. And just with respect to the Original Case Incident Report --

MR. McKAY: Can I interrupt for just a second?
MR. NEUMER: Sure.
MR. McKay: I know where you're going, but before we go to that, can you state for the record, Exhibit 11 and Exhibit 12 are -- Exhibit 11 is 54818.E -- and correct me if I'm wrong, gentlemen -- your Exhibit 12 is 54818.F for the record.
MR. NEUMER: Correct. Correct.
MR. McKay: Thank you.

BY THE WITNESS:
A. And I don't know if anyone bothered to look, but these reports are exactly identical except one has an E on it and one has an F on it. Which I did not create; a computer created it. So I only created one report.

BY MR. NEUMER:
Q. Do you have the Exhibit 7 Original
Case Incident Report in front of you, HX486155?

A. Yes.

Q. In the narrative section, did you draft that narrative section?

A. Yes.

Q. Just wanted to clarify. I'm going to hand you what has previously been marked as Exhibit 13.

(WHEREUPON, the document was tendered to the witness.)

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. This is a Major Incident Notification Detail with Incident Number 73204 --

MR. McKAY: Have you -- did you cover then your allegation number four referencing exhibit -- your Exhibit 7?

MR. NEUMER: I thought I did. Was that Exhibit 7? We can --

MR. McKAY: You began to ask him questions. He identified the reason for a second ID number, the FBI's Uniform Crime Reporting System, he explained that.

I -- and correct me if I'm wrong, did you specifically ask Detective March about this allegation you've numbered number four?

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Directing your attention to Page 3 -- at the bottom of Page 3, allegation number four,
it is alleged you falsely stated in the Case
Incident Report for RD Number HX486155, [Exhibit 7], that McDonald committed aggravated assaults against Officer Gaffney, Van Dyke, and Walsh that forced Van Dyke, "in defense of his life to shoot and kill McDonald."

What is your response to that
allegation?

A. That allegation is false. That quote that -- the quote from the -- in the allegation that forced Van Dyke "in defense of his life to shoot and kill McDonald," is, in fact, contained in this report.

The allegation is false, however, because that statement is, in fact, true for all of the discussions we've been having for the last two days. It was my belief and is my belief to this very moment that that statement is true; that, because of Laquan McDonald's actions, it forced Van Dyke to "in defense of his life shoot and kill McDonald."

So that allegation is false. I would like to ask you, you're only challenging the, "in defense of his life to shoot and kill McDonald"; does that mean that the -- you concede that the rest of that narrative is true?

Q. Our Notification of Allegations speaks for itself on that subject.

A. Then I would just like to read into the record the fact -- it's very short -- the narrative here, but under "Investigation" on Page 2 of this document, the report says, "The offender in this incident, Laquan McDonald, committed an aggravated assault against the victim, Rudy Barillas, by attempting to cut Barillas with a knife. Barillas called 911. Chicago Police Officers Thomas Gaffney, Jason Van Dyke, and Joseph Walsh responded to Barillas' call. McDonald committed aggravated assaults against the three officers finally" -- and at that point -- up to that point, you are not challenging anything in the narrative of this report, correct?

Q. Again, our Notification of Allegations speaks for itself.

A. All right. But those -- that part of the narrative is not included in the allegation, correct?

Q. I'm going to let our Notification of Allegations speak for itself.

A. Okay.

Q. So I think -- did we put Exhibit 13 before you, Major Incident Notification Detail, Incident Number 73204?

What is a Major Incident Notification Detail?

A. This is a computerized system within the Department. As it says, it's to keep track of major incidents. Basically it's so that when an incident occurs, entries are made that the incident did, in fact, occur.

As details are -- as more information becomes available, the Major Incident Notification Detail is updated by different personnel within the Department.

And, again, it's basically a database so that primarily bosses, supervisors, can go in there, and if we have a question about a particular incident, rather than having to make a phone call, they can go into it to find out what's going on. They can just go in here and get a basic synopsis of the incident.

Q. Okay. And I want to direct your attention to the narrative on Page 2 of the Exhibit 13 document -- sorry, of Exhibit 13 --
A. Okay.

Q. -- so of the Notification Detail.
Did you draft that narrative?
A. No.

Q. Do you know who did draft that narrative?
A. I don't know for a fact. I believe it was Sergeant Gallagher.

Q. Is the sergeant usually the one who,
in your past experience with Major Incident Notification Details, to draft the narrative section of those documents?
A. Yes, normally this is all done by a supervisor. I can tell you that I have never made an entry in the Major Incident Notification Detail system, including regarding this incident.
Q. Okay.

A. So I would think that that should conclusively prove that this allegation is false.

Q. I will certainly note that you did not draft -- your statement that you did not draft the narrative section of the Major Incident Notification Detail.

MR. McKay: I would ask, as an officer of the court, that you withdraw allegation 1(a)(16). What good-faith basis do you have to persist in this allegation against Detective March?

MR. Neumer: I think the key would be --

MR. McKay: No --

THE WITNESS: I'm sorry, I'm wrong, too.

MR. McKay: 1A, Roman numeral XVI.

THE WITNESS: Right Page 4, number six.

MR. McKay: My mistake. Are you or will you withdraw allegation number six in the allegations alleged against Detective March?

MR. Neumer: We're -- when we drafted these Notification of Allegations, we had a good faith basis for all of them. And as we --

MR. McKAY: And now? And now regarding allegation number six what do you have?

MR. NEUMER: Detective March has stated that he has not drafted this document.

MR. McKAY: That is why I'm asking you on the record to withdraw allegation number six. Will you do that?

MR. NEUMER: I mean, that's not part of the process. It's not -- there's no withdrawal. We're going to do an investigation. So we're fact finders. That's what we do; as we find facts, we incorporate them into our investigation.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. I want to go back to the scene of the shooting, Detective March. At any time while you were at the scene of the shooting, did you witness officers attempting to coordinate stories regarding what occurred on that evening?

A. No.

Q. At any time while you were at the scene of the shooting, did you take notes that were not a part of a GPR?

A. No.

Q. And I just want to clarify. When -- so when you first -- strike that.

You spoke with each of the officers at the scene of the shooting multiple times,

correct?

A. Correct.

Q. And is it correct -- the first time they provided some sort of narrative regarding the shooting?

MR. McKay: I have to object. We went over this yesterday. This has been asked and answered. I think today we're moving on with the allegations that we all did not get to yesterday.

MR. Neumer: Your objection is noted.

Would you read back the question.

(WHEREUPON, the record was read by the reporter.)

BY THE WITNESS:

A. So the question is, they provided some sort of narrative?

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Right.
A. Yes.

Q. And then the second time or in subsequent occasions, they provided additional narrative?
A. I can't say for certain that there was anything additional. The main reason for me going back a second time was, the first time I had just gotten to the scene; I was trying to get as much information as I could to determine what we needed to investigate, so I didn't take the time to write anything down.

To the best of my recollection, when I did have time to write everything down, I took time with each officer and did a GPR on them. And as best as I recall, the two different interviews, if you will, were basically the same.

I don't recall anybody saying anything earth shattering, and I certainly have no independent recollection of any differences or additions between the first verbal interview and the second interview where I created the
Q. With respect to the Exhibit 5 CSR, you reviewed that Exhibit 5 CSR in preparation for --

A. I've got so many exhibits in front of me at this point. We have to figure out what you're talking about here.

Q. Sure. So the Exhibit 5 CSR is --

A. What report is that?

A. I'm sorry, could you read the numbers again.

Q. Sure. It's got a sup ID of 10992767.

CASR 301?

A. Okay.

Q. When you reviewed that Exhibit 5 CSR, did you see any inaccuracies?

A. What do you mean when I reviewed it?

Q. I thought you had told us yesterday that you reviewed these documents in preparation for this interview.

A. Oh, yes. That's what I'm saying, you didn't specify when I reviewed -- I had no idea what exactly you were talking about.

Q. My fault.
A. Okay. So can I -- can you repeat the question?

Q. Sure. Sure. When you reviewed that Exhibit 5 CSR, did you see any inaccuracies?
A. No.

Q. Looking back at that report, is there anything at the present date that you would change about that report if you could?
A. No, actually -- and I have made this comment to a number of people during the past 18 months as this case has come under unprecedented scrutiny -- every time I read this report, my reaction -- the only reaction that I have is that if I was writing the reports today, I would write it the same way because everything in this report is totally factual as far as I believe.

MR. NEUMER: Do you have any follow-up on the CSR?
BY MR. BROWN:
Q. Just a quick kind of education question. I know from the three, I guess, victims of the assault would be Gaffney, Van Dyke and Walsh. I was just wondering, why wasn't McElligott included in that number?

A. My own personal feeling was that McElligott was the victim of an aggravated assault when the tire was slashed. There was some discussion at the scene as to who to designate as the victims, and some question was raised, you know, as to whether McElligott should be because he was behind McDonald at the time, and so we decided to leave him off.

Q. Okay.

A. But my own personal opinion, he was put in reasonable apprehension of receiving a battery, too, because he was in some -- to me, in my opinion, he was at more risk than Gaffney. McDonald stabbed the tire of the police vehicle occupied by Gaffney so, in theory, I think it's a reasonable extension that that use of force could be extended as a -- not just against the vehicle, but against the uniform -- the marked vehicle, but also against the uniformed police officer occupying it.

But he was surrounded by a lot of metal. Officer McElligott was totally exposed. McDonald could have very easily -- he definitely indicated a willingness to attack the police by stabbing the tire of that vehicle, and McElligott was much more exposed at that point than Gaffney was.

So, in my mind, I thought it was reasonable for McElligott to be in fear of receiving a battery, but, like I said, because there was some questions about that, that the force was used on the vehicle occupied by Gaffney, we only used Gaffney and not McElligott.

Q. Did McElligott make any statements to the fact that, "I don't believe I received an assault or I was the victim of an assault"?

A. No.

Q. So was McElligott's, I guess, input part of that equation to include him as the number of people who received the assault?

A. No, I think that was just people's independent -- you know, none of us were lawyers at the scene. It's just a bunch of people that know the law fairly well and were applying it to the facts as they were aware of at the time.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Who was part of those decisions in terms of leaving McElligott out of the people in the assault group?

A. I mean, the major players, if you will, in the investigation, myself, Sergeant Gallagher, I believe Deputy Chief McNaughton was included in the discussion but...

Q. Do you remember whose final call it was?

A. No, I don't.

MR. NEUMER: We're going to go off the record for just a minute. It is 4:01 p.m.

(WHEREUPON, discussion was had off the record.)

MR. NEUMER: The time is 4:08 p.m. We'll go back on the record.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Last couple of Notification of Allegations. Direct your attention to Page 3, Roman numeral XVI.
This is in reference to Exhibit 6, which is a Case Supplementary Report with the sup ID 10988891 CASR 339. And there is a justifiable homicide description in that document.

On Page 3, under Exhibit 6, under "Homicide Description" -- and this is about two-thirds of way down on Page 3 -- it says, "Criminal attacked officer, that officer killed criminal."

It is alleged that the Case Supplementary Report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, the Exhibit 6 document, falsely stated in the "Additional Just. Homicide Description" section that McDonald, "attacked officer, that officer killed criminal."

What is your response to that allegation?

A. That allegation is false. The report does state the wording -- the verbiage that's in quotes. This is a category in the computer system where, when you're reporting a justifiable homicide, there is an item that says, "Additional Justifiable Homicide Description," and then there is a drop-down menu, and you only fill this out if it is a justifiable homicide.

Once we had determined that we were reporting a justifiable homicide, I had to pick from the -- or choose from the drop-down menu the most appropriate classification.

The report does say, Additional Justifiable Homicide Description: Criminal attacked officer, that officer killed criminal." Those are not my words; that is a selection I made from the drop-down menu.

So the report does state that, however, again, to the best of my belief -- and it is still my opinion to this very day -- that that statement is, in fact, true. So, therefore, that -- my response is that the allegation that that statement is false is in itself false.

I would also like to point out that just above the Additional Justifiable Homicide description, there is a category that says, "Just" -- abbreviation for justifiable -- "Homicide Description: Criminal killed by police officer." I would like to put it on the record that that item is not being challenged and is not alleged to be false in this allegation, correct?

Q. The Notification of Allegations speaks for itself.

A. Okay.

Q. Directing your attention to Page 3 of the Notification of Allegations, it is alleged you obstructed justice by failing to conduct a complete, thorough, properly-documented, and professional investigation respecting RD Number HX475653 in the ways enumerated in allegations one and two.

I won't go through all the allegations listed in number one and two, but I will ask you, what is your response to that allegation?

A. My response is that that allegation is completely and utterly false. As you said, we've already addressed all of the allegations -- all of the items, if you will, in allegations one and two, and my response to all of those items is that they are false and erroneous.

And my -- because it is my belief, again, to this very day that I did, in fact, conduct a complete, thorough, and properly-documented, and professional investigation. And it was my firm intention all the way through this to in no way obstruct justice and, in fact, to bring about a just conclusion for everyone -- or it -- yeah, a just conclusion for everyone involved.

MR. NEUMER: Do you have any follow-up on those two allegations?

MR. BROWN: I do not.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. At this time I'll ask you -- we have no further questions for you. We attempt to ask every relevant question. We attempt to be thorough, but sometimes we fail to ask questions we should or fail to elicit information that we should.

So understanding the nature of the allegations today, is there any additional information you want to provide to us?

A. Yes. On Monday, 20 October, 2016 at 9:47 p.m., civilian Rudy Barillas called 911 to report that a person now known as Laquan McDonald was breaking into the trucks parked in the trucking lot at West 41st Street and South Kildare Avenue.

After calling 911, Barillas confronted McDonald and told him to leave the lot. According to both Barillas and his wife, Yuli Garcia, who was also present in the lot, McDonald "growled" at Barillas. McDonald then produced a knife and swung the knife at Barillas attempting to cut him. Barillas backed up and threw his cellular telephone at McDonald who then fled the lot on foot.

Chicago Police Officers Thomas Gaffney and Joseph McElligott were assigned to respond to Barillas' calls. The officers were both in uniform and driving a marked police vehicle.

When they arrived at the lot, Barillas told them what had occurred. Barillas gave the officers a description of McDonald and told them McDonald had fled north on Kildare and then east on West 40th Street --
Q. Detective March, could I pause you for just a second? I see you've got several pages there. Is this -- do you intend to read the entire statement, or can you just give me a little bit of a sense of where we're going here?

A. You asked if I had something to add. This is what I have to add.

Q. How many pages do we have there?

A. There are ten.

Q. Ten pages? Is it possible to introduce it as Detective March Exhibit 2 as opposed to reading it into the record? If you want to read it, I'm not going to --

MR. MCKAY: He wants to read it.

MR. NEUMER: Okay.

MR. MCKAY: It is only 4:17. It will not take that long.

BY THE WITNESS:

A. I finished with, Barillas gave the officers a description of McDonald and told them McDonald had fled north on Kildare and then east on West 40th Street.

The officers located McDonald walking eastbound on the sidewalk on the south side of 40th Street from Kildare. Officer McElligott exited the police vehicle and approached McDonald on foot. McElligott called to McDonald and told him to stop. McDonald ignored McElligott and continued walking eastbound. McDonald's hands were in his pockets so McElligott told McDonald to take his hands out of his pockets. McDonald took his hands out of his pockets revealing that he was holding a knife in his right hand. McElligott repeatedly ordered McDonald to drop the knife, but he ignored McElligott's directions.

As McDonald reached South Keeler Avenue, Officer Gaffney notified the radio dispatcher that they were following a subject who was armed with a knife and requested assistance from a unit equipped with a Taser.

The officers continued to follow McDonald eastbound on the sidewalk from Keeler Avenue. As McDonald approached South Karlov Avenue, Officer Gaffney turned his police vehicle southbound onto Karlov and stopped, blocking the crosswalk.

The area where this accident began was industrial in nature, and at that time of day, almost 10:00 p.m., it was deserted. All of the businesses were closed, and there was no vehicular or pedestrian traffic.

As McDonald continued to walk eastbound, however, he was approaching South Pulaski Road, a business street where more civilians were present, both in vehicles and as pedestrians and occupying the businesses on Pulaski.

Officer Gaffney wanted to stop McDonald before he reached this more populated area and put more people at risk for injury.
When Gaffney stopped his vehicle in the crosswalk blocking McDonald's path, McDonald stabbed the right front tire of the vehicle with his knife causing the tire to go flat. Gaffney immediately informed the radio dispatcher that McDonald had attacked the marked police vehicle and had popped the tire with the knife.

McDonald attempted to walk around the front of the police vehicle, and Gaffney drove the vehicle forward a short distance continuing to block McDonald. At this point, McDonald stabbed at the windshield of the marked police vehicle striking it with the knife. He then was able to get around the vehicle and continued eastbound on the sidewalk from Karlov.

At 40th Street and Pulaski Road on the southwest corner was a Burger King restaurant with a large parking lot. As assisting police units approached westbound on 40th Street from Pulaski, McDonald ran eastbound through the parking lot on the north side of the Burger King restaurant building.

In the restaurant parking lot, Chicago Police Officers Joseph Walsh and Jason Van Dyke were in the first responding assist unit. They took over the pursuit of McDonald through the parking lot. These officers were also in uniform and driving a marked police vehicle.

Walsh, who was driving their vehicle, positioned the vehicle between McDonald and the restaurant building to keep McDonald from entering the restaurant. McDonald ran through the parking lot and out onto Pulaski Road. He turned southbound and began to walk in the southbound lanes of the street.

    Officer Walsh pursued McDonald with the police vehicle. As McDonald continued southbound, Walsh positioned his vehicle between McDonald and a Dunkin' Donuts restaurant on the east side of Pulaski Road.

    When the police vehicle was alongside McDonald, Officer Van Dyke opened his door to exit the vehicle and confront McDonald. Walsh, realizing they were too close to McDonald to safely exit the vehicle, told Van Dyke to wait until they were further ahead of McDonald.

    Officers Walsh and Van Dyke drove further south on Pulaski and stopped the police vehicle ahead of McDonald. Walsh and Van Dyke both exited their vehicle and drew their handguns. The officers stood in the street facing northbound toward McDonald. Both officers were in uniform standing next to their marked police vehicle.

    As McDonald approached southbound, he was holding the knife in his right hand in an underhand grip with the blade pointed forward. As he walked towards the officers, he swung the knife in an aggressive, exaggerated manner. Both officers ordered him to drop the knife multiple times. McDonald ignored these directions and continued to advance towards the officers with the distance between McDonald and the officers decreasing.

When McDonald got to within 10 to 15 feet of the officers, he looked toward the officers, squaring his shoulders in their direction. He raised the knife pointing it at the officers.

Officer Van Dyke, believing McDonald was attacking Van Dyke with the knife, attempting to kill Van Dyke, fired his handgun in self-defense -- or in defense of his life to stop the attack.

McDonald fell to the ground but continued to move and continued to grasp the knife refusing to let go of it. Van Dyke continued to fire his weapon at McDonald as McDonald was on the ground as Van Dyke thought McDonald was attempting to get up, all the while continuing to point the knife at Van Dyke.

Van Dyke fired his pistol until the slide of the weapon locked in the rearward position indicating the weapon was empty.

Van Dyke immediately loaded his weapon with a new magazine and assessed the situation.

McDonald was no longer moving and the threat had been mitigated, so the officers approached McDonald. McDonald was still holding the knife in his right hand, and both officers continued to order him to drop the knife.

Finally, Officer Walsh was able to approach McDonald and forcibly kick the knife out of his hand.

An ambulance was then requested for McDonald. He was transported to Mount Sinai Hospital and subsequently expired from his wounds.

During the course of this investigation, a canvass was conducted of the area near the scene for witnesses of this incident, including the Burger King restaurant and the Dunkin' Donuts restaurant.

Relevant video recordings were recovered from the in-car video systems of two of the Chicago Police Department vehicles involved in this incident: The Dunkin' Donuts restaurant and the Greater Chicago Food Depository. All of these videos, in my opinion, were consistent with the statements of witnesses in this case.

Additional video was recovered from other sources, including the Burger King restaurant. These video recordings did not contain any video footage relevant to this investigation.

It should be noted that five police units had responded to this incident by the time Officer Van Dyke fired his handgun at Laquan McDonald. Each of these units contained two officers. All five police vehicles were marked vehicles, and all ten police officers at or near the scene were in uniform.

There can be no doubt that McDonald knew the personnel he was interacting with were Chicago Police Officers. Multiple officers issued verbal directions multiple times for McDonald to drop the knife with which he was armed.

At any time, McDonald could have chosen to follow the lawful directions of the officers to drop the knife and this incident would have ended with no harm to anyone involved.

Some relevant state law needs to be cited to understand the findings of this investigation. "720 ILCS 5/7-7, Private persons use of force in resisting arrest. A person is not authorized to use force to resist an arrest which he know is being made either by a peace officer or by a private citizen summoned and directed by a peace officer to make the arrest even if he believes the arrest is unlawful and the arrest, in fact, is unlawful."

MR. McKAY: For the record, we're submitting Dave March Exhibit 2 for the record a copy of which has been tendered to you.

MR. NEUMER: Can we hang on to this?

MR. McKAY: Yes, that's for you. We want this made part of the official regarding Detective March.

(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked D. March Exhibit No. 2, for identification, as of 04/27/2016.)
BY THE WITNESS:

A. "720 ILCS 5/7-5. Peace officers use of force in making arrest. A, a peace officer or any person whom he has summoned or directed to assist him need not retreat or desist from efforts to make a lawful arrest because of resistance or threatened resistance to the arrest."

"He is justified in the use of any force which he reasonably believes necessary to effect the arrest and of any force which he reasonably believes to be necessary to defend himself or another from bodily harm while making the arrest."

"However, he is justified in using force likely to cause death or great bodily harm only when he reasonably believes that such force is necessary to prevent death or great bodily harm to himself or such other person or when he reasonably believes both that: One, such force is necessary to prevent the arrest from being defeated by resistance or escape and; two, the person to be arrested has committed or attempted a forcible felony which involved the infliction or threatened infliction of great bodily harm or is attempting to escape by use of a deadly weapon or otherwise indicates that he will endanger human life or inflict great bodily harm unless arrested without delay."

MR. McKAY: For the record, we're submitting Dave March Exhibit 3, a copy of which has been tendered to both of you.

MR. NEUMER: Really quickly, is it possible at the end of this to incorporate the document -- well, either the document or a copy of the document Detective March is reading into -- as an exhibit as well?

MR. McKAY: That's fine. We have no objection to that, and we'll mark it as an additional exhibit, but he'd like to read it for purposes of this hearing.

MR. NEUMER: Keep going.

(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked
D. March Exhibit No. 3, for identification, as of 04/27/2016.)

BY THE WITNESS:

A. "720 ILCS 5/2-8, forcible felony.

Forcible felony means treason, first degree murder, second degree murder, predatory criminal sexual assault of a child, aggravated criminal sexual assault, criminal sexual assault, robbery, burglary, residential burglary, aggravated arson, arson, aggravated kidnapping, kidnapping, aggravated battery resulting in great bodily harm or permanent disability or disfigurement, and any other felony which involves the use or threat of physical force or violence against an individual."

MR. MCKAY: For the record, we're submitting Dave March Exhibit 4, the statute on what a forcible felony means, a copy of which has been tendered to the both of you.

(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked
D. March Exhibit No. 4, for identification, as of 04/27/2016.)

BY THE WITNESS:

A. Laquan McDonald was committing a burglary in the trucking lot when he was confronted by Rudy Barillas. When he produced a knife and attacked Barillas with a knife, he attempted to commit first degree murder or aggravated battery resulting in great bodily harm, and armed robbery, all of which are forcible felonies.

As stated in the previously-cited state statutes, Laquan McDonald had absolutely no right or authority to resist being arrested by people he knew to be peace officers. When he ignored the verbal directions of Officer McElligott to stop and drop the knife he held in his hand as he walked away from McElligott.

McDonald became an offender who had attempted to commit a forcible felony which involved the infliction or threatened infliction of great bodily harm, use of a deadly weapon after having already indicated he would endanger human life or inflict great bodily harm unless arrested without delay.

Under these circumstances I believe Illinois law permitted the use of deadly force by the officers attempting to arrest McDonald.

McDonald continued to attempt to escape arrest by the use of a deadly weapon when he attacked the police vehicle occupied by Officer Gaffney, again using a deadly weapon further indicating he would endanger human life.
or inflict great bodily harm unless arrested without delay.

Again, under these circumstances, I believe the law permitted the use of deadly force by the officers attempting to arrest McDonald.

When Officer Van Dyke finally confronted McDonald on Pulaski Road, Van Dyke was aware of these previous circumstances from the transmissions he monitored on the police radio. By law, Van Dyke was justified in using deadly force to effect the arrest of McDonald as soon as Van Dyke exited his police vehicle.

However, Van Dyke instead attempted to arrest McDonald without using deadly force by first drawing his handgun and verbally directing McDonald to drop the knife. McDonald ignored these directions and continued to advance toward Van Dyke with the distance between McDonald and Van Dyke decreasing.

It was not until McDonald turned directly toward Van Dyke, squaring his shoulders toward the officer, and raised his knife pointing it at Van Dyke that Van Dyke, in defense of his life, used deadly force to prevent death or great bodily harm to himself.

The Chicago Police Department policy on the use of force is the other authority in this matter. General Order G03-02-01 entitled "The Use of Force Model" states, "The Department utilizes a use of force model to provide guidance on the appropriate amount of force to be used to effect a lawful purpose."

"The use of force model employs the progressive and reasonable escalation and de-escalation of member-applied force in proportional response to the actions and level of resistance offered by a subject. Such response may progress from the member's actual presence at the scene to the application of deadly force."

MR. McKay: At this time we're submitting into the record an exhibit we've marked Dave March Exhibit 5, a copy of which has been tendered to the both of you regarding the General Order of use of force model which is General Order G03-02-01.
WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked D. March Exhibit No. 5, for identification, as of 04/27/2016.)

BY THE WITNESS:

A. This directive also states, "Members are not required to start at the lowest levels of the use of force model. They will select the appropriate level of force based on the subject's actions."

"The use of force model is a graphic representation of the guidelines for the appropriate use of force in relation to the actions of a subject."

The use of force model graphic -- the use of force model graphic basically shows a proportional use of force response to the actions of a subject. It shows that insufficient force used by a department member will result in "probable ineffective control"; while too much force used by a department member will result in "probable excessive control."

In the use of force model graphic for an "assailant" whose "actions will likely cause death or serious physical injury," such as Laquan McDonald in this incident, all force options are available to an officer.

However, the graphic shows that "firearms and other lethal force" are most likely to be effective. The graphic shows very little chance of "probable excessive control" against this type of assailant.

General Order G03-02-03 entitled, "Deadly Force" states, "Roman numeral II, Department Policy, A: A sworn member is justified in using force likely to cause death or great bodily harm only when he or she reasonably believes that such force is necessary; one, to prevent death or great bodily harm to the sworn member or to another person or; two, to prevent an arrest from being defeated by resistance or escape and if a sworn member reasonably believes that the person to be arrested, A, has committed or attempted to commit a forcible felony which involves the infliction, threatened infliction, or threatened use of physical force likely to cause death or great bodily harm or; B, is attempting to escape by use of a deadly weapon or; C, otherwise indicates that he or she will endanger human life or inflict great bodily harm unless arrested without delay."

MR. McKay: At this time we're submitting into the record Dave March Exhibit 6, a copy of which has been tendered to the both of you gentlemen. This is General Order G03-02-03, General Order regarding deadly force.

(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked
D. March Exhibit No. 6, for identification, as of 04/27/2016.)

BY THE WITNESS:

A. This department policy mirrors the applicable state law cited previously.

During the course of this investigation, a number of facts were learned about Laquan McDonald. First, he had an extensive criminal history with the Chicago Police Department. At the age of 17, he had been arrested 26 times. Charges for these arrests included aggravated battery to a peace officer, resisting arrest, battery, assault, reckless conduct, possession of a controlled substance, and possession of cannabis.
MR. McKAY: At this time we're submitting into the record Dave March Exhibit 7, the official criminal history report of Laquan McDonald. It is ten pages long reflecting all 26 arrests of Laquan McDonald, a copy of which has been given to the both of you gentlemen.

(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked D. March Exhibit No. 7, for identification, as of 04/27/2016.)

BY THE WITNESS:

A. Second, McDonald had a history of mental health issues. When notified of McDonald's death, his uncle informed detectives that McDonald had been prescribed medication but had stopped taking it because he did not like the side effects.

There were two documented incidents where McDonald had exhibited behavior problems while at school, became violent, and school officials called the police. In both of these incidents, he was transported to Hartgrove Hospital for evaluation and treatment.

The third, the results of the toxicological examination conducted during the autopsy of McDonald revealed the presence of phencyclidine, or PCP, in his blood.

We will never know what motivated the actions of Laquan McDonald during this incident. Whether he was a violent criminal intent on not being apprehended, whether he was in the midst of a mental health crisis, whether he was under the influence of a mind-altering drug, or any combination of the three.

In any case, in the situation the police officers encountered dealing with McDonald, he was never contained and never communicated with anyone he encountered. Under such circumstances, the subject's motivation is a moot point. A violent criminal, a person in the midsts of a mental health crisis, and a person under the influence of any substance armed with a deadly weapon are all equally dangerous and deadly to both the police and the civilian population.

Some talk about de-escalation techniques as an alternative to deadly force. I am a member of the Department's Crisis/Hostage Negotiation Team. I have received training from the Federal Bureau of Investigation and have attended the Department's Crisis Intervention Team, CIT, training.

In order to have any chance at successfully using de-escalation techniques to resolve a situation, whether it involves a violent criminal, person with a mental health history in crisis, or a person under the influence of any substance, first, the person and the situation must be contained; and, second, there must be communication.

In this incident, Laquan McDonald was never contained, as he continued to walk down the street during the entire incident, able to attack anyone at any time. He also never communicated with anyone, from his first contact with Rudy Barillas through his contact with multiple police officers.

I do not believe anyone knows more about what happened in this incident than I do. I was at the scene shortly after it occurred and have personally spoken to all of the police officers involved.

As the primary detective assigned to this investigation, I was aware of all the actions taken during this investigation and personally in contact with all personnel participating in these actions.

Many people have commented on this incident in the time since it occurred. I have been asked a number of times if I knew that night at the scene if this shooting incident was going to be a problem. My response has always been that the actions of all of the police officers involved in this incident were absolutely proper. To this day, I believe this to be true.

There are two issues at the heart of this matter. The first is the use of deadly force by Officer Jason Van Dyke. For the reasons previously stated, I believe and continue to believe that his use of deadly force was permitted by Illinois law and Chicago Police Department policy.

The second is the number of shots.
As soon as most people hear that a 17-year-old offender armed with a knife was shot 16 times, excessive. Without knowing and understanding all of the specific details of this particular incident, this is understandable. One needs to consider the "totality of the circumstances," as the law refers to it, to make an informed, educated, and intelligent conclusion.

There will always be a segment of the population that has an unrealistic expectation of police officers. They will question why the police shot and killed an offender instead of shooting the weapon out of his hand. They will never understand the reality of the situation.

Fortunately for many they have not had the experience of putting on a uniform, whether it be as a member of the military service or as a police officer and putting their life on the line in a violent confrontation.

Police officers, including Chicago Police Officers, are trained that, during the stress of an armed confrontation, the fine motor skills required for the highest levels of accuracy in firing a handgun deteriorate. Officers are trained to shoot for "center mass," the torso area of an assailant, as this is the largest area, giving one the greatest chances of success.

Also, officers are trained specifically not to fire just one shot and then check to see if it was effective. It is very easy under the stress of the situation to miss the target. And even if one hits the target, firearms are not a guaranteed solution. There have been many instances of officers shot -- I misstated that -- there have been many instances of offenders shot multiple times who continued their attacks.

Officers are trained to shoot as long as they perceive a threat until the threat is eliminated. This is the key in this situation.
Officer Van Dyke explained that he fired his handgun at McDonald because McDonald was attacking Van Dyke with a knife. Van Dyke continued to fire his weapon at McDonald as he was on the ground because McDonald continued to move and continued to grasp the knife, continuing to point it at Van Dyke. Van Dyke explained that he believed McDonald was attempting to get up and continue his attack on
We need to remember that we have the benefit of making our judgment at the conclusion -- at the end of this investigation. We have a lot more facts at our disposal than Jason Van Dyke did that night.

When Laquan McDonald attacked him and Jason Van Dyke began firing his weapon, he -- each shot was not registering in his mind as a hit or a miss. He didn't know for certain if each bullet was striking McDonald. He didn't know where the bullets were striking McDonald for certain. He didn't know how seriously McDonald was being injured by any bullets that did strike his person.

The only thing Jason Van Dyke knew for certain was that, as he fired his weapon, Laquan McDonald fell to the ground. The only thing that Jason Van Dyke could be certain about at that point was that at least one round that he fired had struck McDonald because obviously McDonald had been injured and fell to the ground.

As McDonald was down on the ground continuing to move, continuing to grasp that knife and point it at Jason Van Dyke, Van Dyke didn't know if he was shot once or twice or how -- again, how seriously he was injured.

From Van Dyke's perspective, it was perfectly reasonable to believe that it was still possible for Laquan McDonald to continue his attack. And that is one of the reasons why the number of shots that were fired were, in fact, fired.

Jason Van Dyke had no idea -- no way to reasonably know how many times McDonald had been struck by the gunfire, where those bullets struck him, or how serious any of his injuries were. As long as Laquan McDonald continued to move while he was on the ground, continued to grasp that knife, and continued to point that knife at Van Dyke, it was reasonable for Van Dyke to assume -- or conclude, I should say, that McDonald was still a threat.

Officer Van Dyke was not wearing a body camera, and there is no video footage showing the perspective of what Van Dyke saw as he confronted McDonald. However, the video footage that was recovered in this investigation clearly shows that McDonald did, in fact, advance toward Van Dyke.

From the time Van Dyke exited his vehicle until the time he fired his handgun, the distance between Van Dyke and McDonald decreased.

When McDonald fell to the pavement, he continued to move, continued to grasp the knife, and continued to point the knife at Van Dyke. Even after having been shot 16 times, McDonald continued to grasp the knife and point it at Van Dyke.

McDonald did not relinquish his weapon until Officer Walsh forcibly kicked it from McDonald's hand. That is conclusively shown in the video.

And another point that needs to be realized is, you didn't see Officer Walsh bend down to take the knife from McDonald's hand. He didn't bend down and take McDonald by the wrist to attempt to take him into custody and handcuff him. Why? Because he still saw McDonald was grasping that knife, pointing it in the direction of the officers.

    And Walsh at that point still wasn't certain that McDonald couldn't continue his attack. So what did he do? In the safest manner possible, he took his big, heavy boot and used that to kick the knife out of McDonald's hand just in case McDonald was still capable of trying to injure someone with that knife.

    This video evidence is consistent -- that shows the frame of mind Officer Walsh still had at the time when he kicked the knife out of McDonald's hand.

    This video evidence is consistent with Van Dyke's statement. In fact, it should be noted that, per the autopsy conducted by the Office of the Medical Examiner of Cook County, McDonald was shot three times in the right arm and once in the right hand and still continued to grasp the knife with his right hand.

    Everyone is certainly entitled to their opinion. People can debate until the end of time whether or not they would have handled this situation in the same manner or whether this was the best way to handle the situation.
However, in my opinion, according to Illinois law and Chicago Police Department policy, the actions of Officer Jason Van Dyke were justified.

Most police actions in serious incidents such as this are not the work of a single officer but of multiple officers working together as a team. This is exactly what occurred in this incident. Officers of the 8th District -- primarily Officers Gaffney, McElligott, Walsh, and Van Dyke -- responded in a team effort to a call for service from a civilian who had been the victim of a forcible felony.

As a team, the officers exercised extraordinary restraint in dealing with Laquan McDonald, attempting to use the least amount of force necessary to take him into custody and place him under arrest.

The officers, all of whom were in uniform, first used, quote/unquote, "social control/polic e presence" and "verbal control."

Officer McElligott used these force options when he first encountered McDonald.
McElligott exited his marked police vehicle in uniform and first directed McDonald to stop. McDonald ignored this direction.

When McDonald took his hands out of his pockets, revealing that he was armed with a knife, McElligott ordered McDonald multiple times to drop the knife. Again, McDonald ignored McElligott.

Officer Gaffney then requested a unit with a Taser over the radio -- over the police radio. This was appropriate since at this point McDonald was in a deserted area and there was no risk to any civilians. Officers Walsh and Van Dyke were aware of these actions, as they monitored the transmissions on the police radio.

As McDonald fled on foot through the Burger King restaurant parking lot, he was entering a more populated area along Pulaski Road, a business street with vehicular traffic, pedestrians, and open businesses occupied by civilians, all of whom were now at risk.

This is why Officer Walsh used his police vehicle to block McDonald's path, first toward the Burger King and then towards the Dunkin' Donuts restaurant.

When Officers Van Dyke and Walsh stopped and exited their vehicle to confront McDonald, it was because the threat to the public had escalated in this more populated environment. This threat continued to escalate as McDonald walked southbound.

The two officers both exited their marked police vehicle in uniform, drew their handguns, pointed their weapons at McDonald, and ordered him multiple times to drop his knife. They made every effort to arrest McDonald without using deadly force. Again, McDonald ignored any verbal direction from the officers.

Finally, with McDonald closing the distance between himself and the officers, when he turned toward the officers and raised his knife pointing it at them, Van Dyke, seeing no other option, in defense of his life, fired his handgun at McDonald.

The decision to confront McDonald at that time and at that location was tactically sound. As noted, the risk to the nearby civilian population was increasing as McDonald proceeded north -- southbound on Pulaski. At that particular location, though, there were no civilians immediately placed at risk by the confrontation with the armed McDonald. There was also not a large number of police officers around McDonald, minimizing the risk of a crossfire situation if deadly force became necessary.

Also, the background behind McDonald toward which Officer Van Dyke fired his handgun was a large vacant lot followed by industrial buildings that were either vacant or minimally occupied. Again, if the use of firearms became necessary, the risk of harm to any other individuals was minimal.

This entire counter -- this entire encounter between the police and Laquan McDonald, from Officer McElligott's first contact on 40th Street until Officer Van Dyke fired his weapon, lasted more than four minutes as indicated by the police radio transmissions. During that time, McDonald traveled on foot more than four city blocks. For a police encounter with an armed subject who was not contained, this was a long period of time.

McDonald was given a great deal of latitude in terms of movement before the police decided they could wait no longer and needed to take action to stop McDonald to protect the public who were becoming more and more at risk.
That is when Officer Van Dyke and Walsh acted.

MR. McKay: At this time we're going to submit into the record Dave March Exhibit 8, a copy of which has been given to both you gentlemen. It is a Google aerial photo that indicates all of the locations involved in this particular incident.

At this time, Detective March is going to indicate by the words "truck yard" the location where Rudy Barillas was attacked and subsequently called 911.

THE WITNESS: (MARKING ON EXHIBIT.)

MR. McKay: For the record, Detective March is placing the words, "truck yard" on Dave March Exhibit 8.

Now Detective March is going to indicate by way of a directional line, an arrow, the path that Laquan McDonald took after he had attacked Mr. Barillas from that truck yard.

MR. NEUMER: Jim, really quick, with respect to this photo, is this a Google Maps photo?

MR. McKAY: Yes.

MR. NEUMER: And was this produced recently -- or was this produced off Google recently?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

MR. NEUMER: So is this -- and I'm not -- I think it probably does -- I haven't looked at it too closely, but I'm guessing it looks pretty generally similar to the way it was --

THE WITNESS: I can't -- don't know when this photo was -- I printed it just days ago. I can't say when it was the photo was taken.

It does portray everything -- all of the major landmarks that were in place on the night of the incident, the truck yard, the streets are all the same, the Burger King restaurant, the Dunkin' Donuts restaurant, the Greater Chicago Food Depository where video was recovered. Those are all on here, and they haven't moved.
MR. NEUMER: I just wanted to figure out where...

MR. McKAY: For the record, Detective March is placing a line with a directional arrow indicating the path that Laquan McDonald took from that truck yard eastbound on 40th Street, past the Greater Chicago Food Depository.

And then at 40th Street, near the Burger King, he -- directional line goes in a southeasterly direction to Pulaski Road --

THE WITNESS: I'm not going to go southwest, southeast. It's a small map. I'm just going to draw one line straight.

MR. McKAY: The line is now southbound on Pulaski --

THE WITNESS: I don't mean to misrepresent anything.

MR. McKAY: And with a circle, indicate the area where the shooting took place, approximately.

THE WITNESS: A circle?

MR. McKAY: Yes, sir.

I ask this be submitted for the record.
WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked D. March Exhibit No. 8, for identification, as of 04/27/2016.)

MR. McKay: The court reporter's is a clear copy. Gentlemen, I ask you to take a look at it so you know exactly what Detective March has indicated on Dave March Exhibit 8. Your Xerox copy obviously is not as clear as this.

All right?

MR. Neumer: All right.

MR. McKay: Thank you.

Witness: Would you like a clean copy?

MR. McKay: If you've got one, sure.

Witness: And this is the same exact photo that I printed up.

BY THE WITNESS:

A. It should be noted that at the time Van Dyke fired his weapon, of the ten officers present near the scene of this incident, none was equipped with a Taser.

It should also be noted that many use-of-force experts and defensive tactics instructors would say that a Taser was not the appropriate use of force against an assailant.
armed with a knife, especially one who had already displayed a willingness to use a knife.

This is because per Chicago Police Department policy, the use of a Taser would require an officer to get within 18 feet of a subject; the optimum effective range of the Department's Tasers being 7 to 15 feet. This would put the officers too close to the assailant, especially if the Taser was ineffective, with insufficient time to transition to his firearm to defend himself.

A Taser, like a firearm, is not a guaranteed solution. The same variables exist with this force option. Two projectiles or probes connected to the Taser by wires must both -- must both effectively engage the target who may be moving.

One or both of the probes could miss the target. Thick or multiple layers of clothing can prevent one or both probes from effectively engaging the target. If both probes do not engage the target effectively, the Taser will have no effect at all.

Additionally, even if the officer is able to successfully deploy the Taser against a subject, there is no guarantee it will be totally effective and stop the subject.

MR. McKay: At this time we're submitting into the record Dave March Exhibit 9, a CPD Education and Training Division handout regarding Taser X2 training, which was revised December 2012, a copy of which has been tendered to both of you gentlemen.

(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked D. March Exhibit No. 9, for identification, as of 04/27/2016.)

BY THE WITNESS:

A. One claim made by many who have been critical of Officer Van Dyke is that there were ten officers on the scene of this incident and only one fired his weapon. It is opined that since the other nine officers did not see a need to fire their handguns, Van Dyke was wrong and did not need to fire his weapon.

Again, one needs to consider the "totality of the circumstances" to make an informed, educated, and intelligent conclusion.

Of the ten officers, five of them -- Officers Gaffney, Sebastian, Mondragon, Bacerra, and Velez -- were still in their police vehicles and were not in position to even see who fired the gunshots.

Officer McElligott, who had originally been following McDonald on foot, was unable to keep up with McDonald and was not in a position to see who fired the gunshots.

Officers Fontaine and Viramontes had just arrived at the scene and exited their police vehicle. They were farther away from McDonald, and Officers Van Dyke and Walsh were between them and McDonald.

Officer Walsh stated that he believed McDonald was attacking Walsh and Van Dyke with the knife when Van Dyke fired his handgun, but Walsh did not fire his weapon because Van Dyke was slightly ahead of Walsh and therefore in his line of fire.

This was apparent in the video evidence recovered in this investigation, and that's what I pointed out when we were looking at the video earlier.

During the entire investigation of this incident, I had multiple consultations with my immediate supervisors, including Sergeant Daniel Gallagher, Lieutenant Anthony Wojcik,
Lieutenant Osvaldo Valdez, and commander Eugene Roy. During all of these consultations, I was repeatedly told that my interpretation and understanding of the events in this incident, as well as my conclusions, were accurate and correct.

The incident commander on the night
this incident occurred, Deputy Chief David McNaughton also agreed with this investigation, as evidenced by his approval of the Tactical Response Report submitted by Officer Jason Van Dyke where McNaughton had checked the box stating, "I have concluded that the members' actions were in compliance with Department procedures and directives."

At the time of this approval, the in-car camera video from the police vehicles and the video from the Dunkin' Donuts restaurant had been recovered and reviewed by all personnel involved in this investigation, including McNaughton and personnel from the Independent Police Review Authority. No one ever expressed any reservations regarding the investigation of this incident.

Commander Roy and Lieutenant Valdez both personally informed me that each of them had conducted separate briefings on this incident at the Public Safety headquarters for members of the command staff at separate executive management meetings.

Both Roy and Valdez informed me that the entire command staff of the police department up to and including the superintendent agreed with the findings of this investigation and that no one had expressed any reservations. And I would just like to qualify that by saying that, no one that was present at these briefings. I can't say that every command staff member was present.

Officer Jason Van Dyke gave his statement to the Independent Police Review Authority within days of this incident and was returned to full duty in his unit of assignment. Another indication that no one questioned the results of this investigation.
Since this incident occurred, all of the exempt members in my chain of command have been promoted. Commander Roy was promoted to deputy chief and is now Chief of the Bureau of Detectives. Deputy Chief Anthony Riccio was promoted to Chief of the Bureau of Organized Crime. Chief John Escalante was promoted to First Deputy Superintendent of the Department.

This investigation was conducted under their supervision -- under the supervision of each of these command staff members. Now they are promoted and I am under investigation for separation from the Department?

First Deputy Escalante stated at a news conference shortly after being promoted that he viewed the video of this incident two days after it occurred and found it "troubling."

As the Chief of the Bureau of Detectives at the time of this incident, Chief Escalante never communicated either directly or indirectly to his primary investigator, me, how troubling he found this video.

As I said, no one voiced any reservations or concerns to me regarding this incident or this investigation. I was informed that the entire command staff concurred with the findings and conclusions of my investigation.

Again, I should qualify that statement with only those that were present at the executive management meeting briefings.

For 18 months now, I have heard people criticize Officer Jason Van Dyke saying what he did was wrong. Not once have I heard anyone suggest he should have done -- I take that back. Not once have I heard anyone suggest what he should have done instead of the actions he did take.

Is it really being suggested that the police should have done nothing and permitted Laquan McDonald to continue on his way and not stop him?

A subject armed with a deadly weapon, a knife, committed multiple criminal offenses, including forcible felonies, ignored lawful orders from multiple uniformed police officers to drop his weapon and surrender over the course of more than four minutes and four city blocks and continued down the street weapon in hand.
putting everyone in his path at risk.

Is it seriously being suggested that the police should not take action against this subject until he gains entry to one of the commercial businesses along his path and actually attacks someone actually inflicting death or great bodily harm?

And then, in an environment where civilians are present, the police should engage this subject in a violent confrontation creating additional risk of injury? In my opinion, this is not responsible law enforcement.

MR. McKAY: To supplement the statement Detective March has given and the exhibits already presented, Detective March submits Detective March Exhibit 10, which is the Illinois Compiled Statutes' definition of aggravated assault, which is 720 ILCS 5/12-2, which makes it a felony when a person commits aggravated assault armed with a knife against a police officer.

(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked
D. March Exhibit No. 10, for identification, as of 04/27/2016.)
MR. McKAY: In addition, Detective March submits as Detective March Exhibit Number 11 the Illinois law regarding the definition of dangerous weapon, which includes Subsection C(1), armed with a dangerous weapon; and C(1)(2) Category 1, Category 2, and Category 3 weapons.

Clearly the knife found in possession of Laquan McDonald is a Category 2 weapon, a dangerous weapon, pursuant to Illinois law, which is 720 ILCS 5/33A-1.

(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked D. March Exhibit No. 11, for identification, as of 04/27/2016.)

MR. McKAY: And, in addition, Dave March submits Dave March Exhibit 12, a copy of which is also tendered to you gentlemen.

This is the Chicago Police Bulletin -- excuse me, Chicago Officer Safety Alert that Detective March was questioned about yesterday. We'll make this Exhibit 12 for Dave March. And it shows the referenced knife revolver, and that officers should take note of this "revolver knife" remain cognizant of its threat to personal safety. This Officer Safety Alert was issued in 2012.

(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked D. March Exhibit No. 12, for identification, as of 04/27/2016.)

MR. MCKAY: Mr. Neumer, I think you asked that Detective March's statement be made an exhibit. We have no objection to that, so I will mark this as March Exhibit 13.

(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked D. March Exhibit No. 13, for identification, as of 04/27/2016.)

THE WITNESS: I would just like to clarify that during my recitation, if you will, I did make additional remarks that are not in the prepared statement.

MR. NEUMER: Okay.

THE WITNESS: So this is not intended to be a word-for-word verbatim copy of what I said.

MR. NEUMER: But I think it will just help with the accuracy in general.

I have a couple follow-up questions to put forth -- is it possible to --
MR. McKay: Can we make a copy of this for these guys tonight?

MS. Reporter: Yes.

MR. McKay: So the original will be kept by the court reporter --

MR. Neumer: Can I use it for purposes of --

MR. McKay: Sure.

MR. Neumer: And just give me a moment because I want to ask you about a couple of the statements you made in here, but I'd rather quote as opposed to paraphrase, so there might be a few second's pause.

THE WITNESS: Can I have a moment?

(WHEREUPON, private discussion was had between Counsel and his client.)

MR. McKay: In addition, we're going to submit on behalf of Detective March -- and we'll mark it as Detective March Exhibit 14 -- Illinois Compiled Statute 720 ILCS 5/7-4.

This is in regards to the use of force by aggressor. This would pertain to Laquan McDonald that night. That justification to use force is not available to a person who, A, is attempting to commit, committing, or escaping after the commission of a forcible felony or initially provokes the use of force against him with the intent to use such force as an excuse to inflict bodily harm upon the assailant or otherwise initially provokes use of force against him.

(WHEREUPON, a certain document was marked D. March Exhibit No. 14, for identification, as of 04/27/2016.)

MR. McKay: With that, gentlemen, Detective March thanks you for allowing him to provide his statement and thanks you for allowing him to submit these exhibits on his behalf at this particular interview.

We ask that all the exhibits be made part of the official record, in addition to the videos that you gentlemen have marked as, I believe it was, your Exhibit 16 and 17.

Mr. Neumer: And with respect to those videos, I think we're going to probably have to burn a copy of the CD and provide them to the court reporter.
Honestly, I don't know the process, so we're going to do that as expeditiously as possible and get those included in the record as quickly as possible, but I will admit, we'll have to figure out how to do that.

MR. MCKAY: Thank you very much.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. With respect to your statement, the written statement that is -- which exhibit is this?

MR. MCKAY: I think it's Exhibit 13.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. With respect to Exhibit 13 written statement on Page --

A. I'm sorry I didn't number the pages. I wasn't planning to turn it in.

Q. Trying to make it difficult for us here.

On Page 4, Paragraph 3, you state, "By law -- this is the third line of Paragraph 3, "By law, Van Dyke was justified in using deadly force to effect the arrest of McDonald as soon as Van Dyke exited his police vehicle."

From your perspective, does that mean Officer Van Dyke could have shot McDonald as soon as he exited his vehicle?

A. I think the law permits it, but Van Dyke chose, instead, to still try to arrest McDonald without using deadly force.

Q. In your opinion, if Van Dyke had pulled up 25 feet away from McDonald, would he still, under the law, have been justified in shooting McDonald upon exiting his vehicle?

A. Yes, I think the law permits the use of deadly force against a forcible felon who's fleeing by the use of a deadly weapon who is -- has shown that he's -- will continue to endanger lives unless, you know, immediately captured.

So, yes, he was -- he -- I think he would have been justified, however far away he got out of the car, unless he got out of the car so far away that it wouldn't be possible for him to make an accurate shot, and then he would act recklessly by firing a shot.

But the law does not specify how far the threat needs to be or -- if you are a forcible felon who used violence or you're escaping by use of a deadly weapon or you've indicated that you're going to continue to endanger human life, unless you are immediately stopped, then the law permits the use of deadly force.

    Jason Van Dyke chose, made a decision, not to do that. He chose instead to try to arrest -- apprehend and arrest McDonald without using deadly force. He was present in uniform, he issued verbal direction to drop the knife, and if McDonald had dropped the knife, there would have been no need to fire one gunshot, and Jason Van Dyke wouldn't have, by all indications.

    The only reason -- he was more lenient than the law. He was more tolerant than the law. He didn't decide to fire his weapon until he personally felt at risk when McDonald initiated the attack on him.

    MR. McKAY: The law he's referring to, obviously, is our Exhibit Number 3, 720 ILCS Section 7-5, the use of deadly force by a peace officer in trying to effectuate an arrest of an armed forcible felon. And it clearly states the forcible felon is attempting to escape.

Gentlemen, you can either agree or disagree with Detective March when you look at the video. I believe it -- McDonald is trying to escape for four blocks while armed with a knife. He is not complying with police commands to drop the knife and stop. Reasonable minds would suggest that he is attempting to escape arrest.

If you disagree with that and disagree with Dave March's interpretation of the law, you're entitled to do that, but if you disagree with Dave March, that does not mean Dave March's opinion is a false statement, obstructs justice, or does anything else your office has alleged.

Thank you.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. On Page 2 of your statement -- Exhibit 13 statement in the end of the third full paragraph, last two sentences and the first sentence of the -- first sentence of the first full paragraph, it says -- I'll go back a sentence to quote -- I'm going to read a little bit more to read context.

"McDonald fell to the ground but continued to move, continued to grasp the knife, refusing to let go of it. Van Dyke continued to fire his weapon at McDonald as McDonald was on the ground, as Van Dyke thought McDonald was attempting to go get up, all the while continuing to point the knife at Van Dyke."

"Van Dyke fired his pistol until the
slide of the weapon locked in the rearward
position indicating the weapon was empty.
Van Dyke immediately reloaded his weapon with a new magazine and assessed the situation.
McDonald was no longer moving and the threat had been mitigated so the officers approached McDonald."

My question to you, do you think the threat posed by McDonald had been mitigated prior to Officer Van Dyke's firing of the 16th shot?

A. Had the threat been mitigated prior to the firing of the last shot?
Q. Yes.
A. Jason Van Dyke did not think it had been mitigated, and I think his belief is reasonable.

Q. With respect to -- I want to take you back. This is jumping off a little bit about counsel -- your counsel’s comments about resisting arrest.

Prior to Laquan McDonald hitting Officer Gaffney’s vehicle --
A. Stabbing the tire?

Q. And stabbing the tire. As McDonald was walking on 40th Street eastward when Officer Gaffney's in his vehicle, Officer McElligott is trailing McDonald -- do you know what time period I'm talking about?
A. I believe I know what you're talking about.

Q. And that's before the hitting of the knife on the windshield, that's before the popping of the tires.
A. Okay.

Q. We didn't show you the Greater Food Depository Video but you've seen it?
Q. That's the time frame I'm talking about. In your opinion, would it have been appropriate -- or would it have been lawful if Officer McElligott had shot McDonald at that point.

A. You're saying after McDonald removed his hands from his pockets and the officers saw that he was, in fact, armed with a knife and McElligott has ordered him to stop and he ignores that -- McElligott has ordered him to drop the knife and he ignores that and continues on down the sidewalk holding the knife in his hand, and your question is, would McElligott have been justified in firing his handgun at McDonald?

Q. Correct.

A. I think Illinois law permits that because I think -- as I said in my statement, at that point he was already an offender who had committed -- or attempted to commit a forcible felony using violence, he was attempting to escape by use of a deadly weapon, and he had already indicated by his attack on Rudy Barillas.
that he was a danger to, you know, human life.

MR. McKay: I direct your attention to -- go ahead.

BY THE WITNESS:

A. To let him continue on armed with that knife out there ready, willing, and able to attack anyone would be irresponsible to not make an attempt to stop him.

MR. McKay: I direct your attention to Dave March Exhibit 3, peace officer's use of force in making arrest, 720 ILCS 5/7-5, and specifically the word "or".

"The officer can use deadly force when he believes there's imminent threat of death or great bodily harm against him or when he reasonably believes both that such a force is necessary to prevent the arrest from being defeated by resistance or escape and the person being arrested has committed or attempted to commit a forcible felony which involved the infliction or threatened infliction of great bodily harm or is attempting to escape by use of a deadly weapon or otherwise indicates that he will endanger human life or inflict great bodily harm unless arrested without delay."

That law, whether you agree with it or not, gentlemen, provided that option to Officer McElligott because of the word "or."

Thank you.

BY THE WITNESS:

A. And I would like to go a little further even and offer an example.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Sure.

A. To go to the extreme.

Q. Sure.

A. If all Laquan McDonald had done was shoplift a package of chewing gum and the police were -- he was pointed out to police, "That guy just stole from the store," and the police encountered him, just as Gaffney and McElligott did, and as McElligott gets out of the car, tells McDonald to stop, he ignores it; tells McDonald to take his hands out of his pockets, he pulls his hands out revealing that he is, in fact, armed with that knife in his right hand, the law says such force is -- and this is under "Deadly Force," such force is -- one, "Such force is necessary to prevent the arrest from being defeated by resistance or escape."

And that goes for any arrest. It doesn't have to be a felony. It doesn't have to be a forcible felony. That just says any arrest. It says, "Such force is necessary to prevent the arrest." It doesn't say any -- only particular crimes. And the person to be arrested is attempting to escape by use of a deadly weapon.

So if all Laquan McDonald had been doing -- was at that moment was an offender in a shoplifting case where no violence was used during the commission of his crime but now he was escaping by use of a deadly weapon, by ignoring the police and not allowing to approach him and take him into custody by brandishing this knife...

(WHEREUPON, private discussion was had between Counsel and his client.)

MR. MCKAY: Go ahead.

BY THE WITNESS:

A. And it's more clearly stated in the Department policy where it's broken down -- the way it's written in the statute, it's a little jumbled, but here the Department policy on Page 5 --

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. Do you have an exhibit number on that one?

A. Well, it's the statement. It's my statement.

A. Page 5, it says, "Department Policy," and then, number two, "To prevent an arrest" -- that's any arrest -- "from being defeated by resistance or escape and the sworn member reasonably believes that the person to be arrested" -- any one of those next three conditions. And B is, "Attempting to escape by use of a deadly weapon."

So that -- it's more clearly broken out with the Department -- it's the same -- it's basically the same -- saying the same thing as the state law, but, visually, it's broken out better here.

But it basically states for any arrest, if the arrest is being -- if a police officer is attempting to arrest someone, they're resisting arrest or escaping or resisting by escaping and they're attempting to escape by use of a deadly weapon, the law permits the use of deadly force. That's not always the best way to proceed, I will concede that, but the law does permit it.

BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. So with respect to the various scenarios we talked about, McElligott -- sorry, Van Dyke getting out of his vehicle from 25 feet away from McDonald and shooting him, that would be within the -- that would fall under -- within the bounds of the police department's use-of-force guidelines as well?

A. Yes.

Q. And the same thing with --

A. The -- the --

Q. -- McElligott?

A. The important factor here is you have to consider the totality of the circumstances of that particular incident and that particular set of circumstances.

You can't second guess people by saying what if this was different, what -- you have to deal with what you know, what the police officer knows at that point, and then taking into consideration all of the circumstances that are at play at that particular instant.

The law permits. It doesn't mean -- like, the law permits the use of deadly force.
It doesn't mean that's always the best decision to make --

Q. Sure.

A. -- but the law permits it. It's not against the law to use deadly force. And, like I said, people are entitled to their opinion and they can debate to the end of time that, "This is the way I would have handled it" or, "That's the best way to handle it," but the law doesn't say the police have to handle every encounter in the best possible manner. The law gives the police some latitude here and says in these instances, this is acceptable.

Q. On the second-to-last page -- I don't know what page it is, but the second-to-last page of Exhibit 13 --

A. I'll be able to find it.
Q. -- you mention a couple names. And I wanted to -- we haven't talked about these folks, and so I wanted to ask you a couple questions.

   First name is Deputy Chief Anthony Riccio, R-i-c-c-i-o. You note that the investigation was conducted under the supervision of this command staff member. What was Deputy Chief Riccio's role in the McDonald investigation?

   A. I don't know.

   Q. Okay.

   A. My only point for bringing these people up, you're already aware of what I was told regarding the command staff in general.

   I don't know about specific members, but these individuals were directly in my chain of command. My chain of command is me, Sergeant Gallagher, Lieutenant Wojcik and Lieutenant Valdez in an equal level, Commander Roy, Deputy Chief Riccio, Chief Escalante.

   Those are mine -- there's a lot of other supervisors in the police department, and if any of them were aware of any wrongdoing, they were perfectly entitled -- and really required to weigh in on the matter.
But these are my -- if anyone had reason -- I think, as part of their job, it's a reasonable expectation that they should have been aware of what was going on in this investigation.

Q. And --
A. I worked for them.
Q. And I'm going to ask you some questions. If you don't know the answers, you don't know the answers.

Do you have any understanding whether Anthony Riccio had any substantive role to play in the investigation -- in the McDonald
investigation?
A. I have no idea.
Q. Do you know whether Anthony Riccio watched any video of the Laquan McDonald shooting prior to being -- prior to those videos being made public?
A. I don't know.
Q. Okay. Do you know whether Anthony Riccio was at either of these executive management meetings that we have talked about earlier today?

A. I don't know.

Q. Okay --

A. I take that back. I'm fairly certain that when Lieutenant Valdez was talking about his briefing at the executive management meeting that he did, I think he did tell me that Riccio did agree with the findings of the investigation.

Q. Okay. Do you recall about when that corversation took place, a month --

A. That was just recently.

Q. Okay.

A. Within the last month.

Q. Oh, okay. And what was the prompt for that conversation?

A. We -- he was talking about this whole proceeding and my current status and...

Q. And so he mentioned Riccio's name?

A. He mentioned -- he brought -- you know, he was expressing his support, in that he supported my conclusion, my investigation, didn't feel I had done anything wrong. And he went into the fact that he went -- he did his briefing at the executive management meeting.

And I don't know for certain that Riccio was present for that meeting, but he told me that Riccio had voiced the opinion that he was in agreement and supportive of the conclusions of the investigation.

Q. Had Valdez told you that information prior to a month ago?

A. The information about Riccio?

Q. And -- well, not specifically --

A. In general about the meeting --

Q. Yeah.

A. -- he told me that before, but this was a reiteration. And then he went into that additional factoid, if you will, about Riccio. He did not specifically mention Riccio prior to that.

Q. Okay. John Escalante, what was his role, to your understanding, in the McDonald investigation?

MR. McKay: Objection. As to what time?

Lacks some foundation.
BY MR. NEUMER:

Q. I mean, like during the course of -- from October 20th, 2014, to when you drafted the March 15, 2015, Case Supplementary Report, what was his role?

A. I don't personally know what he did, but, again, he was the chief of the Bureau of Detectives. He was ultimately my boss who reported directly to the superintendent.

I mean, one can certainly expect that he was well aware or should have been well aware of what was going on under his command, and I think it would be unreasonable for anyone to expect or any of these individuals to try to say that they had no knowledge of what I was doing.

They certain -- they did not have any personal contact with me, but for them to say they had no knowledge of what was going on in this investigation would seem to me to be unreasonable or --

Q. And you made a statement, and I just want to make it clear for the record. Did you have any personal communications from October 20th, 2014, to the time you submitted the closing CSR with Deputy Chief Anthony Riccio regarding the McDonald investigation?

A. I did not personally, but I -- I'm pretty sure that Lieutenant Wojcik did have direct communication with Deputy Chief Riccio.

Q. Did he tell you about those conversations?

A. He mentioned that he talked to him, but I don't know the content of their conversations. But I know he was in touch regarding this particular investigation.

Q. And same question with respect to John Escalante. From October 20th, 2014, to the time you submitted your summary CSR, did you have any personal communications with Mr. Escalante regarding the McDonald investigation?

A. No. The only thing I know about him is what he said at his press conference. Upon being promoted to first deputy superintendent, he was asked by the media, "Well, weren't you the Chief" -- something along the lines of, "Weren't you the Chief of Detectives when this investigation was performed?"
And at one point in time he -- I don't know if he was asked or he just stated, but he did state that he viewed the video two days after the incident occurred and found it, I think the word he used was "troubling."

Q. Do you have any knowledge of whether John Escalante was one of the individuals in either of those executive management meetings you discussed?

A. I do not.

Q. Did you -- you mentioned that Lieutenant Wojcik had conversations or -- with Mr. Riccio regarding the McDonald investigation. Do you know whether any -- did you ever hear of or did anyone tell you about conversations they had with John Escalante about the McDonald investigation?

A. No.

Q. Anything else we should know about Anthony Riccio or John Escalante as it pertains to the McDonald investigation?

A. All I can say is what I say every time I hear a news report about some high boss, whether it be in a company, in the government -- when they say, "I didn't know about it." You know, either that doesn't seem to me to be a truthful statement, or if they really didn't know what was going on, it seems to me to indicate some level of incompetence. But that's my personal opinion.

MR. NEUMER: Kris, do you have any follow-up regarding this Exhibit 13 statement?

MR. BROWN: Just a little bit of follow-up.

BY MR. BROWN:

Q. Correct me if I've got this wrong at all, but it sounds like, Detective March, your impression is that the shots that came from Van Dyke to McDonald while he was on the ground were justified because he was still holding the knife and it was pointed in a direction at Van Dyke and Walsh; is that correct?

A. I said that Jason Van Dyke perceived him to still be a threat, and from all of the details evidenced in this case, I found that belief to be reasonable.

Q. So if --

A. I -- again, we don't have any video showing the perspective of Jason Van Dyke, so there's an unknown here.

What exactly did he see, I don't know, but he told me facts about what -- how he perceived things, which we've gone over. It's in the document and in the report what he said. And the video and everything else I found in my opinion to be consistent with what he was saying.

And if he believed that Laquan McDonald was still a threat to him, then, yes, it would be reasonable for him to continue to use deadly force.

Q. Is it a fair expectation that just because McDonald was shot, that he would have dropped the knife?

A. He was shot 16 times and never dropped the knife, so I don't think that's a fair expectation at all.

Q. Right. That's why I'm just -- I know you can't speak for Van Dyke, but just the thought of just because a person is shot, I mean, who knows if that person -- if the bullet would make him clench the knife or make him relinquish and throw the knife away.
It's -- just trying to understand why, if he's shot, why would there still be an expectation that he would relinquish the knife and no longer become a threat?

If there's a chance that when he's shot he's going to hold the knife, there's almost no way that he cannot be a threat if he's just going to hold the knife when he's shot.

I know it's a long-winded --

A. I don't even know how to respond to that.

Q. Yeah, I know, it's just more of a --

MR. MCKAY: But, Kris, you have the benefit of thinking all of this out. In split seconds, Van Dyke didn't have all of that time. All Van Dyke had is what he saw and everything he knew from radio communication.

BY THE WITNESS:

A. One of his gunshot wounds was to the right hand. Even if he had been shot somewhere else in the body and that would make him instinctively or reflexively grasp the knife even tighter, if he's shot in the hand, I don't see how that could possibly not make him let go of the knife.

You know, again, my opinion from -- I know what you're saying. If you're shot in the left shoulder, you might clench your right hand, you know, with -- because of the pain and everything, but if you're shot in the right hand, I would expect that a bullet going through -- into your hand would do some pretty extensive damage to the muscles and tendons and bone structure in your hand that would make it almost impossible for you -- I would think it would make it more difficult for you to continue to hold the knife.

Q. That's possible, too, but if, you know, the initial shot if it's -- maybe it's on his left side, maybe that's the one that makes him clench and maybe the shot that follows in his hand --

A. But then I would think that would almost cause him uncontrollably to relinquish the knife. Unless he had some great desire to hold on to that knife and continue his attack --

Q. But that's --

A. -- which could be a reasonable assumption.

Q. I mean, but that's my point, though.

We don't know --

A. We don't know --

Q. -- to hold the knife --

A. -- all we -- we don't know. We don't know. We don't know what was going on inside Laquan McDonald's mind. We don't know what his motivation was. We don't know what he thought the first time he got hit or the second time he got hit, or the 16th time he got hit.

What we do know is what Jason Van Dyke says he perceived, and I found what he perceived to be reasonable. Could a lot of other things happen? I can't possibly speculate on what other things could have happened. All I can do is take what Jason Van Dyke said, compare it to everything I know about this investigation, including the video, and come up with what I reasonably conclude. And I reasonably conclude that he -- his perception was reasonable.

Q. Do you know of any CPD training that informs officers to expect, when a person is shot, that he will relinquish whatever he's holding?

A. No, I think that's just a common perception. Like I said in my statement, I said people expect the police to shoot the weapon -- whether it be a gun, knife -- out of the bad guy's hand, right? That's a normal preconception that a lot of people have, though, right?

Q. Right.

A. I mean, you have to give me that.

Q. A lot of people do think that.

A. So if people expect the police to shoot the gun out of a person's hand, then obviously they expect that when a person gets shot in the hand, they're going to relinquish whatever weapon they have.

Like I said, I'm not an expert on physiology or anything. I don't know if that's -- I don't know if there's been tests done at, you know -- hit a guy in the left hand with a hammer and see what happens to his right hand. I don't know.

All I can say is, from everything I was able to learn in this investigation, I found Jason Van Dyke's beliefs to be reasonable and his actions to be reasonable.

MR. NEUMER: I don't think we have any more questions.

Just really quickly, Jim, in terms of getting you the transcript for this, I just want to put on the record, so we're on the same page, if we could have a business day from our receipt
of it.

And that's, again, just to ensure that if we get it at 5:00 p.m. on a Friday, that someone from our office doesn't have to come in on a Saturday. Is that a reasonable time to -- from our receipt of the transcript to provide it
to you?

MR. McKay: Yeah. Yeah. If you guys don't get it until Friday at 5:00, I don't expect to get it Friday at 5:01. But if you get it before -- and I don't know what Michelle is going to suggest off the record, but, in the perfect world, I want it the same day you guys get it.

MR. NEUMER: And we will strive --
MR. McKay: But I am at the -- I will -- I certainly want Michelle to not rush anything and get this transcript true and accurate.

So whenever she can finish this, I would like to get it. I don't expect you guys to come in on Saturday and get it to me early Saturday or late Friday night.

Can we go off the record and ask the court reporter when she will have the transcript completed as best as she can speculate now?

Mr. Neumer: Sure. And there's one other note. With respect to the video, in particular the Dunkin' Donuts video, there's -- and I don't know -- I'm not a tech guy. There's a sort of proprietary software that one has to download to view this thing is my understanding. Kris, is that correct?

Mr. Brown: Yes. In the video from Dunkin' Donuts -- and it's common to other businesses -- they will have their own proprietary software that's related to the video. You have to install the software to play the video, and that's what applies to the Dunkin' Donuts.

Mr. Neumer: And so when we provided the -- and correct me if I'm wrong, but I think when we provided the DVD, we provided instructions as to how to download the software that allows one to play the file that we included on there.

So, again, I want to put this on the record because I'm not exactly sure -- we haven't been able to strictly burn a copy of what is on that Dunkin' Donuts video --

MR. McKay: Are you saying this is Dunkin' Donuts' software?

The Witness: No, they buy a software program.

MR. McKay: "They," Dunkin' Donuts?

The Witness: Dunkin' Donuts or whoever, when you buy your security system. And there's all different kinds of programming.

Rich Hagen runs into this all the time. Some of them use generic file formats that can be, you know, opened up in Windows Media Player or whatever, and then other ones have very strictly proprietary that you have to have their player in order to play the video.

MR. Neumier: So, again, with --

The Witness: Otherwise you have a disk you can use as a Frisbee.

MR. NEUMER: So with respect to the 813 Robert vehicle, I don't think there will be any problem making that as an exhibit --

MR. McKAY: The entire video.

MR. NEUMER: The entire video. I don't know, frankly -- we'll try and see what we can do. I want to give you a heads up that we may not be able to include the Dunkin' Donuts video as an exhibit in the way probably we all envisioned it. And so if I have a solution, we'll find it, and we'll make it an exhibit.

THE WITNESS: I would suggest if -- again, I -- I don't know what his feeling is on it, but Detective Hagen recovered that video. If you were to reach out to him, I don't know if he could help you with that along those lines.

MR. NEUMER: We'll do our best. That's what I'll promise. I want to give Counsel a heads-up that --

MR. McKAY: We've seen a copy of that video before the statement began yesterday. Obviously you used that video during your questioning with Detective March regarding a number of things, the backing up and so forth by Walsh and Van Dyke. We have -- there's no surprise.

I just want to make sure that the official record includes that as an exhibit in the event somebody outside that room wants to look at all the evidence from this statement, both yesterday and today, so that they have it.

MR. NEUMER: And maybe -- maybe what we can do at a minimum is include the file that we used and include the instructions how to download the --

MR. McKAY: I don't have an objection to that.

MR. NEUMER: Okay.

MR. McKAY: And at some point you, to complete the record, need to supplement the record with a Dunkin' Donuts video that has used the proprietary instructions, then that's fine, too. I don't have an objection to that as well.

MR. BROWN: The video file that we would put on the disk would contain the player, so anyone who wanted to view it, they would just need to essentially install the player software on their computer, and then they can press play and it will work.

MR. McKay: Okay.

MR. NEUMER: The time is 5:41 p.m., and we're going to go off the record. This interview is concluded.

(WHEREUPON, the interview was concluded at 5:41 p.m.)
CERTIFICATE OF REPORTER

I, MICHELLE M. YOHLER, a Certified Shorthand Reporter within and for the County of Cook, State of Illinois, do hereby certify:

COUNTY OF COOK, ILLINOIS

REPORT OF POSTMORTEM EXAMINATION

NAME MCDONALD, LAQUAN
AGE 17y RACE BLACK SEX MALE
DATE EXAMINED OCTOBER 21, 2014 (8:25am) EXAMINED BY Denika Means, DO

CASE NO. ME2014-01071
DATE OF DEATH OCTOBER 20, 2014

Investigator Daniel Kobel with the City of Chicago Independent Police Review Authority is present for the autopsy.

EXTERNAL EXAMINATION

The body is identified by toe tag. Photographs and radiographs are taken.

When first viewed, the body is clad in a green hospital gown. A tan rubber band encircles the right wrist. Accompanying the body is a black, hooded, zip-up sweatshirt (cut), a black with white lettering sweatshirt, blue jeans, black boxers (cut), two black shoes and two black socks. No jewelry is present. All of the clothing is relinquished to a representative of the Chicago Police Department.

The body is that of a well-developed, well-nourished, black male whose appearance is compatible with the stated age of 17 years. As received, the body weighs 180 pounds and is 72 inches long. There is good preservation in the absence of embalming. The body is warm, rigor mortis is easily broken, and lividity is not apparent.

The black scalp hair is in dreadlocks up to 5 inches long. An average amount of body hair is in a normal male distribution. The irides are brown, the corneae are clear, and there are no petechiae of the bulbar or palpebral surfaces of the conjunctivae. The ears, nose and lips are unremarkable. The teeth are natural and in good condition with absence of the upper left central incisor. The neck and chest are symmetrical, and the abdomen is flat. The external genitalia, anus and perineum are unremarkable. The extremities are well developed and symmetrical. The back is straight.

An endotracheal tube is in the mouth. Intravascular lines are in the left groin and left antecubital fossa. An intraosseous line is in the left shin. A loosely sutured incision runs from the right midaxillary line to the left lateral back just inferior to the nipple line.

EVIDENCE OF INJURY

I. Multiple Gunshot Wounds:

There are 16 gunshot wounds, numbered 1 through 16 arbitrarily without regard to sequence or severity.

1. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE LEFT SCALP:

There is a gunshot graze wound of the left parietal scalp centered 1-1/2 inches from the top of the head and 1/2 inch anterior to the superior attachment of the pinna of the left ear. The gaping wound is 1-3/4 inches long and up to 1/4 inch deep, extending to the fascia overlying the skull. The wound has no marginal abrasion, soot, or stippling.

Associated with this wound, there is mild left temporoparietal subscapular hemorrhage. Thin subarachnoid hemorrhage overlies the left temporal and parietal lobes of the brain.

Directionality cannot be determined.

2. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE NECK:

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the left base of the neck located 11 inches from the top of the head and 2 inches left of anterior midline. The circular wound is 3/16 inch in diameter and has a circumferential dry red-brown marginal abrasion that measures up to 1/4 inch at 12 o'clock, 1/8 inch at 3 o'clock, 1/4 inch at 6 o'clock, and 3/16 inch at 9 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the left side of the neck, the bullet subsequently perforates the strap muscles of the left side of the neck, the trachea and the scalene muscles of the right side of the neck.

A moderately deformed, copper-jacketed, medium caliber bullet is recovered from the right supraspinatus muscle, at approximately 12 inches from the top of the head and approximately 5 inches right of anterior midline. The bullet is photographed, sealed within an appropriately labeled envelope and submitted to a representative of the Chicago Police Department.

Associated with this wound is hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the left upper chest located 12-1/4 inches from the top of the head and 5 inches left of anterior midline. The ovoid wound measures 1/2 x 1/2 inch and has a circumferential, dry, red-brown marginal abrasion that measures 1/16 inch at 12 o'clock, 1/8 inch at 3 o'clock, 1/16 inch at 6 o'clock and 1/8 inch at 9 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the left upper chest, the bullet subsequently perforates the left pectoralis muscles, the muscles of the left lateral back, the muscles of the posterior left upper arm and the subcutaneous tissue and skin of the left upper arm.

A gunshot wound of exit of the posterior left upper arm is located 4-3/4 inches from the top of the left shoulder and 3/4 inch lateral to the posterior midline of the left arm. The ovoid wound measures 5/16 x 3/16 inch and has a circumferential brown marginal abrasion that is less than 1/16 inch wide. There is no soot or stippling.
MCDONALD, LAQUAN
ME2014-01071

Associated with this wound is hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

The direction is front to back, right to left and downward.

4. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE RIGHT CHEST:

There is a gunshot wound of the right side of the chest located 15-1/8 inches from the top of the head and 1-1/4 inches right of anterior midline. The circular wound is 3/16 inch in diameter and has a circumferential, dry, brown marginal abrasion that measures 1/16 inch at 12 o'clock, 3/16 inch at 3 o'clock, 1/16 inch at 6 o'clock and 1/16 inch at 9 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the right side of the chest, the bullet subsequently perforates the right pectoralis muscles, the anterior portion of the right fourth rib and right fourth intercostal muscle, the right upper pulmonic lobe (x2), the right middle pulmonic lobe and the lateral portion of the right sixth intercostal muscle.

Associated with this wound is an anterior fracture of the right fourth rib and an approximately 40mL right hemothorax. There is hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

5. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE LEFT ELBOW:

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the lateral left elbow located 12-3/4 inches from the top of the left shoulder and 1-1/4 inches lateral to the posterior midline of the left arm. The circular wound measures 5/16 of an inch and has a 1/16 inch dark circumferential marginal abrasion. There is no soot or stippling.
After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the lateral left elbow, the bullet subsequently perforates the left humerus and the musculature, subcutaneous tissue and skin of the left upper arm.

Associated with this wound is a 3/16 inch dark brown, abraded skin bridge that separates the entrance gunshot wound #5 (superior) from the entrance gunshot wound #10 (inferior). There is a fracture of the distal left humerus as well as hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

6. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE RIGHT UPPER ARM:

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the posterior right upper arm located 6-1/2 inches from the top of the right shoulder and along the posterior midline of the right arm. The circular wound is 3/16 inch in diameter and has a 1/16 inch dry, dark marginal abrasion extending from 1 o'clock to 11 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the posterior right upper arm, the bullet subsequently perforates the musculature of the right upper arm, the right humerus and the musculature, subcutaneous tissue and skin of the medial right upper arm.

There is a shored gunshot wound of exit of the medial right upper arm located 10-3/4 inches from the top of the right shoulder and along the medial midline of the right arm. The irregularly-shaped wound measures 7/16 x 5/16 inch and has a dry, dark circumferential marginal abrasion that measures 1/16 inch at 12 o'clock and 3 o'clock, 1/4 inch at 6 o'clock and 1/16 inch at 9 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.
Associated with this wound is an abraded 3/4 inch moist pink skin bridge that separates the entrance gunshot wound #6 (inferior) from the entrance gunshot wound #11 (superior). There is also a fracture of the right humerus and hemorrhage and pulpfaction of the wound track.

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the dorsal left forearm located 19 inches from the top of the left shoulder and 1/2 inch medial to the posterior midline of the left arm. The ovoid wound measures 1/4 x 3/16 inch and has a circumferential dry dark marginal abrasion that measures 1/8 inch at 12 o'clock and 1/16 inch at 3, 6, and 9 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

A gunshot wound of exit of the medial left forearm is located 20-1/2 inches from the top of the left shoulder and 1/2 inch anterior to the medial midline of the left arm. The ovoid wound measures 5/16 x 1/4 inch and has an ellipse-shaped marginal abrasion that measures 1/4 inch at 12 o'clock, 3/16 inch at 3 o'clock and 6 o'clock and 1/8 inch at 9 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

Associated with this wound are fractures of the left radius and ulna. There is hemorrhage and pulpfaction of the wound tracks.

The direction is back to front, slightly right to left and slightly downward.

8. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE LATERAL RIGHT UPPER LEG:

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the lateral right upper leg located 35-9/16 inches from the top of the head and 1-3/4 inches right of the anterior midline of the right leg.
The circular wound measures 1/4 inch in diameter and has a less than 1/16 inch marginal abrasion extending from 5 o'clock to 6 o'clock. The margin is extensively lacerated and has a circumferential 1/16 inch purple contusion. There is no soot or stippling.

After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the lateral right upper leg, the bullet subsequently perforates the musculature of the right upper leg, the pelvic floor musculature and the musculature of the medial left upper leg.

Associated with this wound is hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

9. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE LEFT UPPER BACK:

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the left upper back located 11 inches from the top of the head and 4-1/2 inches left of posterior midline. The irregularly-shaped wound measures 9/16 x 5/16 inch and has an irregular, circumferential brown marginal abrasion that measures 1/4 inch at 12 o'clock, 1/16 inch at 3 o'clock, 1/8 inch at 6 o'clock and 3/16 inch at 9 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the left upper back, the bullet subsequently perforates the musculature of the left upper back and the subcutaneous tissue and skin of the left lateral back.

There is a gunshot wound of exit of the left lateral back located 17-1/4 inches from the top of the head and 3-1/2 inches posterior to the left midaxillary line. The irregularly-shaped wound measures 3/8 x 3/16 inch. There is no marginal abrasion, soot or stippling.
Associated with this wound is hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

The direction is right to left and downward with no significant forward or backwards deviation.

10. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE LEFT ELBOW:

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the lateral left elbow which is located 13-1/16 inch from the top of the left shoulder and 1 inch lateral to the posterior midline of the left arm. The circular wound measures 3/16 inch in diameter and has a circumferential marginal abrasion that measures 1/8 inch at 12 o'clock and 3 o'clock and 1/16 inch at 6 o'clock and 9 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the lateral left elbow, the bullet subsequently perforates the musculature of the lateral left elbow, the left humerus and the musculature, subcutaneous tissue and skin of the medial left elbow.

There is a gunshot wound of exit of the medial left elbow located 14-1/2 inches from the top of the left shoulder and 3/4 inch medial to the posterior midline of the left arm. The irregularly-shaped wound measures 3/16 x 1/8 inch. It has a circumferential marginal abrasion that measures 1/4 inch at 12 o'clock, 3/16 inch at 3 o'clock, less than 1/16 inch at 6 o'clock and 3/16 inch at 9 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

Associated with this wound (as mentioned above) is a 3/16 inch dark brown, abraded skin bridge that separates the entrance gunshot wound #5 (superior) from the entrance gunshot wound #10 (inferior). There are fractures of the left humerus and ulna as well as hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

11. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE POSTERIOR RIGHT UPPER ARM:

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the posterior right upper arm located 5-3/4 inches from the top of the right shoulder and along the posterior midline of the right arm. The circular wound is 1/8 inch in diameter and has a 1/16 inch dry brown marginal abrasion extending from 7 o'clock to 2 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the posterior right upper arm, the bullet subsequently perforates the musculature of the posterior right upper arm and the musculature, subcutaneous tissue and skin of the right upper back.

There is a gunshot wound of exit of the right upper back located 15-1/2 inches from the top of the head and 2 inches posterior to the right midaxillary line. The irregularly-shaped wound measures 3/8 x 1/8 inch and has no marginal abrasion, soot or stippling.

Associated with this wound (as mentioned above) is a charred 3/4 inch moist pink skin bridge that separates the entrance gunshot wound #6 (inferior) from the entrance gunshot wound #11 (superior). There is hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

12. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE RIGHT ARM:

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the dorsal right forearm (superior) located 15-1/2 inches from the top of the right shoulder and 3/4 inch lateral to the posterior midline of the right arm. The ovoid-shaped wound measures 5/16 x 1/4 inch and has a dry, dark brown, circumferential marginal abrasion that measures 1/8 inch at 12 o'clock, 3/16 inch at 3 o'clock, 1/8 inch at 6 o'clock and 1/16 inch at 9 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the posterior right forearm, the bullet subsequently penetrates the musculature of the right upper arm.
A moderately deformed, copper-jacketed, medium caliber bullet is recovered from the anterior musculature of the right upper arm approximately 10 inches from the top of the right shoulder and approximately midline of the right upper arm. The bullet is photographed, sealed within an appropriately labeled envelope and submitted to a representative of the Chicago Police Department.

Associated with this wound is hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

The direction is back to front and upward with no significant lateral deviation.

13. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE RIGHT FOREARM:

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the dorsal right forearm (inferior) located 19-1/2 inches from the top of the right shoulder and along the posterior midline of the right arm. The ovoid-shaped wound measures 1/2 x 1/8 inch and has an irregular, dry, circumferential marginal abrasion that measures 1/8 inch at 12 o'clock, 1/16 inch at 3 o'clock, 1 inch at 6 o'clock, and 1/8 inch at 9 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the dorsum of the right forearm, the bullet penetrates the musculature of the right forearm.

A markedly deformed, large fragment of copper-jacketed bullet is recovered from the right forearm at approximately 17 inches from the top of the right shoulder and approximately posterior midline of the right arm. The projectile is photographed, sealed within an appropriately labeled envelope and submitted to a representative of the Chicago Police Department.

Associated with this wound are fractures of the right radius and ulna. There is hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

The direction is upward and slightly back to front with no significant lateral deviation.

14. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE RIGHT HAND:

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the dorsum of the right hand located 24 inches from the top of the right shoulder and
1/2 inch posterior to the lateral midline of the right arm. The slit-like wound measures 3/16 inch and has a moist red marginal abrasion from 3 o'clock to 11 o'clock that measures 5/16 of an inch at 3 o'clock, 1/4 inch at 6 o'clock, and 5/16 of an inch at 9 o'clock. There is a thin, circumferential rim of charred skin. Numerous irregular, dry, dark brown abrasions and apparent pseudo-stippling extend along the 5 o'clock to 11 o'clock margin up to 1 inch at 5 o'clock, 1-3/4 inch at 6 o'clock, 1-1/2 inch at 9 o'clock, and 1/2 at 11 o'clock. No definitive gunpowder residue is identified.

After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the dorsum of the right hand, the bullet penetrates the musculature of the right hand.

Two fragments of markedly deformed, copper-jacketed projectile are recovered from the dorsum of the right hand at a point approximately 23-1/2 inches from the top of the right shoulder and 1/4 inch posterior to the lateral midline of the right arm. The projectile fragments are photographed, sealed within an appropriately labeled envelope and submitted to a representative of the Chicago Police Department.

Associated with this wound is hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

The direction is slightly left to right and slightly upward with no significant forward or backward deviation.

15. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE RIGHT LOWER BACK:

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the right lower back located 28 inches from the top of the head and 1-7/8 inches right of posterior midline. The 3/16 x 1/8 inch ovoid wound has a circumferential, moist, pink marginal abrasion that measures 1/16 inch at 12 o'clock, 1/8 inch at 3 o'clock, 1/16 inch at 6 o'clock and 1/16 inch at 9 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the right lower back, the bullet subsequently perforates the sacrum, the abdominal cavity and the musculature of the left side of the abdomen.
A moderately deformed, copper-jacketed, medium caliber bullet is recovered from the soft tissue of the left abdominal wall approximately 25 inches from the top of the head and approximately 2 inches left of anterior midline. The bullet is photographed, sealed within an appropriately labeled envelope and submitted to a representative of the Chicago Police Department.

Associated with this wound is a fracture of the sacrum as well as hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

16. GUNSHOT WOUND OF THE RIGHT UPPER LEG:

There is a gunshot wound of entrance of the medial right upper leg located 42-1/2 inches from the top of the head and 1/2 inch posterior to the medial midline of the right leg. The ovoid wound measures 1/4 x 3/16 inch and has a dry red-brown marginal abrasion that extends from 7 o'clock to 3 o'clock. The abrasion measures 1/16 inch from 7 o'clock to 9 o'clock and less than 1/16 inch from 9 o'clock to 3 o'clock. There is no soot or stippling.

After perforating the skin and subcutaneous tissue of the medial right upper leg, the bullet subsequently perforates the musculature of the right upper leg and the subcutaneous tissue and skin of the posterior right upper leg.

There is a gunshot wound of exit of the posterior right upper leg located 41-3/8 inches from the top of the head and along the posterior midline of the right leg. The irregularly-shaped wound measures 3/8 x 1/4 inch and has a 3/8 x 1/4 inch brown abrasion that extends along the 12 o'clock to 2 o'clock margin. There is no soot or stippling.

Associated with this wound is hemorrhage and pulpifaction of the wound track.

The direction is left to right and front to back with no significant vertical deviation.
II. OTHER INJURIES:

There are clusters of dry red-brown abrasions on the right shoulder, right side of the chest and dorsum of the right wrist and hand. Scattered larger red-brown abrasions are on the abdomen.

III. OTHER ITEMS RECOVERED:

Tiny, white metal fragments of apparent projectile are recovered from between the maxillary teeth, the right upper arm and the decedent's clothing. These fragments are photographed, sealed within appropriately labeled envelopes and submitted to a representative of the Chicago Police Department.

These injuries, having been once described, will not be repeated.

EVIDENCE SUBMITTED

The following items are collected, sealed within appropriately labeled containers and submitted to a representative of the Chicago Police Department:

-Clothing
-Blood standard
-Projectiles

INTERNAL EXAMINATION

Body Cavities: See Evidence of Injury. The thoracic and abdominal organs are in their normal anatomic positions. There are no adhesions.

Head: See Evidence of Injury. The skull is unremarkable. The dura and dural sinuses are unremarkable. The leptomeninges are thin and delicate. The cerebral hemispheres are symmetrical with an unremarkable gyral pattern. The cranial nerves and blood vessels are unremarkable. Sections through the cerebral hemispheres, brainstem and cerebellum are unremarkable. There are no hemorrhages of the deep white matter or the basal ganglia. The cerebral ventricles contain no blood. The brain weighs 1325 grams. The spinal cord as viewed from the cranial cavity is unremarkable.
Neck: See Evidence of Injury. The hyoid bone is intact.

Cardiovascular System: The intimal surface of the abdominal aorta is free of significant atherosclerosis. The aorta and its major branches and the great veins are normally distributed. The pulmonary arteries contain no thromboemboli. The pericardium, epicardium and endocardium are smooth, glistening and unremarkable. The foramen ovale is closed. The coronary arterial system is normally formed and free of significant atherosclerosis. The atrial and ventricular septa are intact. The cardiac valves are unremarkable. The myocardium is dark red-brown and firm and there are no focal abnormalities. The heart weighs 360 grams.

Respiratory System: See Evidence of Injury. The oropharynx is unobstructed. The laryngeal mucosa is pink, smooth, and without petechiae. The pleural surfaces are smooth and glistening. The major bronchi are unremarkable. Sectioning of the lungs discloses a dark red, moderately congested parenchyma.

Hepatobiliary System: The liver is covered by a smooth glistening capsule. The parenchyma is dark red-brown and moderately congested. The liver weighs 1062 grams. The gallbladder contains approximately 10 mL of dark green-brown bile with no calculi.

Gastrointestinal System: The esophageal mucosa is gray, smooth, and unremarkable. The stomach contains approximately 20 mL of blood. There are no tablets or capsules. The gastric mucosa has normal rugal folds and is unremarkable. The small and large intestines are externally unremarkable. The appendix is present.

Genitourinary System: The left kidney is absent. The capsule of the right capsule strips with ease to reveal a smooth and slightly lobulated surface. The cortex is of normal thickness with well-demarcated corticomedullary junctions. The calyx, pelvis and ureter is unremarkable. The urinary bladder contains approximately 200 mL of clear yellow urine. The mucosa is gray, smooth, and unremarkable. The prostate gland is unremarkable externally.

Endocrine System: The thyroid and adrenal glands are unremarkable externally and upon sectioning.
Lymphoreticular System: The spleen is covered by a smooth, blue-gray intact capsule. The parenchyma is dark red and firm. The cervical, hilar, and peritoneal lymph nodes are unremarkable.

Musculoskeletal System: See Evidence of Injury. The clavicles, sternum and pelvis have no fractures.

FINDINGS

I. Gunshot wound of the left scalp (graze wound):
   A. Location: Left parietal scalp.
   B. Injuries: Mild subscalpular hemorrhage and thin subarachnoid hemorrhage.
   C. Direction: Indeterminate.
   D. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on skin).

II. Gunshot wound of the neck:
   A. Entrance: Left base of the neck.
   B. Path: Perforations of neck musculature and trachea.
   C. Recovery: Medium caliber bullet recovered from the right supraspinatus muscle.
   D. Direction: Left to right, slightly front to back and slightly downward.
   E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on skin).

III. Gunshot wound of the left chest:
   A. Entrance: Left upper chest.
   B. Path: Perforations of the musculature of the left chest, left lateral back and left upper arm.
   C. Exit: Posterior left upper arm.
   D. Direction: Front to back, right to left and downward.
   E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on skin).
IV. Gunshot wound of the right chest:
   A. Entrance: Right side of the chest.
   B. Path: Perforations of the musculature of the right chest, the right fourth rib and right fourth intercostal muscle, the right lung and the right sixth intercostal muscle.
   C. Recovery: Markedly deformed bullet fragment recovered from the right latissimus dorsi muscle.
   D. Direction: Front to back, left to right and slightly downward.
   E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin).

V. Gunshot wound of the left elbow:
   A. Entrance: Lateral left elbow.
   B. Path: Perforations of the musculature of the left upper arm and the left humerus.
   C. Exit: Medial left upper arm.
   D. Direction: Left to right, back to front and slightly upward.
   E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin).

VI. Gunshot wound of the right upper arm:
   A. Entrance: Posterior right upper arm.
   B. Path: Perforations of the musculature of the right upper arm and the right humerus.
   C. Exit: Medial right upper arm.
   D. Direction: Back to front, downward and slightly left to right.
   E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin).
VII. Gunshot wound of the left forearm:

A. Entrance: Dorsal left forearm.
B. Path: Perforations of the musculature of the left forearm, the left radius and the left ulna.
C. Exit: Medial left forearm.
D. Direction: Back to front, slightly right to left and slightly downward.
E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin).

VIII. Gunshot wound of the lateral right upper leg:

A. Entrance: Lateral right upper leg.
B. Path: Perforations of the musculature of the right upper leg, the pelvic floor and the medial left upper leg.
C. Recovery: Medium caliber bullet recovered from the medial left upper leg.
D. Directions: Right to left, downward and slightly front to back.
E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin).

IX. Gunshot wound of the left upper back:

A. Entrance: Left upper back.
B. Path: Perforations of the musculature of the left back.
C. Exit: Left lateral back.
D. Direction: Right to left and downward with no significant deviation forwards or backwards.
E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin).

X. Gunshot wound of the left elbow:

A. Entrance: Lateral left elbow.
B. Path: Perforations of the musculature of the left elbow, the left humerus and the left ulna.
C. Exit: Medial left elbow.
D. Direction: Left to right and downward with no significant forward or backward deviation.
E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin).
XI. Gunshot wound of the right upper arm:

A. Entrance: Posterior right upper arm.
B. Path: Perforations of the musculature of the right upper arm and right upper back.
C. Exit: Right upper back.
D. Direction: Right to left, downward and slightly front to back.
E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin).

XII. Gunshot wound of the right arm:

A. Entrance: Dorsal right forearm.
B. Path: Perforation of the musculature of the right upper arm.
C. Recovery: Medium caliber bullet recovered from the musculature of the anterior right upper arm.
D. Direction: Back to front and upward with no significant lateral deviation.
E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin).

XIII. Gunshot wound of the right forearm:

A. Entrance: Dorsal right forearm.
B. Path: Perforations of the musculature of the right forearm.
C. Recovery: Large fragment of projectile recovered from the right forearm.
D. Direction: Upward and slightly back to front with no significant lateral deviation.
E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin).
XIV. Gunshot wound of the right hand:

A. Entrance: Dorsum of the right hand.
B. Path: Perforations of the musculature of the right hand.
C. Recovery: Fragments of projectile recovered from the dorsum of the right hand.
D. Direction: Slightly left to right and slightly upward with no significant deviation forward or backwards.
E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin on the hand).

XV. Gunshot wound of the lower back:

A. Entrance: Right lower back.
B. Path: Perforations of the sacrum and left abdominal wall musculature.
C. Recovery: Medium caliber bullet recovered from the soft tissue of the left abdominal wall.
D. Direction: Back to front, right to left and upward.
E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin).

XVI. Gunshot wound of the right upper leg:

A. Entrance: Medial right upper leg.
B. Path: Perforation of the musculature of the right upper leg.
C. Exit: Posterior right upper leg.
D. Direction: Left to right and front to back without significant vertical deviation.
E. Range of fire: Indeterminate (no soot or stippling on the skin).

XVII. Abrasions of the right shoulder, chest, abdomen hand and wrist.

XVIII. Small, probable projectile fragments recovered from the mouth, skin of the right upper arm and the clothing.

XIX. Post-mortem toxicology negative for benzoylcegonine, ethanol and opiates.

XX. Police-involved shooting.
OPINION

Based on the case history and autopsy findings, it is my opinion that LAQUAN MCDONALD, a 17-year-old black male, died as the result of multiple gunshot wounds.

Other than the above findings, examination of the specimen(s) submitted did not reveal any positive findings of toxicological significance by procedures outlined in the accompanying Analysis Summary.

Reference Comments:

1. Phencyclidine (Angel Dust; PCP; Sherm) - Cavity Blood:

   Phencyclidine (PCP) is a DEA Schedule II controlled dangerous hallucinogenic drug. There exists a dearth of pharmacokinetic data of PCP usage in humans; however it has been reported that blood levels of phencyclidine ranged from 7 - 240 ng/mL (mean, 75ng/mL) in individuals stopped for driving under the influence of drugs or for being intoxicated in public.

   Alaxia, agitation, combativeness, seizures, spasticity, coma and respiratory depression are associated with phencyclidine concentrations ranging from 90 - 220 ng/mL plasma.

   The physiological effects of PCP can be classified as low or high dose. In low doses, PCP can elicit visual disturbances, drowsiness, agitation, hallucinations, aggressiveness, increased pulse rate and blood pressure, bronchospasm, increased respiratory rate and hyperthermia high doses, PCP can elicit convulsions, opisthotonus, coma, arrhythmias, decreased blood pressure and respirations and rhabdomyolysis.

   There appears to be no relation between plasma levels of phencyclidine and degree of intoxication. Even so, death has been reported following the use of only 120 mg of phencyclidine. Blood concentrations in phencyclidine-related fatalities have been reported to range from 300 - 25000 ng/mL (mean, 5000 ng/mL).

   Unless alternate arrangements are made by you, the remainder of the submitted specimens will be discarded one (1) year from the date of this report, and generated data will be discarded five (5) years from the date the analyses were performed.

Analysis Summary and Reporting Limits:

All of the following tests were performed for this case. For each test, the compounds listed were included in the scope. The Reporting Limit listed for each compound represents the lowest concentration of the compound that will be reported as being positive. If the compound is listed as None Detected, it is not present above the Reporting Limit. Please refer to the Positive Findings section of the report for those compounds that were identified as being present.

Sec. 7-7. Private person's use of force in resisting arrest. A person is not authorized to use force to resist an arrest which he knows is being made either by a peace officer or by a private person summoned and directed by a peace officer to make the arrest, even if he believes that the arrest is unlawful and the arrest in fact is unlawful.

(720 ILCS 5/7-5) (from Ch. 38, par. 7-5)
Sec. 7-5. Peace officer's use of force in making arrest. (a) A peace officer, or any person whom he has summoned or directed to assist him, need not retreat or desist from efforts to make a lawful arrest because of resistance or threatened resistance to the arrest. He is justified in the use of any force which he reasonably believes to be necessary to effect the arrest and of any force which he reasonably believes to be necessary to defend himself or another from bodily harm while making the arrest. However, he is justified in using force likely to cause death or great bodily harm only when he reasonably believes that such force is necessary to prevent death or great bodily harm to himself or such other person, or when he reasonably believes both that:

(1) Such force is necessary to prevent the arrest from being defeated by resistance or escape; and

(2) The person to be arrested has committed or attempted a forcible felony which involves the infliction or threatened infliction of great bodily harm or is attempting to escape by use of a deadly weapon, or otherwise indicates that he will endanger human life or inflict great bodily harm unless arrested without delay.

(b) A peace officer making an arrest pursuant to an invalid warrant is justified in the use of any force which he would be justified in using if the warrant were valid, unless he knows that the warrant is invalid.
Sec. 2-8. "Forcible felony." "Forcible felony" means treason, first degree murder, second degree murder, predatory criminal sexual assault of a child, aggravated criminal sexual assault, criminal sexual assault, robbery, burglary, residential burglary, aggravated arson, arson, aggravated kidnaping, kidnaping, aggravated battery resulting in great bodily harm or permanent disability or disfigurement and any other felony which involves the use or threat of physical force or violence against any individual.

I. PURPOSE

This directive:

A. explains the Use of Force Model.
B. includes a graphic representation of the Use of Force Model.

II. DEPARTMENT POLICY

The Department utilizes a Use of Force Model to provide guidance on the appropriate amount of force to be used to effect a lawful purpose. The Use of Force Model employs the progressive and reasonable escalation and de-escalation of member-applied force in proportional response to the actions and level of resistance offered by a subject. Such response may progress from the member’s actual presence at the scene to the application of deadly force.

A. The primary objective of the use of force is to ensure control of a subject with the reasonable force necessary based on the totality of the circumstances.

B. Whenever reasonable, members will exercise persuasion, advice, and warning prior to the use of physical force.

C. When force is applied, a member will escalate or de-escalate to the amount of force which is reasonably necessary to overcome the subject’s resistance and to gain control.

1. Members are not required to start at the lowest levels of the Use of Force Model; they will select the appropriate level of force based on the subject’s actions.

2. Members will modify their level of force in relation to the amount of resistance offered by the subject:

   a. As the subject offers less resistance, the member will lower the amount or type of force used.
   b. As the subject increases resistance, the member may increase the amount or type of force used.

III. USE OF FORCE MODEL

A. The Use of Force Model is a graphic representation of the guidelines for the appropriate use of force in relation to the actions of a subject.

B. The Use of Force Model utilized by the Chicago Police Department is pictured in Illustration No. 1.

C. The Use of Force Model is a guideline that cannot account for all factors constituting the “totality of circumstances” by which a specific use of force is evaluated. The Model is to be used only in conjunction with the Department directives and training regarding the use of force.

Illustration No. 1
I. PURPOSE

This directive:

A. sets forth Department policy regarding a sworn member's use of deadly force.
B. establishes guidelines controlling the use of deadly force by sworn members.

II. DEPARTMENT POLICY

A. A sworn member is justified in using force likely to cause death or great bodily harm only when he or she reasonably believes that such force is necessary:

1. to prevent death or great bodily harm to the sworn member or to another person, or:
2. to prevent an arrest from being defeated by resistance or escape and the sworn member reasonably believes that the person to be arrested:
   a. has committed or has attempted to commit a forceful felony which involves the infliction, threatened infliction, or threatened use of physical force likely to cause death or great bodily harm or;
   b. is attempting to escape by use of a deadly weapon or;
   c. otherwise indicates that he or she will endanger human life or inflict great bodily harm unless arrested without delay.

B. Sworn members who discharge a firearm will comply with the procedures detailed in the Department directive entitled "Firearms Discharge Incidents Involving Sworn Members."

III. DEPARTMENT PROHIBITIONS FOR USE OF DEADLY FORCE

Use of firearms in the following ways is prohibited:

A. Firing into crowds.
B. Firing warning shots.
C. Firing into buildings or through doors, windows, or other openings when the person lawfully fired at is not clearly visible.
D. Firing at a subject whose action is only a threat to the subject himself (e.g., attempted suicide).
E. Firing at or into a moving vehicle when the vehicle is the only force used against the sworn member or another person.

IV. AFFIRMATION OF PROTECTION OF LIFE POLICY

Sworn members will not unreasonably endanger themselves or another person to conform to the restrictions of this directive.
Glossary Terms:

1. Deadly Force (720 ILCS 5/7-8)
   A. Deadly force is force which is likely to cause death or great bodily harm and includes
      1. The firing of a firearm in the direction of the person to be arrested, even though no intent exists to kill or inflict great bodily harm; and
      2. The firing of a firearm at a vehicle in which the person to be arrested is riding.
   B. A peace officer's discharge of a firearm using ammunition designed to disable or control an individual without creating the likelihood of death or great bodily harm (i.e., impact munitions) shall not be considered force likely to cause death or bodily harm.

2. Use of Force to Prevent Escape (720 ILCS 5/7-9)
   A peace officer or other person who has an arrested person in custody is justified in the use of such force to prevent the escape of the arrested person from custody as he would be justified in using if he were arresting the person.

3. Forcible Felony (720 ILCS 5/2-8)
   A forcible felony means any treason, first degree murder, second degree murder, predatory criminal sexual assault of a child, aggravated criminal sexual assault, criminal sexual assault, robbery, burglary, residential burglary, aggravated arson, arson, aggravated kidnapping, kidnapping, aggravated battery resulting in great bodily harm or permanent disability or disfigurement, and any other felony which involves the use or threat of physical force or violence against any individual.

Training Review

TASER X2 TRAINING

With all types of force options it is important to periodically review procedures and tactics to ensure safe and effective use. Below is a review of procedures for deploying a Taser X2 against a subject as an alternative force option.

Before deciding to deploy a Taser X2, the questions or criteria listed below should all be answered in the affirmative. If at any time the answer is no, stop and re-evaluate your decision to deploy.

According to Uniform and Property Order U04-02-04 II-D-3 A and B, there are two circumstances that must be present to deploy a taser:

1) The subject is an active resister or assailant.

2) You can safely approach the subject within 18 feet. The optimum range is 7-15 feet for effective probe spread, officer safety and accuracy.

Key Points

Is the environment appropriate for the use of a Taser?

- Consider potential secondary injuries from falling (on stairs, or an elevated height etc...).
- Check for flammable or combustible materials.

Is the Taser a REASONABLE force option based on the totality of the circumstance?

- Consider the severity of the crime, the threat level and the level of resistance.
- Refer to G03-02-02 "Force Options"
DEPLOYING THE TASER

Once you have determined that a situation meets the criteria for Taser use, follow the steps below to ensure it is used safely and effectively.

The following 5 steps pertain to a PROBE DISCHARGE.
Remember to use MINIMAL FORCE to resolve the situation.

1) Give a Warning from U64-02-04 E-1

Warn others of the imminent deployment of the device by announcing “Taser! Taser! Taser!” Do not yell “I’m shooting” or “I’m firing.”

2) Target Area

The top laser indicates the point of impact for top probe while the bottom probe travels downward at a 6.5 degree angle. The bottom laser indicated the point of impact for the bottom probe on 15ft and 25ft cartridges only. Both probes must contact the subject to allow the electrical energy to flow. If possible, aim at the subject’s back for the following reasons:

- the surprise factor
- the back has higher muscle mass
- clothing fits tighter
- targeting the subject’s back avoids inadvertent contact to the face, throat and groin

3) Deploy the Taser

- Each trigger pull will discharge a live cartridge and deliver current for a 5 second cycle. The X2 can be loaded with two (2) live cartridges.

- It is not necessary to hold the trigger down for 5 seconds. If you pull and quickly release the trigger, the device will deliver energy for the entire 5 seconds, the cycle will automatically stop, and the next live cartridge will be selected.

- If the trigger is held down beyond 5 seconds, the current will continue until the trigger is released.
During the 5 Second Cycle

- Give verbal directions to the subject such as, "Put your hands behind your back!"
- Watch for a change in the subject’s behavior and assess the Taser’s effectiveness.
  - Check to see if both probes have a good contact
  - Check for an effective probe spread
  - Check to see if the probes are affecting high muscle mass

Remember, if you pull and quickly release the trigger, the device will deliver current for 5 seconds, automatically stop, and select the next live cartridge. If necessary, you may interrupt the cycle short of 5 seconds by placing the safety in the down (SAFE) position.

After the Initial 5 Second Cycle

A 5 second cycle offers a window of opportunity for the assisting officers to subdue and physically control the subject. You can touch the subject, but avoid touching the wires, probes, and the area between the probes.

Give the subject an opportunity to comply with your commands.

Assess the situation and if the subject is not under control, consider the following options:
- Press the ARC switch to deliver additional cycles
- Pull and release the trigger to deploy a second cartridge
- TRANSITION TO ANOTHER FORCE OPTION

Each trigger pull and press of the ARC switch must be accounted for and is recorded. The record includes the time and duration of each cycle.

SAFETY REMINDERS

- Never point at anything you don’t intend to shoot.
- Keep the weapon safety switch in the down (SAFE) position and pointed in a safe direction.
- Never place finger on trigger unless firing is imminent.
- Laser light can cause eye damage if directed into eyes for prolonged periods of time.
- Probes shot in the eyes can cause serious damage
- Never place hand in front of weapon, especially when changing the air cartridge.
POST-DEPLOYMENT RESPONSIBILITIES

Upon gaining control of the subject, Department members will:

1) Notify OEMC

2) Request OEMC assign emergency medical personnel when:
   a. Taser probes were discharged and penetrated a subject's skin.
   b. Electrical current from the taser was applied to the subject's body.
   c. The subject appears to be in any sort of distress.

Officers must be aware that individuals exhibiting signs of extreme psychological stress will likely require medical attention.

Officers are advised to inform responding EMS personnel of the subject's actions and condition immediately prior to the Taser deployment.

3) Notify their supervisor, the station supervisor assigned to the district of occurrence and CPIC.

4) Prepare a Tactical Response Report. The serial number from the spent cartridge will be required to complete the TRR.

The Responding Supervisor will:

1) For deployment in a residence, request assignment of an ET. In an area other than a residence, indoors or outdoors, determine if an ET is required.

The ET will photograph the locations where the probes penetrated the subject and/or any other injuries incurred as a result of the taser deployment.

2) Inventory the discharged probes and used cartridges in the following manner:
   a. The probes will be detached from the wires and inserted, pointed ends first, back into the cartridge.
   b. The cartridge will be wrapped with tape to secure the probes inside.

3) Take control of the device, and deliver it to the station supervisor.

The Station Supervisor will:

1) Notify IPRA and ensure a log number is obtained. (Notify CPIC when IPRA is unavailable).

2) Download the deployment data and print out the data sheet. Only date of deployment is required.

3) Review and complete the TRR

4) Ensure the data sheet is attached to the TRR and a copy of the original case report.
(720 ILCS 5/12-2) (from Ch. 38, par. 12-2)
(Text of Section from P.A. 99-78)
Sec. 12-2. Aggravated assault.
(a) Offense based on location of conduct. A person commits aggravated assault when he or she commits an assault against an individual who is on or about a public way, public property, a public place of accommodation or amusement, or a sports venue.
(b) Offense based on status of victim. A person commits aggravated assault when, in committing an assault, he or she knows the individual assaulted to be any of the following:
(1) A physically handicapped person or a person 60 years of age or older and the assault is without legal justification.
(2) A teacher or school employee upon school grounds or grounds adjacent to a school or in any part of a building used for school purposes.
(3) A park district employee upon park grounds or grounds adjacent to a park or in any part of a building used for park purposes.
(4) A peace officer, community policing volunteer, fireman, private security officer, emergency management worker, emergency medical technician, or utility worker:
(i) performing his or her official duties;
(ii) assaulted to prevent performance of his or her official duties; or
(iii) assaulted in retaliation for performing his or her official duties.
(5) A correctional officer or probation officer:
(i) performing his or her official duties;
(ii) assaulted to prevent performance of his or her official duties; or
(iii) assaulted in retaliation for performing his or her official duties.
(6) A correctional institution employee, a county juvenile detention center employee who provides direct and continuous supervision of residents of a juvenile detention center, including a county juvenile detention center employee who supervises recreational activity for residents of a juvenile detention center, or a Department of Human Services employee, Department of Human Services officer, or employee of a subcontractor of the Department of Human Services supervising or controlling sexually dangerous persons or sexually violent persons:
(i) performing his or her official duties;
(ii) assaulted to prevent performance of his or her official duties; or
(iii) assaulted in retaliation for performing his or her official duties.
(7) An employee of the State of Illinois, a municipal corporation therein, or a political subdivision thereof, performing his or her official duties.
(8) A transit employee performing his or her official duties, or a transit passenger.
(9) A sports official or coach actively participating in any level of athletic competition within a sports venue, on an indoor playing field or outdoor playing field, or within the immediate vicinity of such a facility or field.

(10) A person authorized to serve process under Section 2-202 of the Code of Civil Procedure or a special process server appointed by the circuit court, while that individual is in the performance of his or her duties as a process server.

(c) Offense based on use of firearm, device, or motor vehicle. A person commits aggravated assault when, in committing an assault, he or she does any of the following:

(1) Uses a deadly weapon, an air rifle as defined in Section 24.8-0.1 of this Act, or any device manufactured and designed to be substantially similar in appearance to a firearm, other than by discharging a firearm.

(2) Discharges a firearm, other than from a motor vehicle.

(3) Discharges a firearm from a motor vehicle.

(4) Wears a hood, robe, or mask to conceal his or her identity.

(5) Knowingly and without lawful justification shines or flashes a laser gun sight or other laser device attached to a firearm, or used in concert with a firearm, so that the laser beam strikes near or in the immediate vicinity of any person.

(6) Uses a firearm, other than by discharging the firearm, against a peace officer, community policing volunteer, fireman, private security officer, emergency management worker, emergency medical technician, employee of a police department, employee of a sheriff's department, or traffic control municipal employee:

(i) performing his or her official duties;

(ii) assaulted to prevent performance of his or her official duties; or

(iii) assaulted in retaliation for performing his or her official duties.

(7) Without justification operates a motor vehicle in a manner which places a person, other than a person listed in subdivision (b)(4), in reasonable apprehension of being struck by the moving motor vehicle.

(8) Without justification operates a motor vehicle in a manner which places a person listed in subdivision (b)(4), in reasonable apprehension of being struck by the moving motor vehicle.

(9) Knowingly video or audio records the offense with the intent to disseminate the recording.

(d) Sentence. Aggravated assault as defined in subdivision (a), (b)(1), (b)(2), (b)(3), (b)(4), (b)(7), (b)(8), (b)(9), (c)(1), (c)(4), or (c)(9) is a Class A misdemeanor, except that aggravated assault as defined in subdivision (b)(4) and (b)(7) is a Class 4 felony if a Category I, Category II, or Category III weapon is used in the commission of the assault. Aggravated assault as defined in subdivision (b)(5), (b)(6), (b)(10), (c)(2), (c)(5), (c)(6), or (c)(7) is a Class 4 felony. Aggravated assault as defined in subdivision (c)(3) or (c)(8) is a Class 3 felony.

(e) For the purposes of this Section, "Category I weapon", "Category II weapon", and "Category III weapon" have the meanings ascribed to those terms in Section 33A-1 of this Code.
(Source: P.A. 98-385, eff. 1-1-14; 99-78, eff. 7-20-15.)
Sec. 33A-1. Legislative intent and definitions.

(a) Legislative findings. The legislature finds and declares the following:

(1) The use of a dangerous weapon in the commission of a felony offense poses a much greater threat to the public health, safety, and general welfare, than when a weapon is not used in the commission of the offense.

(2) Further, the use of a firearm greatly facilitates the commission of a criminal offense because of the more lethal nature of a firearm and the greater perceived threat produced in those confronted by a person wielding a firearm. Unlike other dangerous weapons such as knives and clubs, the use of a firearm in the commission of a criminal felony offense significantly escalates the threat and the potential for bodily harm, and the greater range of the firearm increases the potential for harm to more persons. Not only are the victims and bystanders at greater risk when a firearm is used, but also the law enforcement officers whose duty is to confront and apprehend the armed suspect.

(3) Current law does contain offenses involving the use or discharge of a gun toward or against a person, such as aggravated battery with a firearm, aggravated discharge of a firearm, and reckless discharge of a firearm; however, the General Assembly has legislated greater penalties for the commission of a felony while in possession of a firearm because it deems such acts as more serious.

(b) Legislative intent.

(1) In order to deter the use of firearms in the commission of a felony offense, the General Assembly deems it appropriate for a greater penalty to be imposed when a firearm is used or discharged in the commission of an offense than the penalty imposed for using other types of weapons and for the penalty to increase on more serious offenses.

(2) With the additional elements of the discharge of a firearm and great bodily harm inflicted by a firearm being added to armed violence and other serious felony offenses, it is the intent of the General Assembly to punish those elements more severely during commission of a felony offense than when those elements stand alone as the act of the offender.

(3) It is the intent of the 91st General Assembly that should Public Act 88-680 be declared unconstitutional for a violation of Article 4, Section 8 of the 1970 Constitution of the State of Illinois, the amending changes made by Public Act 88-680 to Article 33A of the Criminal Code of 1961 and which are set forth as law in this amending Act of the 91st General Assembly are hereby reenacted by this amending Act of the 91st General Assembly.

(c) Definitions.

(1) "Armed with a dangerous weapon". A person is considered armed with a dangerous weapon for purposes of this Article, when he or she carries on or about his or her person or is otherwise armed with a Category I, Category II, or Category III weapon.

(2) A Category I weapon is a handgun, sawed-off shotgun, sawed-off rifle, any other firearm small enough to be concealed upon the person, semiautomatic firearm, or machine gun. A Category II weapon is any other rifle, shotgun, spring gun, other firearm, stun gun or taser as defined in paragraph (a) of Section 24-1 of this Code, knife with a blade of at least 3 inches in length, dagger, dirk, switchblade knife, stiletto, axe, hatchet, or other deadly or dangerous weapon or instrument of like character. As used in this subsection (b) "semiautomatic firearm" means a repeating firearm that utilizes a portion of the energy of a firing cartridge to extract the fired cartridge case and chamber the next round and that requires a separate pull of the trigger to fire each cartridge.

(3) A Category III weapon is a bludgeon, black-jack, slungshot, sand-bag, sand-club, metal knuckles, billy, or other dangerous weapon of like character.

A Midwest intelligence organization is sharing the above captioned photograph for officer safety and awareness.

Officers should take note of the "Revolver Knife" and remain cognizant of its threat to personal safety.

If an officer recovers any such weapon, they are asked to notify CPIC.
On Monday, 20 October 2016, at 9:47 pm, civilian Rudy BARILLAS, called 9-1-1 to report that a person, now known as Laquan MCDONALD, was breaking into the trucks parked in the trucking lot at West 41st Street and South Kildare Avenue. After calling 9-1-1, BARILLAS confronted MCDONALD and told him to leave the lot. According to both BARILLAS and his friend, who was also present in the lot, MCDONALD "growled" at BARILLAS. MCDONALD then produced a knife and swung the knife at BARILLAS, attempting to cut him. BARILLAS threw his cellular telephone at MCDONALD, who then fled the lot on foot.

Chicago Police Officers Thomas GAFFNEY and Joseph MCELLIGOTT, were assigned to respond to BARILLAS’ call. The officers were both in uniform and were driving a marked police vehicle. When they arrived at the lot, BARILLAS told them what had occurred. BARILLAS gave the officers a description of MCDONALD and told them MCDONALD had fled north on Kildare, then east on West 40th Street.

The officers located MCDONALD walking eastbound on the sidewalk, on the south side of 40th Street, from Kildare. Officer MCELLIGOTT exited the police vehicle and approached MCDONALD on foot. MCELLIGOTT called to MCDONALD and told him to stop. MCDONALD ignored MCELLIGOTT and continued walking eastbound. MCDONALD’s hands were in his pockets so MCELLIGOTT told MCDONALD to take his hands out of his pockets. MCDONALD took his hands out of his pockets revealing that he was holding a knife in his right hand. MCELLIGOTT repeatedly ordered MCDONALD to drop the knife but he ignored MCELLIGOTT’s directions. As MCDONALD reached South Keeler Avenue, Officer GAFFNEY notified the radio dispatcher that they were following a subject who was armed with a knife, and requested assistance from a unit equipped with a taser.

The officers continued to follow MCDONALD, eastbound on the sidewalk from Keeler Avenue. As MCDONALD approached South Karlov Avenue, Officer GAFFNEY turned his police vehicle southbound onto Karlov and stopped, blocking the crosswalk. The area where this incident began was industrial in nature, and at that time of day, almost 10:00 pm, it was deserted. All of the businesses were closed and there was no vehicular or pedestrian traffic. As MCDONALD continued to walk eastbound however, he was approaching South Pulaski Road, a business street where more civilians were present, both in vehicles and as pedestrians, and occupying the businesses on Pulaski. Officer GAFFNEY wanted to stop MCDONALD before he reached this more populated area and put more people at risk for injury. When GAFFNEY stopped his vehicle in the crosswalk, blocking MCDONALD’s path, MCDONALD stabbed the right front tire of the vehicle with his knife, causing the tire to go flat. GAFFNEY immediately informed the radio dispatcher that MCDONALD had attacked the marked police vehicle, and had "popped" the tire with the knife. MCDONALD attempted to walk around the front of the police vehicle and GAFFNEY drove the vehicle forward a short distance to continue to block MCDONALD. At this point MCDONALD stabbed at the windshield of the marked police vehicle, striking it with the knife. He then was able to get around the vehicle and continued eastbound on the sidewalk from Karlov.

At 40th Street and Pulaski Road, on the southwest corner, was a Burger King restaurant with a large parking lot. As assisting police units approached westbound on 40th Street from Pulaski, MCDONALD ran eastbound through the parking lot, on the north side of the Burger King restaurant building. In the restaurant parking lot Chicago Police Officers Joseph WALSH and Jason VAN DYKE were in the first responding assist unit. They took over the pursuit of MCDONALD through the parking lot. These officers were also in uniform and driving a marked police vehicle. WALSH, who was driving their vehicle, positioned the vehicle between MCDONALD and the restaurant building, to keep MCDONALD from entering the restaurant.

MCDONALD ran through the parking lot and out onto Pulaski Road. He turned southbound and began to walk in the southbound lanes of the street. Officer WALSH pursued MCDONALD with the police vehicle. As MCDONALD continued southbound, WALSH positioned his vehicle between MCDONALD and a Dunkin' Donuts restaurant, on the east side of Pulaski Road. When the police vehicle was alongside MCDONALD, Officer VAN DYKE opened his door to exit the vehicle and confront MCDONALD. WALSH, realizing they were too close to MCDONALD to safely exit the vehicle, told VAN DYKE to wait until they were further ahead of MCDONALD.

Officers WALSH and VAN DYKE drove further south on Pulaski and stopped the police vehicle ahead of MCDONALD. WALSH and VAN DYKE both exited their vehicle and drew their handguns. The officers stood in the street facing northbound, toward MCDONALD. Both officers were in uniform, standing next to their marked police vehicle. As MCDONALD approached southbound, he was holding the knife in his right hand, in an underhand grip, with the blade pointed forward. As he walked toward the officers he swung the knife in an aggressive, exaggerated manner. Both officers ordered him to drop the knife multiple times. MCDONALD ignored these directions and continued to advance toward the officers, with the distance between MCDONALD and the officers decreasing.

When MCDONALD got to within 10 to 15 feet of the officers, he looked toward the officers, squaring his shoulders in their direction. He raised the knife, pointing it at the officers. Officer VAN DYKE, believing MCDONALD was attacking VAN DYKE with the knife, attempting to kill VAN DYKE, fired his handgun in defense of his life, to stop the attack. MCDONALD fell to the ground but continued to move, and continued to grasp the knife, refusing to let go of it. VAN DYKE continued to fire his weapon at MCDONALD as MCDONALD was on the ground, as VAN DYKE thought MCDONALD was attempting to get up, all the while continuing to point the knife at VAN DYKE. VAN DYKE fired his pistol until the slide of the weapon locked in the rearward position, indicating the weapon was empty. VAN DYKE immediately reloaded his weapon with a new magazine and assessed the situation.

MCDONALD was no longer moving and the threat had been mitigated, so the officers approached MCDONALD. MCDONALD was still holding the knife in his right hand and both officers continued to order him to drop the knife. Finally Officer WALSH was able to approach MCDONALD and forcibly kick the knife out of his hand. An ambulance was then requested for MCDONALD. He was transported to Mount Sinai Hospital and subsequently expired from his wounds.

During the course of this investigation a canvass was conducted of the area near the scene for witnesses to this incident including the Burger King restaurant and the Dunkin' Donuts restaurant.

Relevant video recordings were recovered from the in-car video systems of two of the Chicago Police Department vehicles involved in this incident, the Dunkin' Donuts restaurant and the Greater Chicago Food Depository. All of these videos were in my opinion, consistent with the statements of the witnesses in this case.
Additional video was recovered from other sources, including the Burger King restaurant. These video recordings did not contain any video footage relevant to this investigation.

It should be noted that five police units had responded to this incident by the time Officer VAN DYKE fired his handgun at Laquan MCDONALD. Each of these units contained two officers. All five police vehicles were marked vehicles and all ten police officers at or near the scene were in uniform. There can be no doubt that MCDONALD knew the personnel he was interacting with were Chicago Police Officers. Multiple officers issued verbal directions multiple times for MCDONALD to drop the knife with which he was armed. At anytime MCDONALD could have chosen to follow the lawful directions of the officers to drop the knife and this incident would have ended with no harm to anyone involved.

Some relevant state law needs to be cited to understand the findings of this investigation:

- “720 ILCS 5/7-7. Private person’s use of force in resisting arrest. A person is not authorized to use force to resist an arrest which he knows is being made either by a peace officer or by a private person summoned and directed by a peace officer to make the arrest, even if he believes that the arrest is unlawful and the arrest in fact is unlawful.”

  (a) A peace officer, or any person whom he has summoned or directed to assist him, need not retreat or desist from efforts to make a lawful arrest because of resistance or threatened resistance to the arrest. He is justified in the use of any force which he reasonably believes to be necessary to effect the arrest and of any force which he reasonably believes to be necessary to defend himself or another from bodily harm while making the arrest. However, he is justified in using force likely to cause death or great bodily harm only when he reasonably believes that such force is necessary to prevent death or great bodily harm to himself or such other person, or when he reasonably believes both that:
    (1) Such force is necessary to prevent the arrest from being defeated by resistance or escape; and
    (2) The person to be arrested has committed or attempted a forcible felony which involves the infliction of threat of great bodily harm or is attempting to escape by use of a deadly weapon, or otherwise indicates that he will endanger human life or inflict great bodily harm unless arrested without delay.”

- “720 ILCS 5/2-8. "Forcible felony". "Forcible felony" means treason, first degree murder, second degree murder, predatory criminal sexual assault of a child, aggravated criminal sexual assault, criminal sexual assault, robbery, burglary, residential burglary, aggravated arson, arson, aggravated kidnapping, kidnaping, aggravated battery resulting in great bodily harm or permanent disability or disfigurement and any other felony which involves the use or threat of physical force or violence against any individual.”

Laquan MCDONALD was committing a burglary in the trucking lot when he was confronted by Rudy BARILLAS. When he produced a knife and attacked BARILLAS with the knife, he attempted to commit first degree murder or aggravated battery resulting in great bodily harm, and armed robbery, all of which are forcible felonies. As stated in the previously cited state statutes, Laquan MCDONALD had absolutely no authority or right to resist being arrested by people he knew to be peace officers. When he ignored the verbal directions of Officer
MCELLIGOTT to stop, and drop the knife he held in his hand as he walked away from MCELLIGOTT, MCDONALD became an offender who had attempted to commit a forcible felony which involved the infliction or threatened infliction of great bodily harm, attempting to escape arrest by the use of a deadly weapon, after having already indicated he would endanger human life or inflict great bodily harm unless arrested without delay. Under these circumstances, I believe Illinois law permitted the use of deadly force by the officers attempting to arrest MCDONALD.

MCDONALD continued to attempt to escape arrest by the use of a deadly weapon when he attacked the police vehicle occupied by Officer GAFFNEY, again using a deadly weapon, further indicating he would endanger human life or inflict great bodily harm unless arrested without delay. Again, under these circumstances, I believe the law permitted the use of deadly force by the officers attempting to arrest MCDONALD.

When Officer VAN DYKE finally confronted MCDONALD on Pulaski Road, VAN DYKE was aware of these previous circumstances from the transmissions he monitored on the police radio. By law, VAN DYKE was justified in using deadly force to effect the arrest of MCDONALD as soon as VAN DYKE exited his police vehicle. However, VAN DYKE instead attempted to arrest MCDONALD without using deadly force, by first drawing his handgun and verbally directing MCDONALD to drop the knife. MCDONALD ignored these directions and continued to advance toward VAN DYKE, with the distance between MCDONALD and VAN DYKE decreasing. It was not until MCDONALD turned directly toward VAN DYKE, squaring his shoulders toward the officer, and raised his knife, pointing it at VAN DYKE, that VAN DYKE, in defense of his life, used deadly force to prevent death or great bodily harm to himself.

The Chicago Police Department policy on the use of force is the other authority in this matter.

General Order G03-02-01, entitled "The Use of Force Model" states:

"The Department utilizes a Use of Force Model to provide guidance on the appropriate amount of force to be used to effect a lawful purpose. The Use of Force Model employs the progressive and reasonable escalation and de-escalation of member-applied force in proportional response to the actions and level of resistance offered by a subject. Such response may progress from the member's actual presence at the scene to the application of deadly force." ...

This directive also states, "Members are not required to start at the lowest levels of the Use of Force Model; they will select the appropriate level of force based on the subject's actions." ...

"The Use of Force Model is a graphic representation of the guidelines for the appropriate use of force in relation to the actions of a subject." ...

The Use of Force Model graphic basically shows a proportional use of force response to the actions of a subject. It shows that insufficient force used by a Department member will result in "Probable Ineffective Control", while too much force used by a Department member will result in "Probable Excessive Control". In the Use of Force Model graphic, for an "Assailant", whose "actions will likely cause death or serious physical injury", such as Laquan MCDONALD, in this incident, all force options are available to an officer. However, the graphic shows that "Firearms and Other Lethal Force" are most likely to be effective. The graphic shows very little chance of "Probable Excessive Control" against this type of assailant.
General Order G03-02-03 entitled “Deadly Force” states:

"II DEPARTMENT POLICY"

A. A sworn member is justified in using force likely to cause death or great bodily harm only when he or she reasonably believes such force is necessary:

1. to prevent death or great bodily harm to the sworn member or to another person, or:

2. to prevent an arrest from being defeated by resistance or escape and the sworn member reasonably believes that the person to be arrested:

   a. has committed or has attempted to commit a forcible felony which involves the infliction, threatened infliction, or threatened use of physical force likely to cause death or great bodily harm or;

   b. is attempting to escape by use of a deadly weapon or;

   c. otherwise indicates that he or she will endanger human life or inflict great bodily harm unless arrested without delay."

This department policy mirrors the applicable state law cited previously.

During the course of this investigation, a number of facts were learned about Laquan MCDONALD. First, he had an extensive criminal history with the Chicago Police Department. At the age of 17 he had been arrested 26 times. Charges for these arrests included Aggravated Battery to a Peace Officer, Resisting Arrest, Battery, Assault, Reckless Conduct, Possession of a Controlled Substance and Possession of Cannabis.

Second, MCDONALD had a history of mental health issues. When notified of MCDONALD’s death, his uncle informed detectives that MCDONALD had been prescribed medication but had stopped taking it because he did not like the side effects. There were two documented incidents where MCDONALD had exhibited behavior problems while at school, became violent and school officials called the police. In both of these incidents he was transported to Hartgrove Hospital for evaluation and treatment.

Third, the results of the toxicological examination conducted during the autopsy of MCDONALD revealed the presence of Phencyclidine, or PCP, in his blood.

We will never know what motivated the actions of Laquan MCDONALD during this incident. Whether he was a violent criminal intent on not being apprehended, whether he was in the midst of a mental health crisis, whether he was under the influence of a mind altering drug or any combination of the three. In any case, in the situation the police officers encountered dealing with MCDONALD, he was never contained and never communicated with anyone he encountered. Under such circumstances the subject's motivation is a moot point. A violent criminal, a person in the midst of a mental health crisis and a person under the influence of any substance, armed with a deadly weapon, are all equally dangerous, and deadly, to both the police and the civilian population.

Some talk about de-escalation techniques as an alternative to deadly force. I am a member of the Department’s Crisis / Hostage Negotiation Team. I have received training from the Federal Bureau of Investigation and have attended the Department’s Crisis Intervention Team (CIT) training. In order to have any chance at successfully using any de-escalation techniques to resolve a situation, whether it involves a violent criminal, person with a mental health history in crisis or a person under the influence of any substance, first, the person and the situation must be contained and second, there must be communication.

In this incident, Laquan MCDONALD was never contained as he continued to walk down the street during the entire incident, able to attack anyone at anytime. He also never communicated with anyone, from his first contact with Rudy BARILLAS through his contact with multiple police officers.

I do not believe anyone knows more about what happened in this incident than I do. I was at the scene shortly after it occurred and have personally spoken to all of the police officers involved. As the primary detective assigned to this investigation I was aware of all of the actions taken during this investigation, and personally in contact with all personnel participating in these actions.

Many people have commented on this incident in the time since it occurred. I have been asked a number of times if I knew that night, at the scene, if this shooting incident was going to be a problem. My response has always been that the actions of all of the police officers involved in this incident were absolutely proper. To this day I believe this to be true.

There are two issues at the heart of this matter. The first is the use of deadly force by Officer Jason VAN DYKE. For the reasons previously stated I believe, and continue to believe that his use of deadly force was permitted by Illinois law and Chicago Police Department policy.

The second is the number of shots. As soon as most people hear that a 17 year old offender, armed with a knife was shot 16 times, their first instinct might be to think this excessive. Without knowing and understanding all of the specific details of this particular incident, this is understandable. One needs to consider the “totality of the circumstances”, as the law refers to it, to make an informed, educated and intelligent conclusion.

There will always be a segment of the population that has an unrealistic expectation of police officers. They will question why the police shot and killed an offender instead of shooting the weapon out of his hand. They will never understand the reality of the situation. Fortunately for many, they have not had the experience of putting on a uniform, whether it be as a member of the military service, or as a police officer, and putting their life on the line in a violent confrontation.

Police officers, including Chicago Police Officers, are trained that during the stress of an armed confrontation, the fine motor skills required for the highest levels of accuracy in firing a handgun, deteriorate. Officers are trained to shoot for “center mass”, the torso area of an assailant, as this is the largest area, giving one the greatest chances of success. Also, officers are trained specifically not to fire just one shot and then check to see if it was effective. It is very easy under the stress of the situation to miss the target, and even if one hits the target, firearms are not a guaranteed solution. There have been many instances of offenders shot multiple times who continued their attacks. Officers are trained to shoot as long as they perceive a threat, until the threat is eliminated.

This is the key in this situation. Officer VAN DYKE explained that he fired his handgun at MCDONALD because MCDONALD was attacking VAN DYKE with a knife. VAN DYKE continued to fire his weapon at MCDONALD as he was on the ground because MCDONALD continued to move and continued to grasp the knife, continuing to point it at VAN DYKE. VAN DYKE explained that he believed MCDONALD was attempting to get up and continue his attack on VAN DYKE.

Officer VAN DYKE was not wearing a body camera and there is no video footage showing the perspective of what VAN DYKE saw as he confronted MCDONALD. However, the video footage that was recovered in this investigation clearly shows that MCDONALD did in fact advance toward VAN DYKE. From the time VAN DYKE exited his police vehicle until the time he fired his handgun, the distance between VAN DYKE and MCDONALD decreased. When MCDONALD fell to the pavement he continued to move, continued to grasp the knife, and continued to point the knife at VAN DYKE. Even after having been shot 16 times, MCDONALD continued to grasp the knife and point it at VAN DYKE. MCDONALD did not relinquish his weapon until Officer WALSH forcibly kicked it from MCDONALD’s hand. This video evidence is consistent with VAN DYKE’s statement. In fact, it should be noted that per the autopsy conducted by the Office of the Medical Examiner of Cook County, MCDONALD was shot three times in the right arm and once in the right hand, and still continued to grasp the knife with his right hand.

Everyone is certainly entitled to their opinion. People can debate until the end of time whether or not they would have handled this situation in the same manner or whether this was the best way to handle this situation. However, in my opinion, according to Illinois law and Chicago Police Department policy, the actions of Officer Jason VAN DYKE were justified.

Most police actions in serious incidents such as this are not the work of a single officer but of multiple officers working together as a team. This is exactly what occurred in this incident. The officers of the 008th District, primarily Officers GAFFNEY, MCELLIGOTT, WALSH and VAN DYKE, responded in a team effort, to a call for service from a civilian who had been the victim of a forcible felony.

As a team, the officers exercised extraordinary restraint in dealing with Laquan MCDONALD, attempting to use the least amount of force necessary to take him into custody and place him under arrest. The officers, all of whom were in uniform, first used “social control / police presence” and “verbal control”. Officer MCELLIGOTT used these force options when he first encountered MCDONALD. MCELLIGOTT exited his marked police vehicle, in uniform, and first directed MCDONALD to stop. MCDONALD ignored this direction. When MCDONALD took his hands out of his pockets, revealing that he was armed with a knife, MCELLIGOTT ordered MCDONALD multiple times to drop the knife. Again MCDONALD ignored MCELLIGOTT. Officer GAFFNEY then requested a unit with a taser over the police radio. This was appropriate since, at this point, MCDONALD was in a deserted area and there was no risk to any civilians. Officers WALSH and VAN DYKE were aware of these actions as they monitored the transmissions on the police radio.
As MCDONALD fled on foot, through the Burger King restaurant parking lot, he was entering a more populated area along Pulaski Road, a business street, with vehicular traffic, pedestrians and open businesses occupied by civilians, all of whom were now at risk. This is why Officer WALSH used his police vehicle to block MCDONALD’s path first, toward the Burger King restaurant, and then, toward the Dunkin’ Donuts restaurant.

When Officers VAN DYKE and WALSH stopped and exited their vehicle to confront MCDONALD it was because the threat to the public had escalated in this more populated environment. This threat continued to escalate as MCDONALD walked southbound. The two officers both exited their marked police vehicle, in uniform, drew their handguns, pointed their weapons at MCDONALD and ordered him multiple times to drop his knife. They made every effort to arrest MCDONALD without using deadly force. Again MCDONALD ignored any verbal direction from the officers. Finally, with MCDONALD closing the distance between himself and the officers, when he turned toward the officers and raised his knife, pointing it at them, VAN DYKE, seeing no other option, in defense of his life, fired his handgun at MCDONALD.

The decision to confront MCDONALD at that time and at that location was tactically sound. As noted, the risk to the nearby civilian population was increasing as MCDONALD proceeded southbound on Pulaski. At that particular location though, there were no civilians immediately placed at risk by the confrontation with the armed MCDONALD. There were also not a large number of police officers around MCDONALD, minimizing the risk of a crossfire situation if deadly force became necessary. Also, the background behind MCDONALD, toward which Officer VAN DYKE fired his handgun, was a large vacant lot followed by industrial buildings that were either vacant or minimally occupied. Again, if the use of firearms became necessary, the risk of harm to any other individuals was minimal.

This entire encounter between the police and Laquan MCDONALD, from Officer MCELLIGOTT’s first contact on 40th Street until Officer VAN DYKE fired his weapon, lasted more than four minutes, as indicated by the police radio transmissions. During that time MCDONALD traveled on foot more than four city blocks. For a police encounter with an armed subject, who was not contained, this was a long period of time. MCDONALD was given a great deal of latitude in terms of movement, before the police decided they could wait no longer and needed to take action to stop MCDONALD, to protect the public who were becoming more and more at risk. That is when Officers VAN DYKE and WALSH acted.

It should be noted that at the time VAN DYKE fired his weapon, of the ten officers present near the scene of this incident, none was equipped with a taser. It should also be noted that many use of force experts and defensive tactics instructors would say that a taser was not the appropriate use of force against an assailant armed with a knife, especially one who had already displayed a willingness to use the knife. This is because, per Chicago Police Department policy, the use of a taser would require an officer to get within 18 feet of a subject, the optimum effective range of the Department’s tasers being 7 to 15 feet. This would put the officer too close to the assailant, especially if the taser was ineffective, with insufficient time to transition to his firearm to defend himself. A taser, like a firearm, is not a guaranteed solution. The same variables exist with this force option. Two projectiles, or probes, connected to the taser by wires, must both effectively engage the target, who may be moving. One or both or the probes could miss the target. Thick or multiple layers of clothing can prevent one or both probes from effectively engaging the target. If both probes do not engage the target effectively, the taser will have no effect at all. Additionally, even if the officer is able to successfully deploy the taser against a subject, there is no guarantee it will be totally effective and stop the subject.

One claim made by many who have been critical of Officer VAN DYKE is that there were ten officers on the scene of this incident and only one fired his weapon. It is opined that since the other nine officers did not see a need to fire their handguns, VAN DYKE was wrong, and did not need to fire his weapon. Again, one needs to consider the “totality of the circumstances”, to make an informed, educated and intelligent conclusion. Of the ten officers, five of them, Officers GAFFNEY, SEBASTIAN, MONDRAGON, BACERRA and VELEZ were still in their police vehicles and were not in a position to see who fired the gunshots. Officer MCELLIGOTT, who had originally been following MCDONALD on foot, was unable to keep up with MCDONALD, and was not in a position to see who fired the gunshots. Officers FONTAINE and VIRAMONTES had just arrived at the scene and exited their police vehicle. They were farther away from MCDONALD and Officers VAN DYKE and WALSH were between them and MCDONALD. Officer WALSH stated that he believed MCDONALD was attacking WALSH and VAN DYKE with the knife when VAN DYKE fired his handgun, but WALSH did not fire his weapon because VAN DYKE was slightly ahead of WALSH, and therefore, in his line of fire. This was apparent in the video evidence recovered in this investigation.

During the entire investigation of this incident I had multiple consultations with my immediate supervisors, including Sergeant Daniel GALLAGHER, Lieutenant Anthony WOJCIK, Lieutenant Osvaldo VALDEZ and Commander Eugene ROY. During all of these consultations I was repeatedly told that my interpretation and understanding of the events in this incident, as well as my conclusions, were accurate and correct. The incident commander, on the night this incident occurred, Deputy Chief David MCNAUGHTON, also agreed with this investigation, as evidenced by his approval of the Tactical Response Report submitted by Officer Jason VAN DYKE, where MCNAUGHTON checked the box stating “I have concluded that the member’s actions were in compliance with department procedures and directives.” At the time of this approval, the in-car camera video from the police vehicles and the video from the Dunkin’ Donuts restaurant had been recovered and reviewed by all personnel involved in this investigation, including MCNAUGHTON, and personnel from the Independent Police Review Authority. No one ever expressed any reservations regarding the investigation of this incident. Commander ROY and Lieutenant VALDEZ both personally informed me that each of them had conducted separate briefings on this incident at the Public Safety Headquarters, for members of the command staff, at separate Executive Management Meetings. Both ROY and VALDEZ informed me that the entire command staff of the police department, up to and including the superintendent, agreed with the findings of this investigation and that no one had expressed any reservations.

Officer Jason VAN DYKE gave his statement to the Independent Police Review Authority within days of this incident and was returned to full duty in his unit of assignment. Another indication that no one questioned the results of this investigation.

Since this incident occurred, all of the exempt members in my chain of command have been promoted. Commander ROY was promoted to Deputy Chief and is now Chief of the Bureau of Detectives. Deputy Chief Anthony RICCIO was promoted to Chief of the Bureau of Organized Crime. Chief John ESCALANTE was promoted to First Deputy Superintendent of the Department. This investigation was conducted under the supervision of each of these command staff members. Now they are promoted and I am under investigation for separation.
from the Department? First Deputy ESCALANTE stated at a news conference, shortly after being promoted, that he viewed the video of this incident two days after it occurred and found it “troubling.” As the Chief of the Bureau of Detectives at that time of this incident, Chief ESCALANTE never communicated either directly or indirectly to his primary investigator, me, how troubling he found this video. As I said, no one voiced any reservations or concerns to me regarding this incident or this investigation. I was informed that the entire command staff concurred with the findings and conclusions of my investigation.

For eighteen months now, I have heard people criticize Officer Jason VAN DYKE, saying what he did was wrong. Not once have I heard anyone suggest what he should have done instead of the actions he did take. Is it really being suggested that the police should have done nothing and permitted Laquan MCDONALD to continue on his way and not stop him? A subject armed with a deadly weapon, a knife, committed multiple criminal offenses, including forcible felonies, ignored lawful orders from multiple uniformed police officers to drop his weapon and surrender, over the course of more than four minutes and four city blocks, and continued down the street, weapon in hand, putting everyone in his path at risk. Is it seriously being suggested that the police should not take action against this subject until he gains entry to one of the commercial businesses along his path, and actually attacks someone, actually inflicting death or great bodily harm? And then, in an environment where civilians are present, the police should engage this subject in a violent confrontation, creating additional risk of injury? In my opinion this is not responsible law enforcement.
Sec. 7-4. Use of force by aggressor.
The justification described in the preceding Sections of this Article is not available to a person who:
(a) Is attempting to commit, committing, or escaping after the commission of, a forcible felony; or
(b) Initially provokes the use of force against himself, with the intent to use such force as an excuse to inflict bodily harm upon the assailant; or
(c) Otherwise initially provokes the use of force against himself, unless:
(1) Such force is so great that he reasonably believes that he is in imminent danger of death or great bodily harm, and that he has exhausted every reasonable means to escape such danger other than the use of force which is likely to cause death or great bodily harm to the assailant; or
(2) In good faith, he withdraws from physical contact with the assailant and indicates clearly to the assailant that he desires to withdraw and terminate the use of force, but the assailant continues or resumes the use of force.

ADVISEMENT OF RIGHTS

David March

I understand that I am being interviewed by Peter Neume and Kristopher Bresson from the City of Chicago Office of Inspector General.

DATE: 4/26/16 TIME: 10:04 am LOCATION: 300 W Adams St, Suite 300

I understand that this interview is part of an official investigation and that I have a duty to cooperate with the Office of Inspector General, which includes answering all questions completely and truthfully.

I understand that I have no right to remain silent. I understand that I have an obligation to answer questions put to me truthfully. I understand that if I refuse to answer questions put to me, I will be ordered by a superior officer to answer the questions. I further understand and I have been advised that if I persist in my refusal to answer after an order to do so, such further refusal constitutes a violation of the Rules and Regulations of the Chicago Police Department and may serve as the basis for my discharge.

I understand and have been advised that my statements or responses may constitute an official police report. I understand that Rule 14 of the Chicago Police Department's Rules and Regulations prohibits making a false report, written or oral, and I further understand that making such a false report, whether written or oral, may result in my separation from the Chicago Police Department.

I understand that any statement made by me during this interview may be used as evidence of misconduct or as the basis for disciplinary action up to and including removal or discharge.

I understand that any statement made by me during this interview and the fruits thereof cannot be used against me in a criminal proceeding.

I understand that I have the right to have a union representative, or legal counsel of my choosing, present at the interview to consult with, and that I will be given a reasonable time to obtain a union representative or legal counsel as long as the interview is not unduly delayed.

I understand that a refusal to answer any question, or any false, inaccurate, or deliberately incomplete statement by me would constitute a violation of Chicago Municipal Ordinance 2-56, and may serve as the basis for my discharge.

I acknowledge that this statement of my administrative rights has been read aloud to me, and I have been allowed to review this document.

City ordinance, and if applicable, collective bargaining agreements, provide that you are entitled to notice of the nature of the allegations against you and the identity of all complainants prior to any interview. Accordingly, you are advised as follows:

COMPLAINANT(S)

1. John J. Escalante, Interim Superintendent of Chicago Police Department, sent a letter to the City of Chicago Office of Inspector General (OIG) dated January 13, 2016, requesting that OIG conduct an administrative investigation of the following allegations arising out of the October 20, 2014 shooting death of Laquan McDonald (the McDonald Shooting): “whether any officer(s) made false statements on official reports submitted in connection with the shooting of Laquan McDonald on October 20, 2014; whether any officer(s) obstructed or interfered with the investigation of this incident, either individually or in collusion with others; and whether any officer(s) committed any violation of Chicago Police Department rules, policies, or orders in connection with their response and/or handling of this matter.” Escalante attached to the letter a copy of Sergeant S. Soria’s (Star # 2275) Initiation Report, which raises similar allegations of misconduct with respect to Department members in connection with the McDonald Shooting, and identified that report as a basis for OIG’s administrative investigation.

ALLEGATION(S)

1. You failed to conduct a complete, thorough, properly documented, and professional investigation respecting AD # HX4754653. Specifically:
   • You failed to draft truthful, complete, and objective case supplementary reports concerning the McDonald Shooting. Specifically:
     i. The case supplementary report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, with the “Sup ID” 10992767 CASR301, concluded that Officer Van Dyke’s use of force was within the bounds of the Chicago Police Department’s use of force guidelines and in conformity with local ordinances and state law, despite available evidence to the contrary, including video recordings of the McDonald Shooting.
     ii. The case supplementary report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, with the “Sup ID” 10992767 CASR301, falsely stated that the in-car camera videos recovered from Vehicles 813R and 815R were consistent with the accounts of all the witnesses to the McDonald Shooting.
     iii. The case supplementary report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, with the “Sup ID” 10992767 CASR301, contained a description of the McDonald Shooting as captured by the in-car camera video recovered from Vehicle 813R, but that description failed to note that McDonald changed the direction in which he was walking prior to the shooting;

iv. the case supplementary report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, with the “Sup ID” 10992767 CASR301, contained a description of the McDonald Shooting as captured by the in-car camera video recovered from Vehicle 813R, but that description failed to note that Officer Van Dyke and Officer Walsh moved towards McDonald prior to the shooting;

v. the case supplementary report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, with the “Sup ID” 10992767 CASR301, contained a description of the McDonald Shooting as captured by the in-car camera video recovered from Vehicle 813R, but that description failed to note that Officer Van Dyke continued to fire at McDonald after McDonald was on the ground;

vi. the case supplementary report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, with the “Sup ID” 10992767 CASR301, falsely determined that Laquan McDonald initiated the imminent use of force likely to cause death or serious injury when “he initiated an attack on Officers Jason Van Dyke and Joseph Walsh.”

vii. On or about October 21, 2014, you and Officer Van Dyke created a false justification for his shooting of Laquan McDonald and included that false justification in the case supplementary report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, with the “Sup ID” 10992767 CASR301.

viii. the case supplementary report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, with the “Sup ID” 10992767 CASR301, falsely stated that Officer Dora Fontaine, during her October 20, 2014 interview with you, stated that McDonald raised his right arm toward Officer Van Dyke, as if attacking Van Dyke.

ix. the case supplementary report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, with the ”Sup ID” 10992767 CASR301, falsely stated that Officer Janet Mondragon, during her October 20, 2014 interview with you, stated that McDonald continued to wave a knife as he got closer and closer to Officers Van Dyke and Walsh.

x. the case supplementary report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, with the “Sup ID” 10992767 CASR301, falsely stated that Officer Walsh related the same facts to you as his partner Officer Van Dyke;

xi. the case supplementary report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, with the “Sup ID” 10992767 CASR301, falsely stated that Officer McElligott related the same facts to you as his partner Officer Gaffney;
xii. the case supplementary report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, with the “Sup ID” 10992767 CASR301, falsely stated that Officer Mondragon related the same facts to you as her partner Officer Sebastian;

xiii. the case supplementary report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, with the “Sup ID” 10992767 CASR301, falsely stated that Officer Velez related the same facts to you as her partner Officer Bacerra;

xiv. the case supplementary report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, with the “Sup ID” 10992767 CASR301, falsely stated that Officer Viramontes related the same facts to you as his partner Officer Fontaine;

xv. the case supplementary report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, with the “Sup ID” 10988891 CASR339, falsely stated that McDonald was shot and killed by Officer Van Dyke while McDonald was committing an aggravated assault with a knife against Officers Van Dyke and Walsh.

xvi. the case supplementary report you submitted on or about March 15, 2015, with the “Sup ID” 10988891 CASR339, falsely stated in the “Additional just homicide descr.” section that McDonald “Attacked Officer That Officer Killed Criminal.”

b. You failed to pursue relevant, material, and reasonable investigative leads, including but not limited to:

i. failing to take reasonable steps to identify and interview material witnesses, including but not limited to (1) the witness to the McDonald Shooting identified by law professor Craig Futterman, and (2) the employees of the Dunkin’ Donuts store that was located in close proximity to the McDonald Shooting;

ii. failing to properly and thoroughly document the statement Officer Van Dyke made to you on or about October 21, 2014 at Area Central in the General Progress Report you completed regarding that interview;

2. On or about October 20, 2014 and October 21, 2014, you engaged in witness tampering by showing witnesses to the McDonald Shooting a video of the shooting and attempting to influence the testimony of those witnesses as they viewed the video.

3. You obstructed justice by failing to conduct a complete, thorough, properly documented, and professional investigation respecting RD # HX476653 in the ways enumerated in allegations 1 and 2.

4. You falsely stated in the case incident report for RD # HX486155, with the “Case ID” 9837884 CASR229, that McDonald committed aggravated assaults against Officers Gaffney, Van Dyke, and Walsh that forced Van Dyke “in defense of his life, to shoot and kill McDonald.”
5. You falsely stated in two Evidence Submission Forms, Form # 54818.E and Form # 54818.F, that were submitted to the Illinois State Police regarding “Incident” RD HX475653, that McDonald assaulted three Chicago Police Officers with a knife.

6. You falsely stated in a Major Incident Notification Detail for “Incident N[umber]” 73204 regarding RD # HX475653, that McDonald continued to approach Officers Walsh and Van Dyke and that Van Dyke, fearing for his life, discharged his weapon.

7. The General Progress Report you completed on or about October 20, 2014 concerning your interview of Officer Fontaine falsely stated that she “heard POs repeatedly ‘Drop the knife!’ O ignored, raised R arm toward VD as if attacking VD.”

8. The General Progress Report you completed on or about October 20, 2014 concerning your interview of Officer Mondragon falsely stated that Mondragon stated that she “heard POs repeatedly, ‘Drop the knife!’ as O got closer + closer to POs continuing to wave knife.”

Progress - Scene Report.

INVESTIGATION:

The reporting detective was assigned to the immediate follow-up investigation of this police officer involved shooting incident, by Sergeant Daniel GALLAGHER of this command. The reporting detective proceeded to the scene of the incident at 4112 South Pulaski Road. The officer involved in the shooting was located and interviewed at the scene.
VAN DYKE, Jason D ------

stated he was a Chicago Police Officer assigned to the 008th District. He was on duty, in uniform, working on Beat 845R. VAN DYKE was working with Police Officer Joseph WALSH. The two officers were assigned to Chicago Police Department vehicle number 6412, a marked Chevrolet Tahoe, four door sport utility vehicle. WALSH was driving the vehicle and VAN DYKE was the passenger.

The two officers responded to a request for assistance from Beat 815R, regarding a man with a knife, on 40th Street, west of Pulaski Road. A unit equipped with a taser had also been requested.

Officer VAN DYKE heard the radio transmission when Officer Thomas GAFFNEY said the man with a knife had "popped" the tire of GAFFNEY's police vehicle. VAN DYKE understood this to mean the subject had slashed the tire with his knife. As Officer WALSH drove westbound on 40th Street from Pulaski, VAN DYKE observed a black male subject, now known as Laquan MCDONALD, running eastbound in the parking lot of the Burger King restaurant on the southwest corner of 40 Street and Pulaski. MCDONALD was holding a knife in his right hand. VAN DYKE saw Police Officer Joseph MCELLIGOTT pursuing MCDONALD on foot. VAN DYKE also saw a civilian who was standing on 40th Street pointing to MCDONALD.

Officer WALSH drove eastbound in the parking lot, in pursuit of MCDONALD, on the north side of the Burger King restaurant building. WALSH used the police vehicle to block MCDONALD from entering the restaurant. MCDONALD ran out onto Pulaski Road and then turned southbound, running toward a Dunkin' Donuts restaurant, on the east side of Pulaski, south of the Burger King. WALSH positioned the police vehicle between MCDONALD and the Dunkin' Donuts to block his path towards that restaurant. When WALSH slowed the police vehicle alongside MCDONALD, Officer VAN DYKE opened the right front door of the vehicle to exit and confront MCDONALD. WALSH told VAN DYKE to stay in the vehicle as they were too close to MCDONALD to safely exit their vehicle. WALSH drove on southbound and stopped the police vehicle ahead of MCDONALD.

Officer VAN DYKE exited the vehicle on the right side and drew his handgun. As VAN DYKE stood in the street on Pulaski, facing northbound, toward MCDONALD, MCDONALD approached southbound. MCDONALD was holding the knife in his right hand, in an underhand grip, with the blade pointed forward. He was swinging the knife in an aggressive, exaggerated manner. VAN DYKE ordered MCDONALD to "Drop the knife!" multiple times. MCDONALD ignored VAN DYKE's verbal direction to drop the knife and continued to advance toward VAN DYKE.

When MCDONALD got to within 10 to 15 feet of Officer VAN DYKE, MCDONALD looked toward VAN DYKE. MCDONALD raised the knife across his chest and over his shoulder, pointing the knife at VAN DYKE. VAN DYKE believed MCDONALD was attacking VAN DYKE with the knife, and attempting to kill VAN DYKE. In defense of his life, VAN DYKE backpedaled and fired his handgun at MCDONALD, to stop the attack. MCDONALD fell to the ground but continued to move and continued to grasp the knife, refusing to let go of it. VAN DYKE continued to fire his weapon at MCDONALD as MCDONALD was on the ground, as MCDONALD appeared to be attempting to get up, all the while continuing to point the knife at VAN DYKE. The slide on VAN DYKE's pistol locked in the rearward position, indicating the weapon was empty. VAN DYKE performed a tactical reload of his pistol with a new magazine and then assessed the situation.
MCDONALD was no longer moving and the threat had been mitigated, so Officer VAN DYKE and Officer WALSH approached MCDONALD. MCDONALD was still holding the knife in his right hand. VAN DYKE continued to order MCDONALD to "Drop the knife!" Officer WALSH told VAN DYKE, "I have this." VAN DYKE then used his handgun to cover WALSH as WALSH walked up and forcibly kicked the knife out of MCDONALD's right hand, thereby eliminating the threat to the officers.

Officer WALSH then notified the dispatcher on the police radio that shots had been fired by the police. Officer VAN DYKE requested an ambulance for MCDONALD on the radio.

Officer VAN DYKE's weapon was a Smith and Wesson, nine millimeter, semi-automatic pistol, with a 15 round magazine. VAN DYKE said the pistol was fully loaded at the beginning of his tour of duty, with 15 cartridges in the magazine and one cartridge in the firing chamber.

It was noted that the uniform Officer VAN DYKE was wearing consisted of a light blue long sleeve uniform shirt, with shoulder patches; black body armor vest, with patches; navy blue cargo pants; and equipment belt with handgun and radio.

The reporting detective then interviewed Officer VAN DYKE's partner.

WALSH, Joseph J ------

stated he was a Chicago Police Officer assigned to the 008th District. WALSH related the same facts as his partner, Officer Jason VAN DYKE.

WALSH added that as Laquan MCDONALD ran eastbound through the Burger King parking lot, WALSH used the police vehicle he was driving to block MCDONALD from entering the restaurant.

As MCDONALD ran southbound on Pulaski Road, from the Burger King, WALSH pursued MCDONALD in the police vehicle. WALSH drove southbound in the northbound lanes to get ahead of MCDONALD, keeping the police vehicle between MCDONALD and a Dunkin' Donuts restaurant, on the east side of Pulaski. As their vehicle passed MCDONALD, Officer VAN DYKE opened the right front door of their vehicle, to exit the truck and confront MCDONALD. WALSH, realizing that at this point they were too close to the armed MCDONALD to safely exit the vehicle, told VAN DYKE to wait until they got further ahead of MCDONALD. WALSH drove further south on Pulaski. He stopped his vehicle south of MCDONALD and exited the driver's door as VAN DYKE exited the right side of the vehicle. WALSH drew his handgun when he exited the vehicle.

Officer WALSH came around the rear of the police vehicle and joined Officer VAN DYKE on the right side of the vehicle. WALSH also stood in the street on Pulaski, facing northbound, as MCDONALD walked southbound toward the officers. WALSH ordered MCDONALD to "Drop the knife!" multiple times as MCDONALD approached the officers.

Officer WALSH also backed up, attempting to maintain a safe distance between himself and MCDONALD. MCDONALD ignored the verbal direction given by both WALSH and Officer VAN DYKE, and continued to advance toward the officers. When MCDONALD got to within 12 to 15 feet of the officers he swung the knife toward the officers in an aggressive manner. VAN DYKE opened fire with his handgun and MCDONALD fell to the ground. VAN DYKE continued firing his weapon at MCDONALD as MCDONALD continued moving on the ground, attempting to get up, while still armed with the knife.

When the gunfire stopped and MCDONALD was not moving anymore, WALSH approached MCDONALD with VAN DYKE. WALSH continued to order MCDONALD to "Drop the knife!"
multiple times, as MCDONALD was still holding the knife in his right hand. WALSH forcibly kicked the knife out of MCDONALD's hand and then notified the dispatcher on the police radio that shots had been fired by the police. An ambulance was also requested for MCDONALD.

As they waited for the ambulance to respond to the scene, Officer WALSH told MCDONALD to "hang in there," and that an ambulance was on the way.

Officer WALSH said he believed MCDONALD was attacking WALSH and Officer VAN DYKE with the knife and attempting to kill them when the shots were fired. WALSH stated he did not fire his handgun because VAN DYKE was in the line of fire between WALSH and MCDONALD. WALSH thought VAN DYKE fired eight or nine shots total.

It was noted that Officer WALSH wore the same uniform configuration as Officer VAN DYKE.

The officers assigned to Beat 815R were interviewed.

GAFFNEY, Thomas J -----

stated he was a Chicago Police Officer assigned to the 008th District. He was on duty, in uniform, working on Beat 815R. GAFFNEY was working with Police Officer Joseph MCELLIGOTT. The two officers were assigned to Chicago Police Department vehicle number 8489, a marked Chevrolet Tahoe, four door sport utility vehicle. GAFFNEY was driving the vehicle and MCELLIGOTT was the passenger.

The officers responded to an assignment of holding an offender for breaking into trucks at 41st Street and Kildare Avenue. Upon arrival at that location they met an Hispanic couple who told the officers a black male subject, wearing a dark shirt, had attempted to break into trucks parked in the parking lot at that location. The couple told the officers the subject had walked off and was last seen walking eastbound on 40th Street from Kildare.

Officer GAFFNEY drove northbound on Kildare to 40th Street. When he turned eastbound onto 40th Street he saw a black male subject wearing dark clothing, walking eastbound on the sidewalk, on the south side of the street. Officer MCELLIGOTT exited the police vehicle to approach the subject, now known as Laquann MCDONALD. GAFFNEY stayed in the vehicle in case MCDONALD fled. MCELLIGOTT called to MCDONALD and told him to stop but MCDONALD continued walking eastbound, ignoring MCELLIGOTT. MCDONALD's hands were in his pockets as he walked. MCELLIGOTT told MCDONALD to take his hands out of his pockets. MCDONALD took his hands out of his pockets and MCELLIGOTT told GAFFNEY that MCDONALD had a knife.
GAFFNEY then saw a silver colored knife in MCDONALD's right hand. GAFFNEY also saw that MCELLIGOTT had his handgun drawn at this point. MCELLIGOTT repeatedly ordered MCDONALD to "Drop the knife," but MCDONALD ignored these directions. As MCDONALD
